the year

Life evolves in cycles. It remains the same while yet it changes. Autumn, Winter, Spring, Summer. The pattern continues.

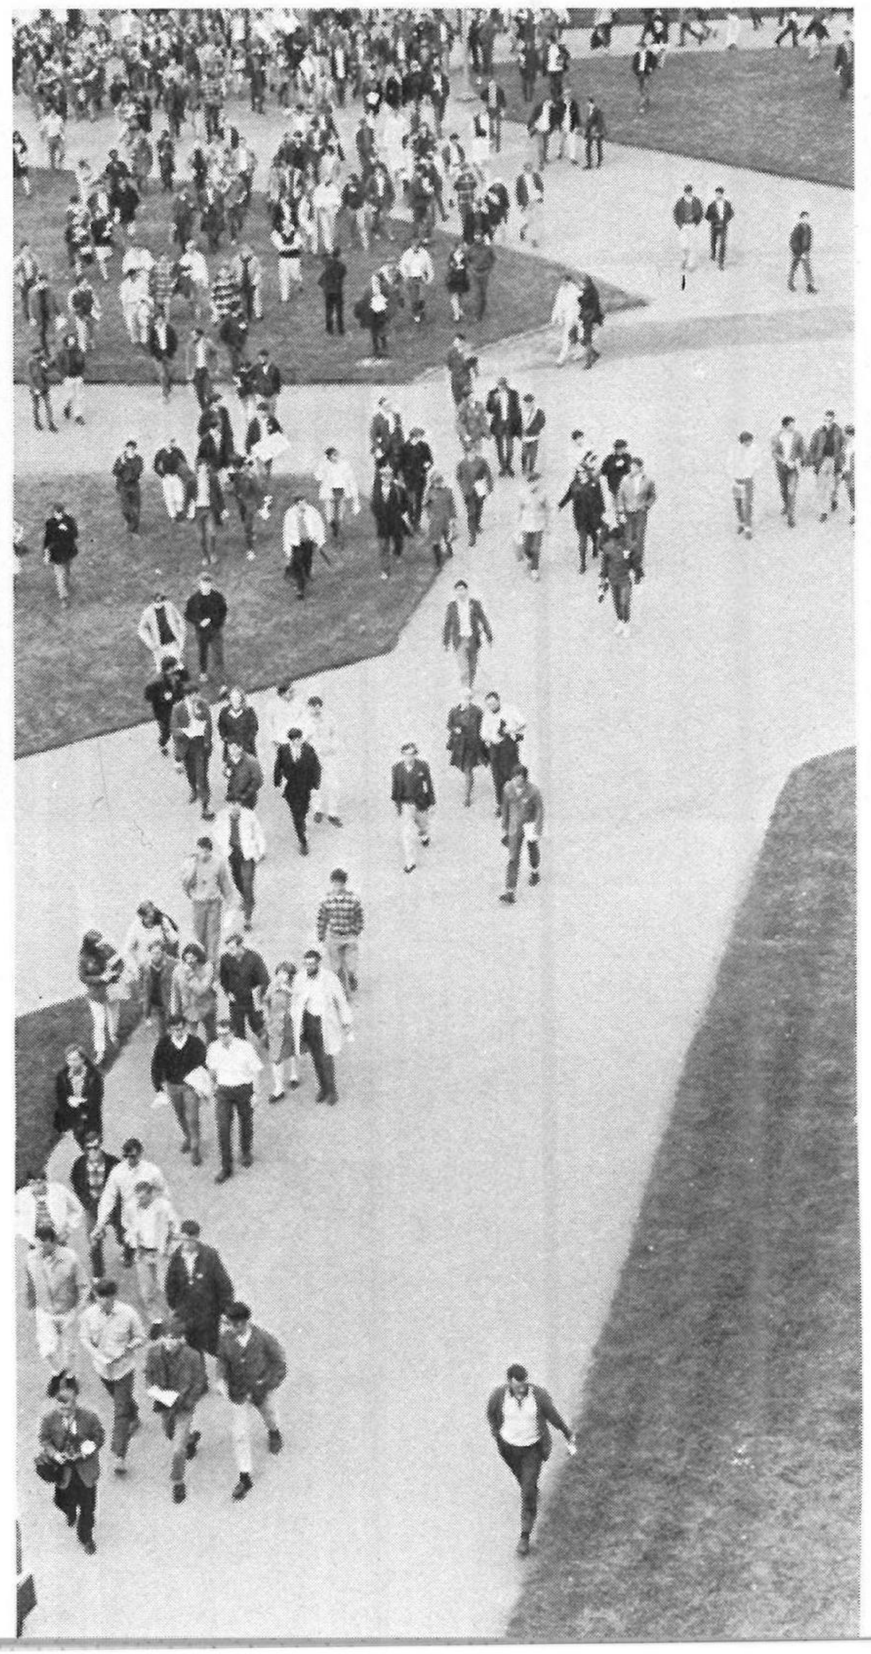

It is now Autumn, and students return. There is anticipation. For some there is fear. Some come with new resolutions. And some reappear as if only from habit.

Summer has gone and the long process of adjusting to schedules and routines begins again.

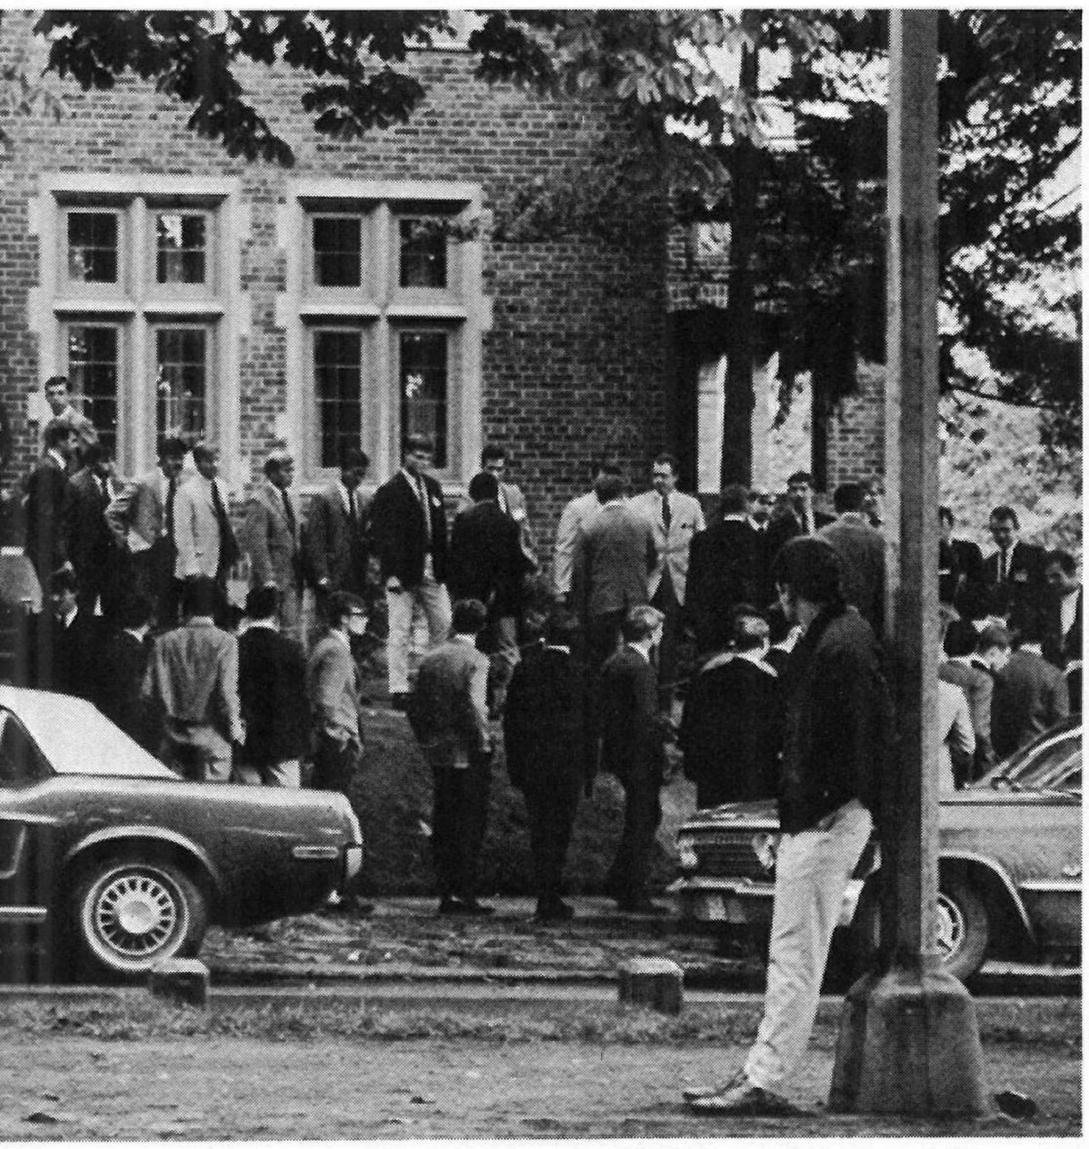

Registration and long lines waiting only to wait again initiate students to a new existence, and thrust them into a world that transports them from the realm of childhood to a new threshold.

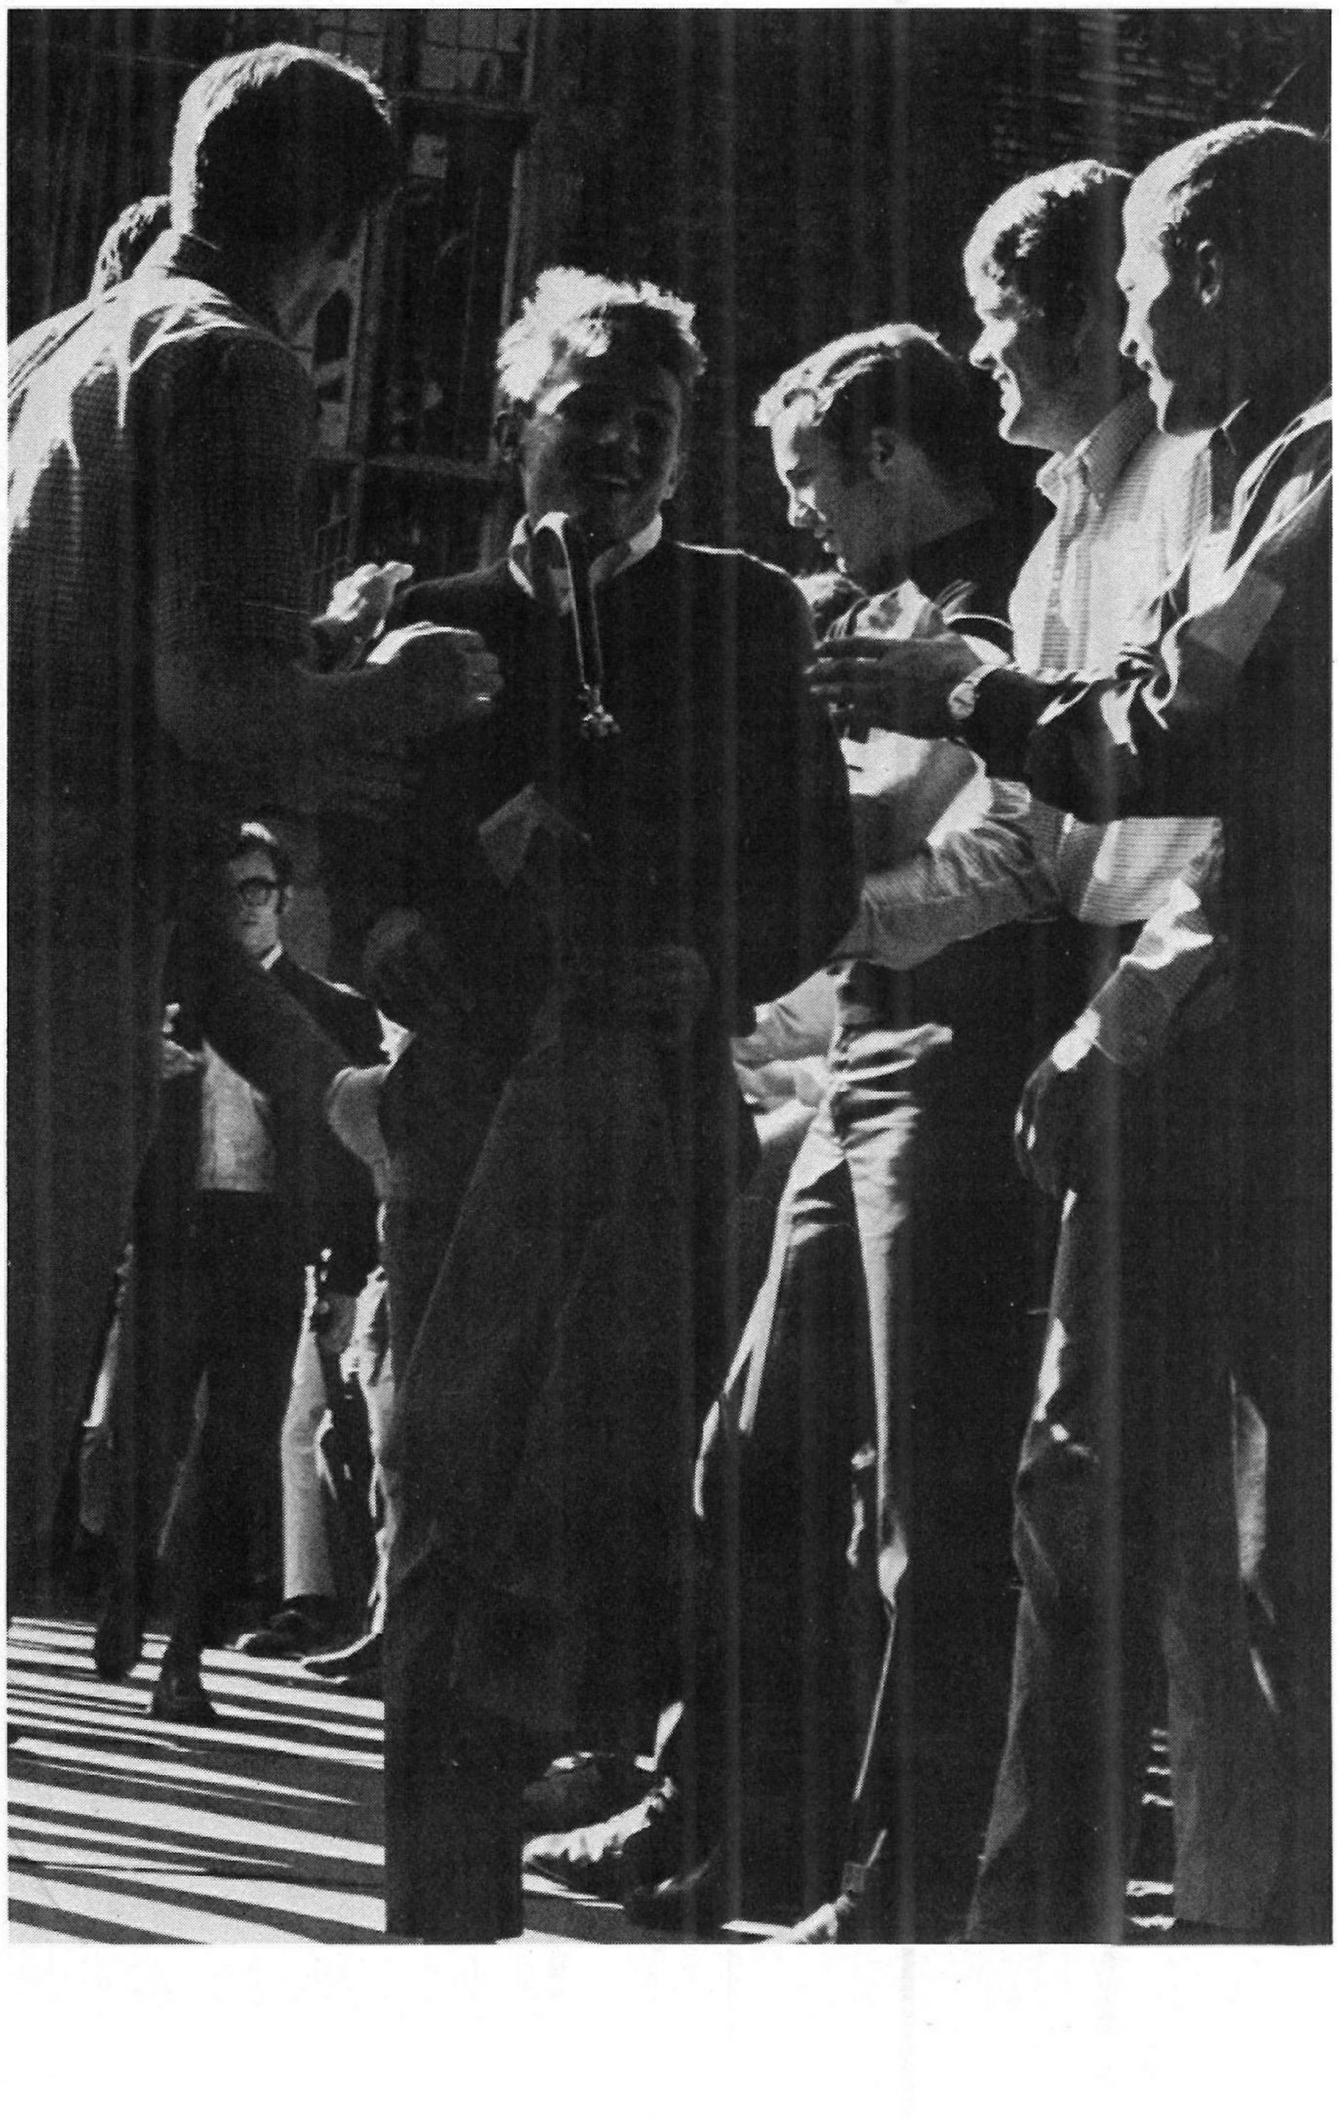

Fall 1968: With Each Year a New Beginning

A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You

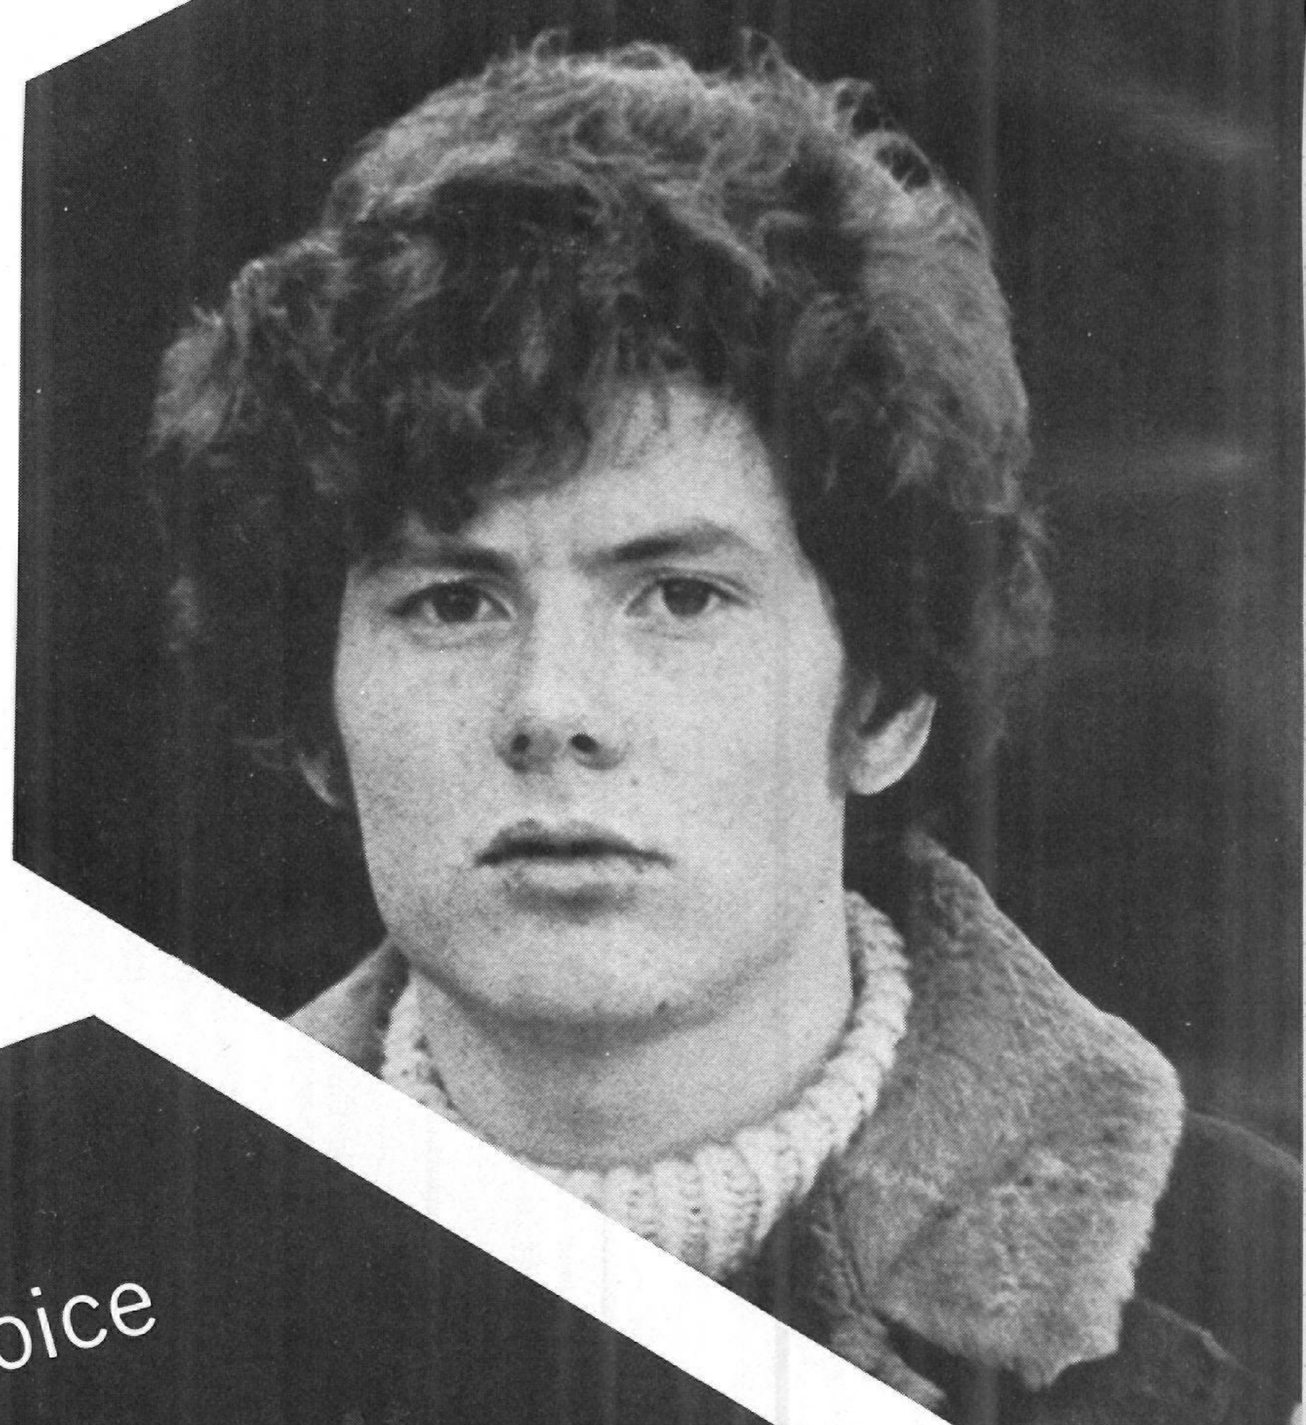

Rush is a strange game. It turns people into individuals. It is a time for growing up quickly. It is sorrow and joy; pain and elation. It is a wild, exciting, confusing and memorable experience from which emerge lasting relationships and new outlooks. It produces greater understanding of others and greater knowledge of one's self.

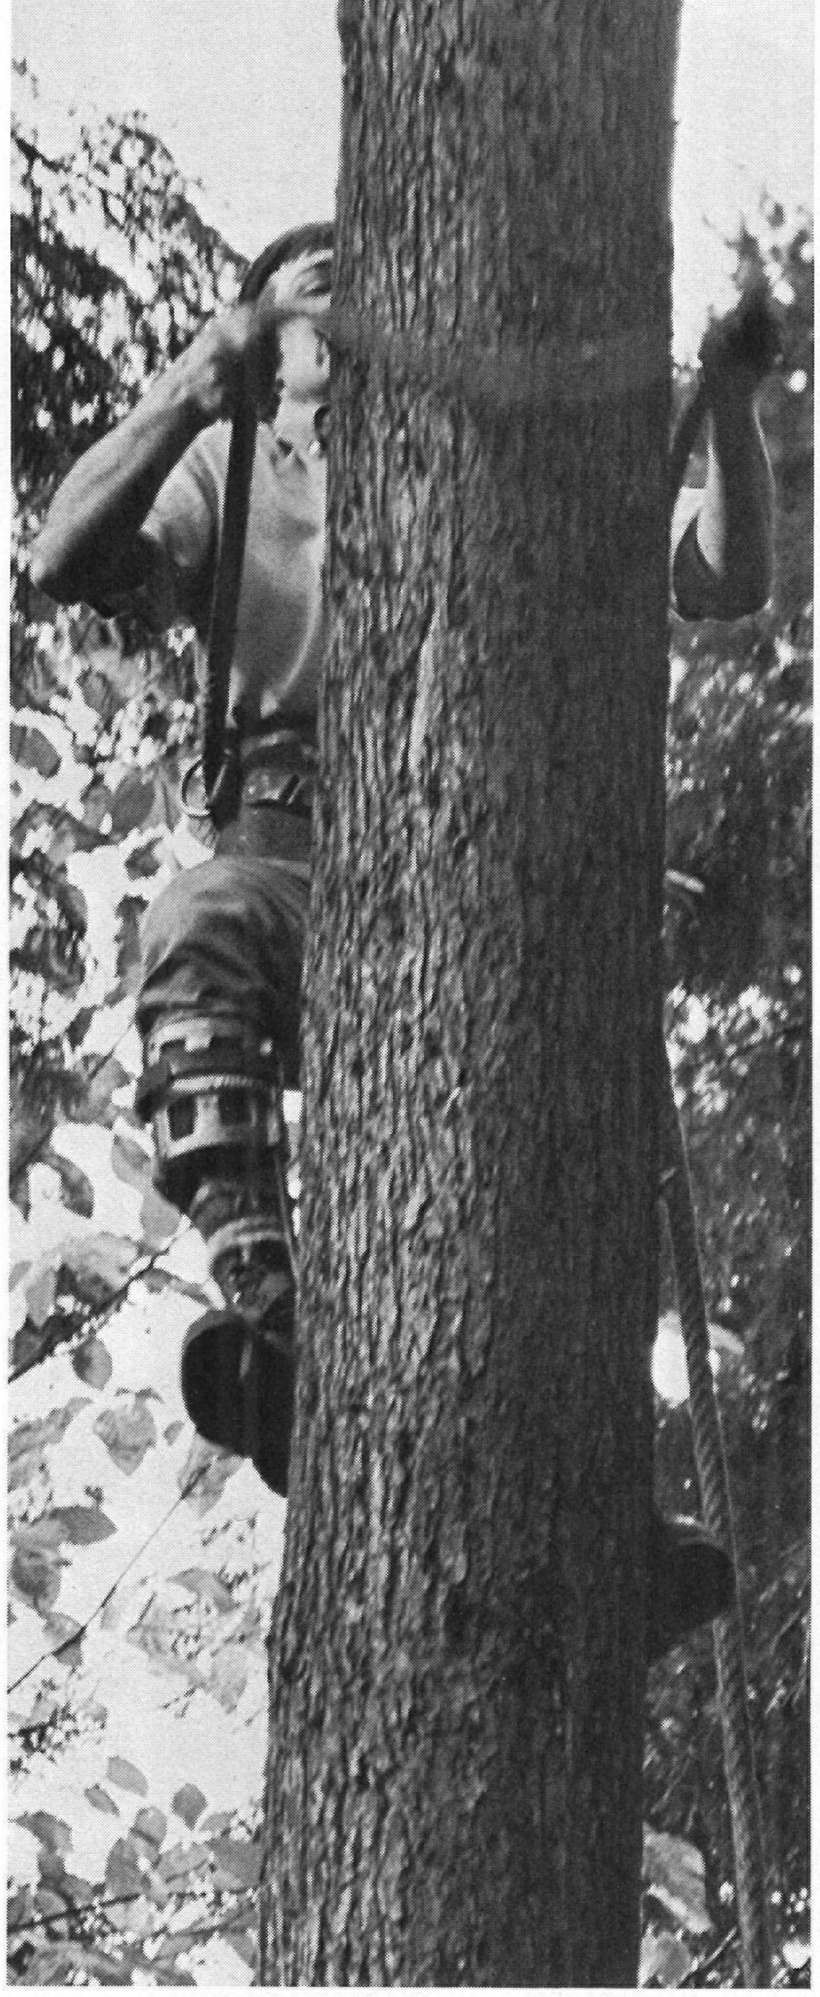

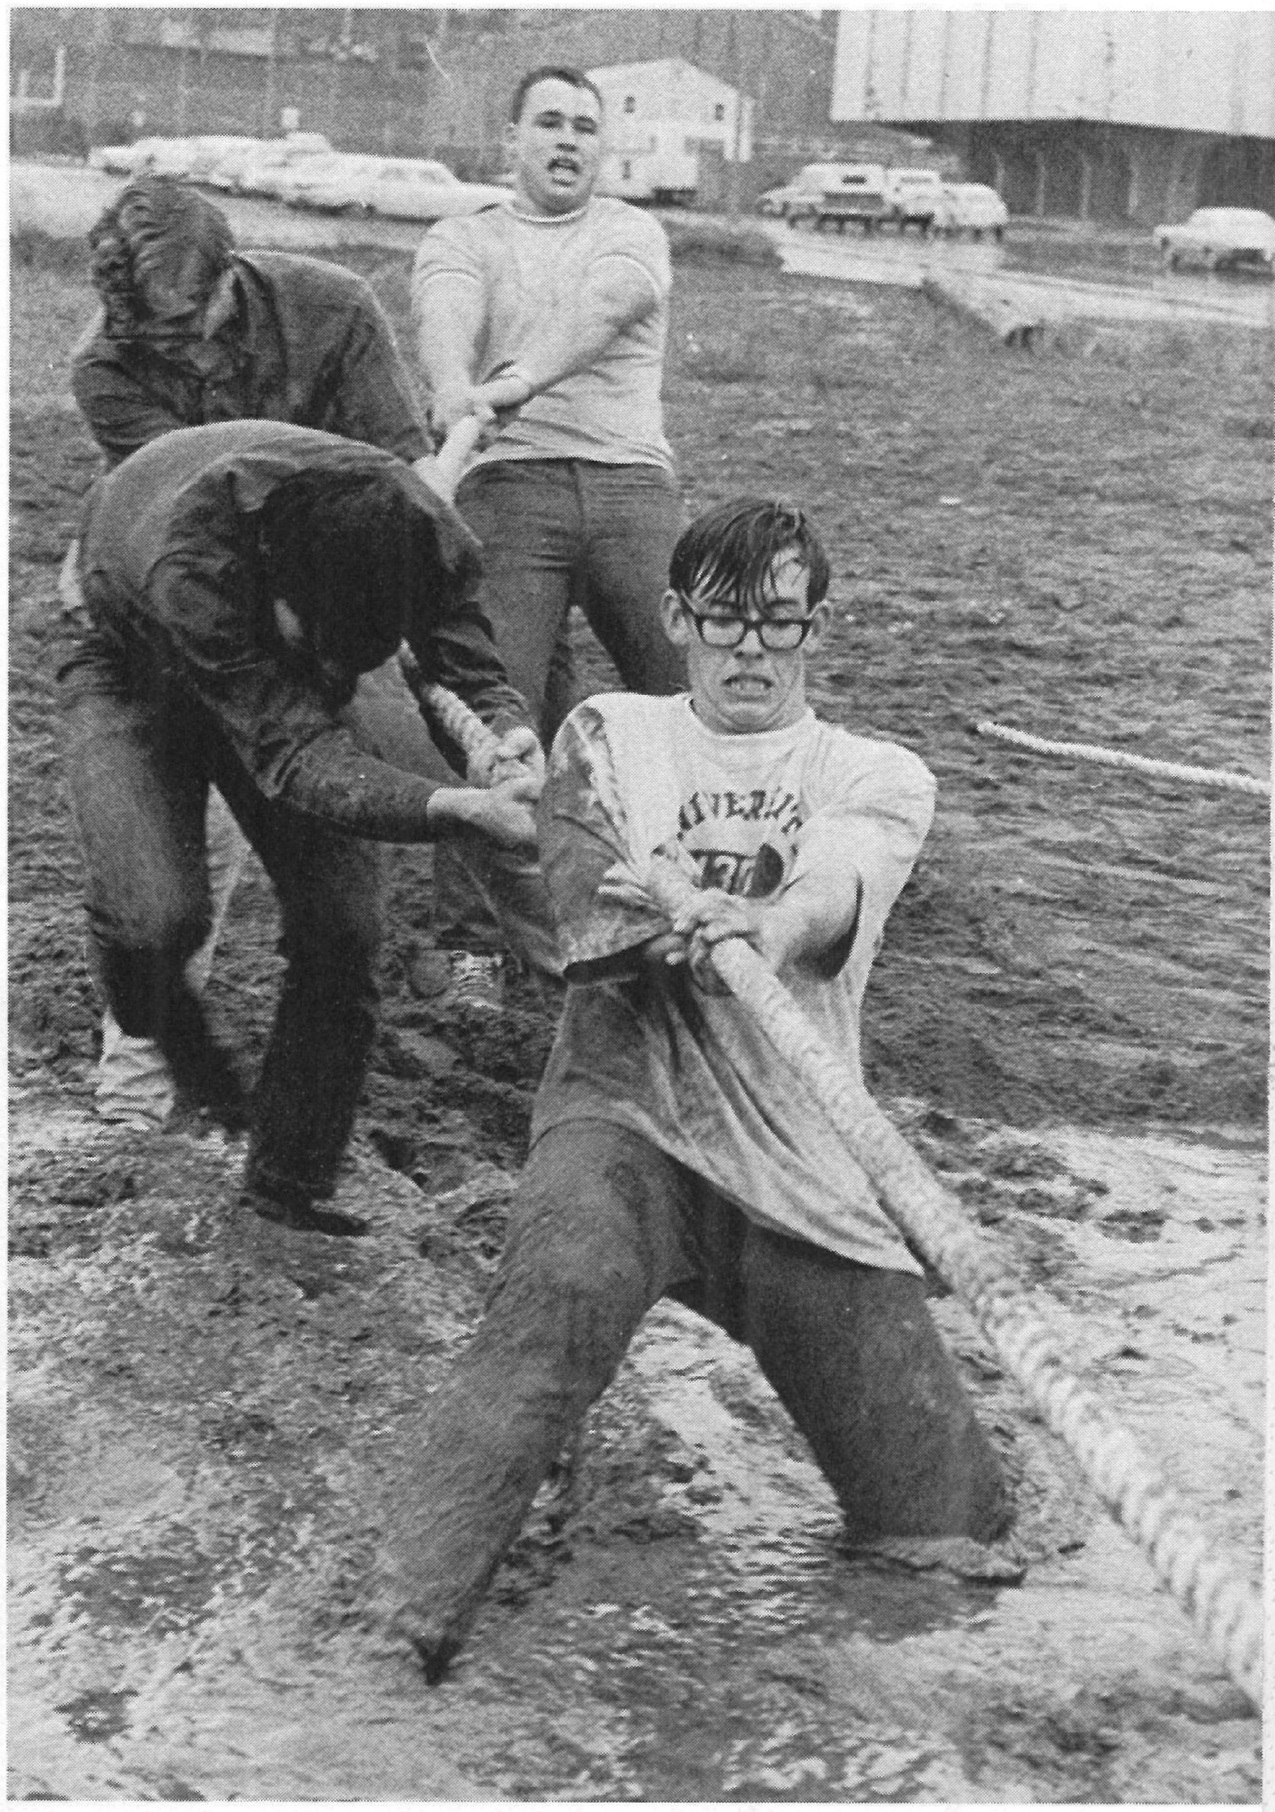

Thom Gunn: The People's Choice

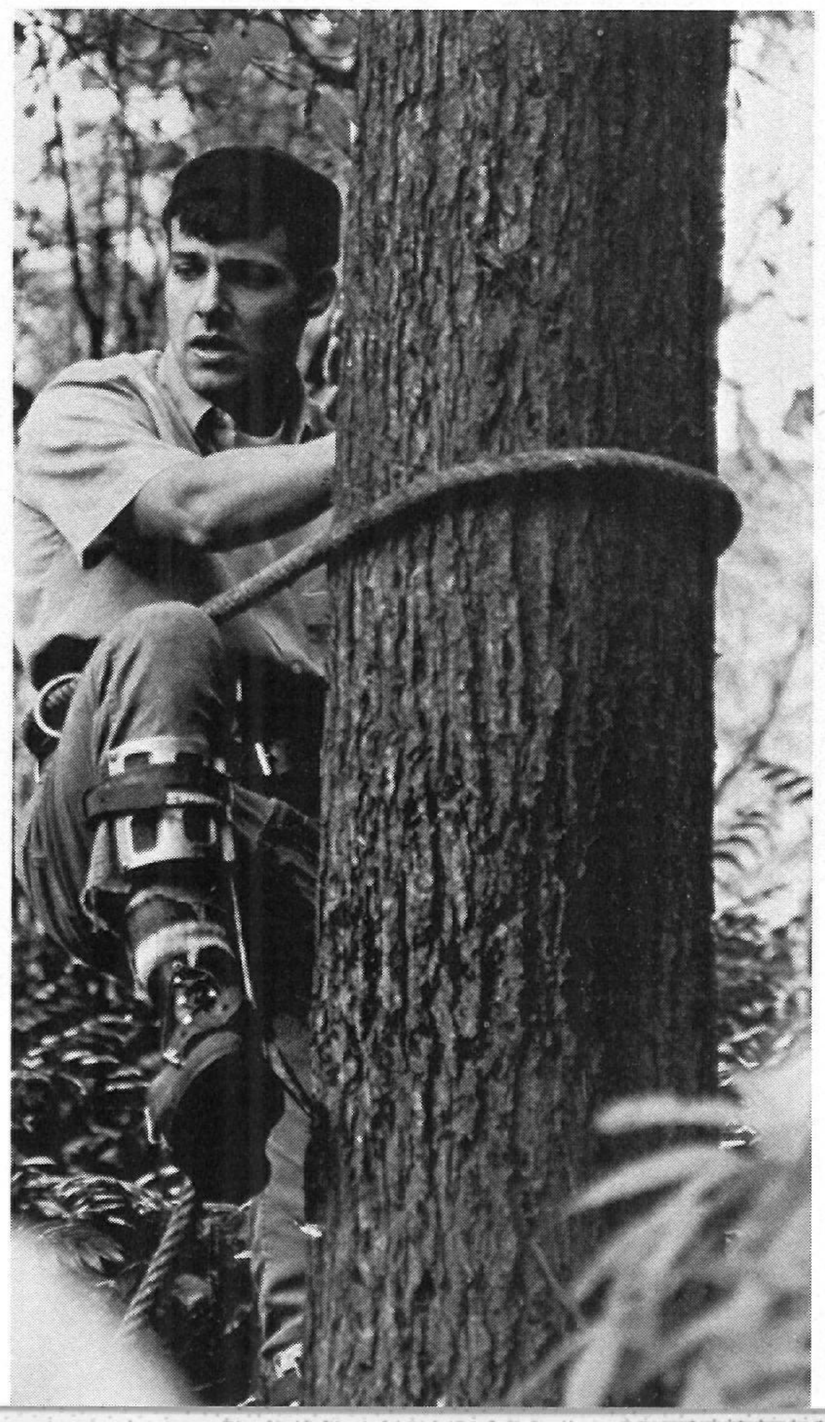

Thom Gunn led students into a Great Leap Somewhere from which they may never recover. The student establishment tumbled while Gunn blasted tranquil apathy with World War III and World War IV. The Gunn Administration focused on the unconventional and the uncommon, but with a naturalness and a near-reverence for the free spirit. Some labeled Gunn a hippie, called his campaign a farce and his election a fluke, but since his election he has served as a focal point of change on campus. He has upset the status quo, and his Great Leap has plunged students into the hitherto little-known realm of student involvement.

Pioneer Spirit Returns for

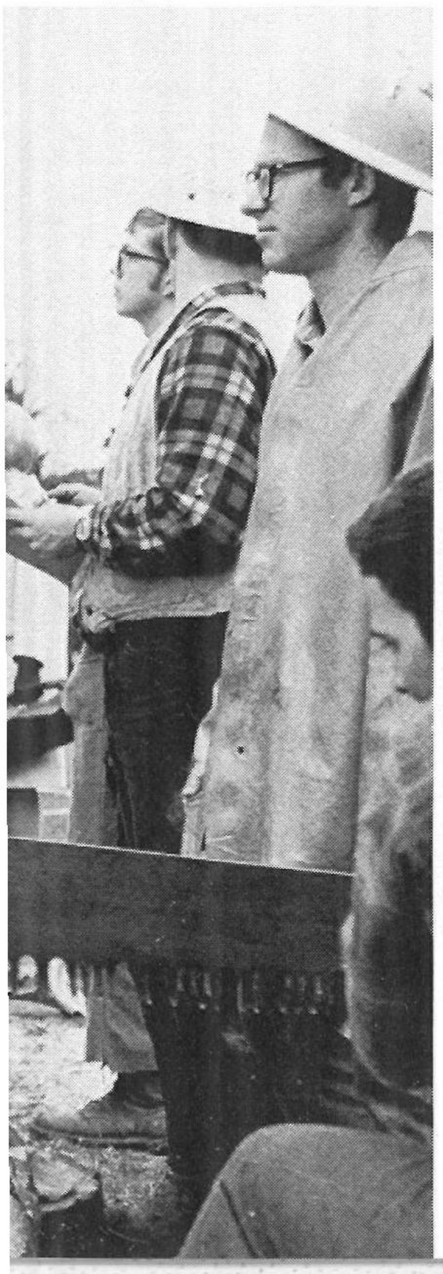

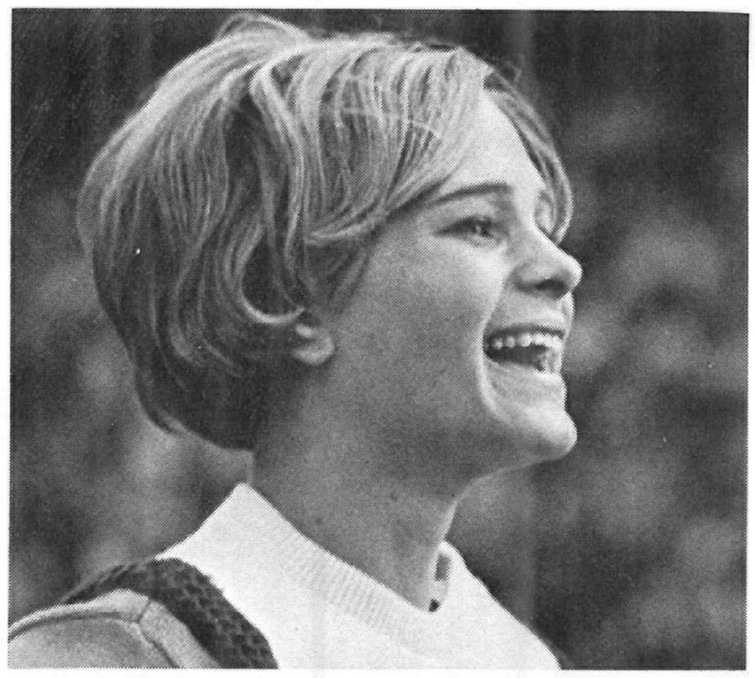

Like pioneer loggers, the bearded heroes toss their axes and cut the timber. Scaling trees and rolling logs, Timber Queen contestants and forestry students relive the days of early logging camps in traditional Garb Day fashion.

Garb Day Activities—Trees, Mud, Queens

These are the cold, crisp days of football. Students and spectators huddle on bleachers. Cheers are punctuated with occasional moans. There is tension and confrontation; wild excitement and disappointment.

And on the field below eight gold-clad girls embody the energy and lead the enthusiasm. Theirs is the vitality that links players and viewers, binding both to the spirit that is football.

Homecoming 1968: a kaleidoscope of events, the observance of a tradition. The University grows; the attraction expands. There are signs, a rally, the game, Simon and Garfunkel, the dance.

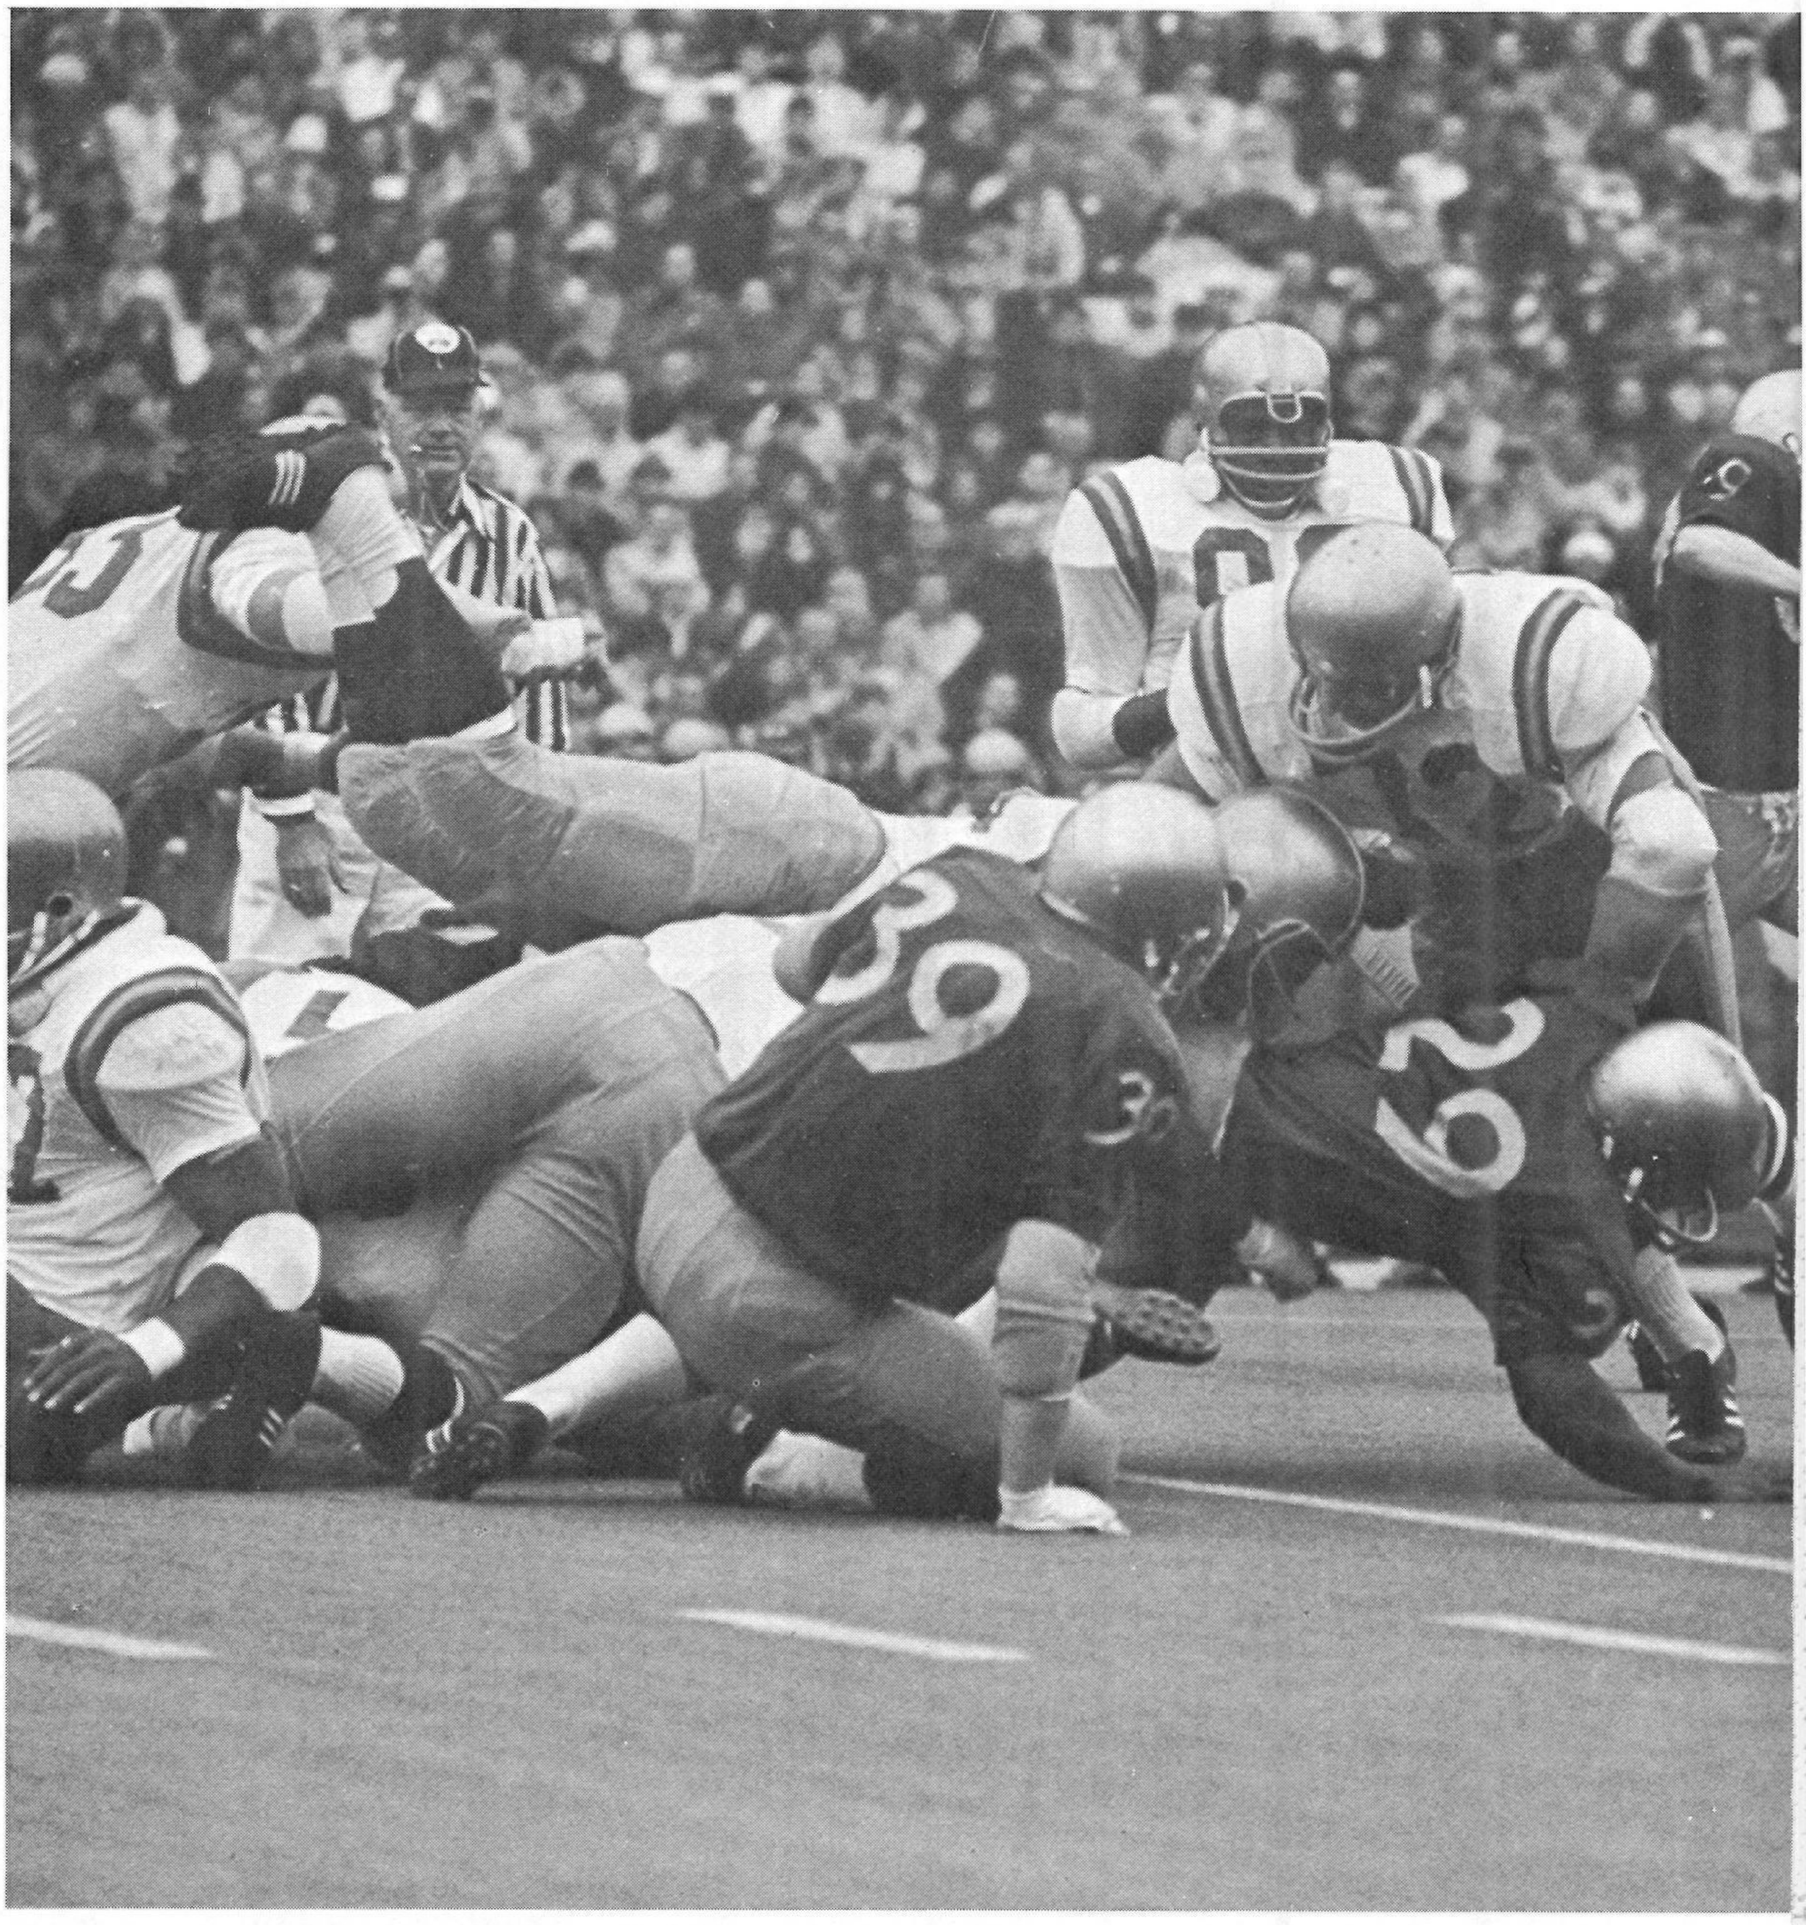

For some it is a weekend of festivity, extra activity and extraordinary entertainment. For others it is a time for rekindling old memories and remembering days that once were young.

Discontentment breeds action. The activists on campus create controversy; they stimulate ideas. Yesterday's answers don't fit today's questions. The present is not perfect, but it need not be stagnant. These students are not just for change, but for improvement.

These students have escaped the trap of apathy. Involvement has been channelled through such creations as the Experimental College, Soul Search, teach-ins, protests and boycotts. They are participating in the changing shape of the world.

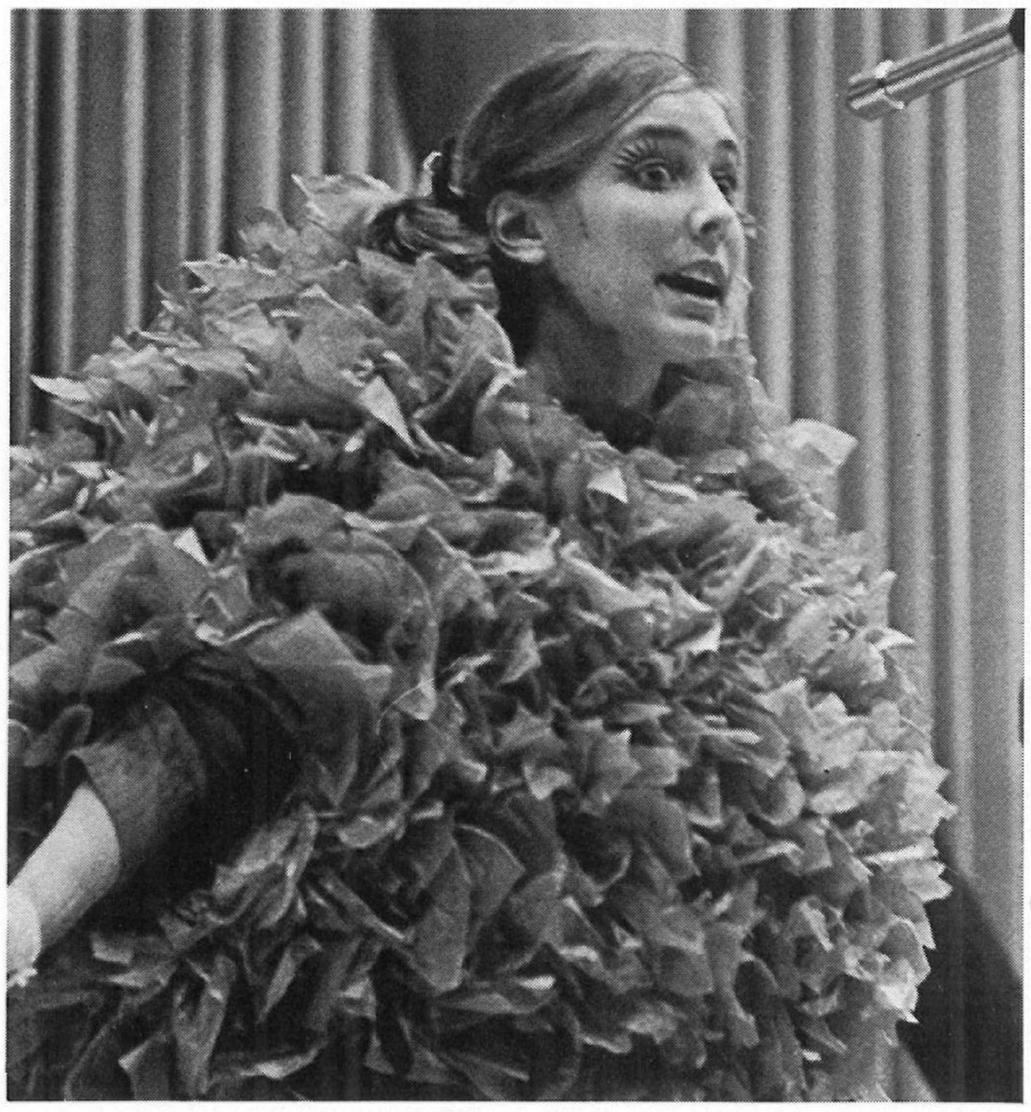

Canned Food and Candid Fun Fills Santa's Bag

"Santa's Bag" spilled over with good things at the ASUW Christmas party. Snowflakes sparkled as the brass choir led Christmas carols. This year's jolly Santa was Carl Wojciechowski and his favorite toy was a ball and jacks disguising Miss Mistletoe, Kathy Boddiger.

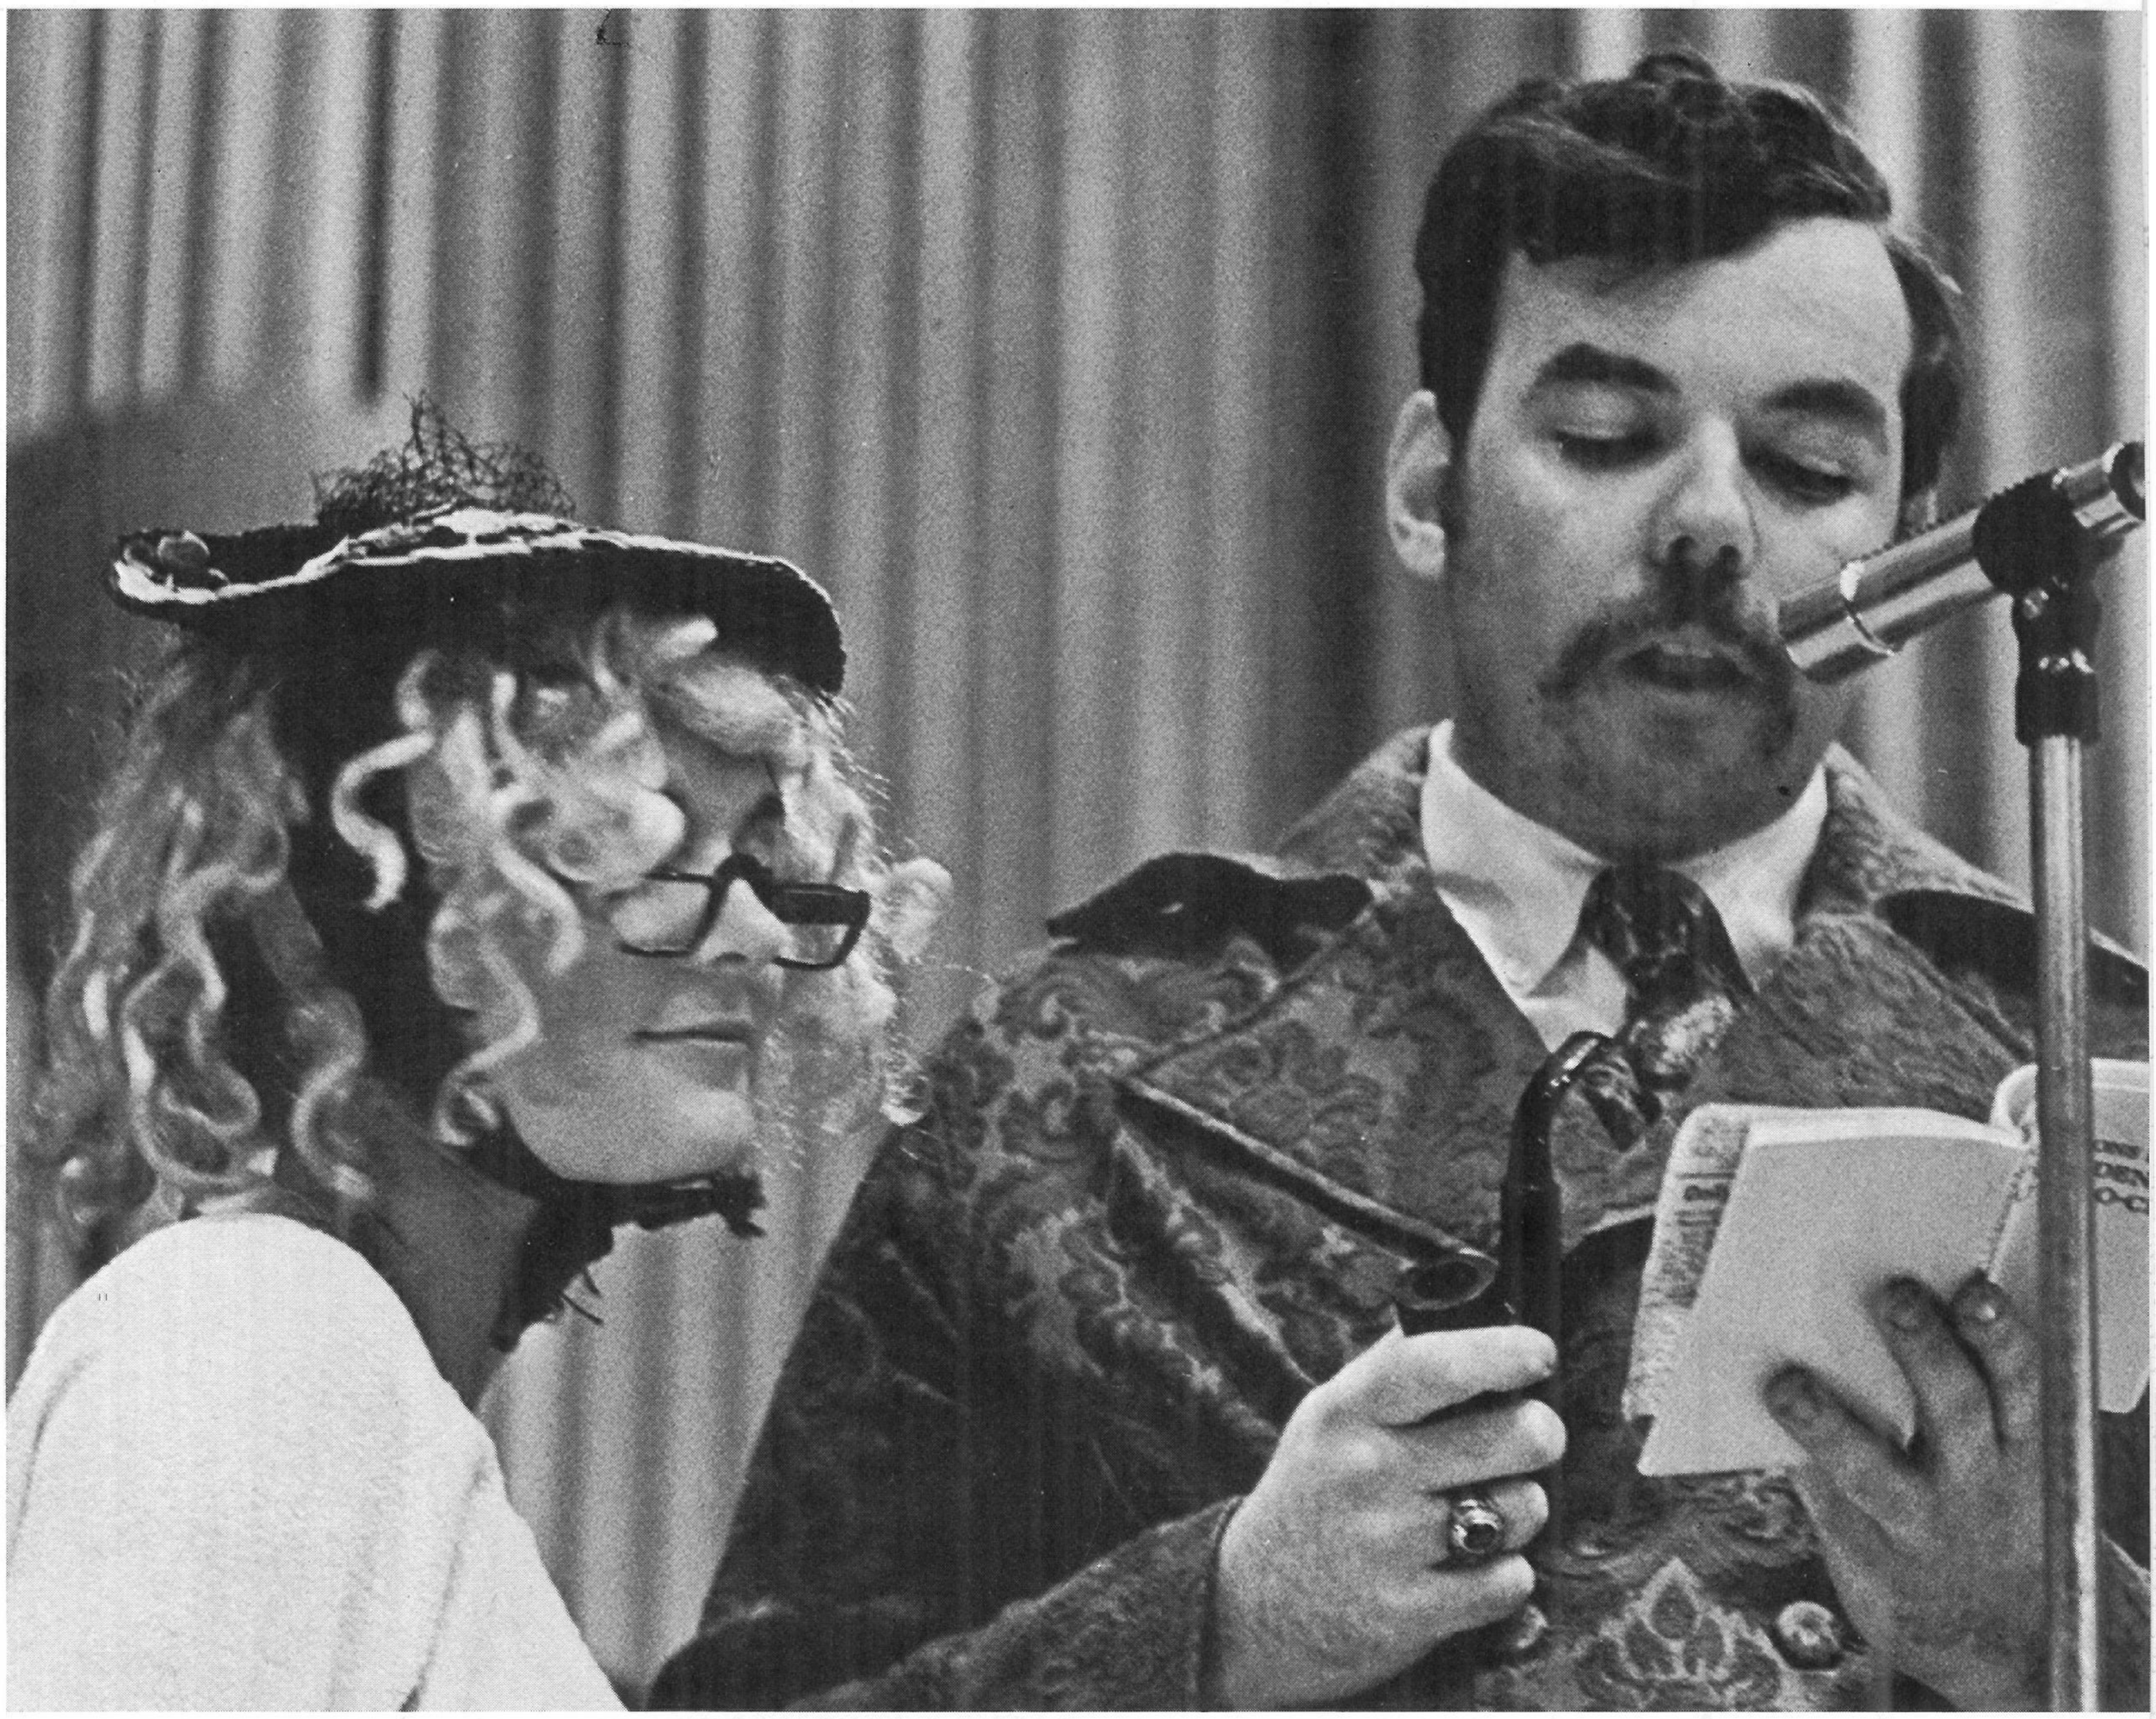

University Vice President Frederick Thieme and ASUW President Thom Gunn greeted guests. Entertainment and refreshments were provided.

The season's joy and the thousands of canned goods that had been collected refilled Santa's bag in the hope that it might be shared with others.

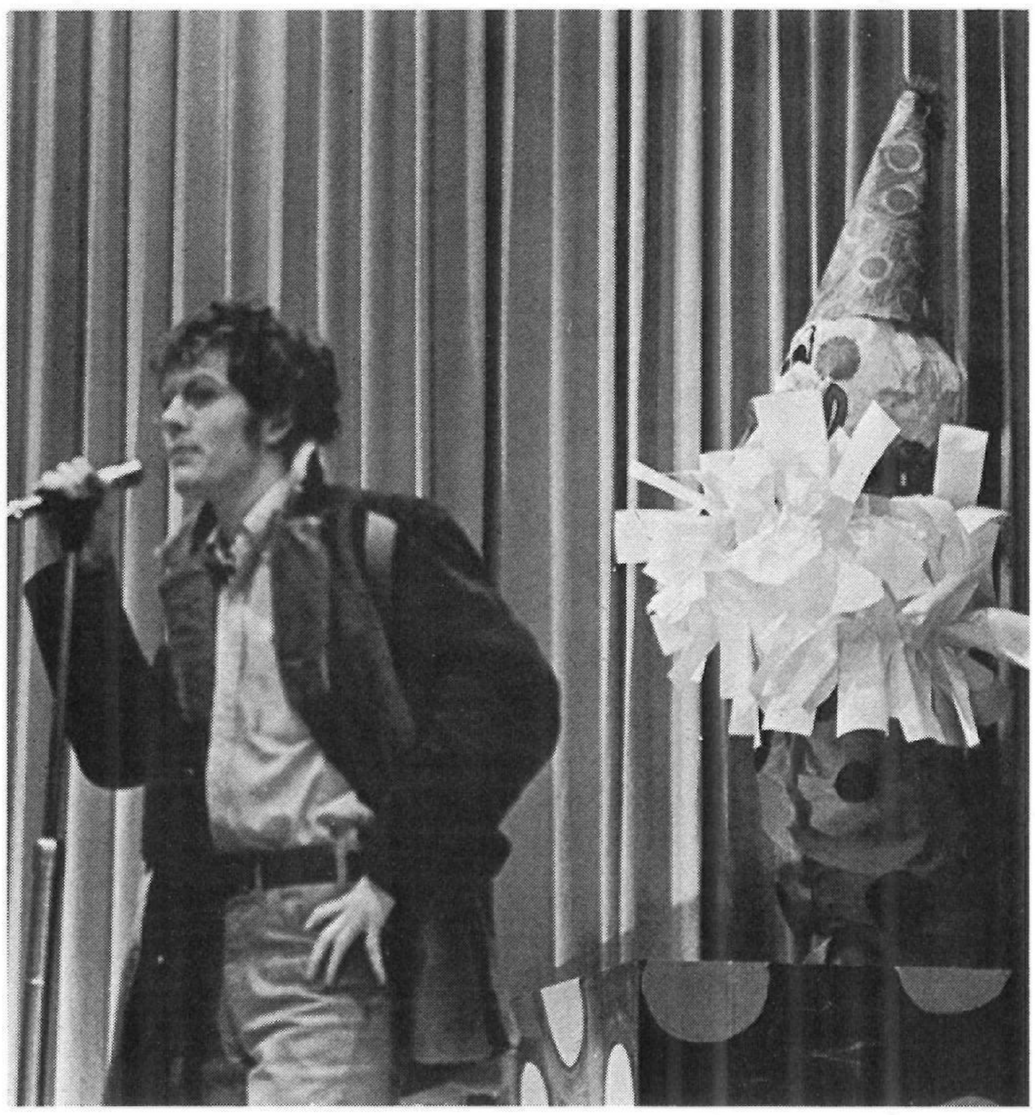

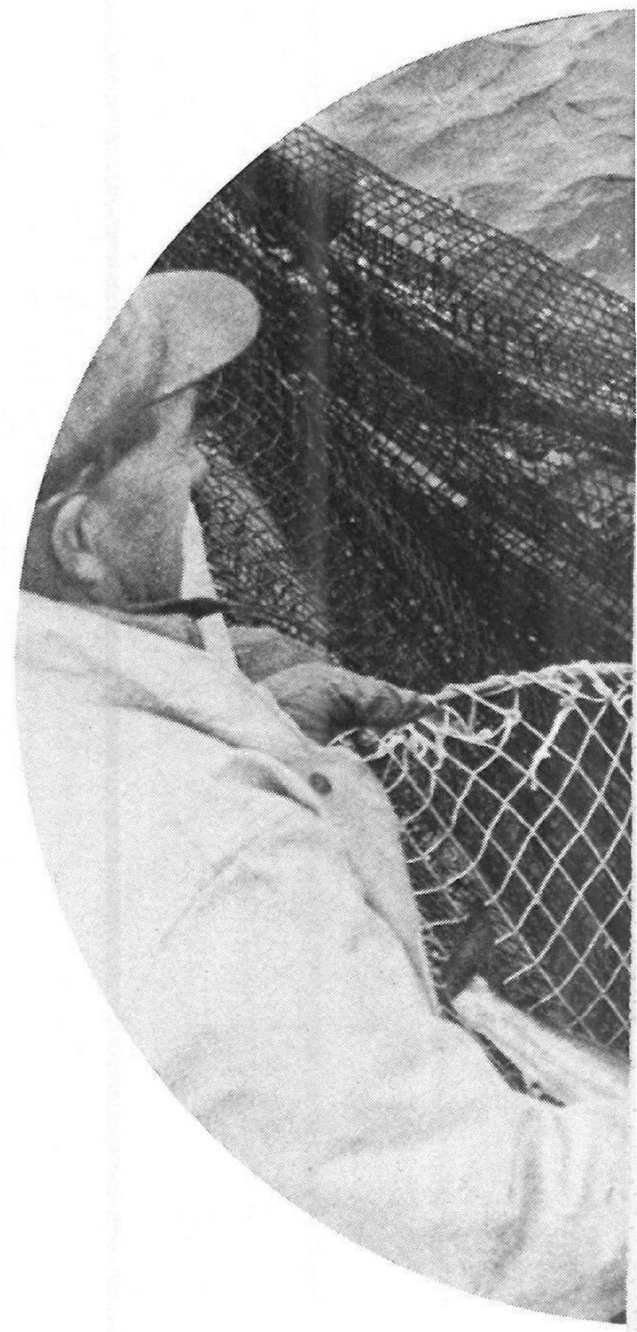

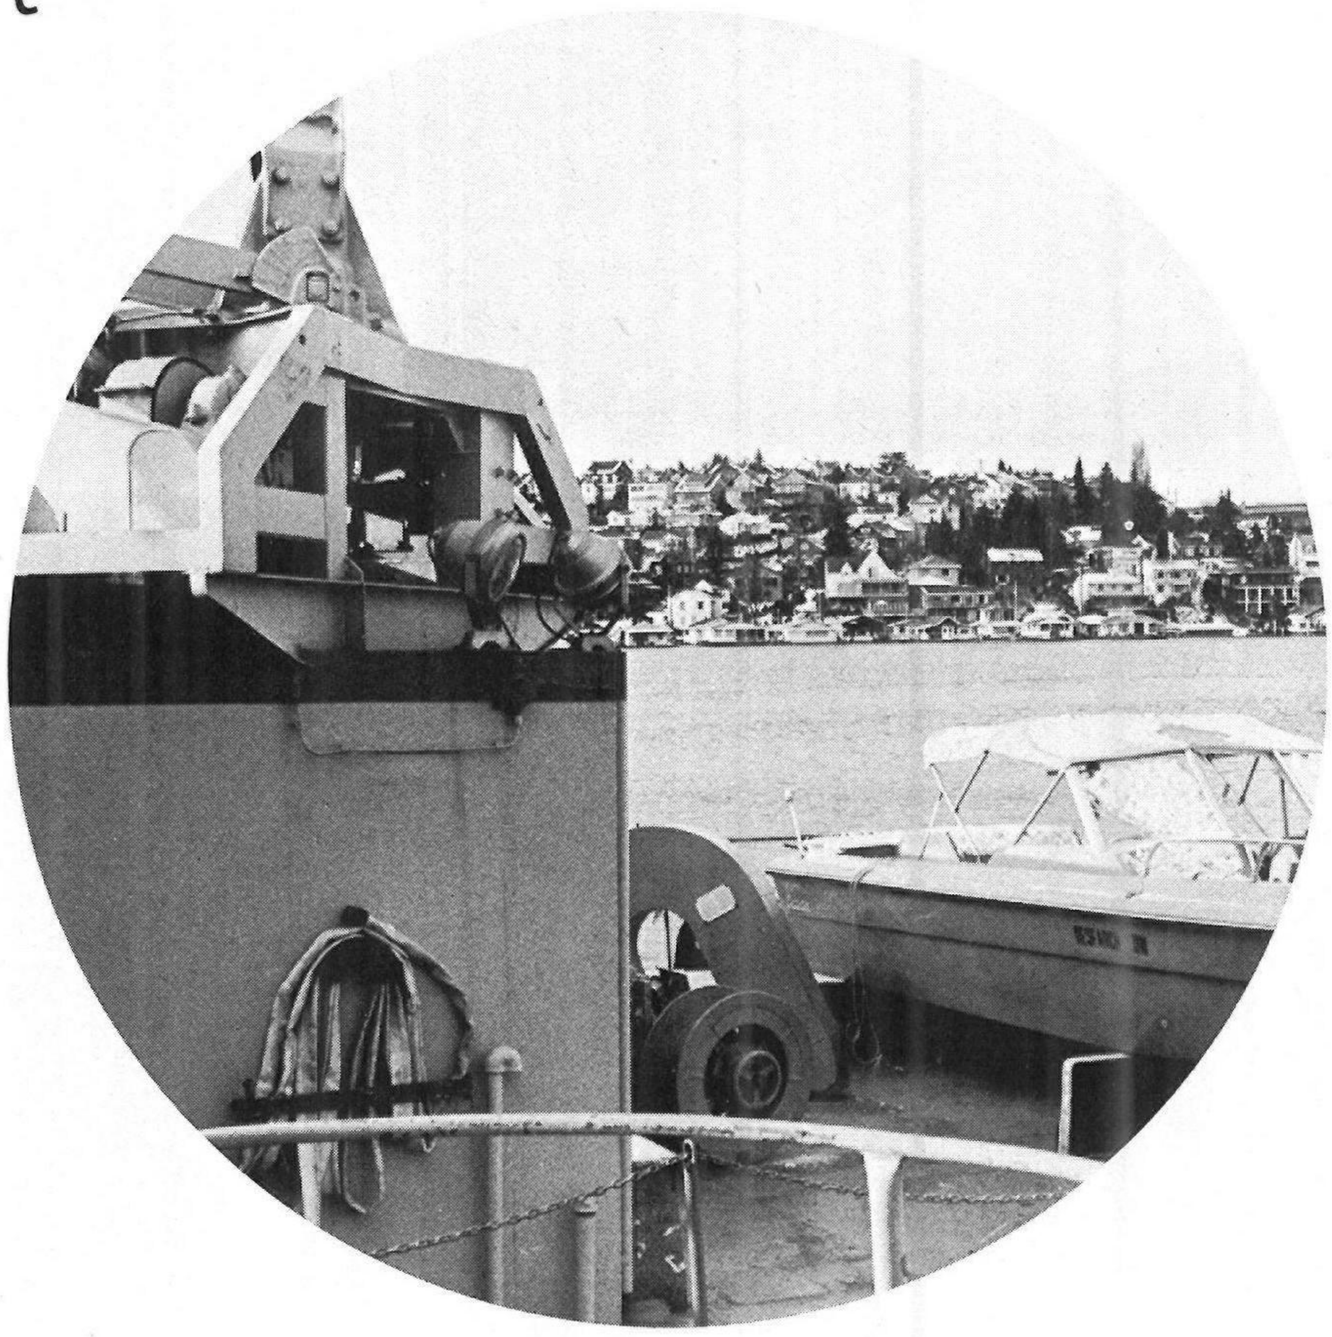

Research focuses on new dimensions. It has penetrated man's old barriers of sky and sea. A rapidly expanding population is placing increased importance on both the conservation and cultivation of fish as well as other products of the sea; the Fisheries Research Institute has been conducting projects on major fishery problems since 1947.

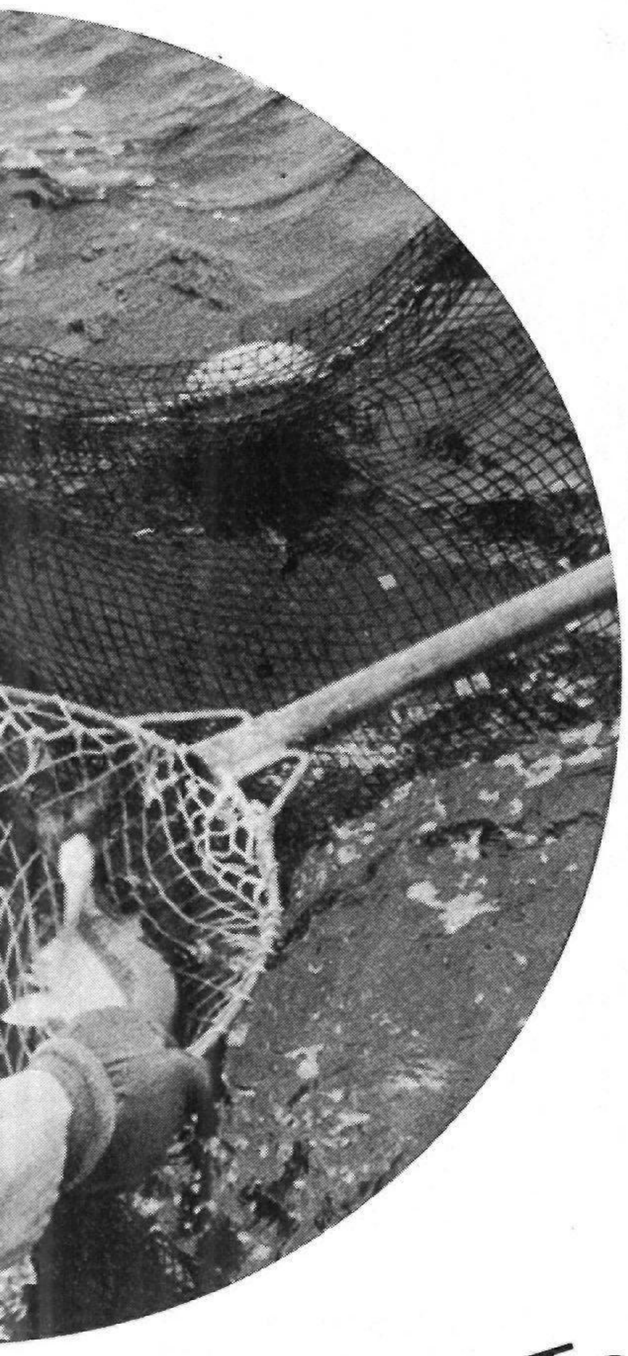

Much of the Institute's research deals with salmon studies. Interrelated studies include research on ocean currents, fish physiology and ecology of lakes and streams.

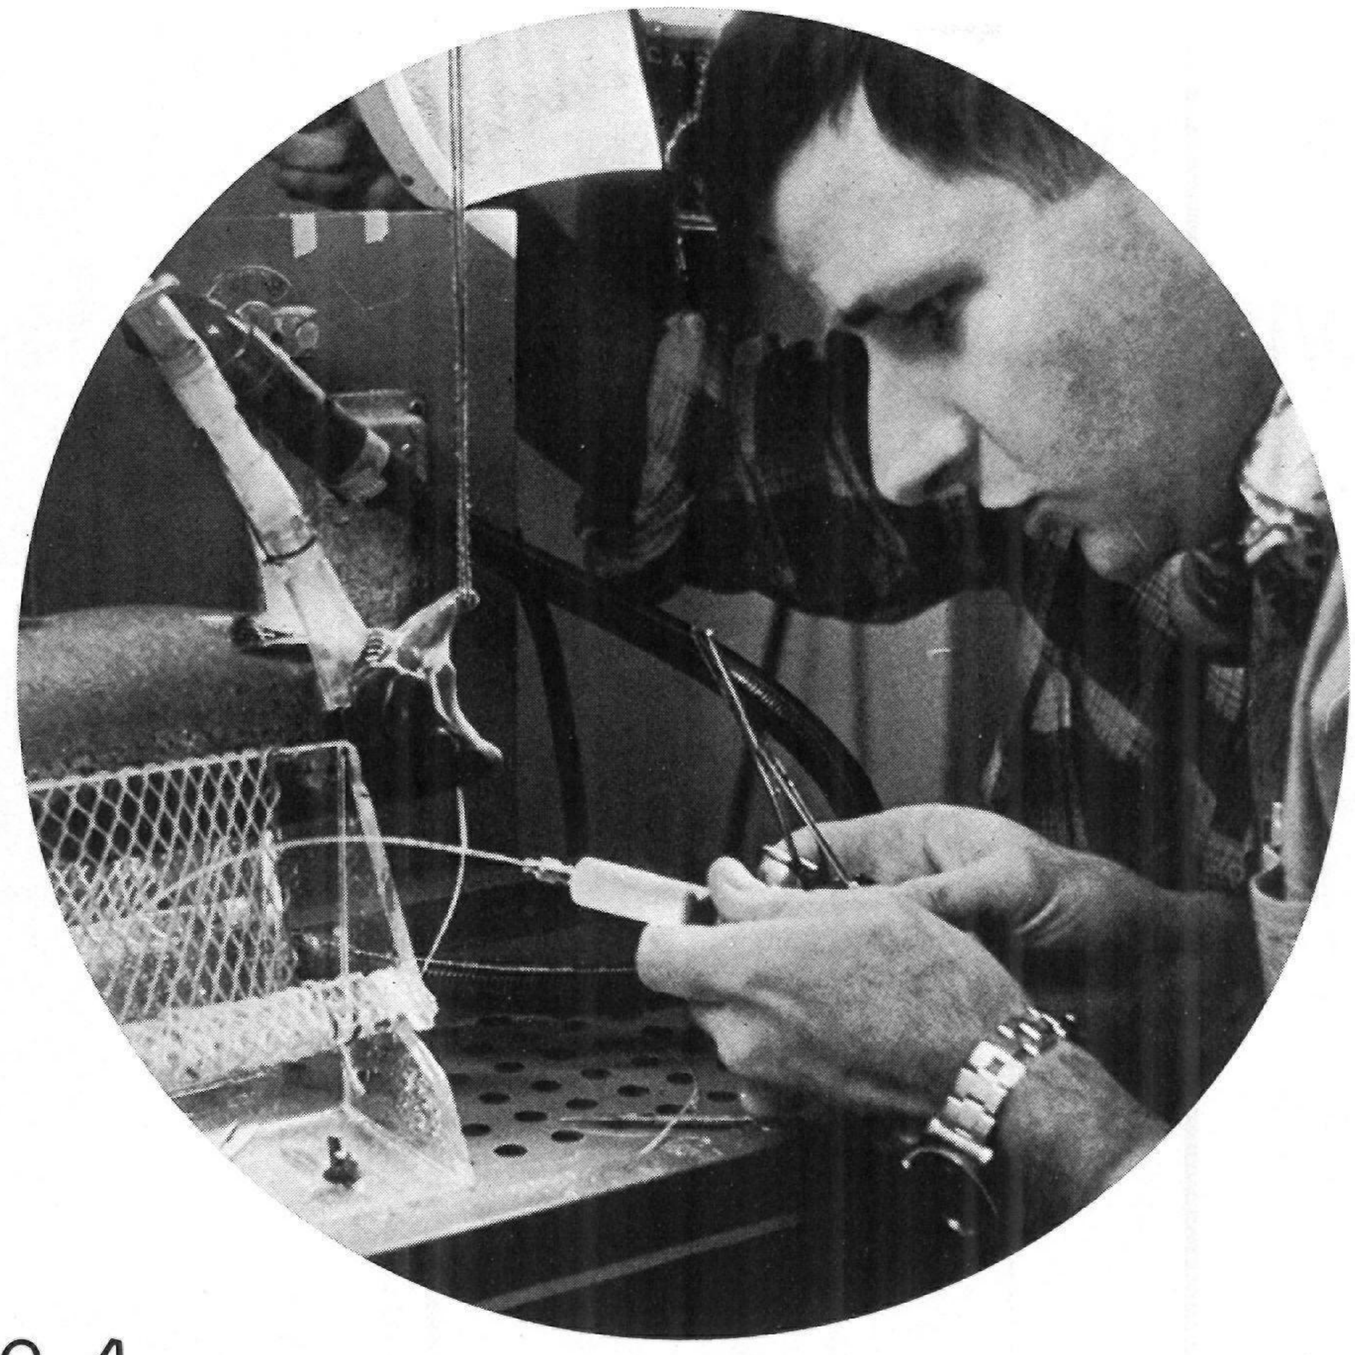

The Institute also takes into account the economic, legal and political aspects of fisheries. Through its research, the Institute is seeking effective solutions to problems both in the Pacific Northwest and on a world-wide scale.

Dark, Bleak Apathy Again Plagues Spirit Of Winter Elections

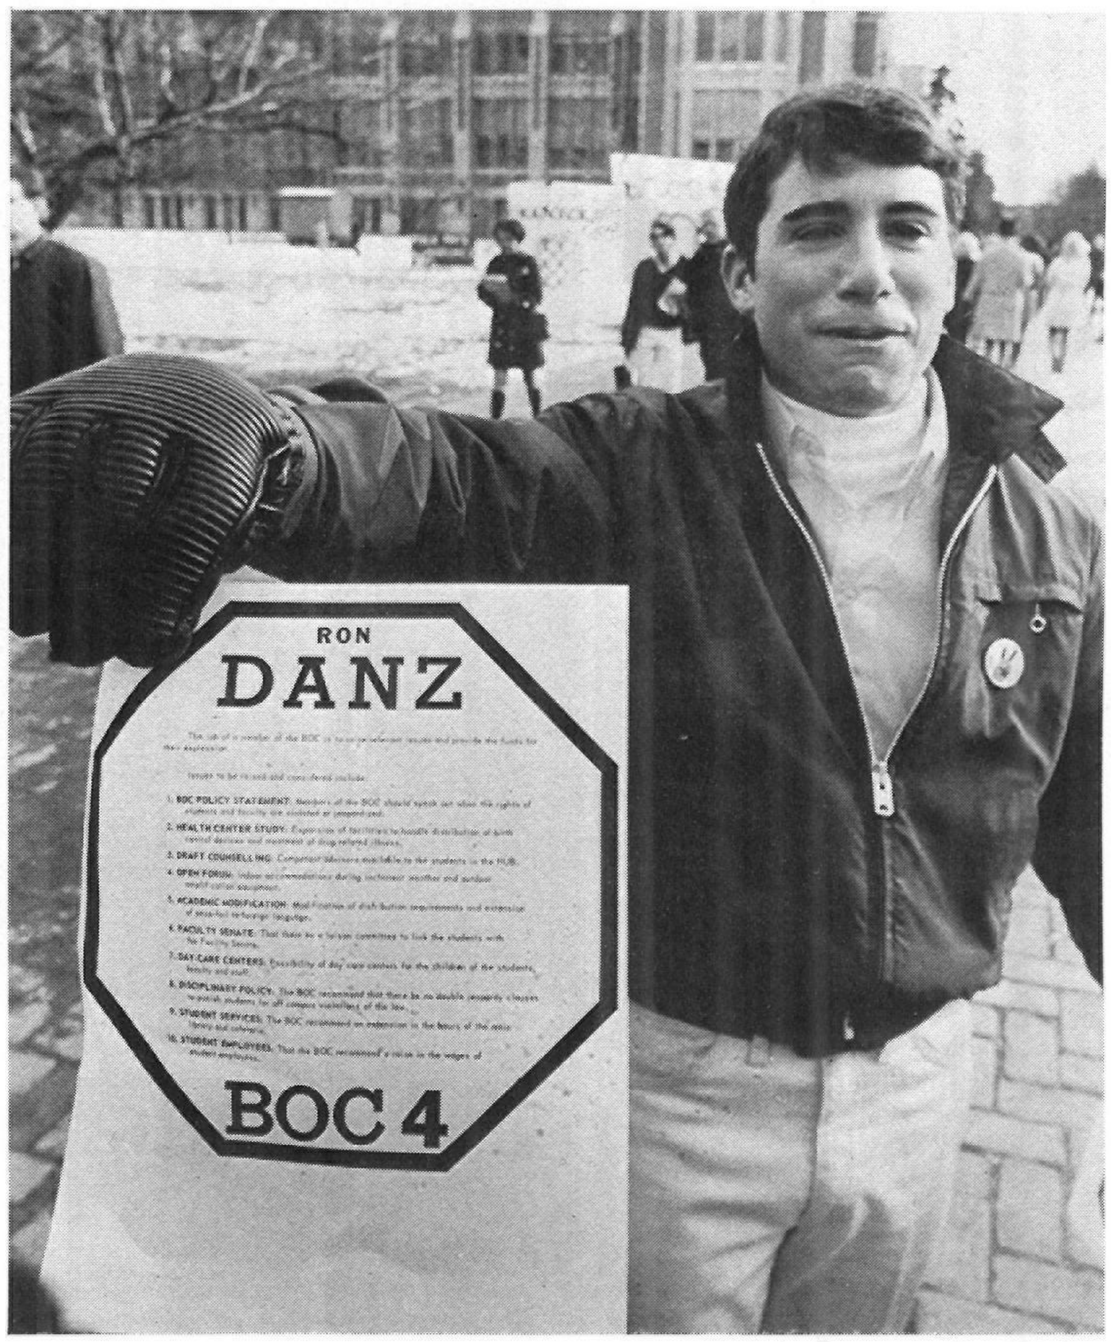

The weather was cold and bleak. The voting turnout was sparse. No hand signs colored the campus, but leaflets were scattered from every corner and large signs loomed in the quad. The hand-shakers and campaign pros promoted their candidates and tried to break the old habit of winter quarter apathy. The unconcerned ignored the whole election process, while those who cared voted into office: Darlene Marie Johnson, BOC 1; Dallas Salisbury, BOC 2; Shannon Goodfellow, BOC 3; Ron Danz, BOC 4; and Rick Wise, BOC 5.

Gold Rush Days Recalled at Las Vegas Night

Las Vegas Night 1969 boasted a variety of entertainment in a Gold Rush setting. At the top of the bill was the Pair Extraordinaire, whose appearance gave the Hub casino a professional air. A belly dancer named "Atesh" added a tantalizing touch of the exotic, while the Blue Banjo band recalled those Gold Rush days.

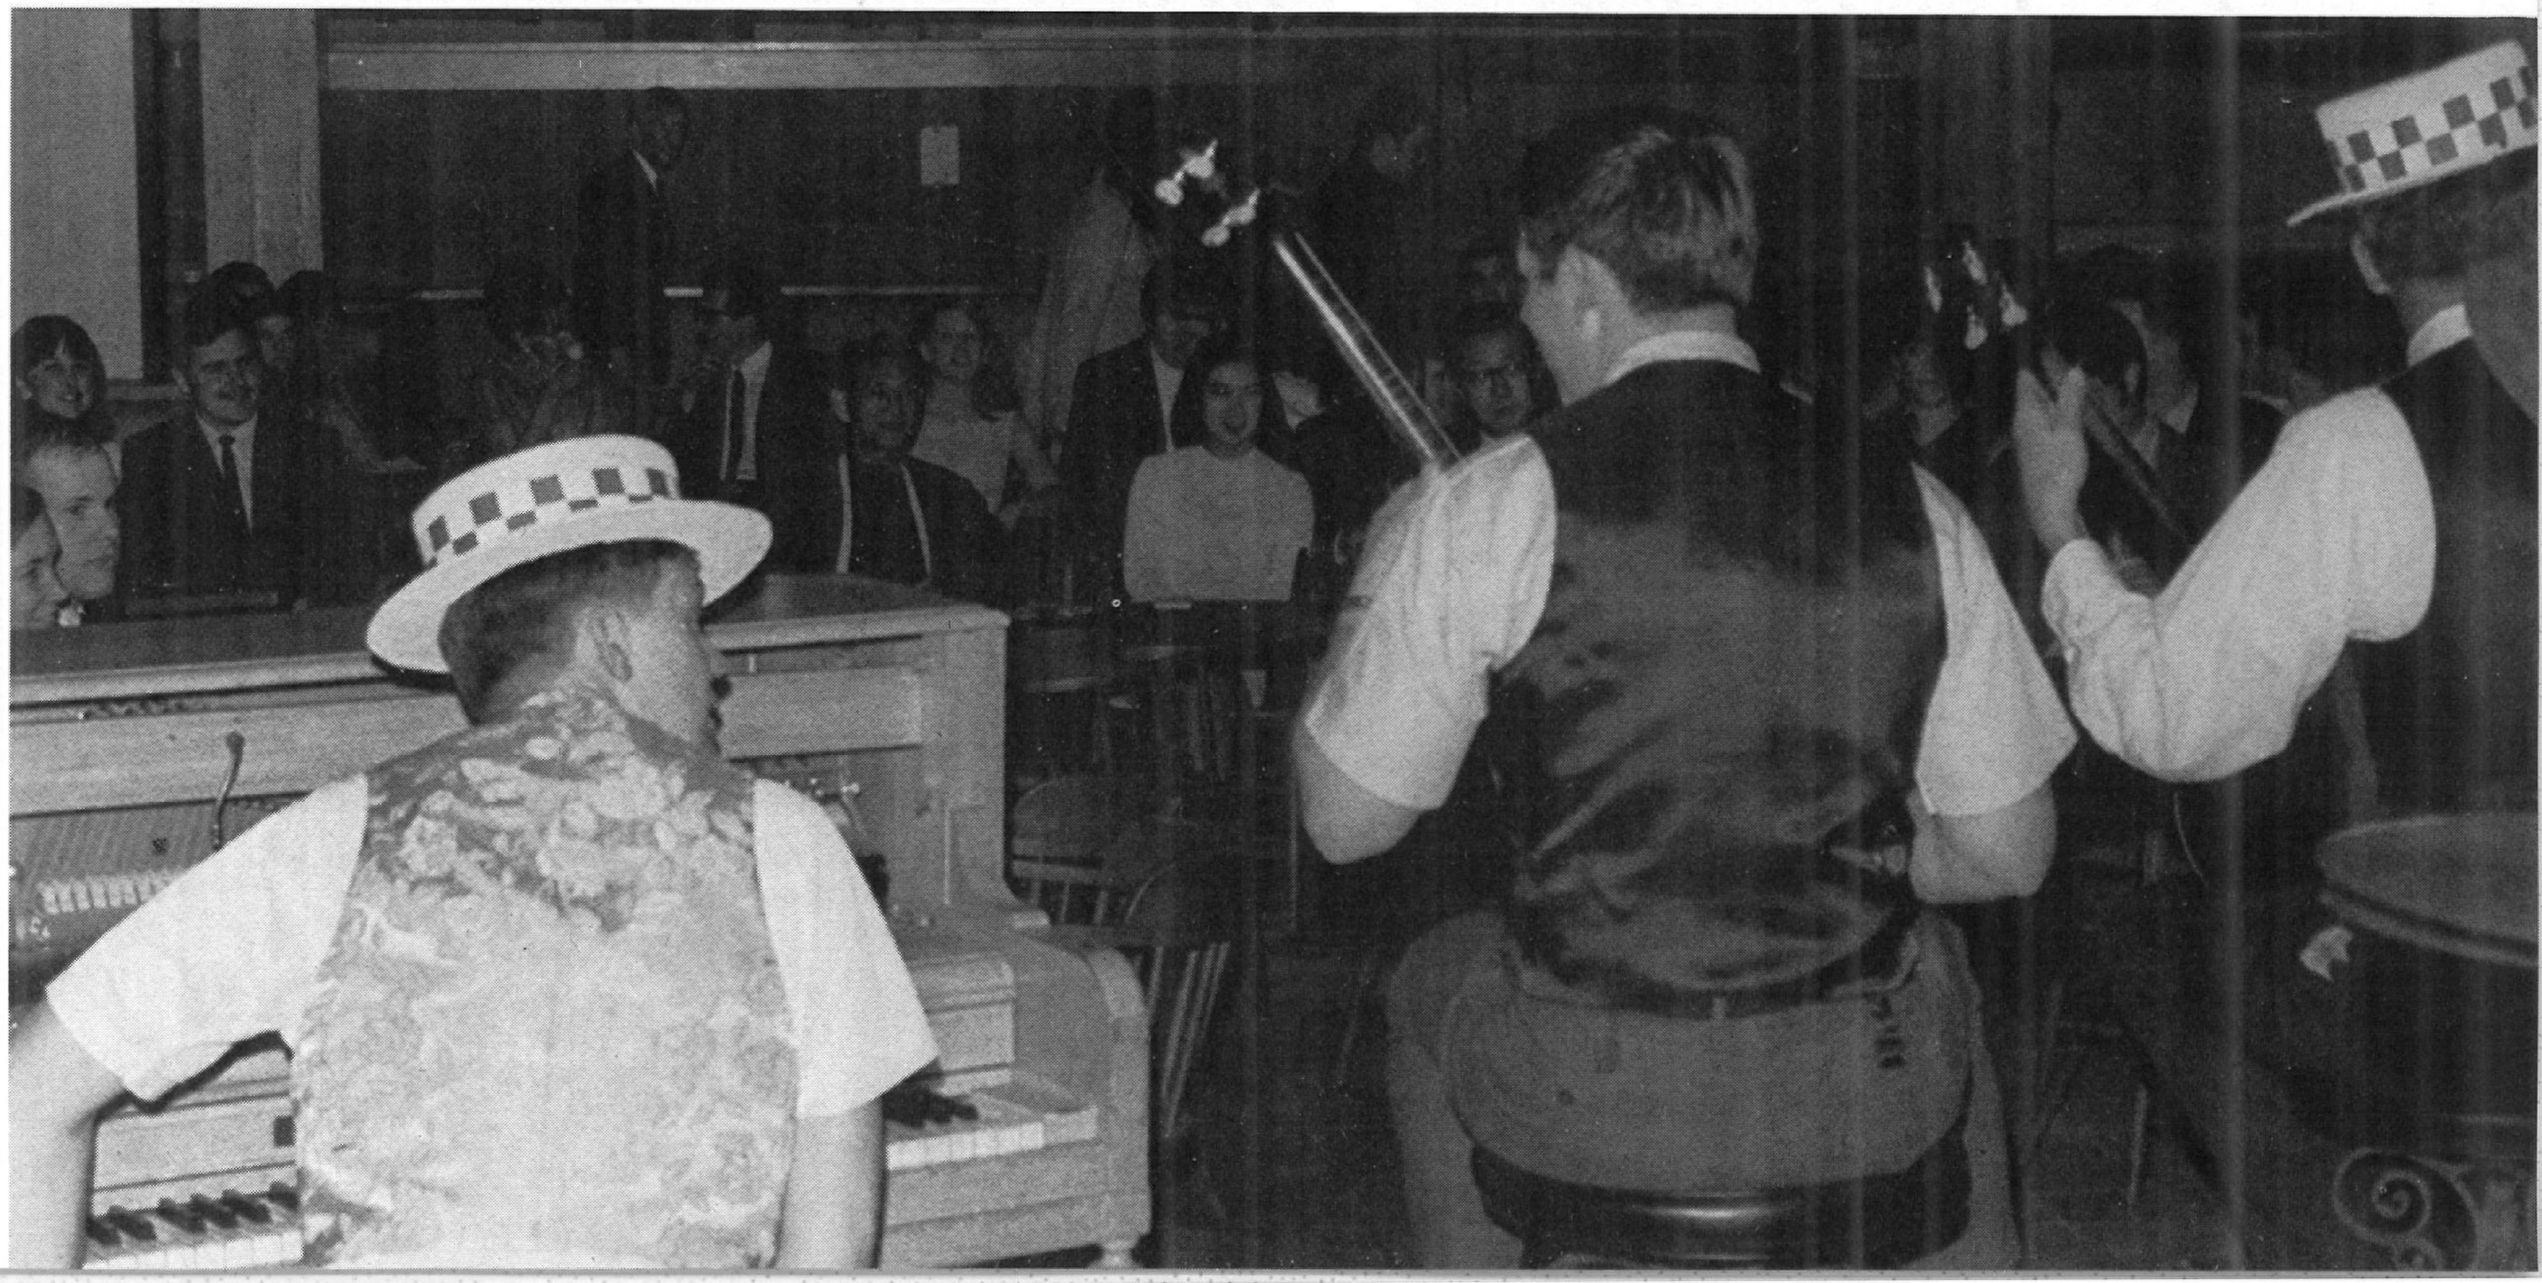

Music in a more contemporary style was provided by the Muzhick Bachs and the Joint Assembly bands.

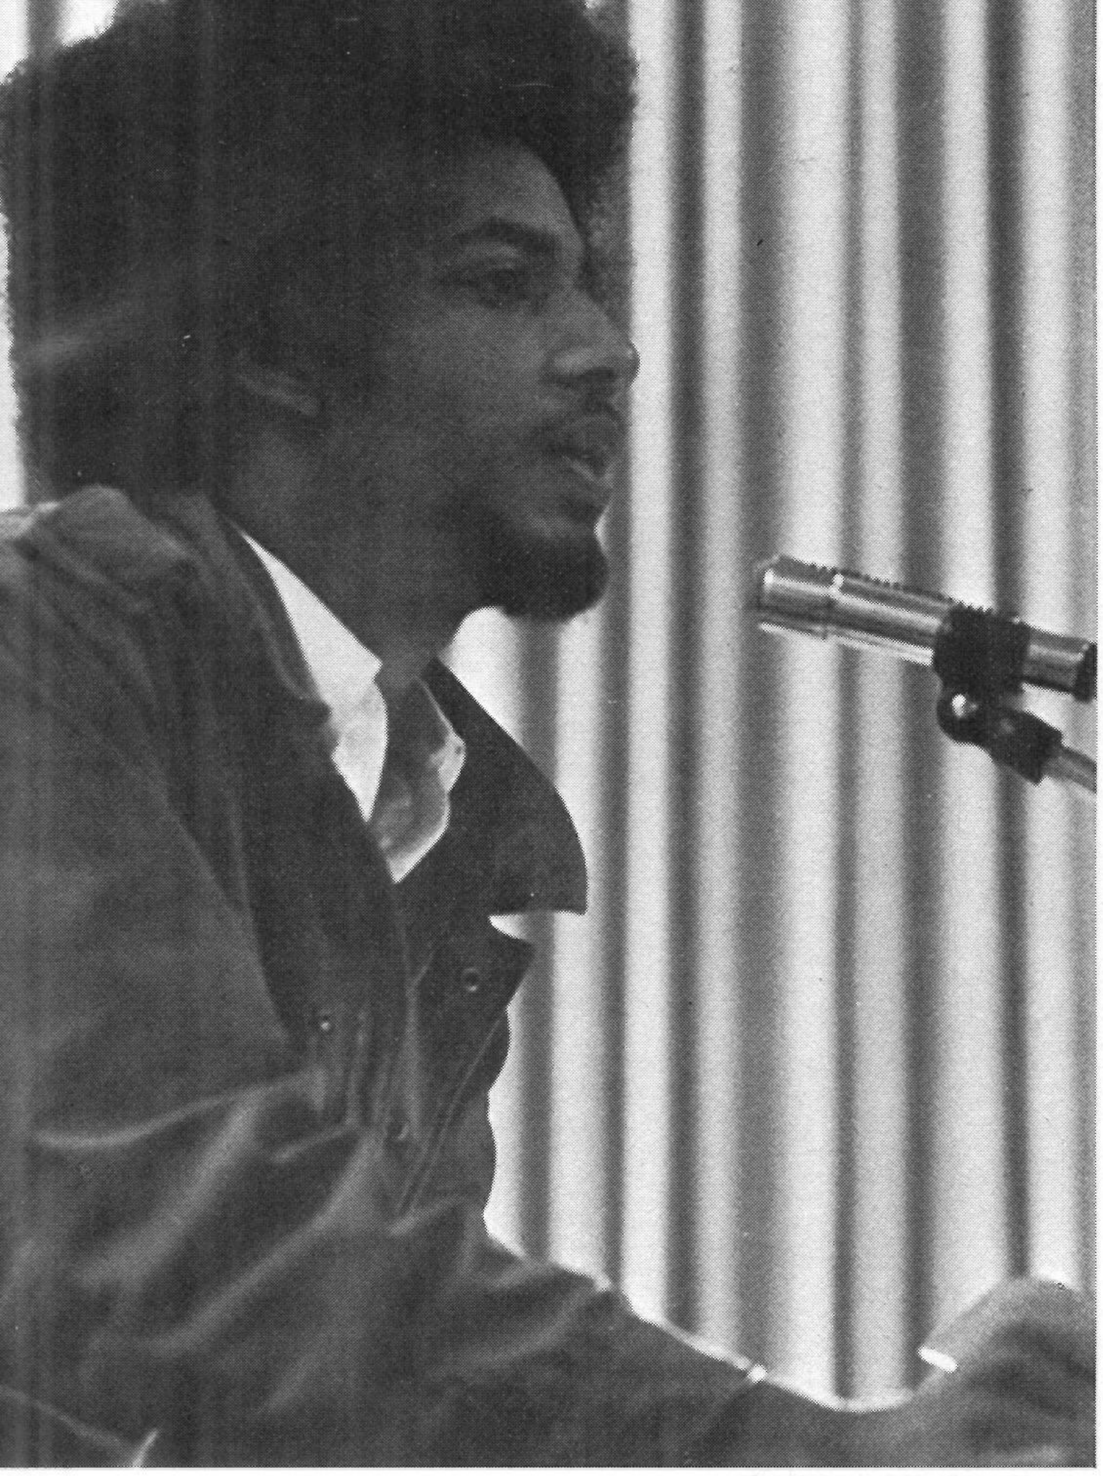

Throughout the transformed Hub, authentic dealers and shapely hostesses attended to the gambling, from the "big wheel" to blackjack in true Las Vegas style.

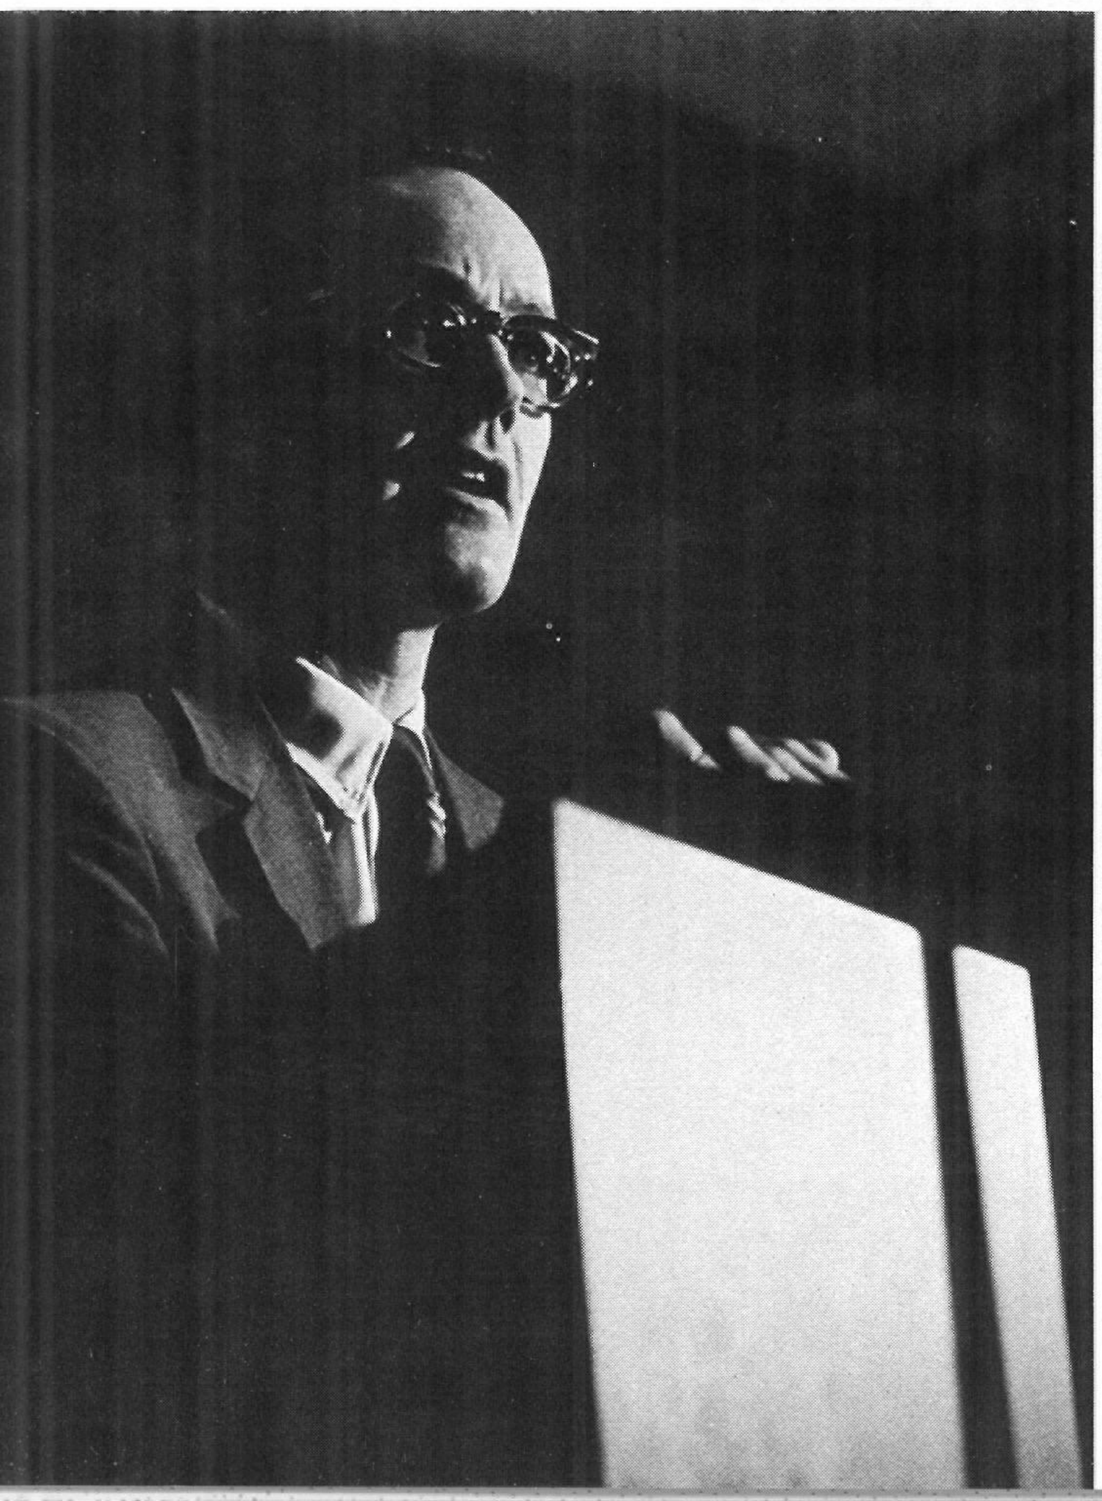

Aaron Dixon, Black Panther leader, captured the mood of his cause by asserting that "We want freedom . . . and the power to determine our own destiny."

Francois Mitterrand, an anti-Gaullist French leftist leader, spoke on revolution and reform. He heads a coalition of non-Communist leftists which includes the Social Democratic Party.

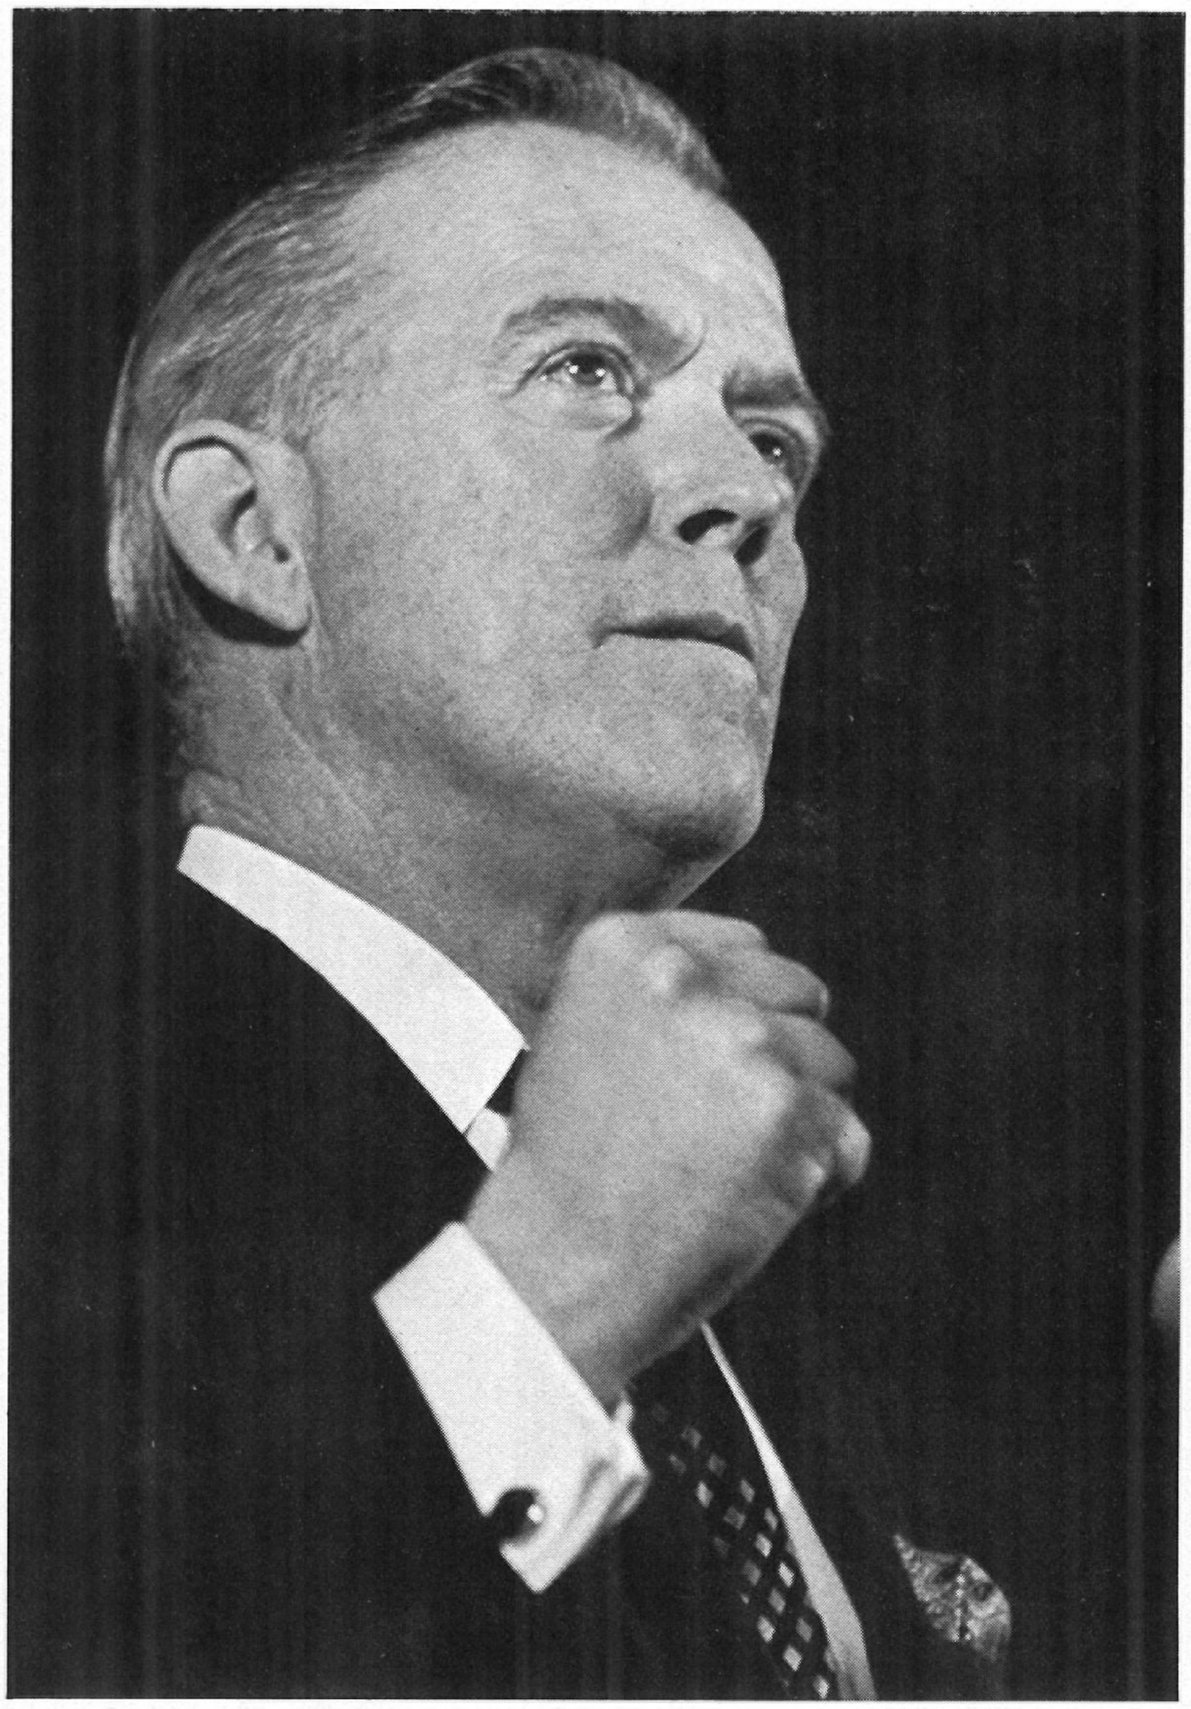

Moments for Thinking and Exploring Unfound Worlds

Slade Gorton, Republican Attorney General, perhaps secured a few more votes on his university political stopover, reminding students that "Justice is a two-way street."

Art Fletcher spoke amidst the fall flurry of politicians. The Republican lost a close race for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

John O'Connell also included the university in his October political stops. The Democratic Attorney General lost his bid to replace Gov. Dan Evans.

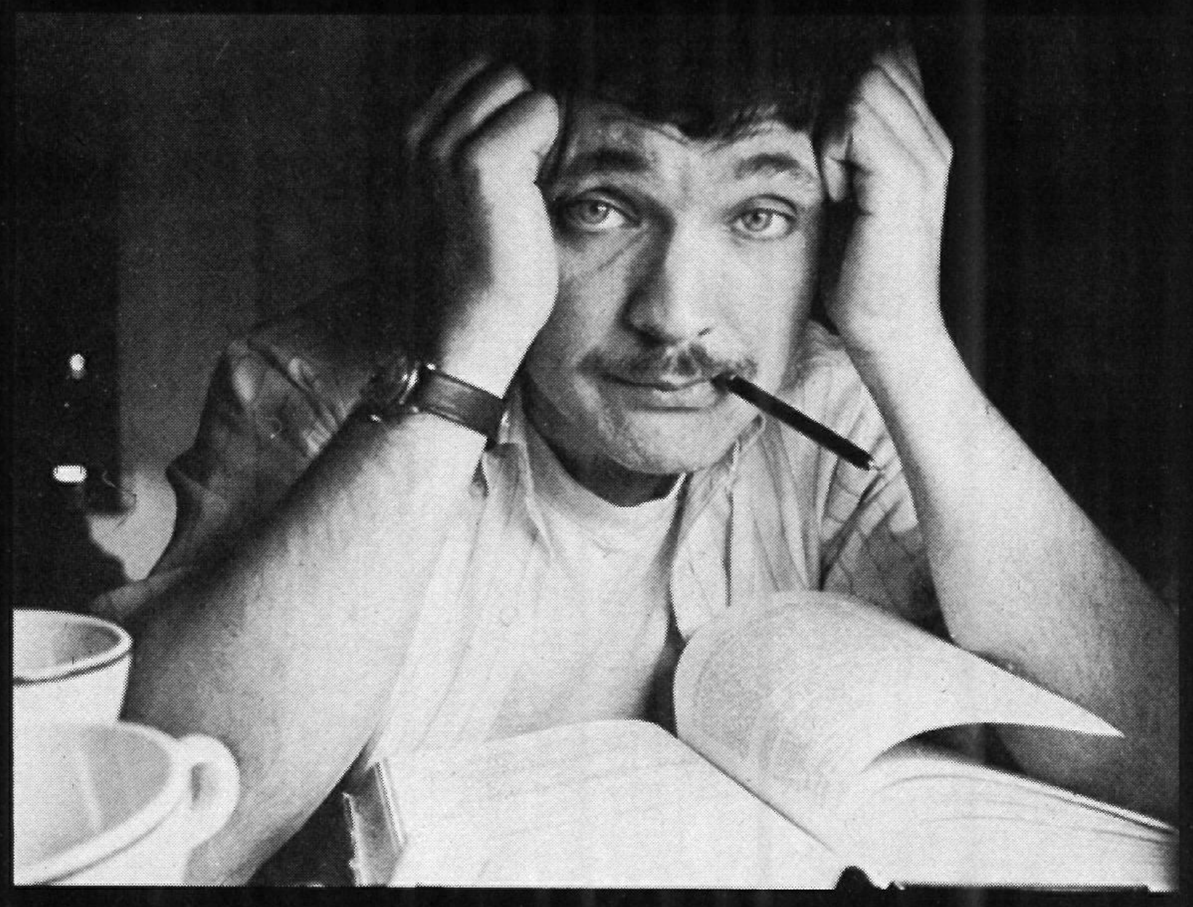

Nguyen Xuan Oanh, although a former South Vietnamese premier, gave a citizen's view of the Asian conflict, saying that democracy improves with progress . . . and that South Vietnam is growing stronger all the time.

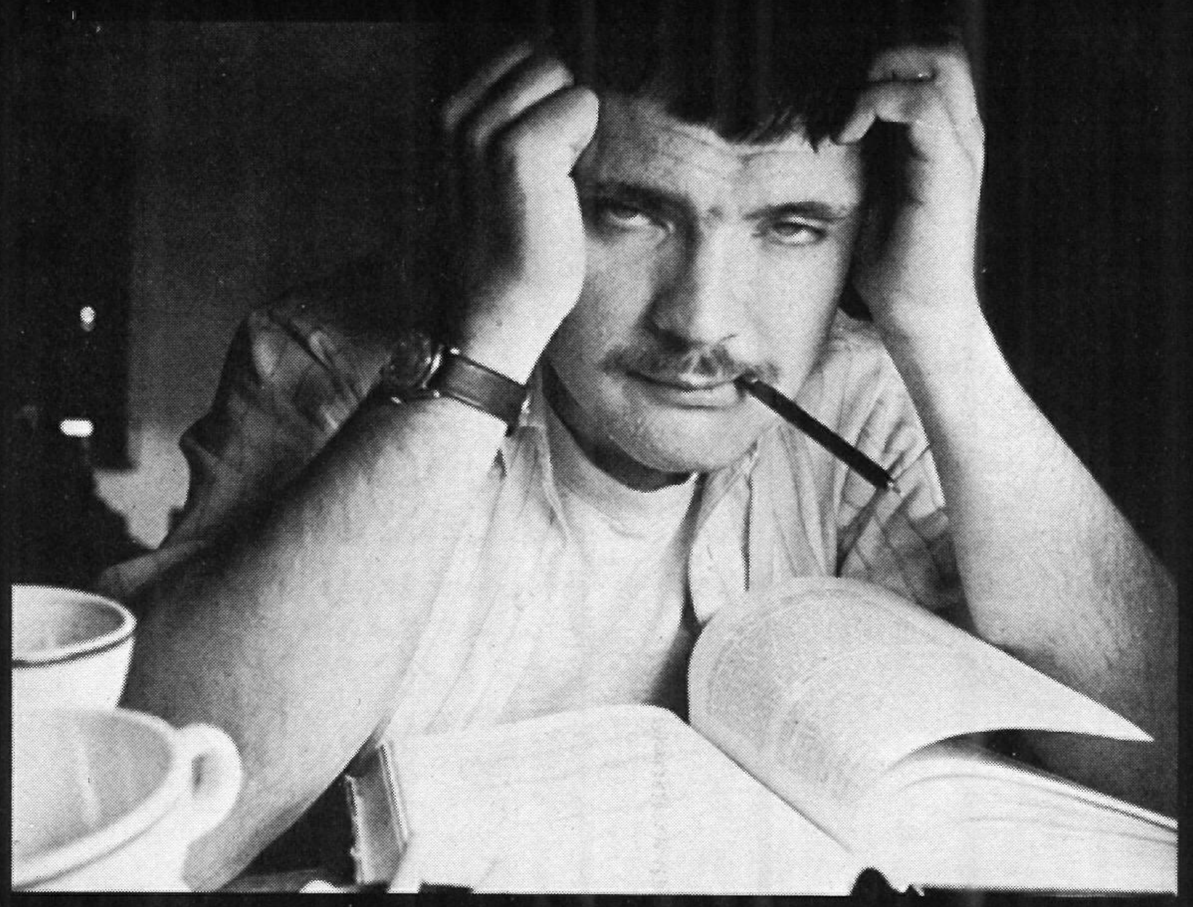

Dr. R. W. Moulton, chairman of the Chemical Engineering department, encouraged the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Kamulu Ukwuije, Biafran student, placed the Nigerian strife in perspective and outlined the present situation.

Spring Is a Time for Growing

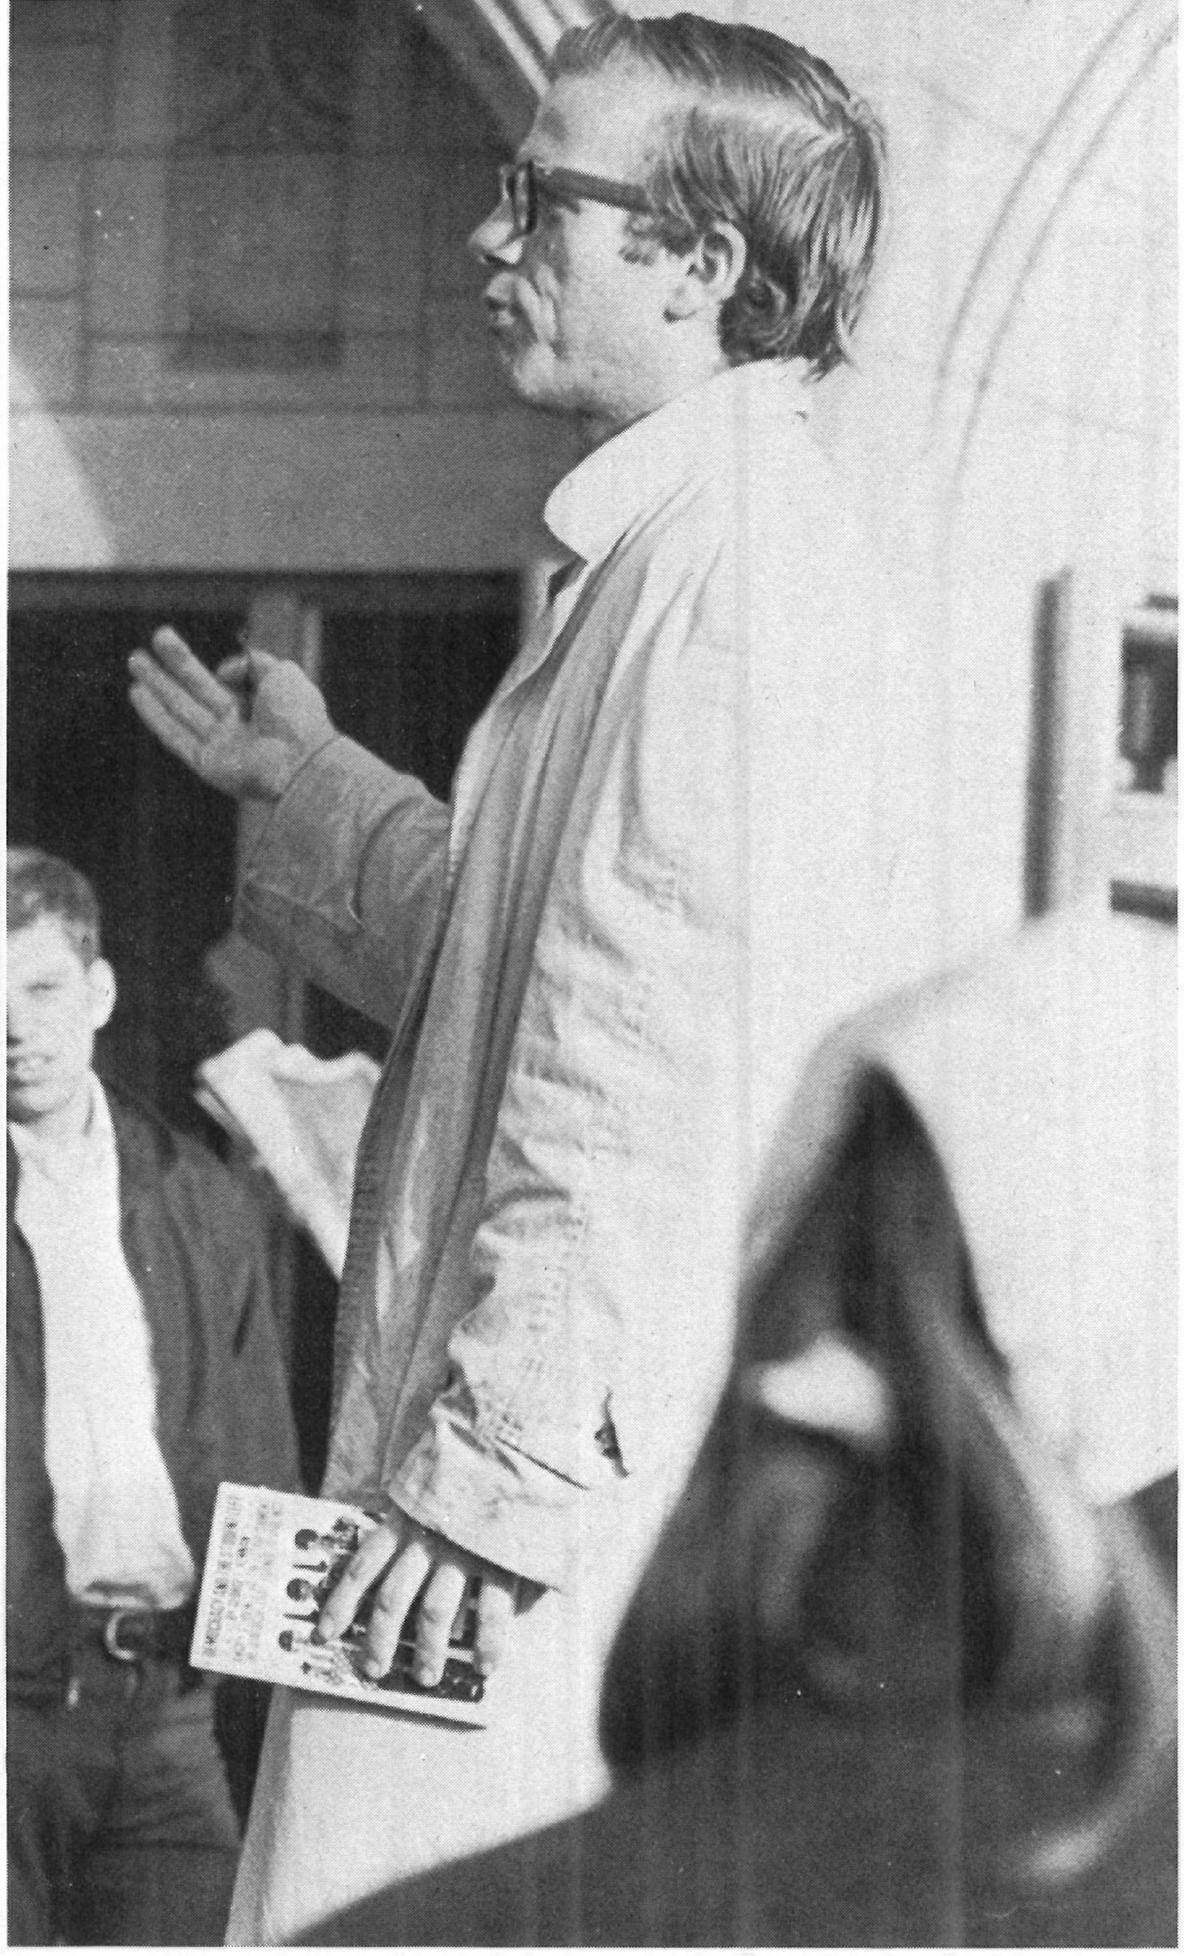

Winter has passed and the hard ground yields once more to the sounds of growing. The world awakens and resumes its cycle of change. New replaces old. With each morning breath the world expands to prepare for the next tomorrow.

The earth stretches upward—outward—beyond and is refreshed with a new dawn of sunlight.

It is spring and life blooms anew.

Open Forum Inspired and Enraged Those Who Cared

Open Forum invited the curious, the outspoken, the true believers and the skeptics into controversial discussions of contemporary concern. It gave a voice to ideas both popular and unpopular. Speakers urged action and involvement.

Open Forum barely survived a bleak winter of cold and snow. In fairer weather, however, the Forum convened with lively and sometimes hotly debated subjects. Among the topics discussed were the great grape boycott, university policies, campus rebellions and this year, especially, national politics.

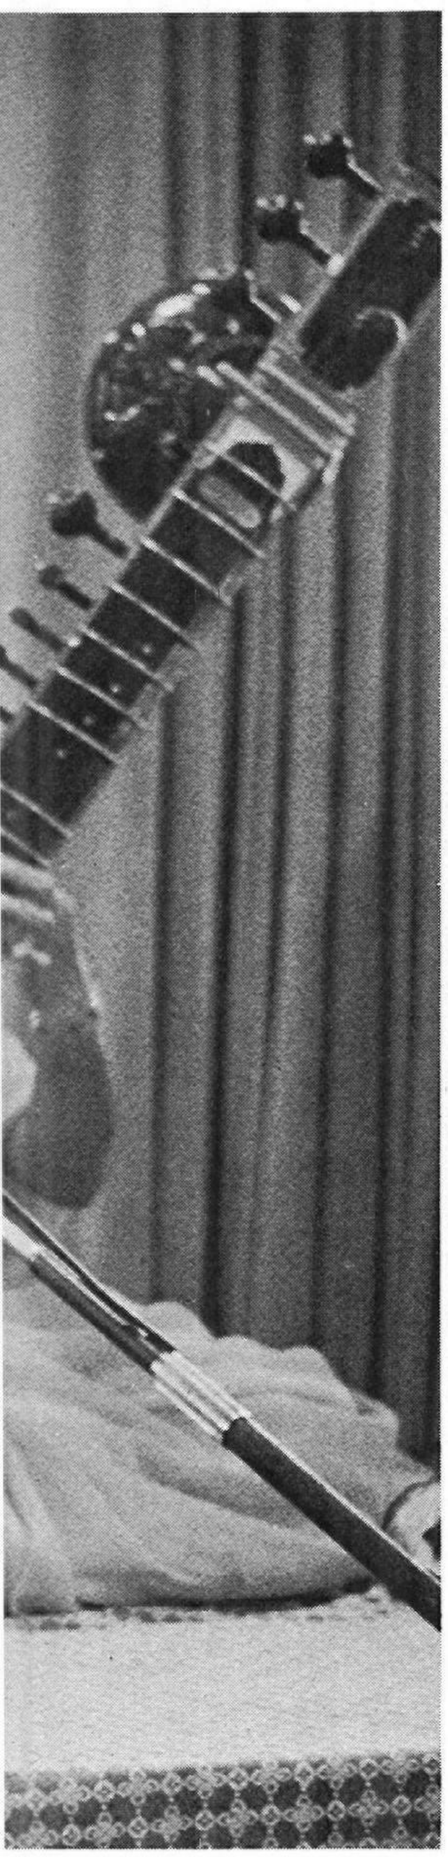

The crowds gathered for the afternoon sessions. Some scoffed, others nodded, and some—inspired or enraged—were moved to take to the stand themselves. And so the Forum perpetuates itself and continues.

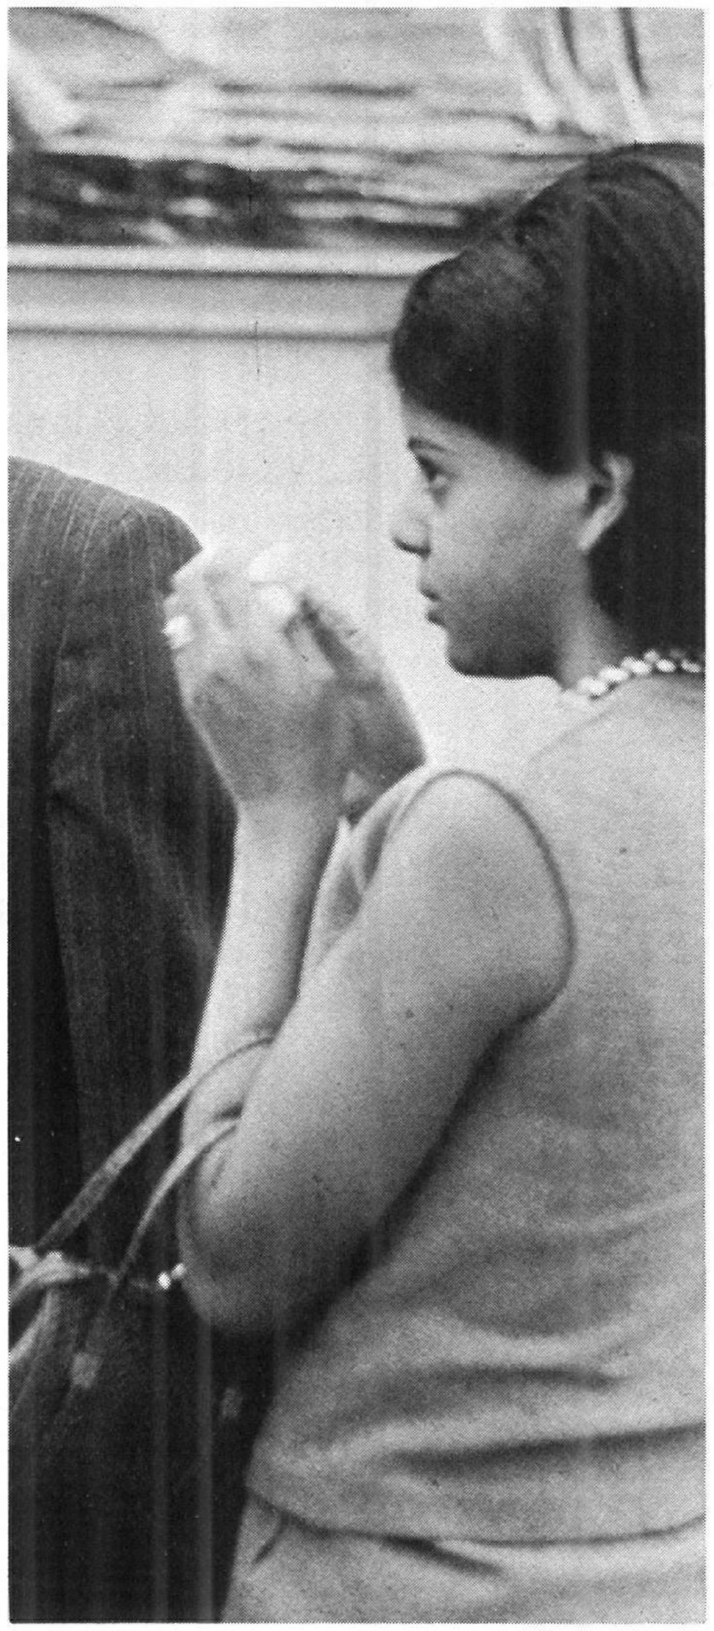

Come for You Are Strangers in My Land

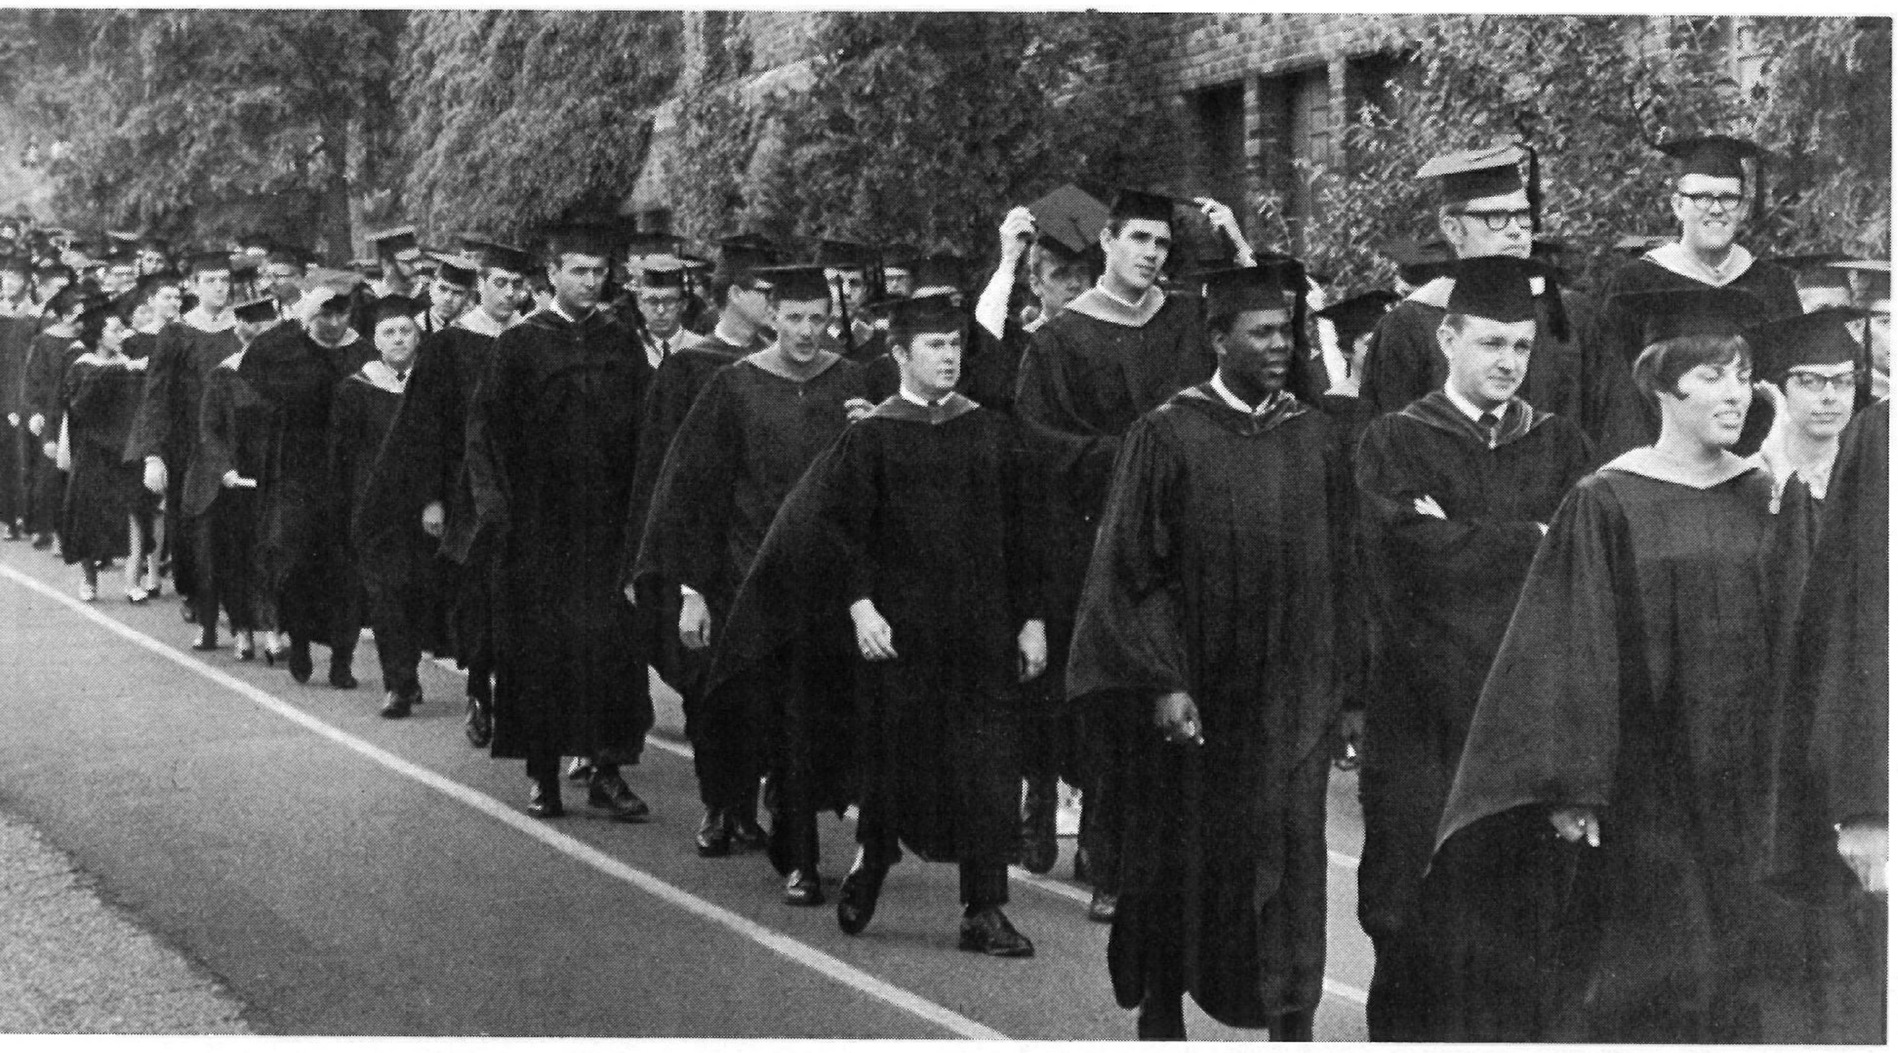

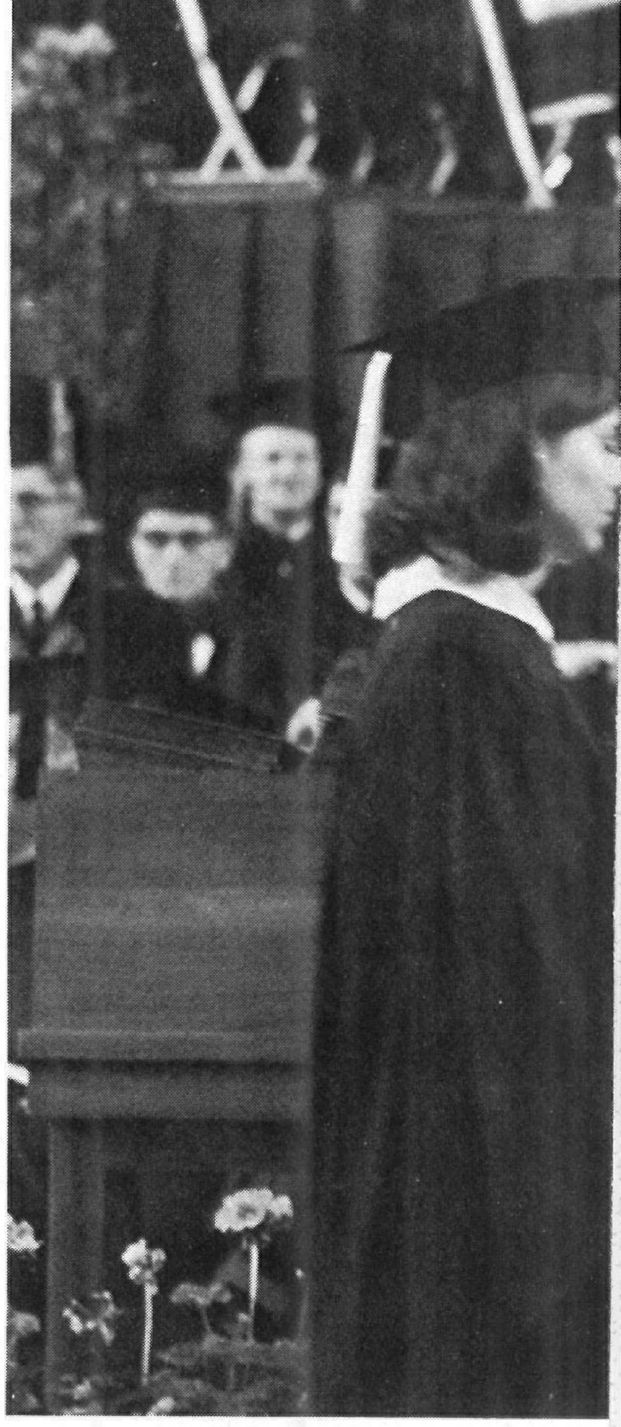

Our world is never exactly as it seems. It changes according to viewpoint, experience and culture. People-to-People is a convergence of diverse viewpoints, a linkage of nations.

A coffee hour, a Biafran speaker, an Indian sitar player: each is an addition to understanding and an emergence from a narrow world. People-to-People aims at the meeting of minds in the changing shape of things.

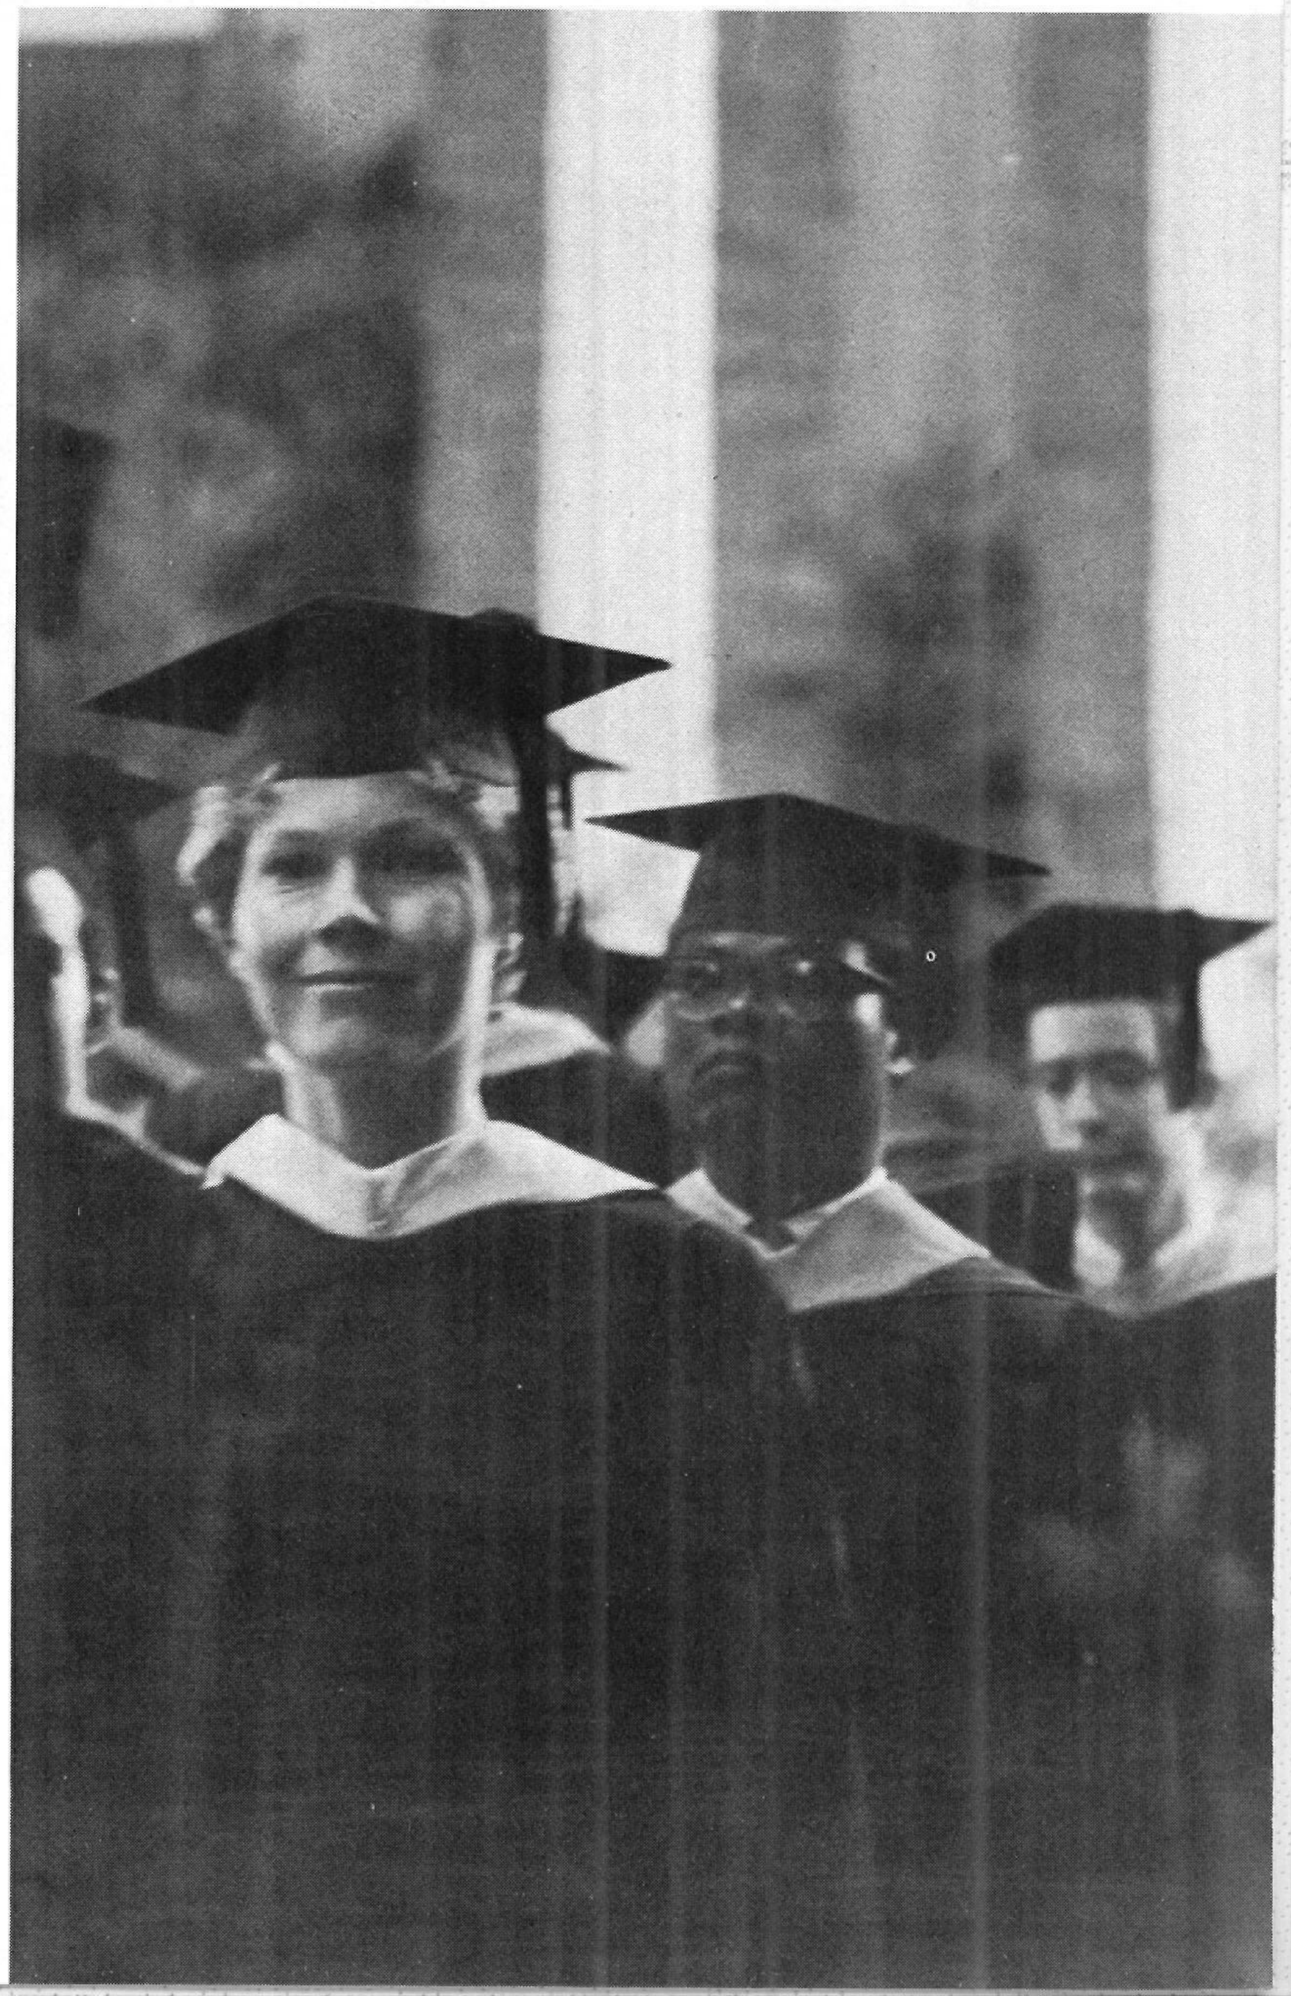

The seasons change. Another year has passed. Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter. The cycle continues as this year joins the last.

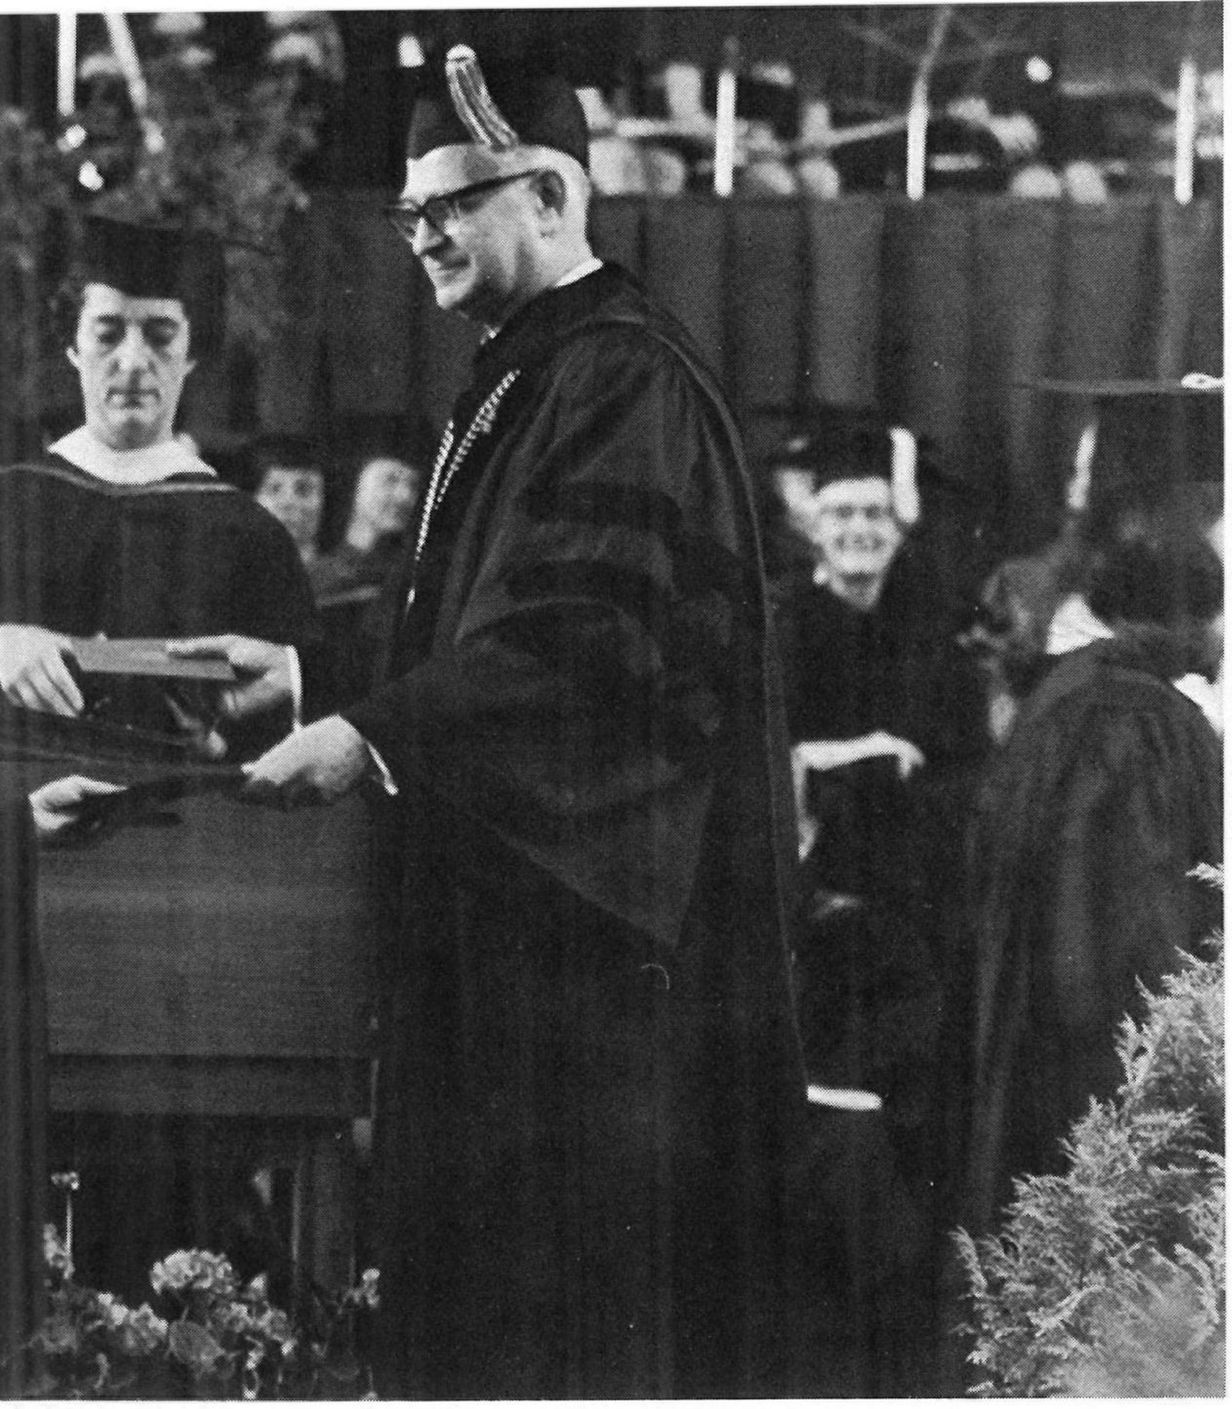

It is Spring. Birds sing and the harsh winds cease. Yesterday's dreams become today's realities.

The answers to today's queries elude the searchers. Scholars learned not the answers, but how to ask the right questions.

Graduation brings a rebirth into a new world. One year has ended but another unfolds. Students leave the scholarly womb; the quest for meaning is again resumed.

The students leave but they do not forget, continuing along the path toward their fate unmet. Life evolves in its changeless change; but with each year there is a new beginning.

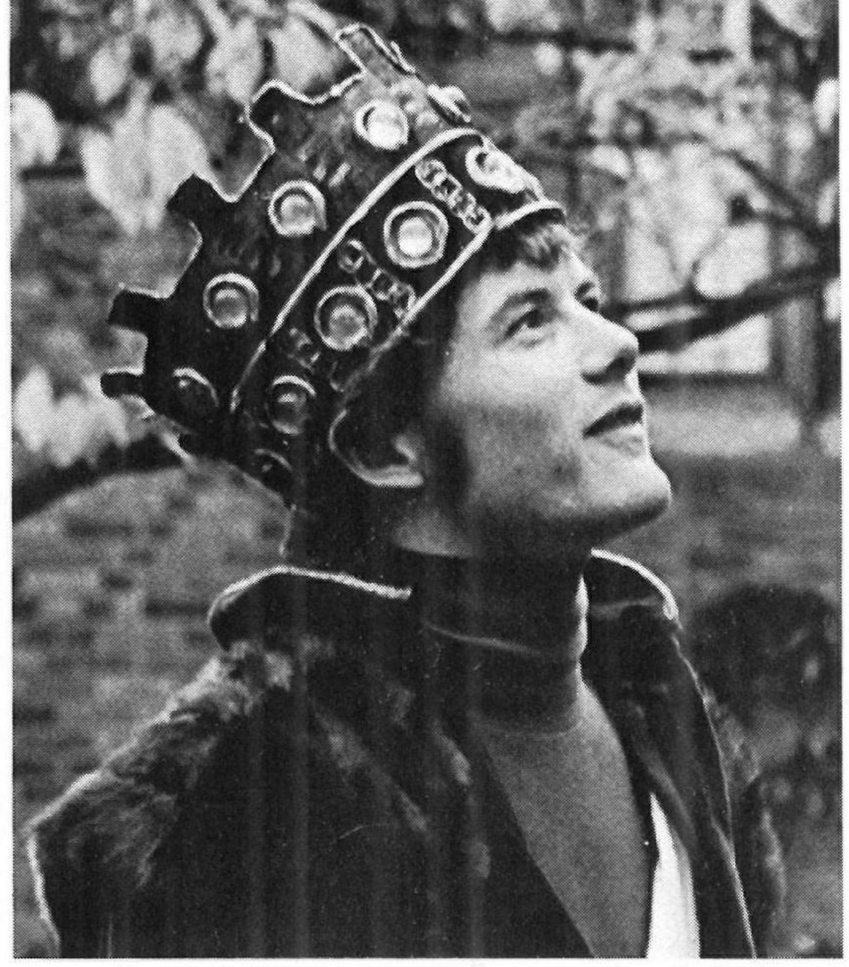

Turn Around for You Are Grown Now

"Stimulating people are beautiful . . . I've been lucky to meet so many . . . I want to go into public relations and help build images to excite . . . working for Catherine May was a lesson in logic and the ASUW teaches me how to play on a team. The ASUW to me is a job—it's hard work, stressing, but tremendously rewarding. I'm turned off by irresponsibility, and encourage total involvement—'Bad times are coming when good men sit back and do nothing.' "
—Judy Hill, ASUW Secretary

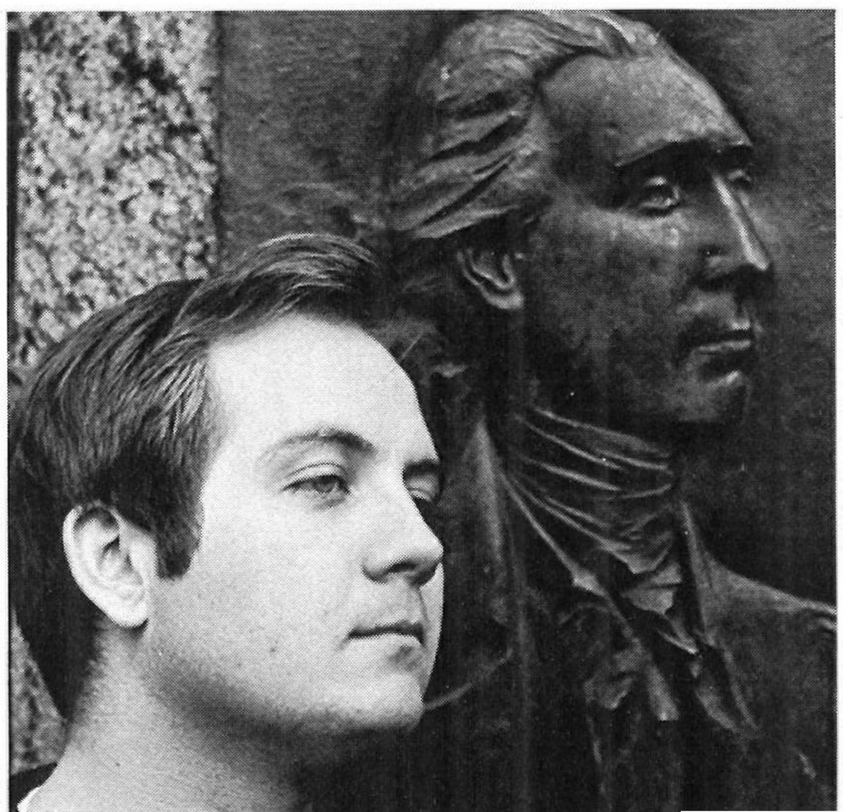

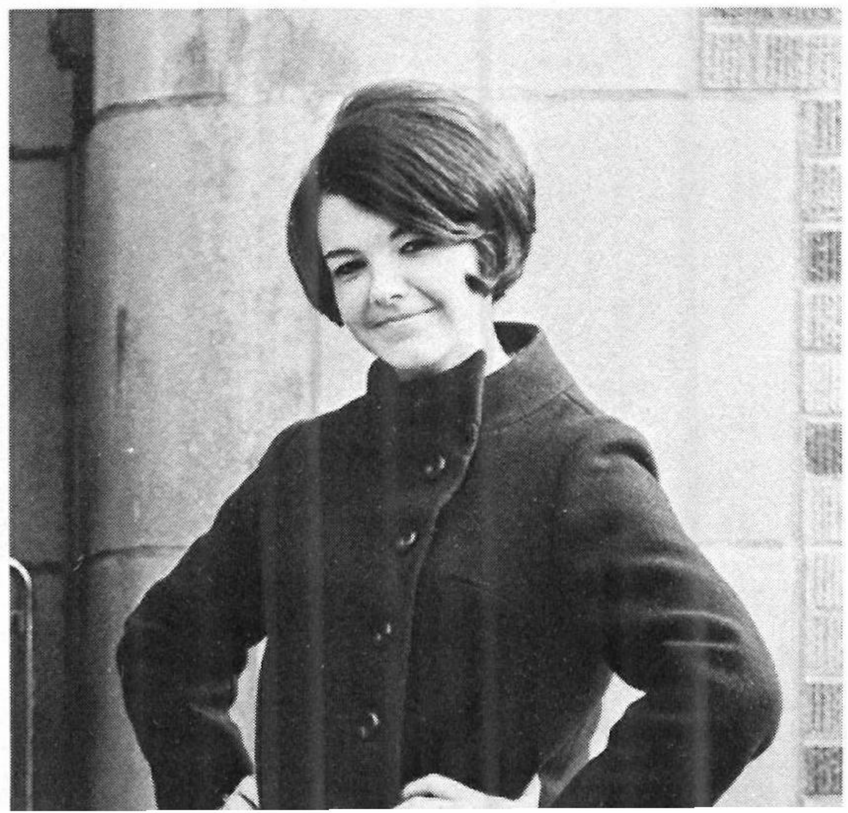

"I react to sensations and people . . . conservative boobs in high places are frustrating . . . the U was amazing for awhile walking through campus for weeks without a familiar face. But I was funnelled, channelled—an automaton with a deferment in his pocket providing inertia. Then I got tired of being niched and decided to run for office or go to Austria and raise cows, but I won the election first. I like Mick Jagger and drawing people out. I'll probably go to law school, Cambridge has good sounds . . . the imperative for a successful 1969—I hope the ASUW loses its virginity."—Thom Gunn, ASUW President

ASUW Politics: The Shape of Things to Come

"I just seemed to end up in the ASUW . . . I'm working on an apartment building for married students, but my bag is attracting good, capable people to the ASUW and to offer the students a feasible way to become involved . . . I like taverns and pinocle and games about conquering the world . . . I want to practice international law but enjoy the Northwest area . . . 'The Sounds of Silence' is an explanation and a philosophy of our generation."—John Mosier, Second Vice-President

"I can't be sympathetic with people who say the University makes them into a number; the University is as personal as you make it . . . Students are questioning vital issues and are becoming actively involved with the communities and their problems in rational, organized ways . . . My plans include public relations in the TV media . . . 'Where we can't convince let us try to persuade, for small deeds done are better than great deeds planned.' "—Joan Duffy, First Vice-President

A Year of Introspection for BOC

Thom Gunn faces the board with his gavel.

1968-1969 was a year of introspection for the Board of Control. With the emergence of the 160 member student assembly, the smaller BOC began to question the reason for its own existence.

Issues ranging from the reapportionment of the Greek district to the introduction of the successor to King Chinook were brought before the Board. The elusive Marijuana Report was finally caught and examined while the dangerously low level of the ASUW general fund was being considered.

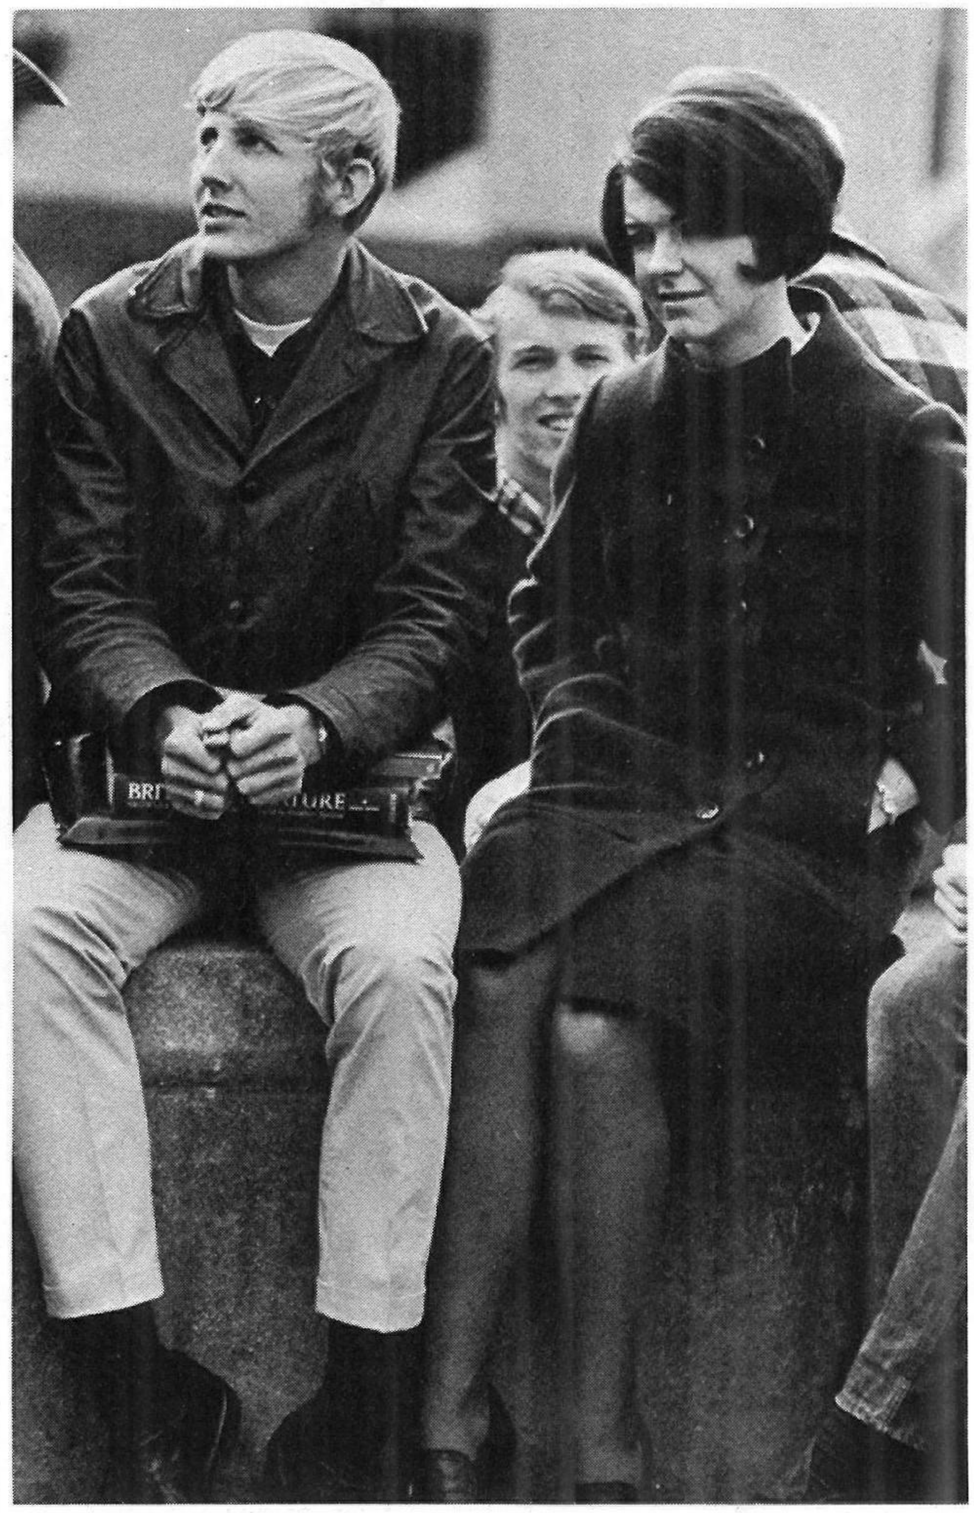

This Board of Control was not the effective instrument of student control it has been in years past with few members seeing consistent action proposing bills and advocating academic improvement. Thom Gunn and his slate of officers were the vital factor in any goal of accomplishment.

Professors, too, are interested in the BOC.

All nine commissions were newly established this year by the By-Laws of the Constitution; all striving for the goals set forth in Section 2 Article VI. "(A) To provide an overall coordinated structure for ASUW Programs, agencies, sponsored events, and student interest vis-a-vis the U. of W. (B) To provide a clear source of administrative responsibility to the Board of Control and the ASUW Officers. (C) To provide the Board of Control with the means to formulate, articulate, and act on issues, policies, and programming proposals."

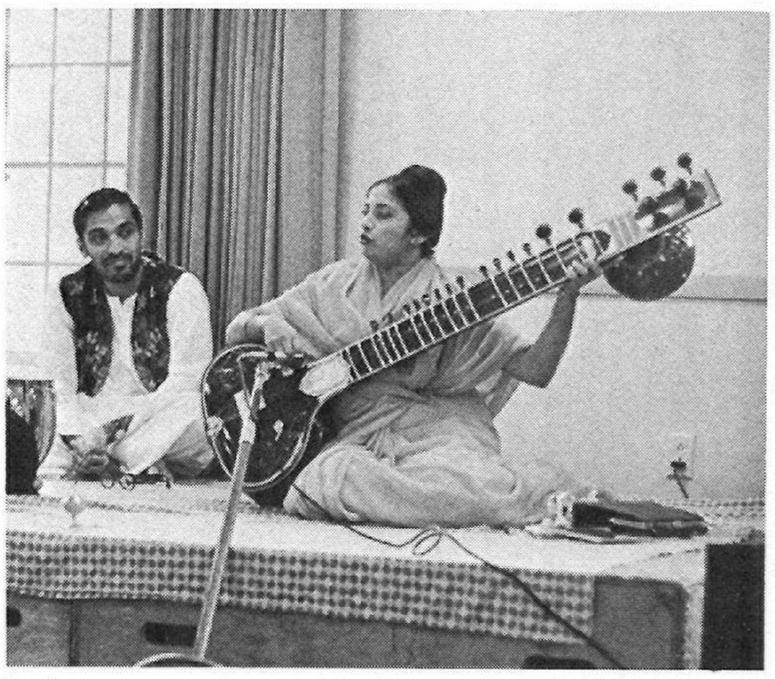

Unwrapping the packaged commissions structure was an unsure adventure. Many involved did not know which side was up, or which knot to untie first. However, as the by-laws for each commission were drawn up and passed, the structure proved to be functional and a smooth-flowing system. Responsibilities were defined and diversified; allocation of monies became less confused. With individual emphasis each commission provided an impetus of ideas and a line of communication with all other areas of the ASUW.

ASUW Commissions: Which Way to Go,

International Area

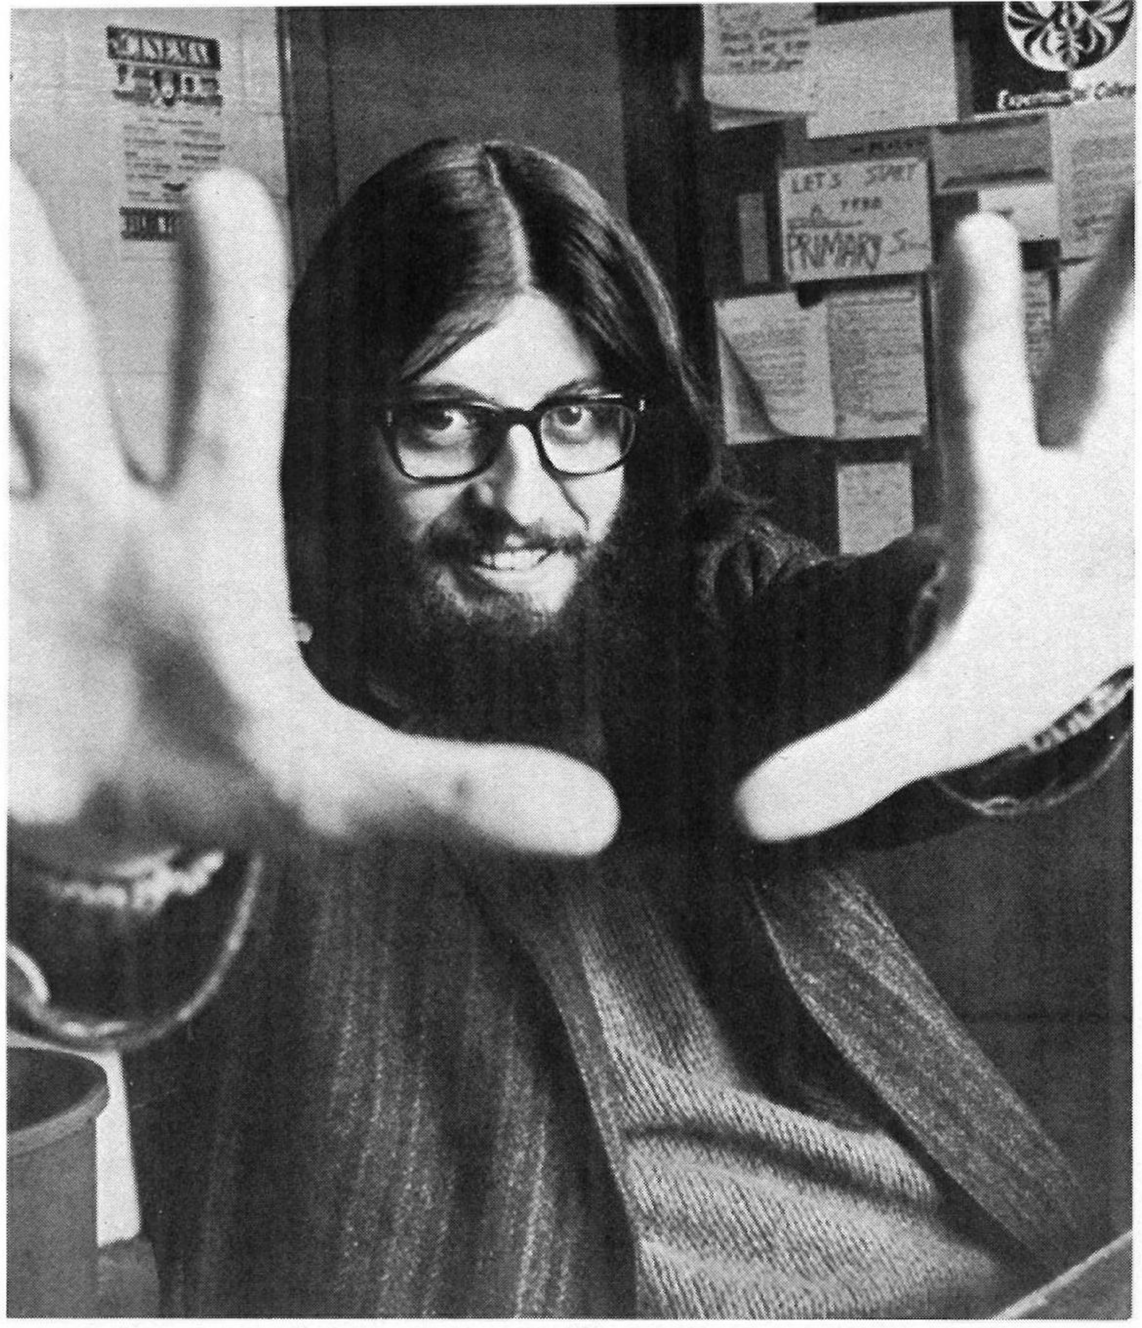

Bringing University foreign students closer to their American counterparts was the goal of the International Area Commission. American brothers and sisters helped the foreign students adjust to life in the United States. In return they became more aware and informed about the world around them. The atmosphere encouraged education on personal and group levels through participation in club activities of which the weekly coffee hours and film series are best known.

Academic Affairs

The Academic Affairs Commission's efforts concentrated on the improvement of the academic quality of the campus. Its purpose was to research the effectiveness of the distribution requirements in undergraduate education, and to provide a statistical basis upon which the separate colleges can make future decisions.

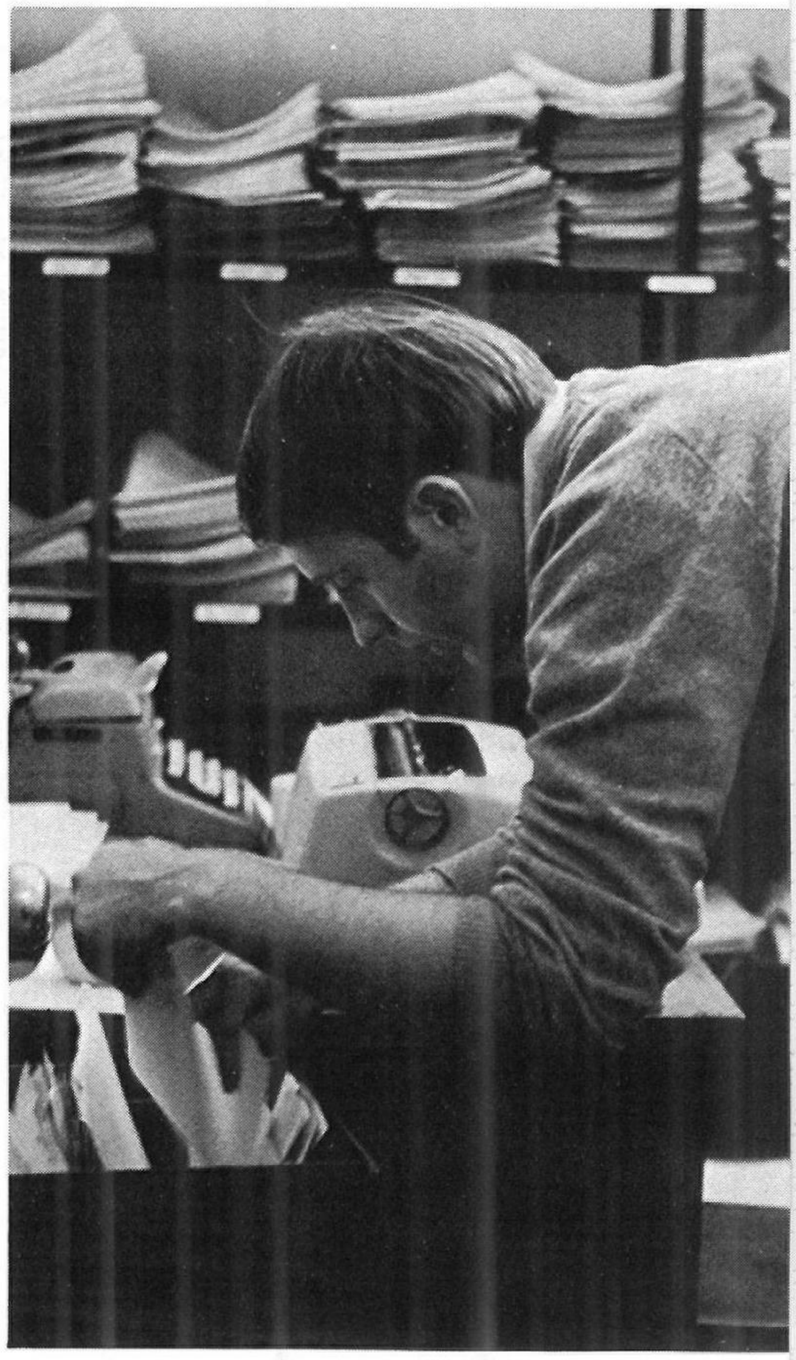

The Lecture Notes and the Experimental College programs expanded successfully. The ill-fated Course Critique, however, was discontinued. Remaining money from the original appropriation financed studies of the feasibility of a future critique and expanding the Course Content Catalog.

Student Athletic Commission

The Student Athletic Commission was created last spring as a sounding board between the student body and the Athletic Department. Its purpose is to reflect the needs of the students within the sphere of athletics. Problems of spirit, policing, seating and ticket reservations are discussed between representatives of living groups, commuters, rally groups, BOC and various sections of the Athletic Department.

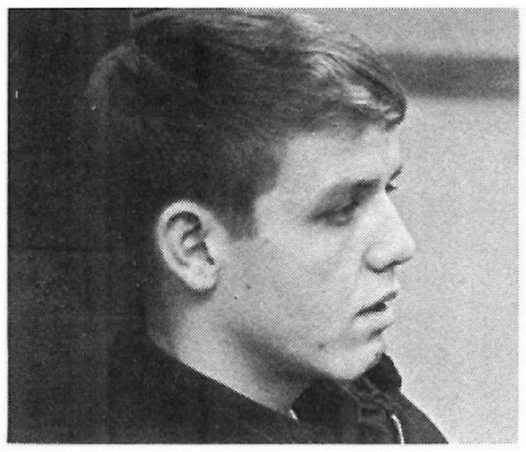

Facilities and Student Services

The Facilities and Student Services Commission was created to provide an overall coordinated structure for this area. Student members of the following agencies sat on the commission to discuss policies: HUB Advisory Board, Student Financial Aids, Student Residences, Traffic and Parking, Bookstore Board of Trustees, Committee on Public Exercises, Committee on Student Residences and the Library Advisory.

Orientation and Public Relations

The Orientation and Public Relations Commission was conceived last year to be a year-long effort to help familiarize students with the University. In order to introduce incoming students to the campus and ASUW, the commission sponsored Husky Guides, Prevue and Activities on Parade. The commission's second function is directed toward betterment of communication between campus organizations and the mass media on and off campus.

Program Panel

The basic function of Program Panel is to act as a scheduling body in the speaker and entertainment area for the University's large-scale events. It endeavors to offer the best possible events to the greatest number of students. Besides the ever-popular Las Vegas Night and Christmas Party, the panel presented such big names as Simon and Garfunkel, Jose Feliciano, Stanley Kaufman, Warden Duffy and the Mime Troup.

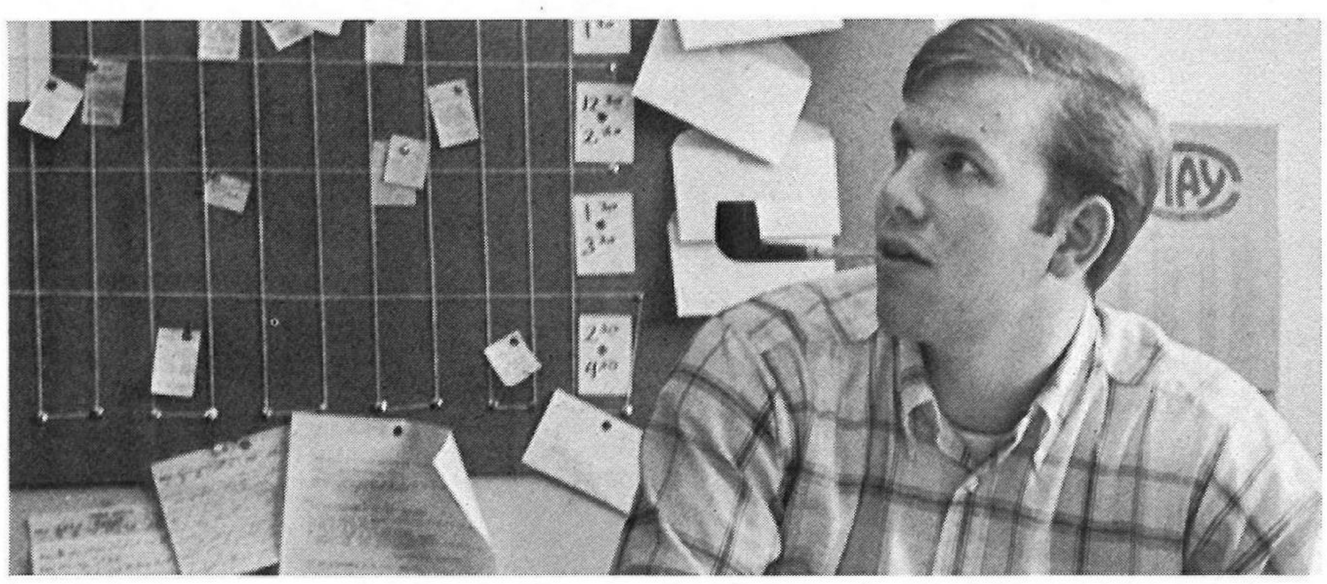

Social Problems and Community Action

As the University of Washington becomes more and more involved in the community around it, the student body sees areas that must be changed for the betterment of the community. The Social Problems and Community Action Commission was created this year specifically for that purpose. Being the head of four major areas: VESA (Volunteer Employment Service Agency), Campus Appeal, Blood Drive and STAY, the commission attempts to aid people outside the University's walls.

Interest of Each Contributes to the Good of All

Steve Ekberg, co-director of Social Problems and Community Action.

Publications

Because of continual requests for funds to establish new publications, the BOC formed the Publications Commission to faciliate this need. To create a better liason between the Publications Board and the commission, two of the Board members represented the ASUW on the commission.

Al Swanson, Bret Hughes, Kathy Twohig, Ralph Larson, Nancy Huber, Rich Sanders, Larry Parr, Jim Gray.

Political Union

The Political Union members represent every political position at the extreme left, extreme right and in between. It tries to expose the university student to many viewpoints, with emphasis on the more radical philosophies. Much of the Union's function was fulfilled this year by allocating funds to the programs of individual member groups.

Many well-known speakers were sponsored by the Political Union this year. Some participated in the co-sponsored October Resistance teach-in, which emphasized the black revolution and the Vietnam war. Others came as part of the visiting dignitaries program. With spring came the Model Congress involving students in United States government exercises.

Jim Rodgers, President; Mike Crystal, Treasurer; Steve Marshal, Secretary; Tom LePenske, Vice President.

Joan Shotwell, President; Lois Yoshida, Secretary; Chris Noah, 2nd Vice President; Jennifer Ross, 1st Vice President.

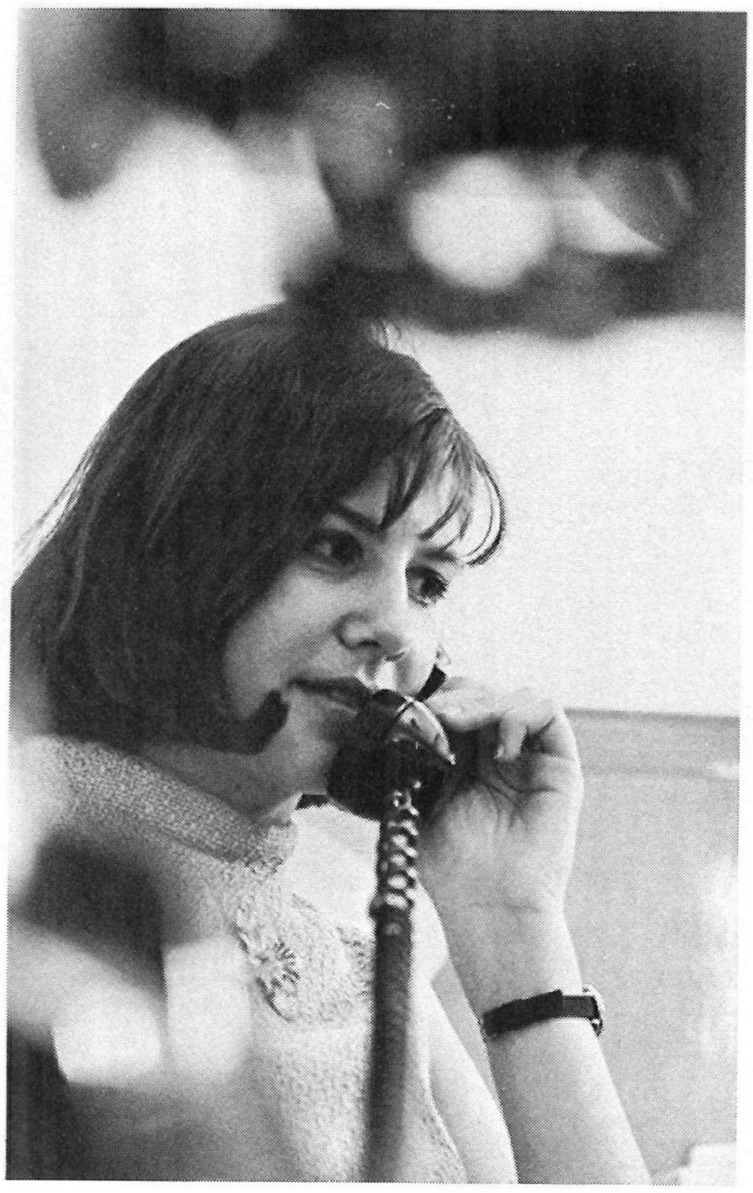

AMS

BOC called for an evaluation and complete structural reorganization of the Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students.

Following a program of re-evaluation, AMS tried to improve communications between the officers and the 19,000 men on the UW campus. Besides working with AMS on the Scholarship Banquet, AWS attempted to initiate programs for the older women returning to college. National research on this subject was done with Mesa Community College.

They Care—and Do Something about It

The ASUW Advisors: concerned individuals, interested, each taking time to be a friend, excited over your excitement, offering ears and perhaps advice during your phases of depression.

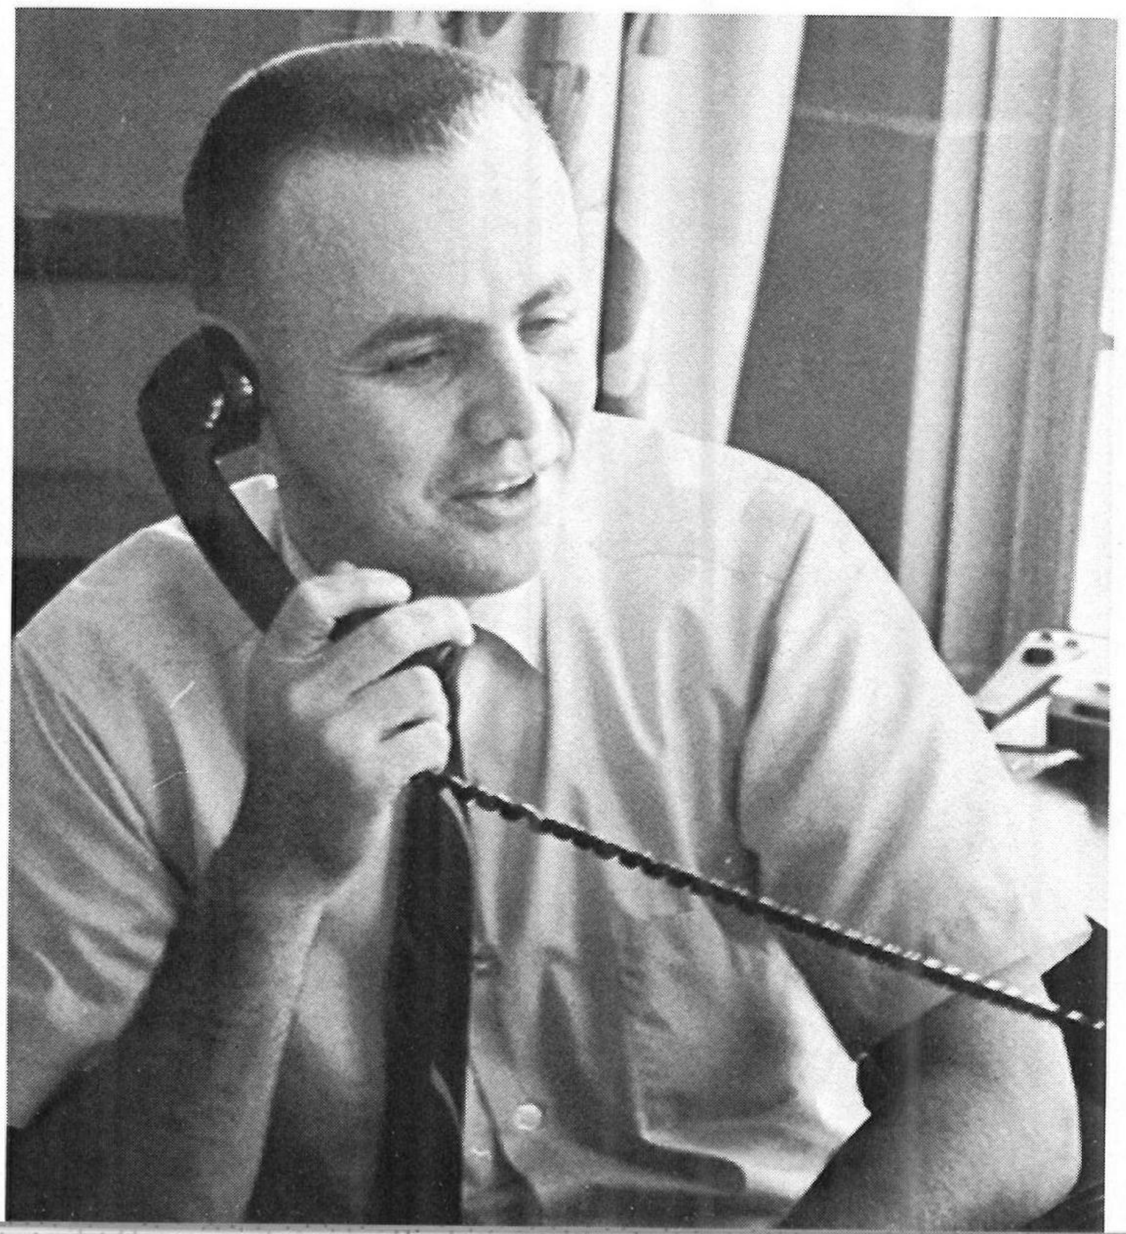

Students first meet the five advisors in HUB 205, their second home, or perhaps are introduced to them at a committee meeting. These advisors help students in checking red tape, discussing the progress of an event, evaluating its success; in short, trying to find the solution to each particular activity problem. Soon the committee members drop in just to talk and say "hi."

All five are youthful, enthusiastic, aware and very much excited about their job. They are advisors, people lovers, friends.

Hub Committees Plan, Advise and Allocate

The Finance and Budget Committee controls the money allotted to the ASUW, but with each new year, the money has become less easily divided. Consequently, the committee is primarily concentrating on raising more revenue and acquiring the maximum usage of the money they have.

This year the committee has introduced a new accounting system and has added five new members.

One of the objectives of the HUB Advisory Committee this year is a renovation of the food service. The committee, having difficulties squeezing more campus activities into the HUB, has also decided to build eight new student offices.

This committee attempts to answer similar problems throughout the year and give advice and recommendations for improving student services.

The nucleus of the ASUW Publications is the Publications Board. Policy-making, allocating funds, selecting editors and business managers are the responsibilities of the seven voting faculty and student members.

This was a year of firsts—offset printing for the Daily, 12,000 copies of the Student Directory and self-supporting Tyee publications.

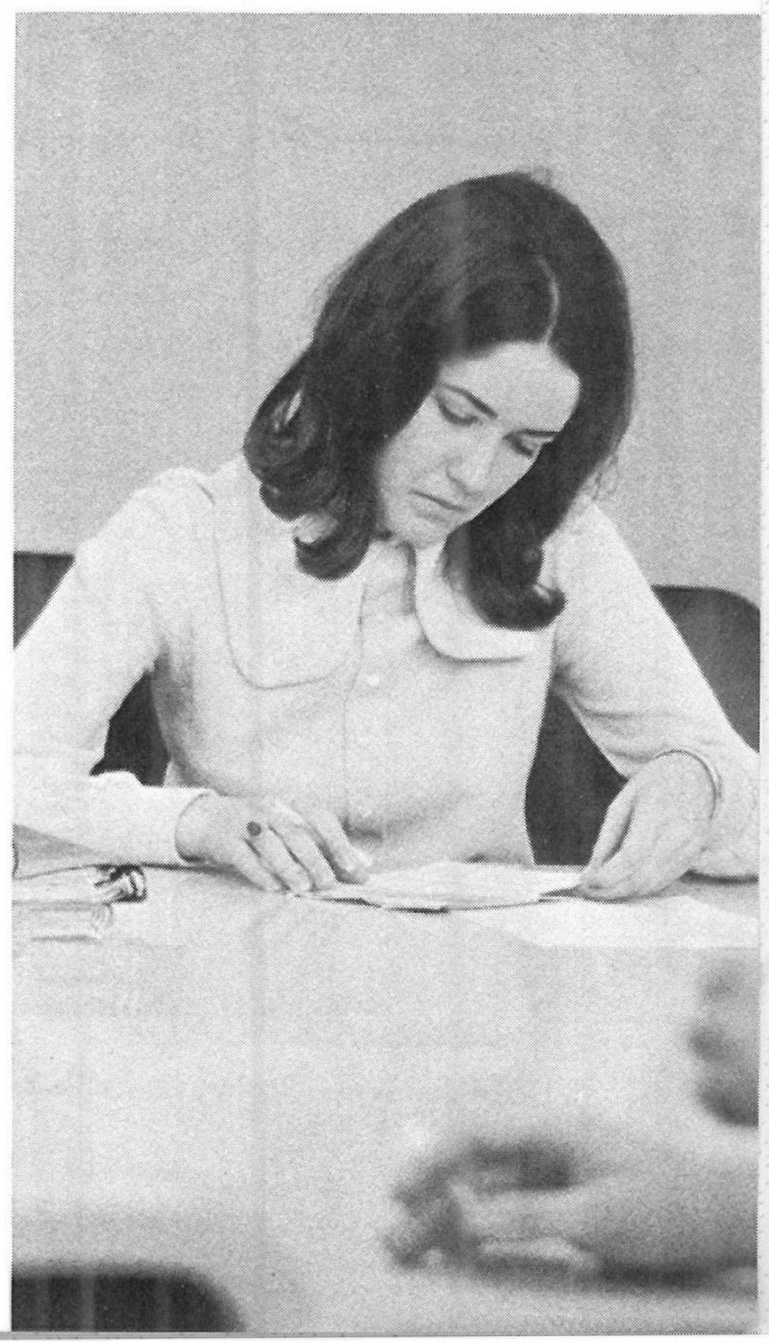

Fall quarter saw the prelude and build-up to the Daily offset operation. New equipment, restructuring of the editorial staff, increase of pages and more funds appropriated by the ASUW allowed for increases and better balances between ads and news coverage; all were geared to the long sought-after January date designated for offset printing.

The 1968 Tyee was awarded an All-American Honor Rating for the second year in a row; and the 1969 staff accomplished a first in years by meeting its first deadline. Although there was a raise in the price of the Tyee Yearbook and Magazine, there was no decrease in interest or subscriptions.

The Daily Is More Than Busy People Writing Words

The Daily is:

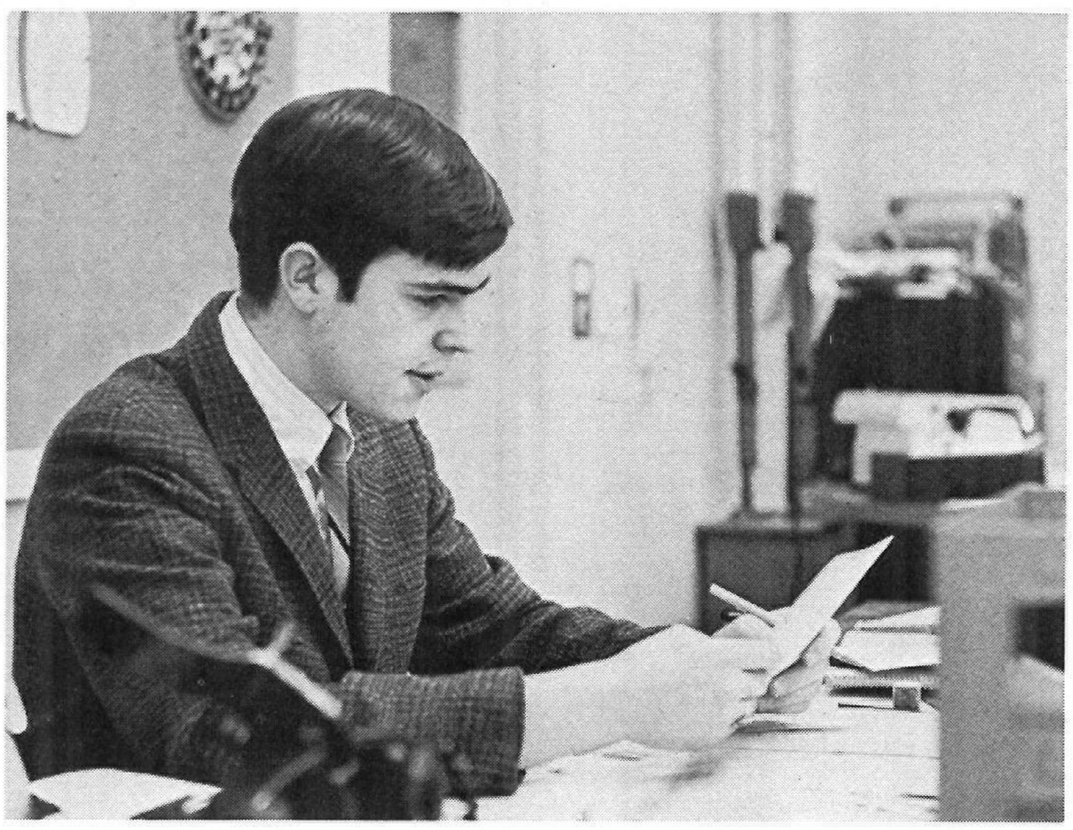

Long headlines. Dirty copy. A candy dish of aspirin. An empty coffee pot. Messy. The fourth largest collegiate daily in the world. Ulcers. Crabby editors. Crabby typesetters. Crabby reporters. Not daily. In a discernably turgid state. A green ceramic frog that looks sexier lying down. Plenty of cigarettes but no matches. Candy and Beulah—300 pounds of refreshments. Banned by Sen. Guess. Probably communist. Reactionary. Black and white and read in spots. Massive overkill. Home.

Advertising Students Practice Profession On ASUW Ad Staff

The Ad Staff, account executives for the UW Daily, consists of majors in advertising in addition to interested volunteers. Because of the practical experience gained, these students are better equipped upon leaving school; staff members have found advertising sales not only stimulating, but also helpful in giving them actual insight into the print media.

The studios of KUOW and KCTS are dedicated to serving the cultural needs of the community and providing education in politics, science and the humanities. It is their goal to provide a balanced view of contemporary issues not available in commercial radio and television.

KUOW presents a lively score of musical programs that range from Italian opera to modern jazz. Their wide variety of programming is an attempt to promote interest among individual tastes.

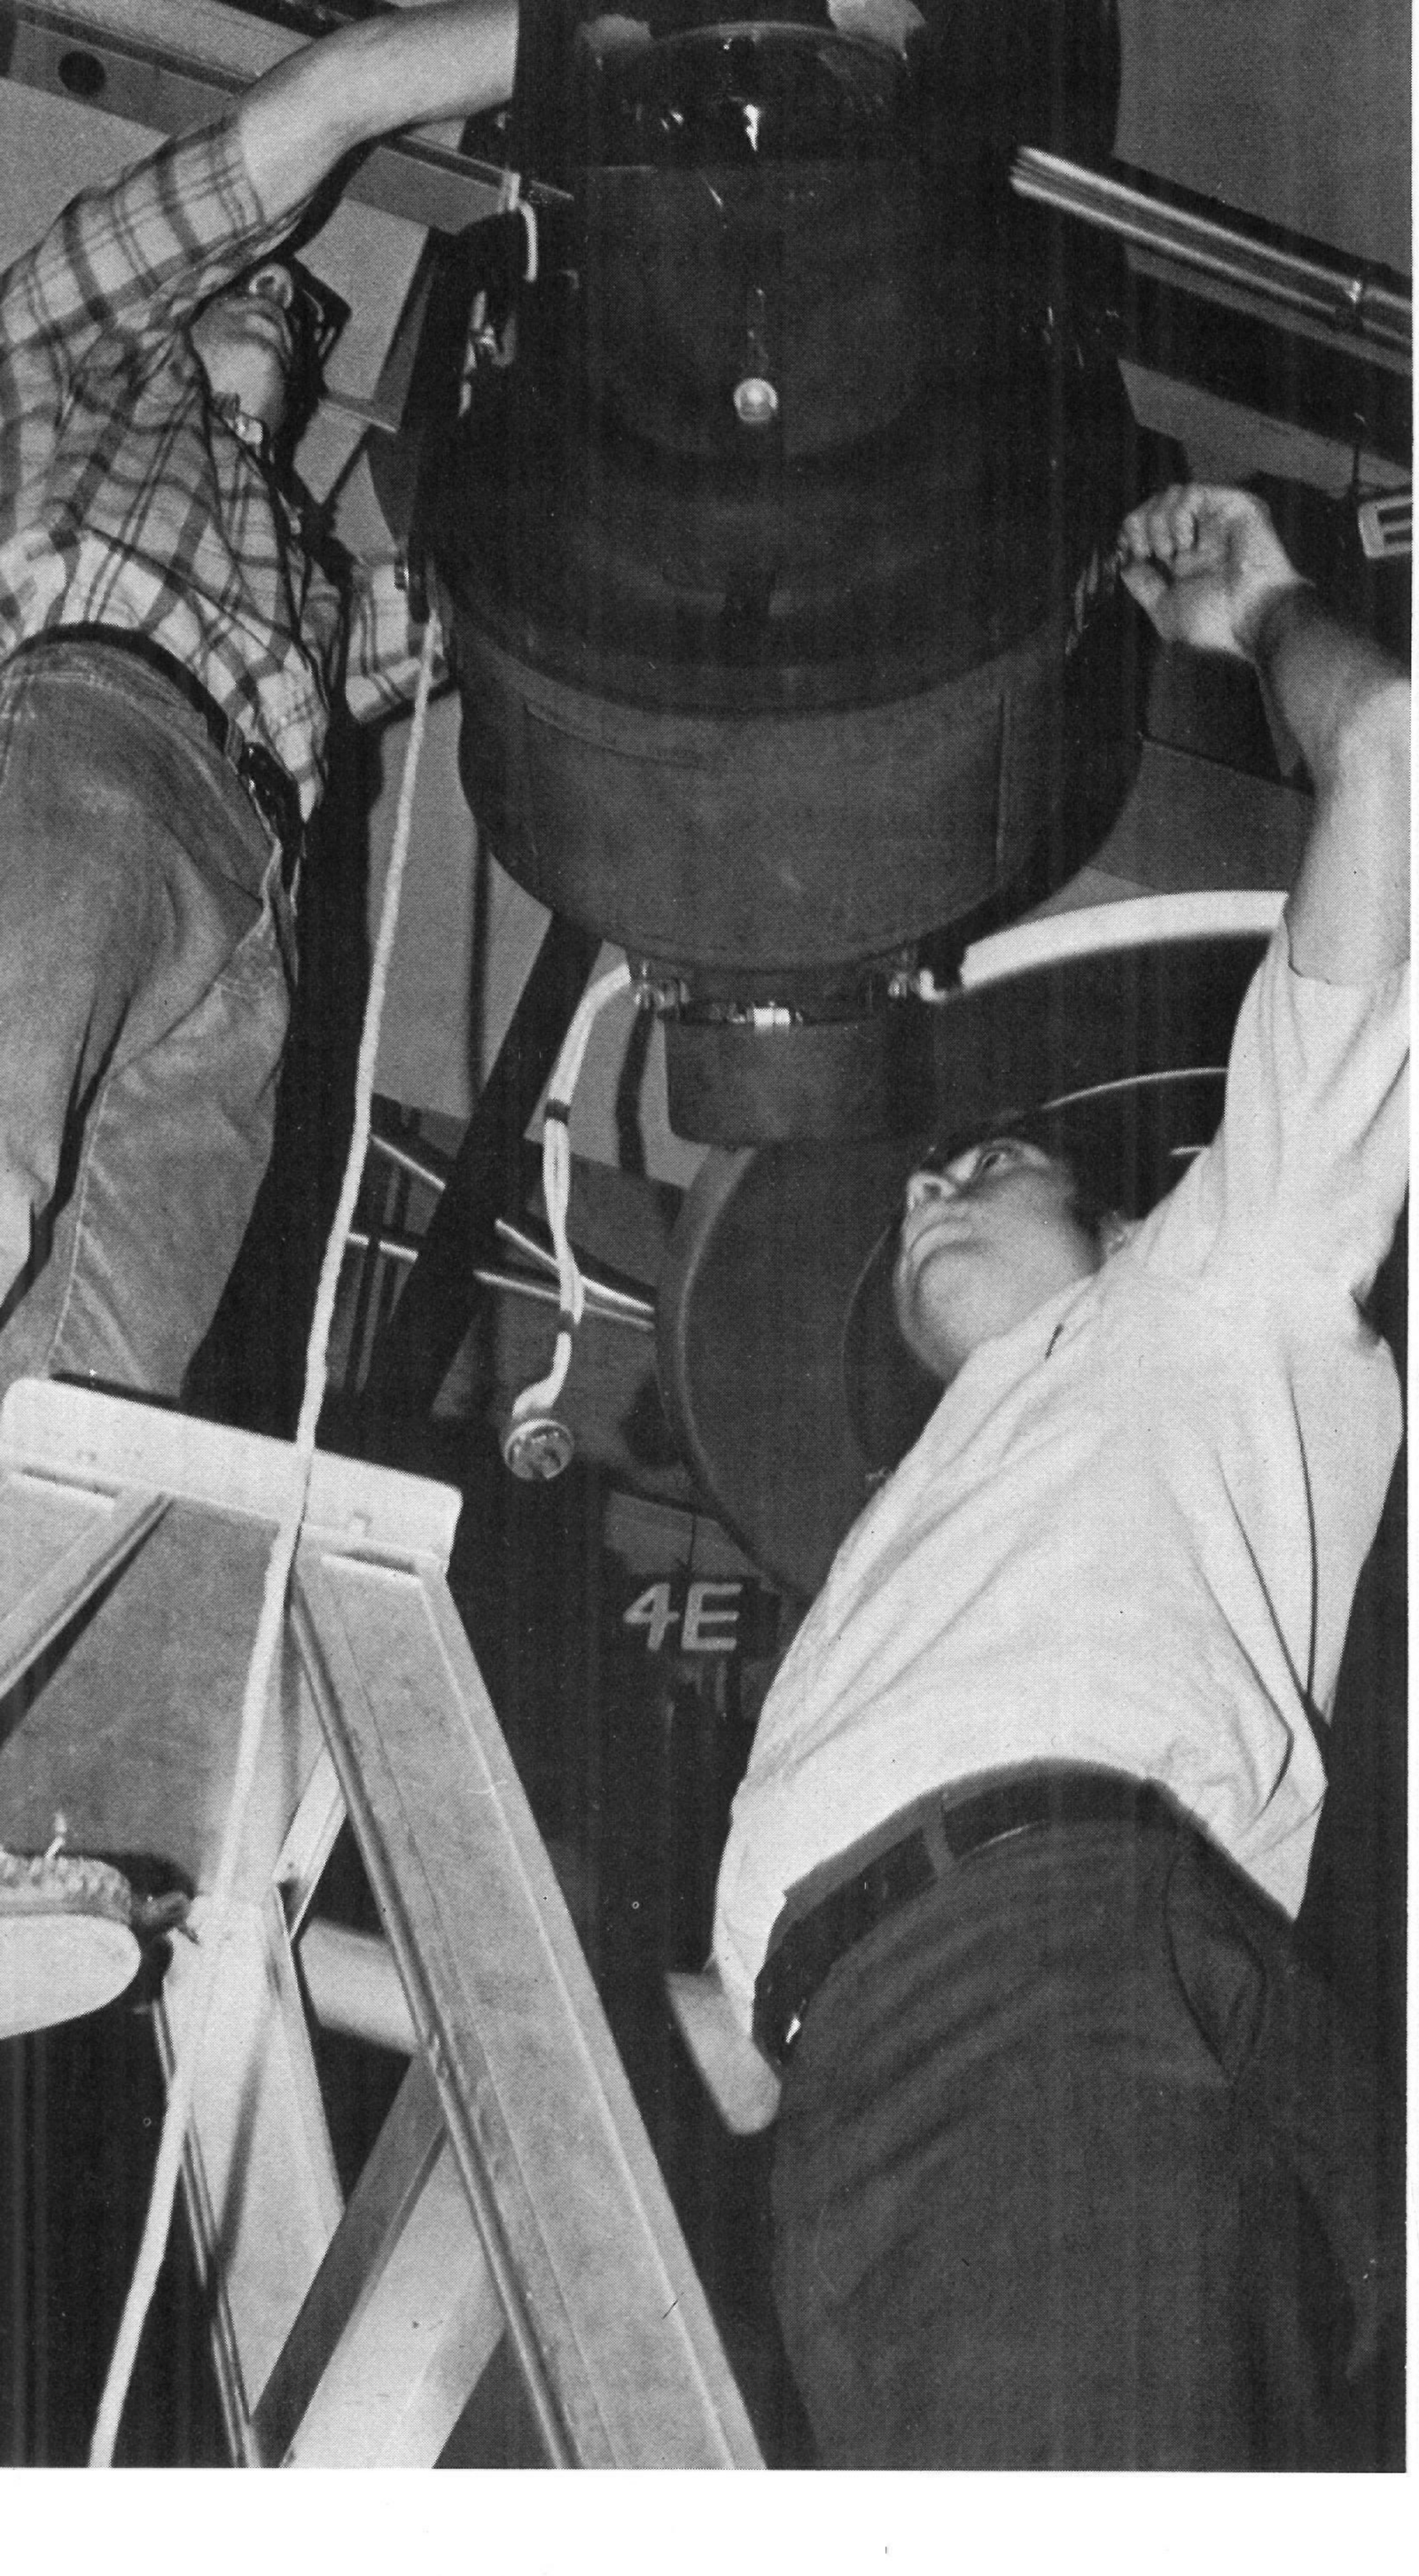

Broadcasting six days a week up to 15 hours a day, KCTS maintains its bond with the community through a variety of programs on music, dance and the theater. "Blacks, Blues, Black!," a series on the history, heritage and habit of the Negro, and "Thursday Forum," a discussion of urban problems, round out programming with a look at crucial problems on the national scene.

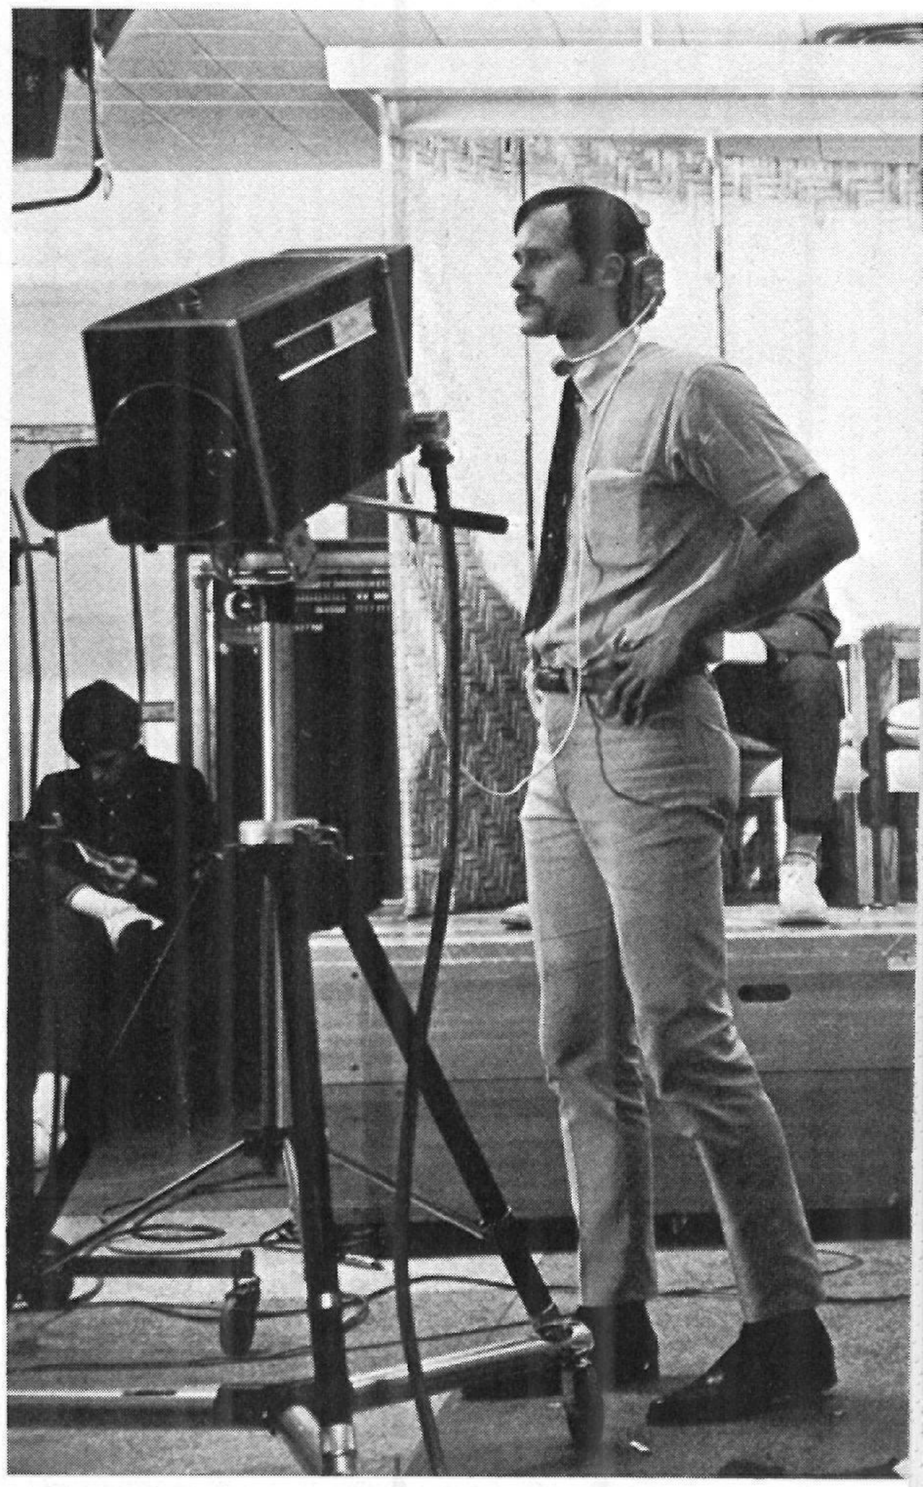

Since it started broadcasting in December, 1954, KCTS has come of age: a recent national study of educational television rated it among the top ten in the country.

In Search of Reality: Leaves, Grass, Bodies

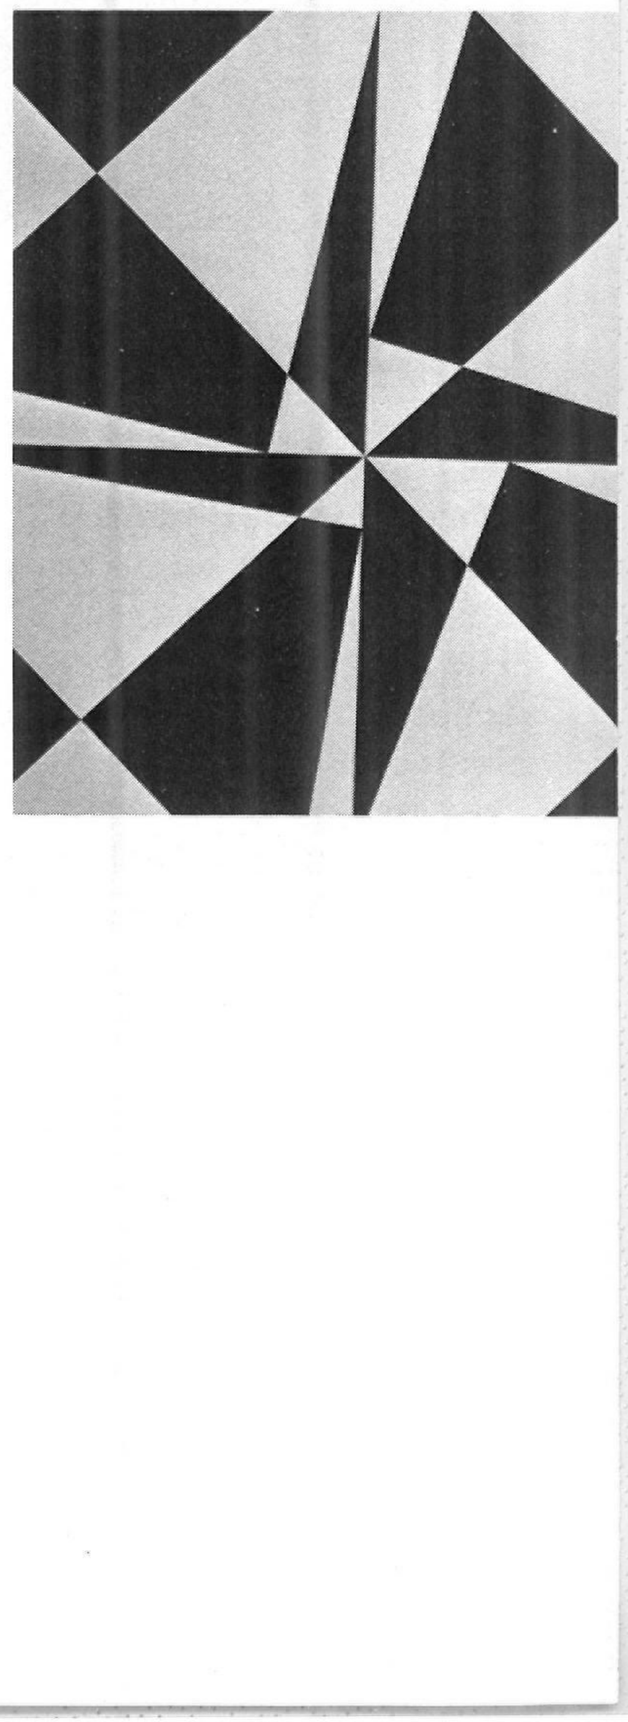

We copy ourselves—
Leaves, Grass, Bodies.
But God graces man's art with Realness.
The image of God
Is not face or hands or mind or soul, but Realness.
In search of realness
Even art and good is but a copy

Of Realness
In man.

A bronze bird reaches upward; old shapes take on new forms. The artist continues his search for reality and finds his answers within himself. And so we copy ourselves—leaves, grass, bodies.

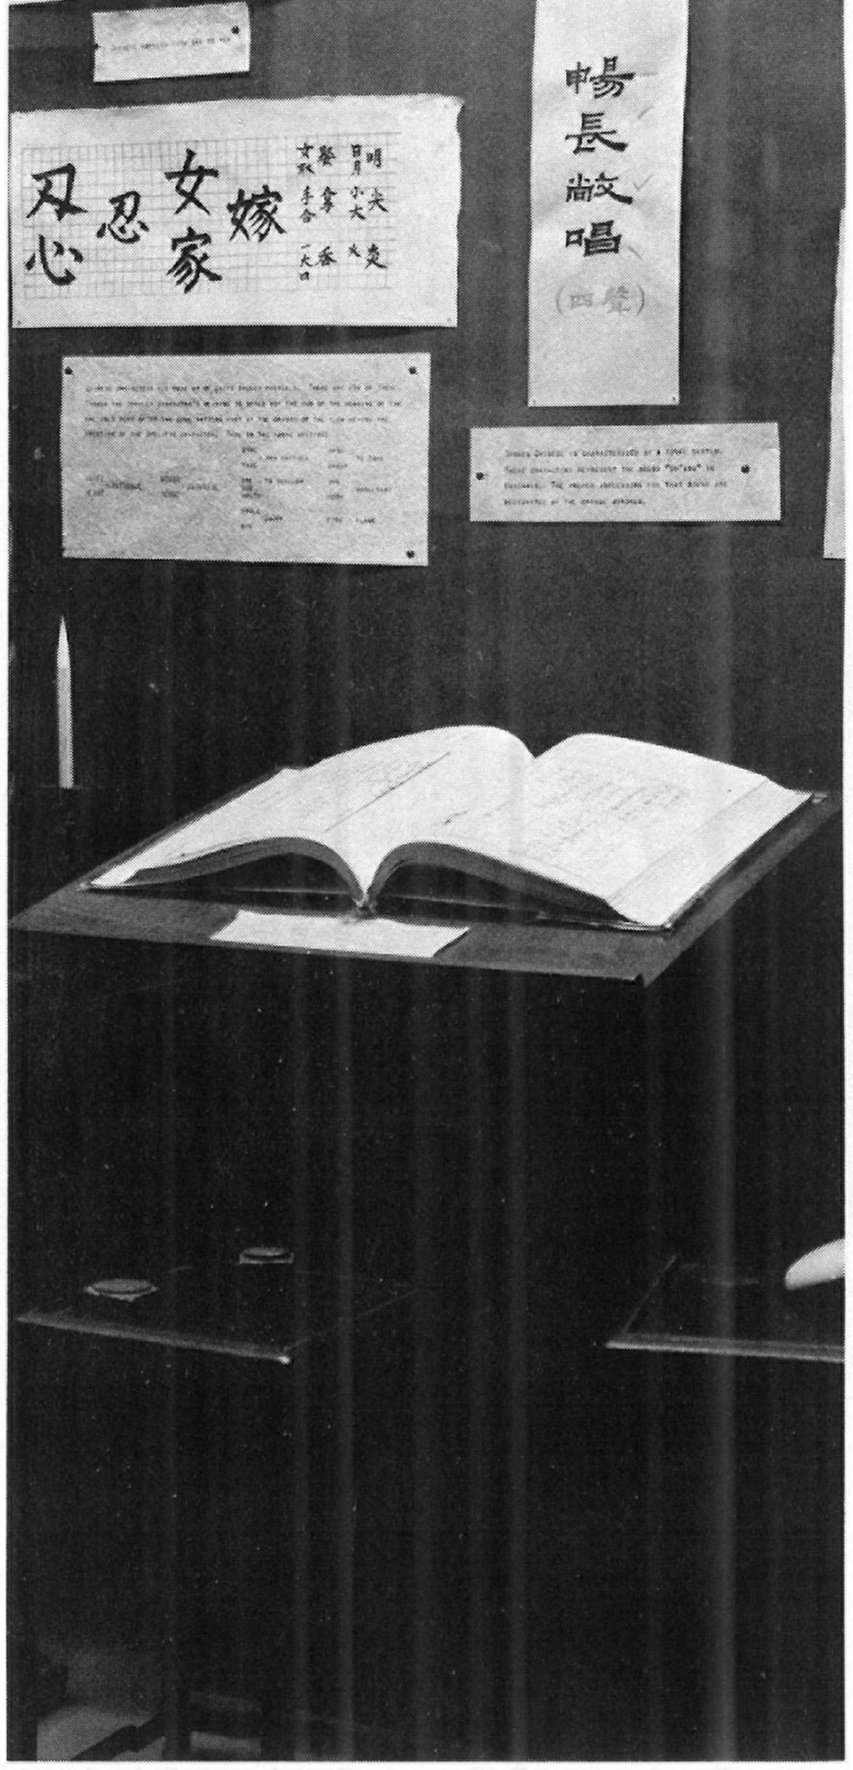

Man is but a copy. Yet the artist, unsatisfied, asks why.

Music for Every Interest, Every Taste

University Symphony

Violinist Lorand Fenyves

Eva Heinitz and Randolph Hokanson.

The university's performances this year provided music for everyone. The wide range of styles and the variety in presentations made this season one of versatility in music.

A South Indian concert featuring Balasaraswati mixed strange tones with dancing to give a glimpse of that country's culture and heritage. The Soni Ventorum combined the sounds of the winds in their concerts of works by Cambini, Henze and Reicha.

The University Symphony presented programs throughout the year. Members of the faculty, Eva Heinitz and Randolph Hokanson, gave a cello-piano recital and Miss Heinitz later joined Malcolm Hamilton, harpsichordist, in a concert including works by Bach, Handel and Couperin. Visiting violinist Lorand Fenyves joined the university's own Bela Siki in a classical performance.

Performances offered samples of the classics, jazz, traditional and foreign. It was a year of both new and familiar in the sounds of music.

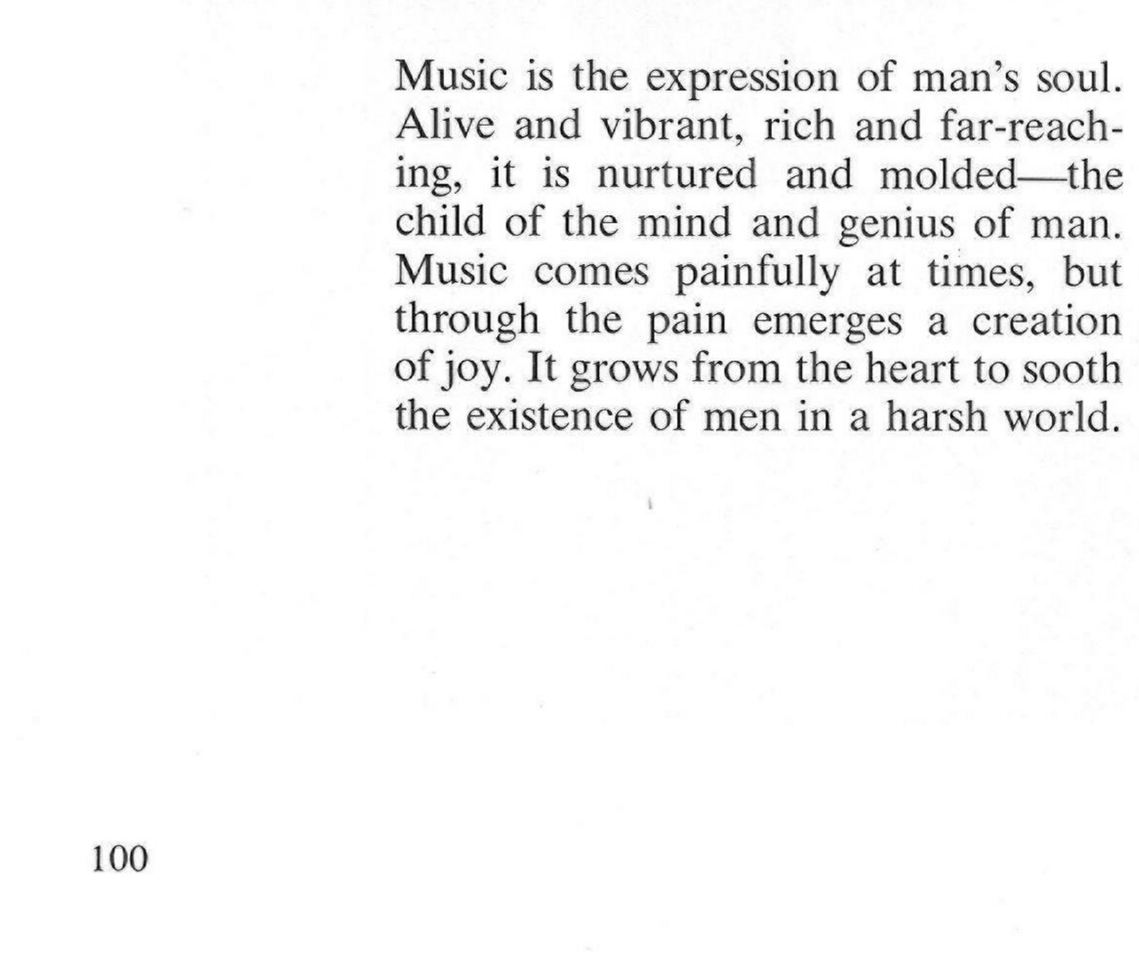

Soni Ventorum Quintet

University Symphony Orchestra:

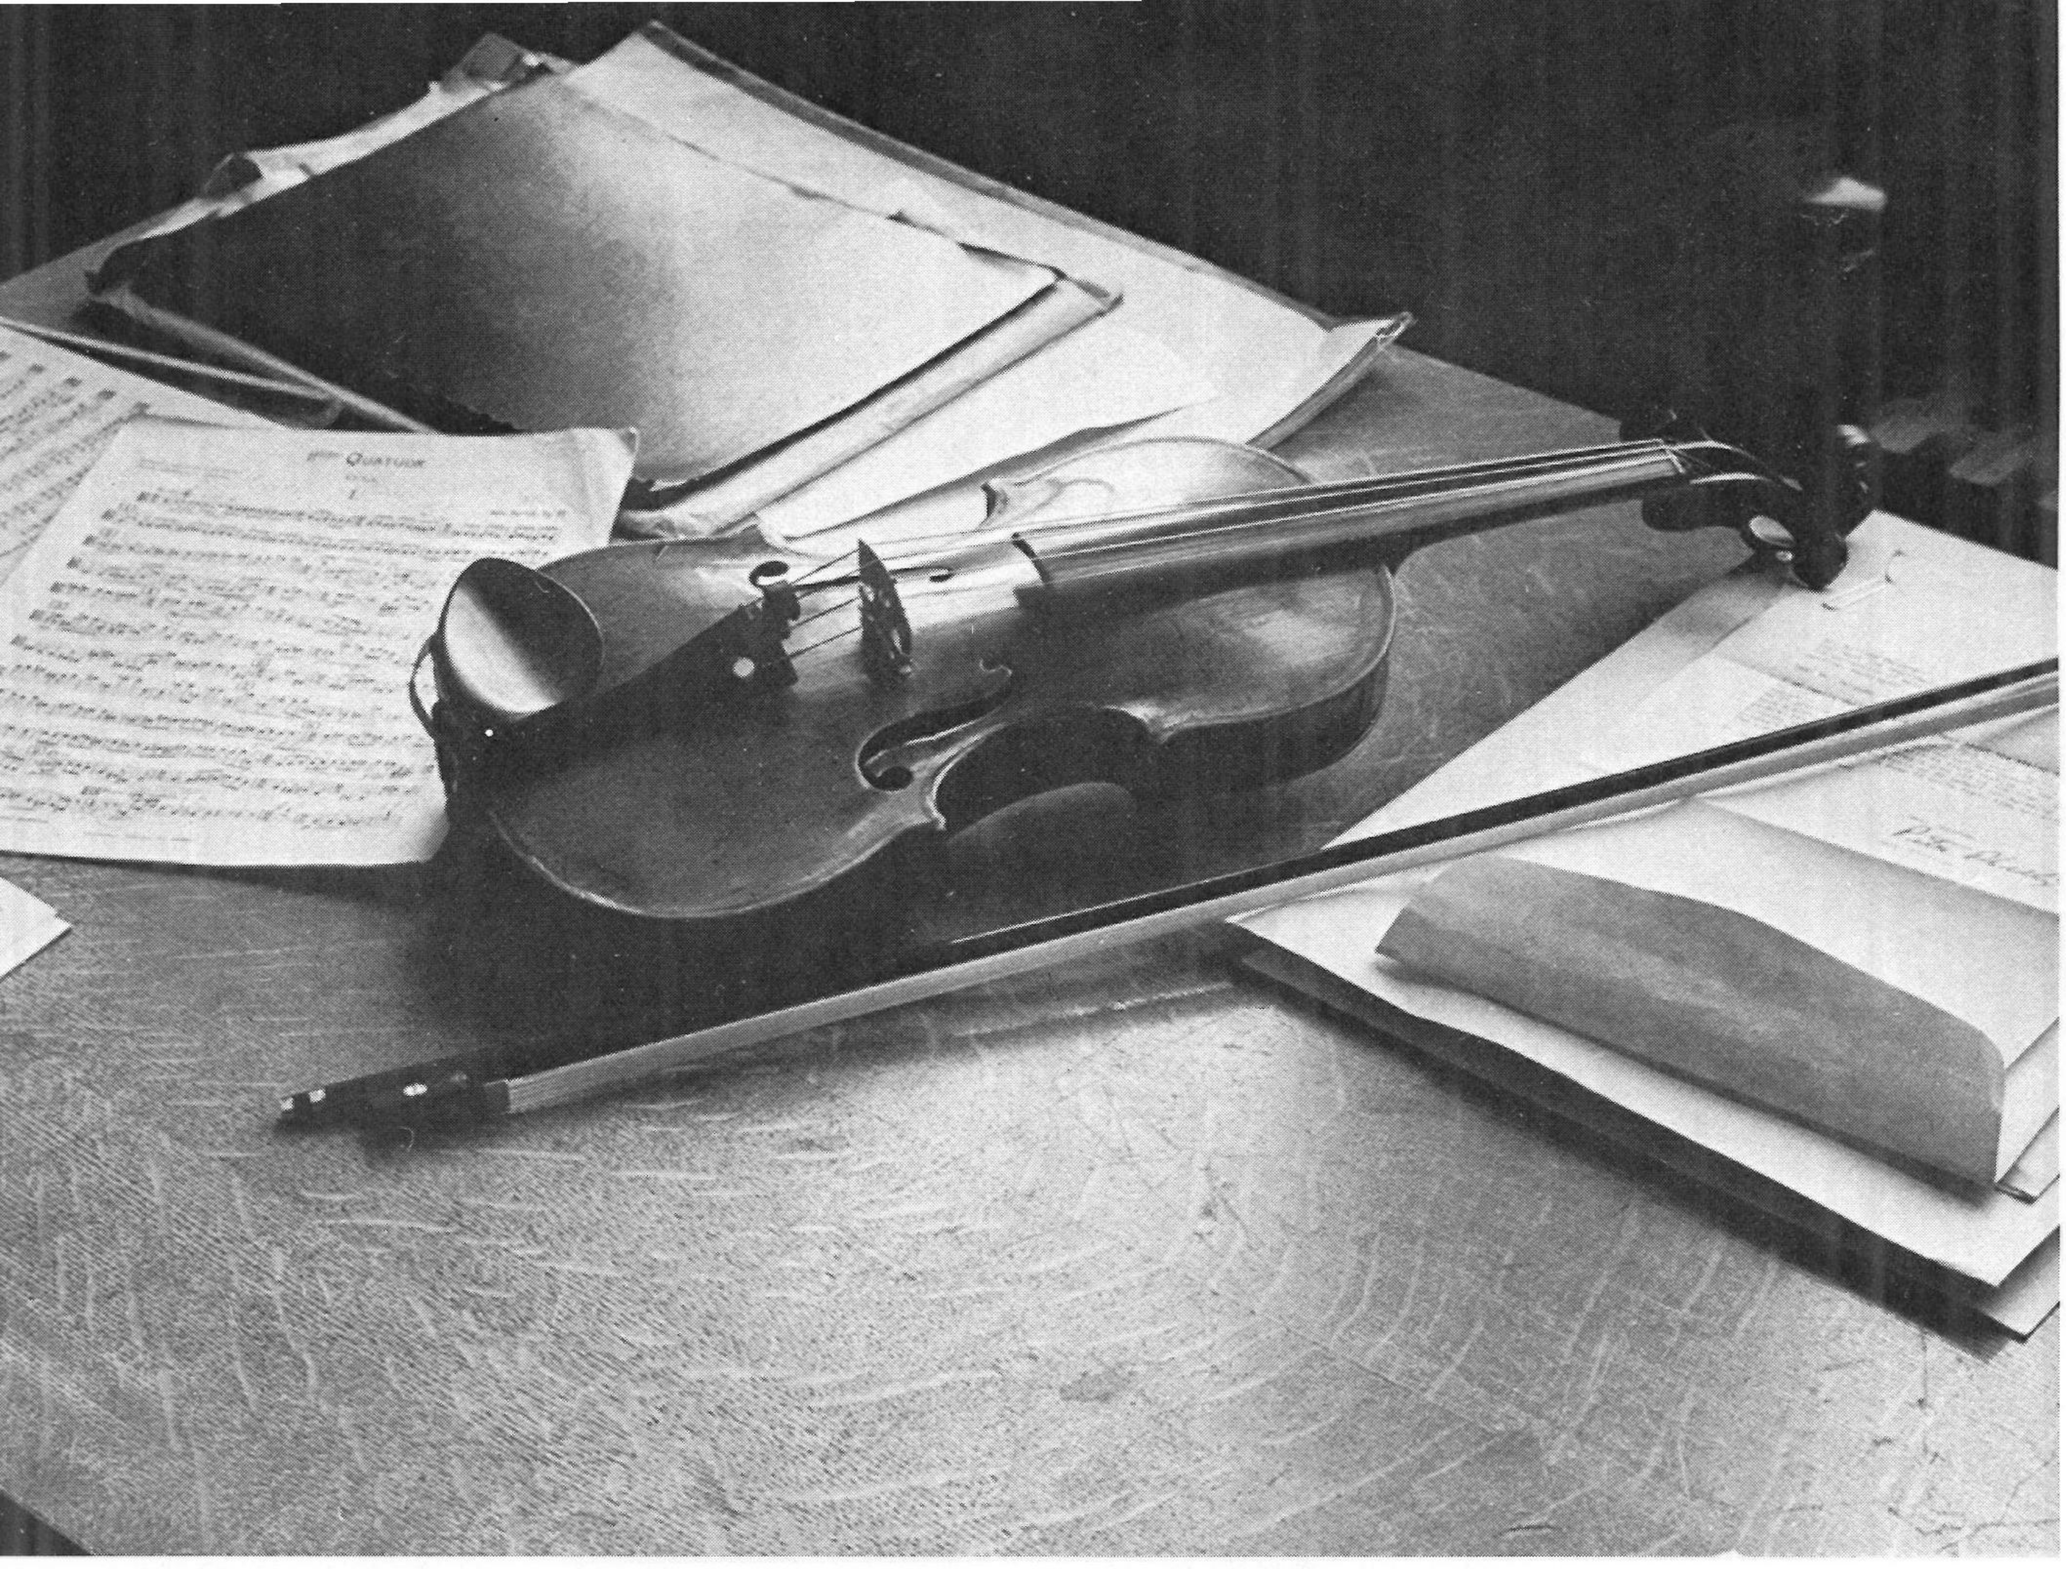

The Expression of a Spirit

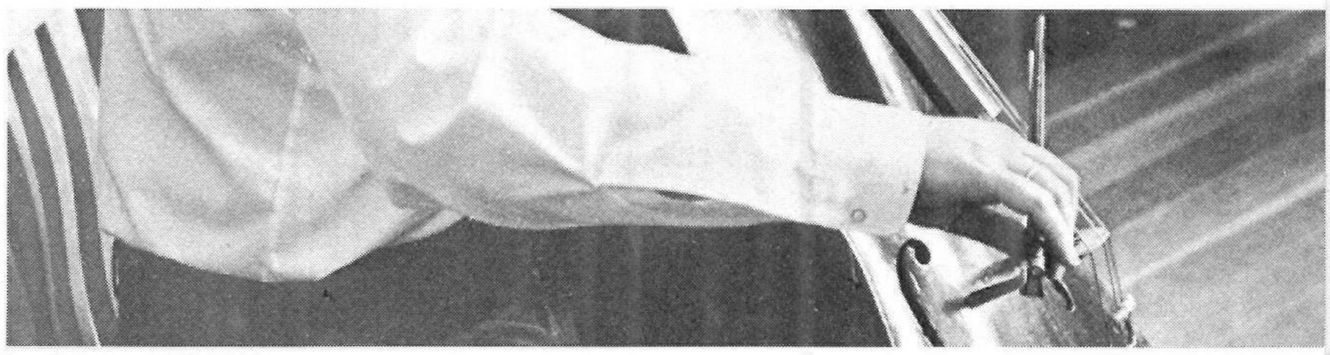

Music is the expression of man's soul. Alive and vibrant, rich and far-reaching, it is nurtured and molded—the child of the mind and genius of man. Music comes painfully at times, but through the pain emerges a creation of joy. It grows from the heart to sooth the existence of men in a harsh world.

A Blending of Four Fuses Music to Man

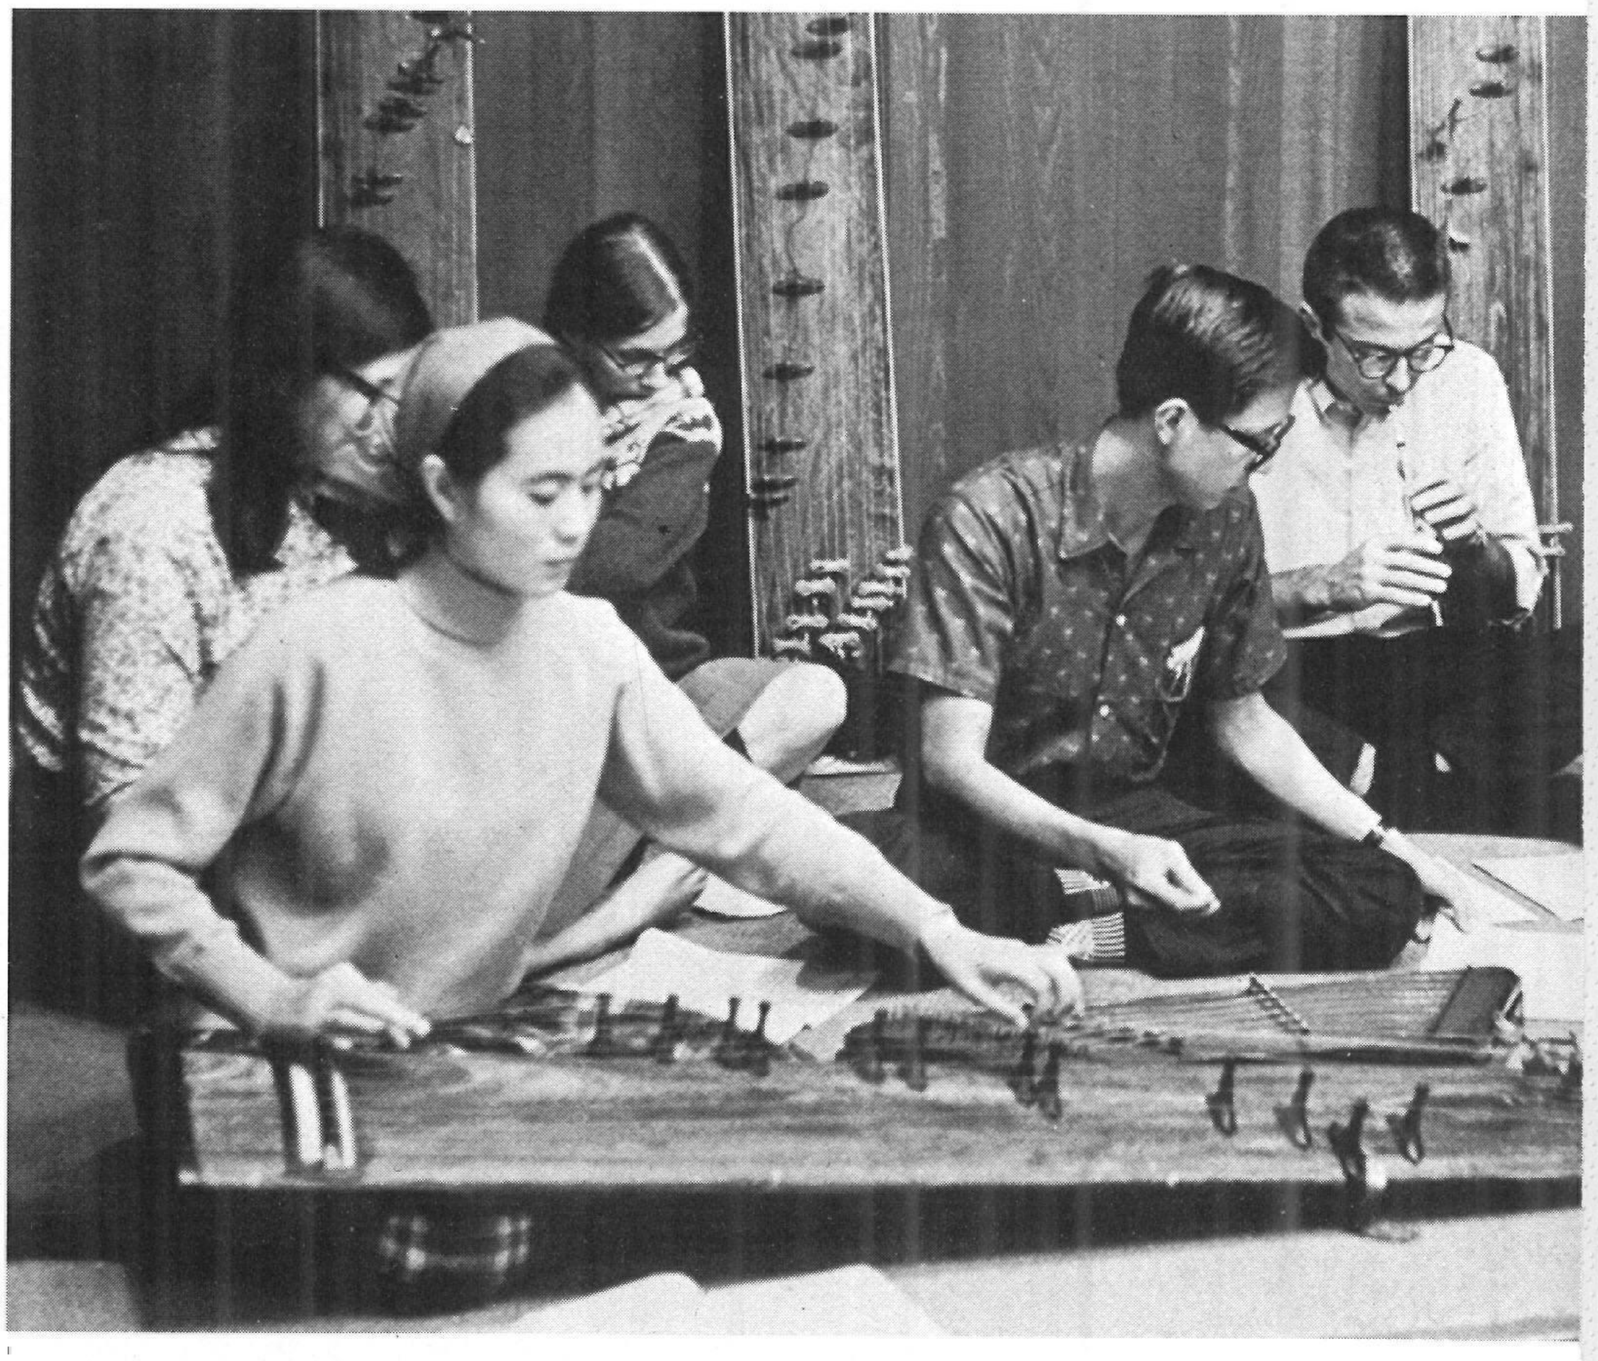

The Philadelphia String Quartet blends strings to produce flavorful sounds and an escape from the banality of life's routine. Three years of steadily sold-out crowds, three State Department tours, performances in the cultural centers of the United States and a return tour of Europe this year have firmly established the popularity and superiority of the Quartet.

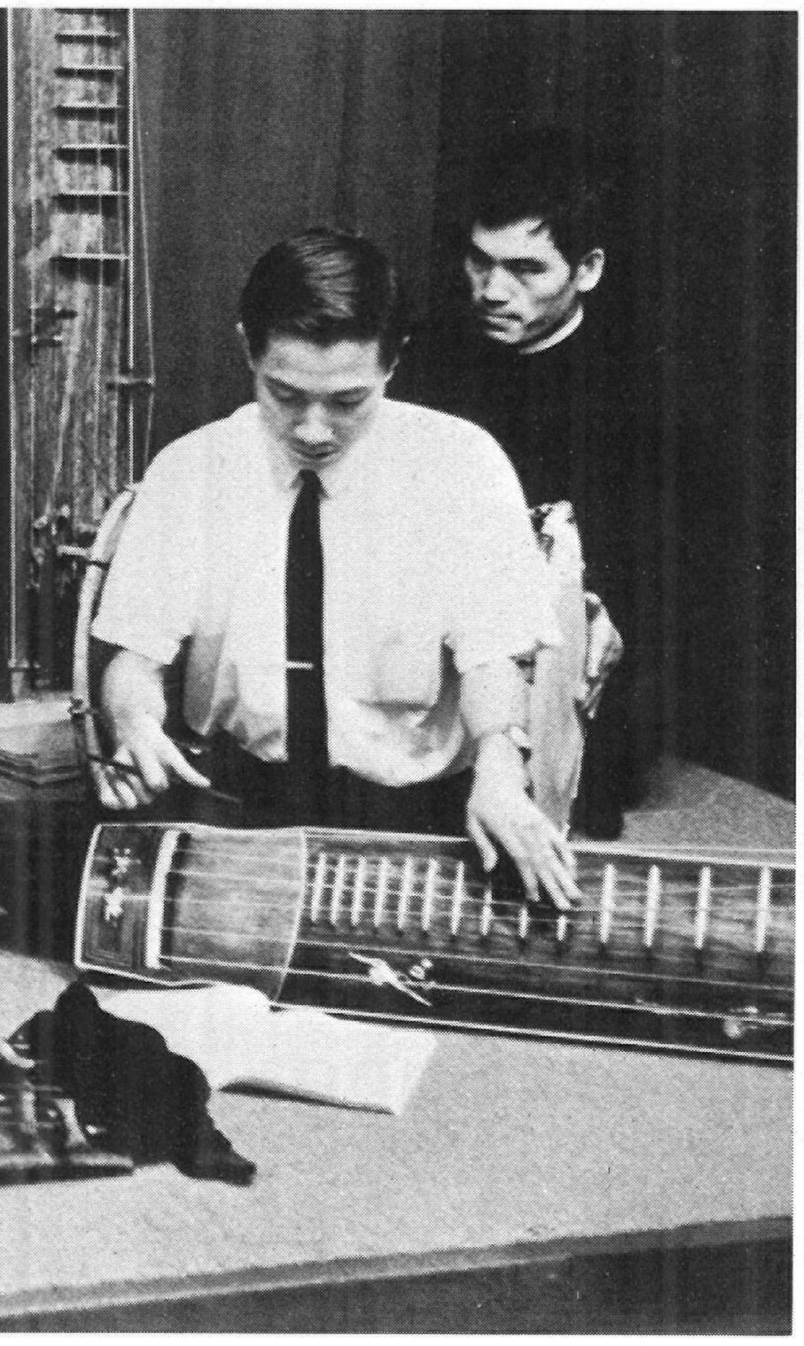

Strange Sounds Pierce World of Ethnomusicology

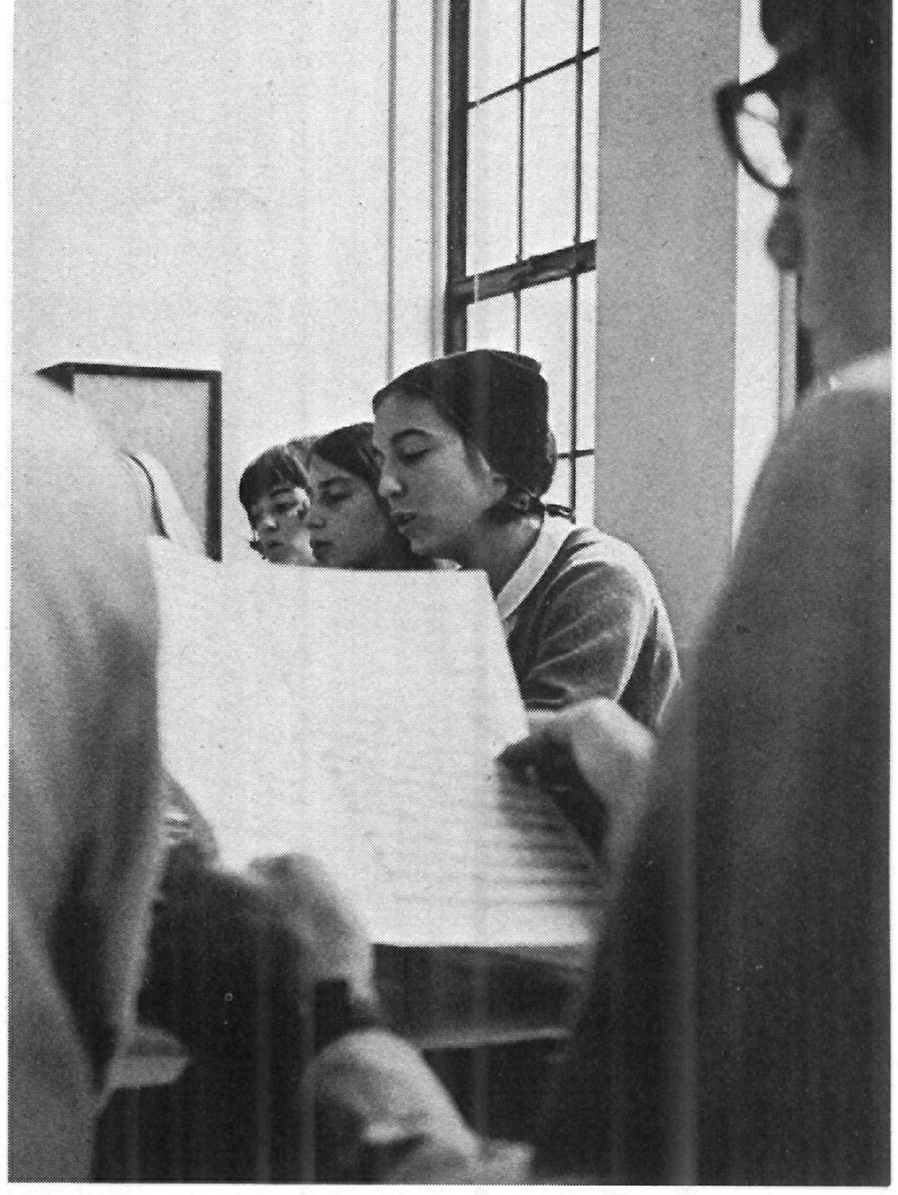

A narrow world may become a universe through exploration in music. Ethnomusicology delves into the civilizations of Asia and Africa, transporting students into a new existence of strange tones and fascinating instruments. Sounds to which the westernized ear is unaccustomed gradually enchant listeners with mysterious rhythms.

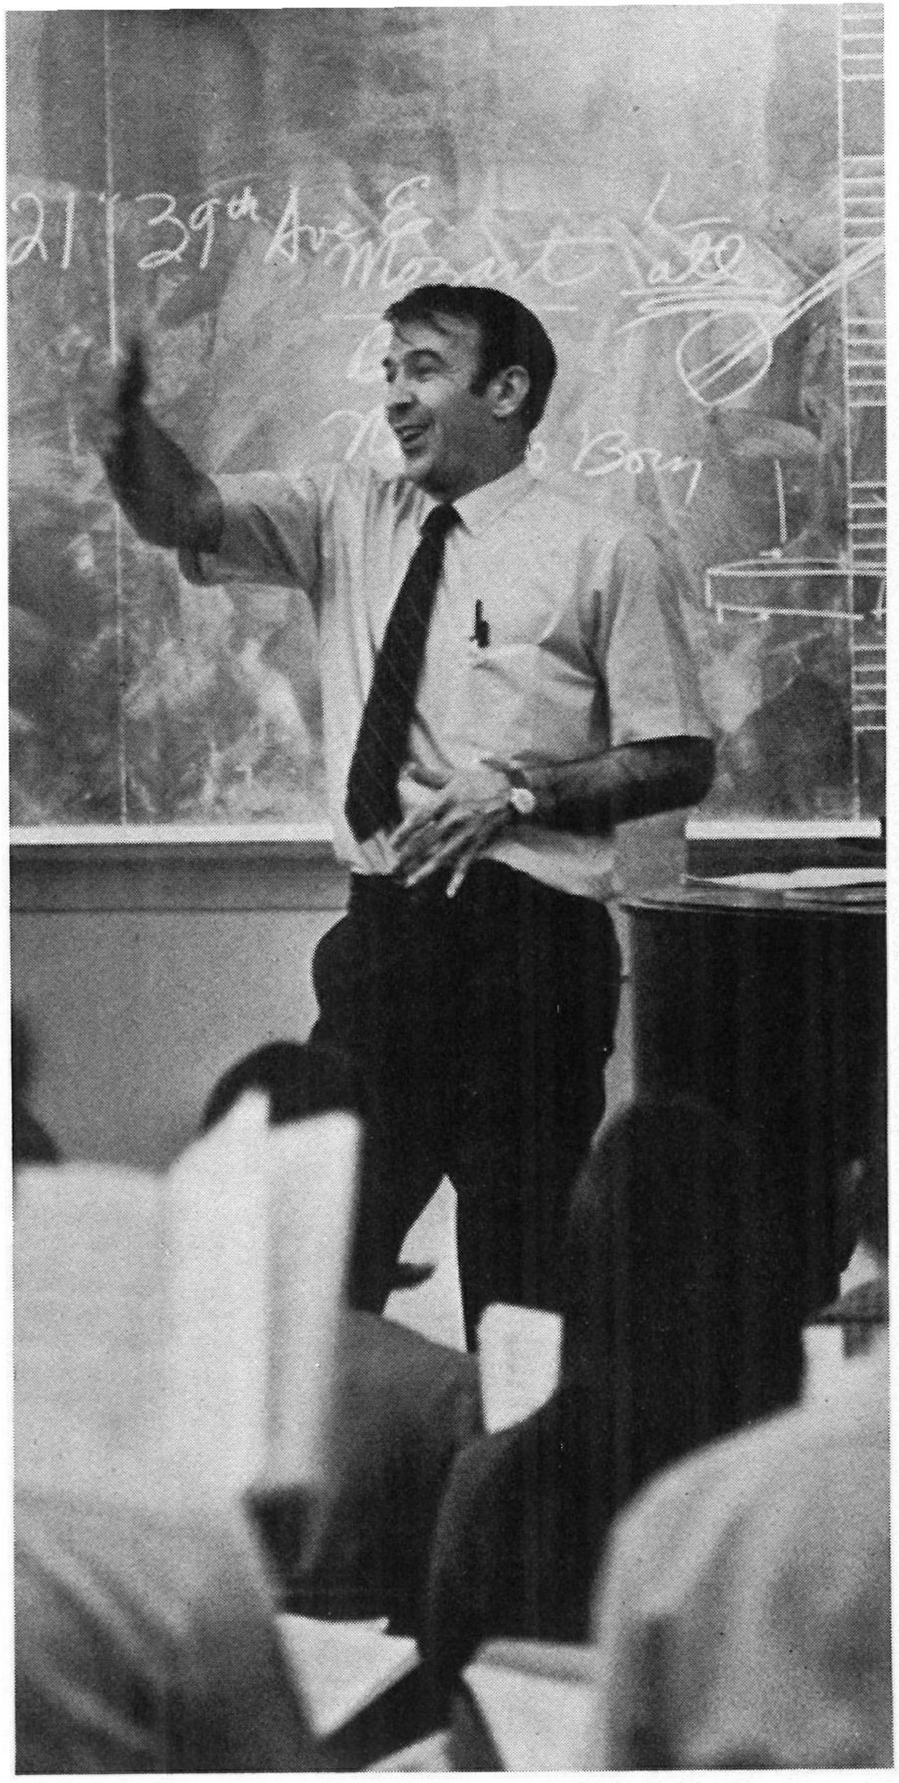

Love of singing makes even practice an enjoyable event for the University Singers.

Professor Rodney Eichenberger transmits involvement.

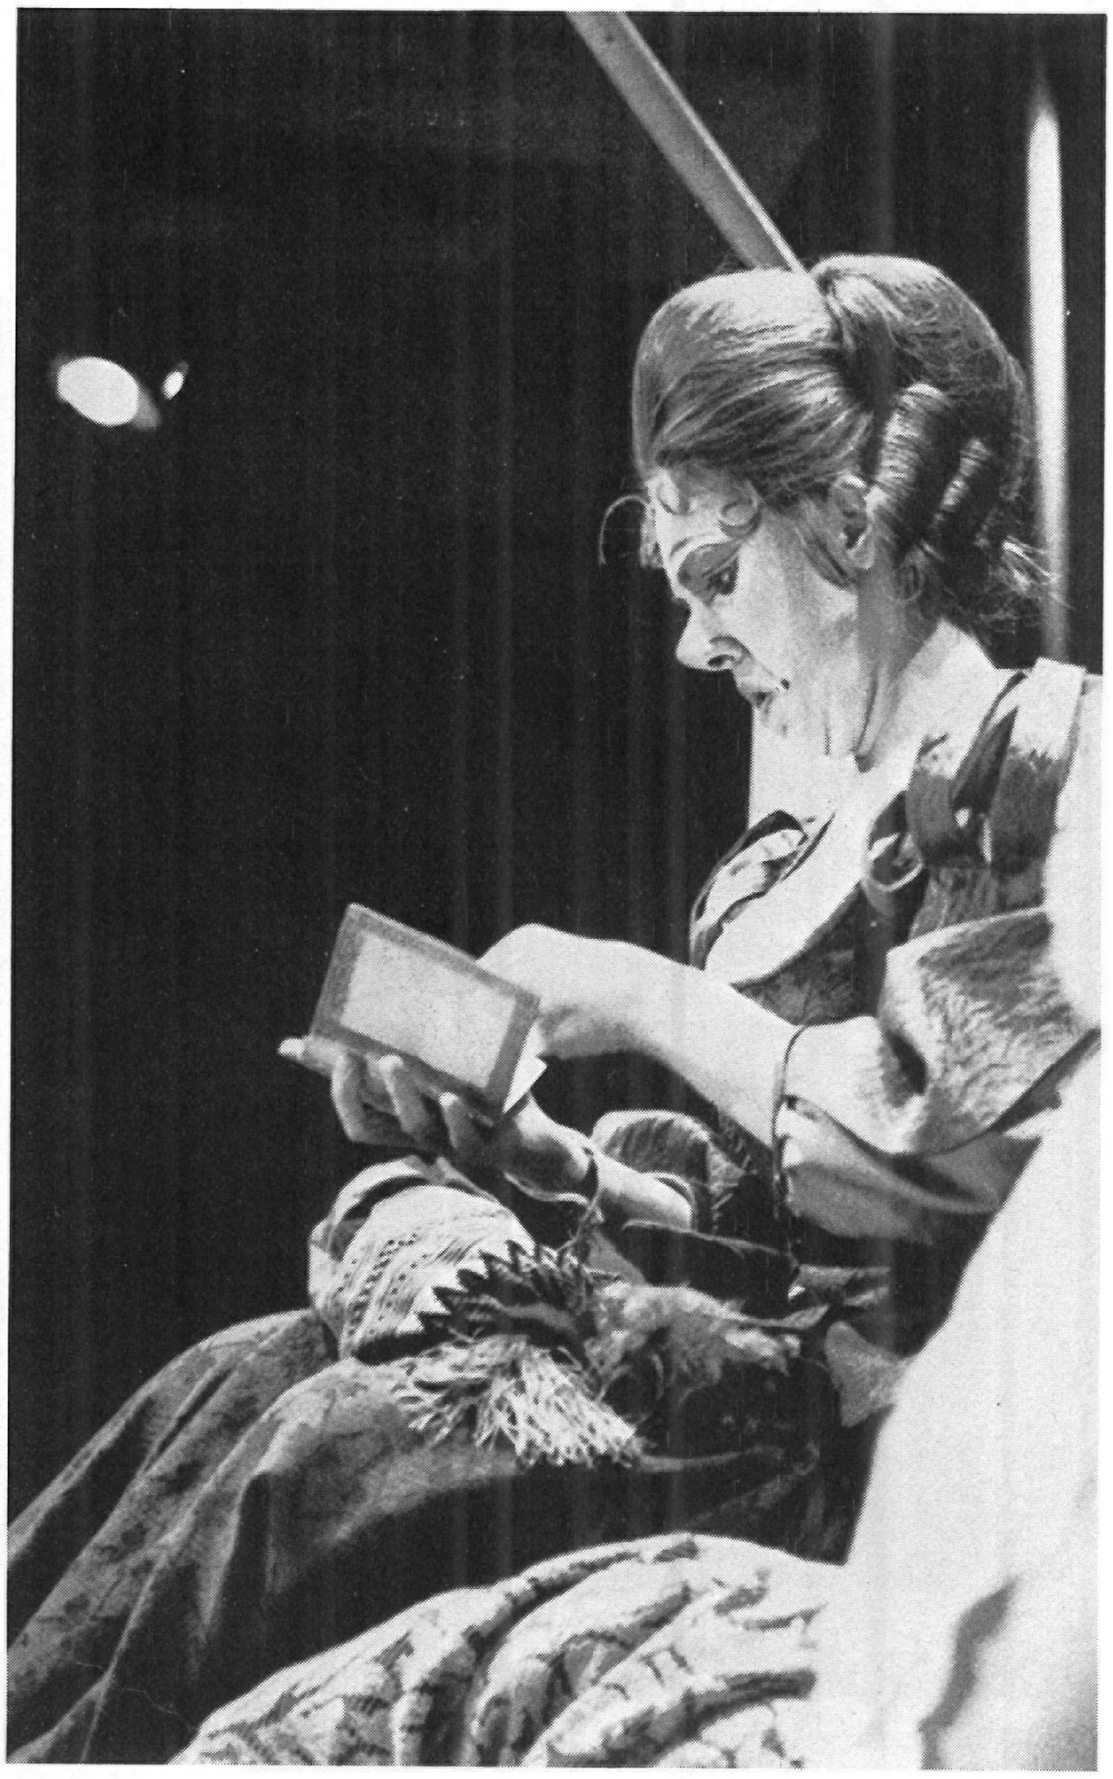

Professor Gerald Kechley directs the Madrigals.

Total absorption and a love of singing characterize the campus singers. Hours of practice and the joy of a piece finally polished mark their search for quality and perfection. University Chorale, University Singers, Madrigals: dynamic leaders and responsive groups.

'Volpone' Manifests the Consequence of Greed

The Drama Department's production of Ben Jonson's 17th century "Volpone" served as a delight to its 20th century audiences. The traits which were characterized were both universal and timeless. The sly fox Volpone fell prey to his own greed, while the clever Mosca skillfully manipulated the rivals for Volpone's favor and wealth.

Composing this vying trio were Voltore, Corbaccio and Corvino, who were played by Stuart Gillard, Mike Christensen and John Kauffman respectively. John Aylward played Volpone and Gary Reineke portrayed Mosca.

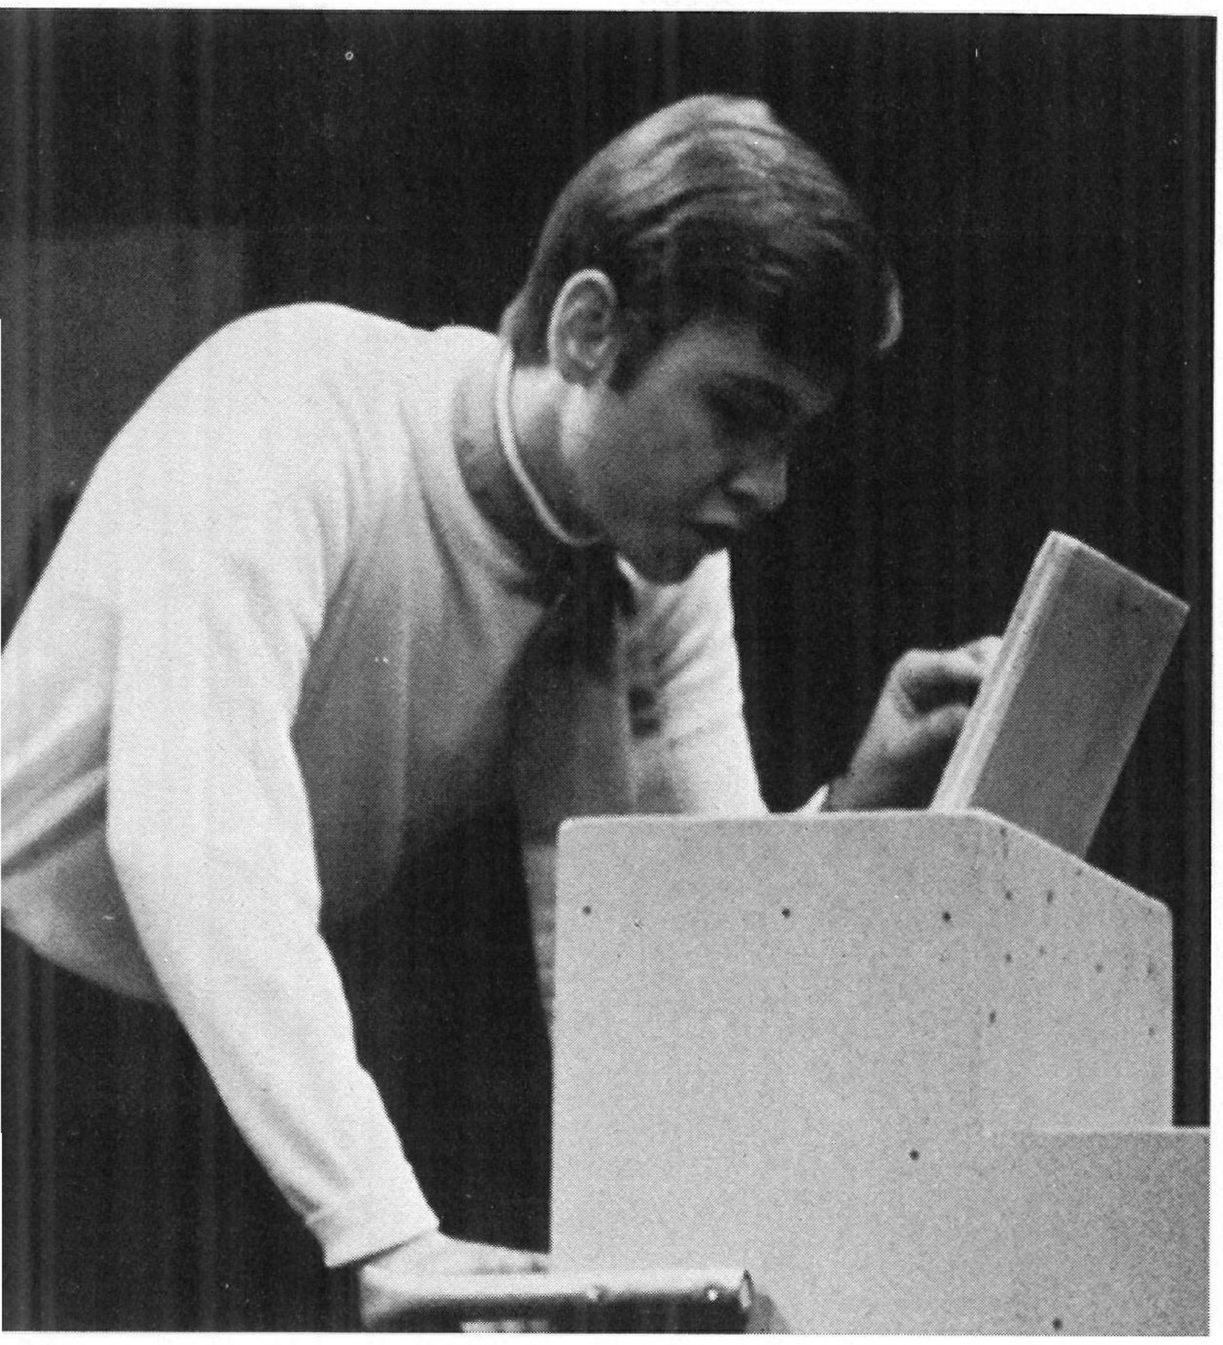

The play, directed by Arne Zaslove, was acclaimed for its fine production, and was entered in competition in the American College Theatre Festival.

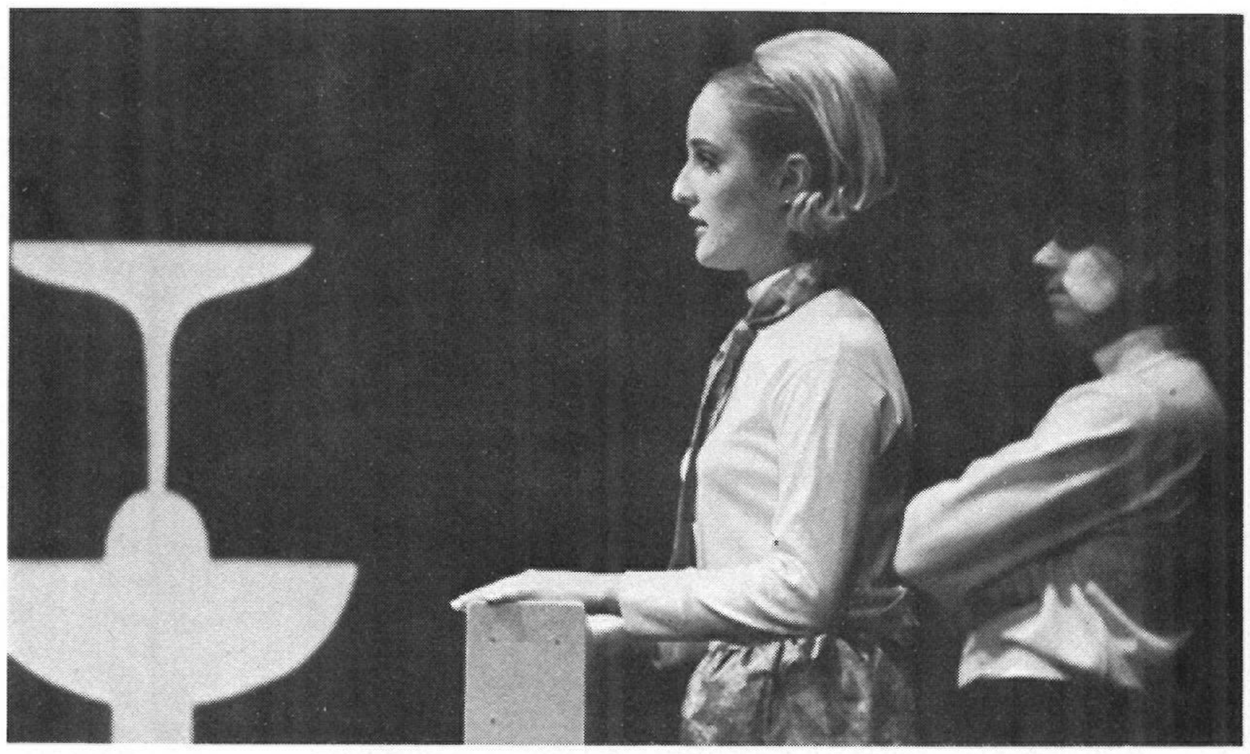

Magical Pianos Appear In 'Salad Days'

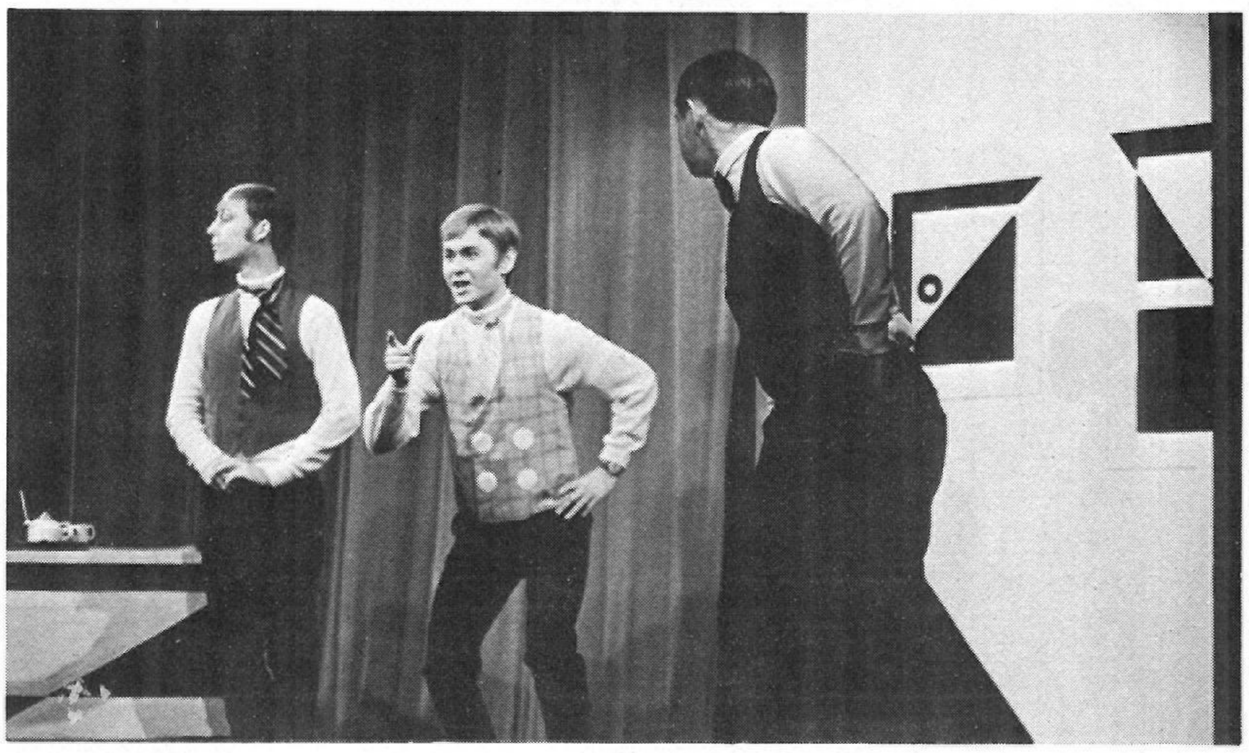

Magical pianos and flying saucers are uncommon in most musical comedies, but in "Salad Days" such fare was to be expected. This fast-moving delight by Julian Slade and Dorothy Reynolds was presented as a fall quarter master's thesis production by Barbara Jay Meier. The versatile cast combined their singing, acting and dancing skills to lead the audience into a night of make-believe and fun. Sydney Sue Anderson, Dennis Whalen and Scott McDade played the major roles.

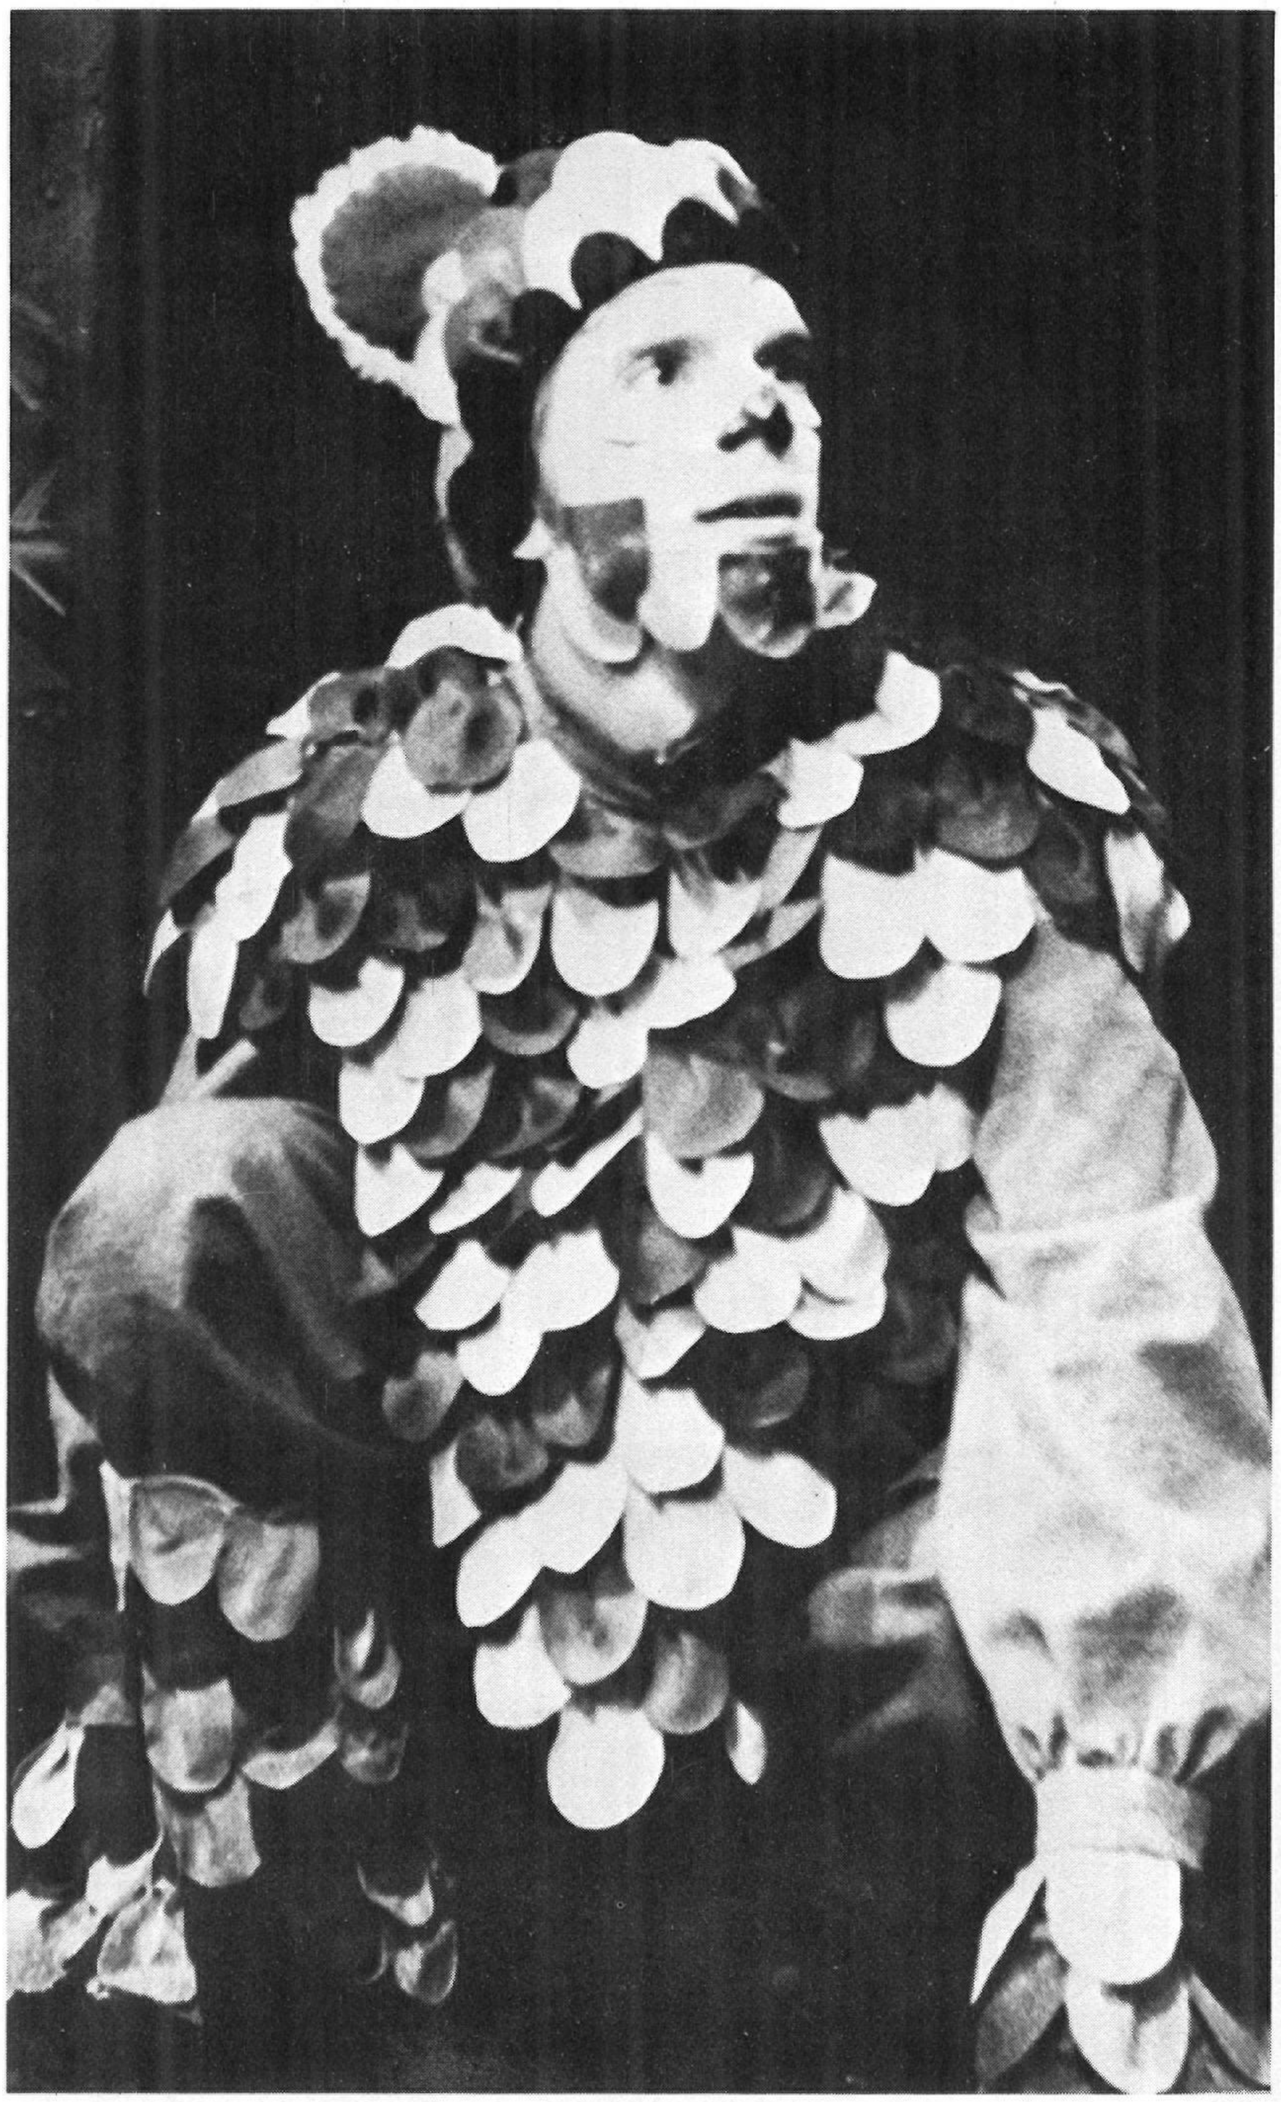

Chinese Children's Play Enchants Audience

A flying pet dragon and a hero who could "talk to the animals" enchanted all who watched Madge Miller's "The Land of The Dragon." Jade Pure, the lovely princess in this Chinese children's play, was played by Susan Hammergren.

Katie Herron was cast as the villainous aunt, Precious Harp, and her accomplice, Covet Spring, was played by Bruce Mehlhaff. As the hero Road Wanderer, Richard Reynolds was able to talk with his dragon, Small One, played by Robert Long.

Scenes shifted rapidly. The jester-like antics of the cavorting property man added to the life and spirit of the play.

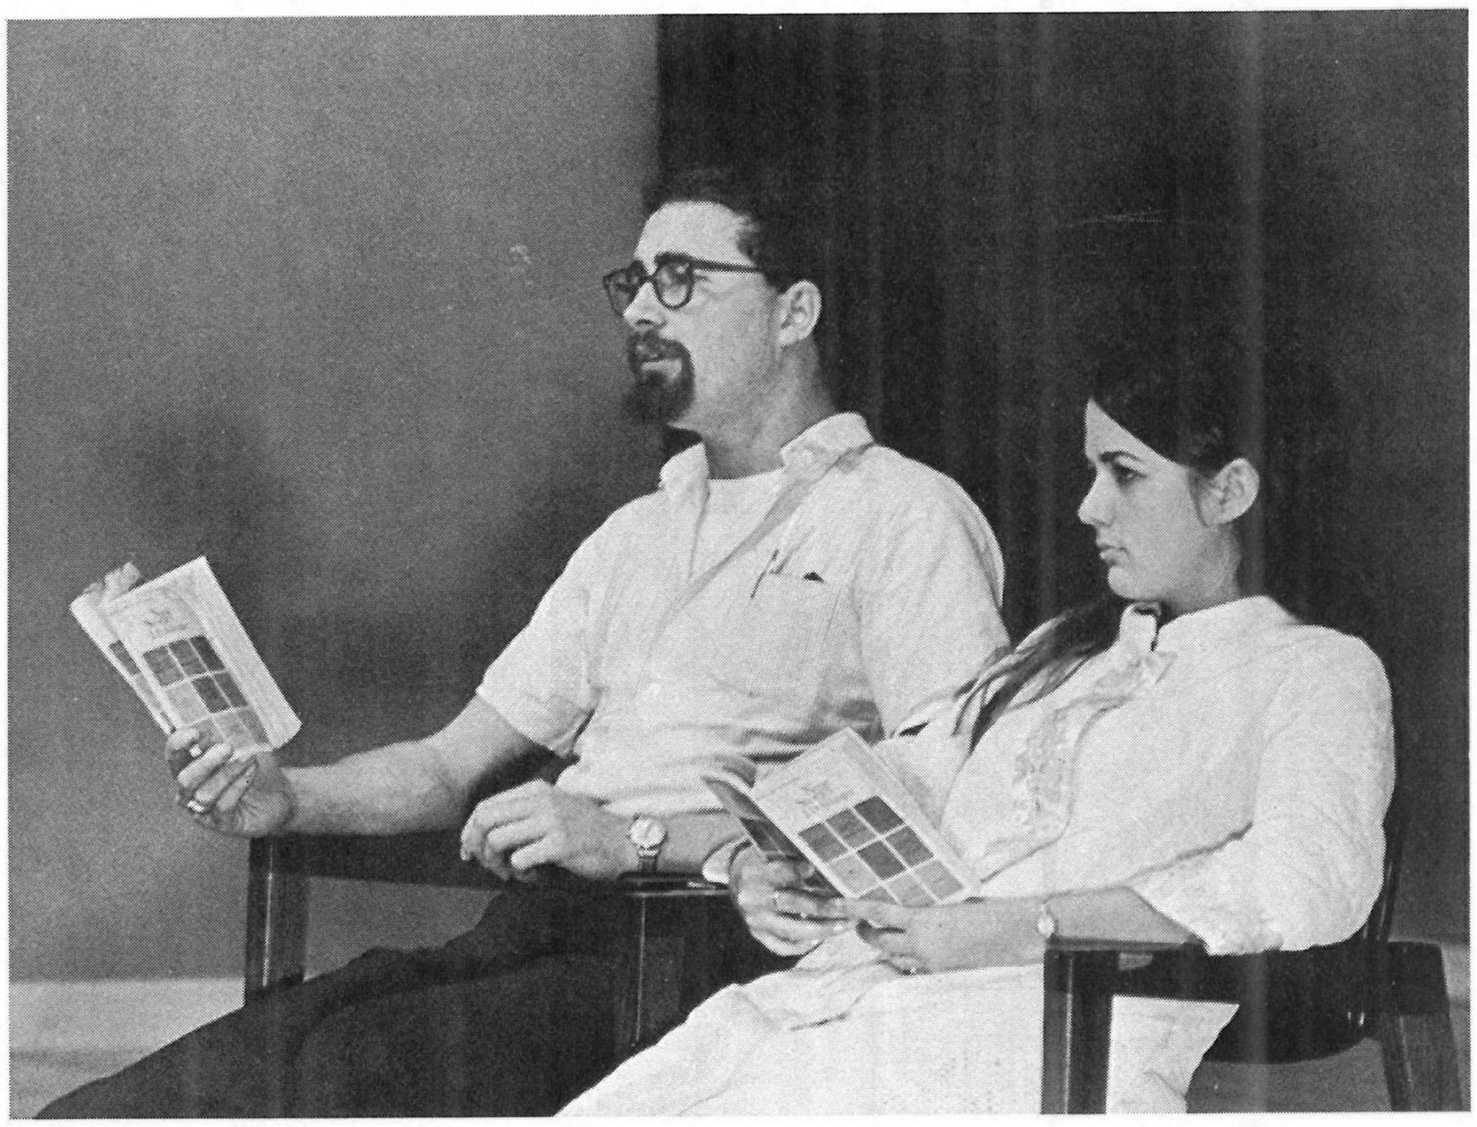

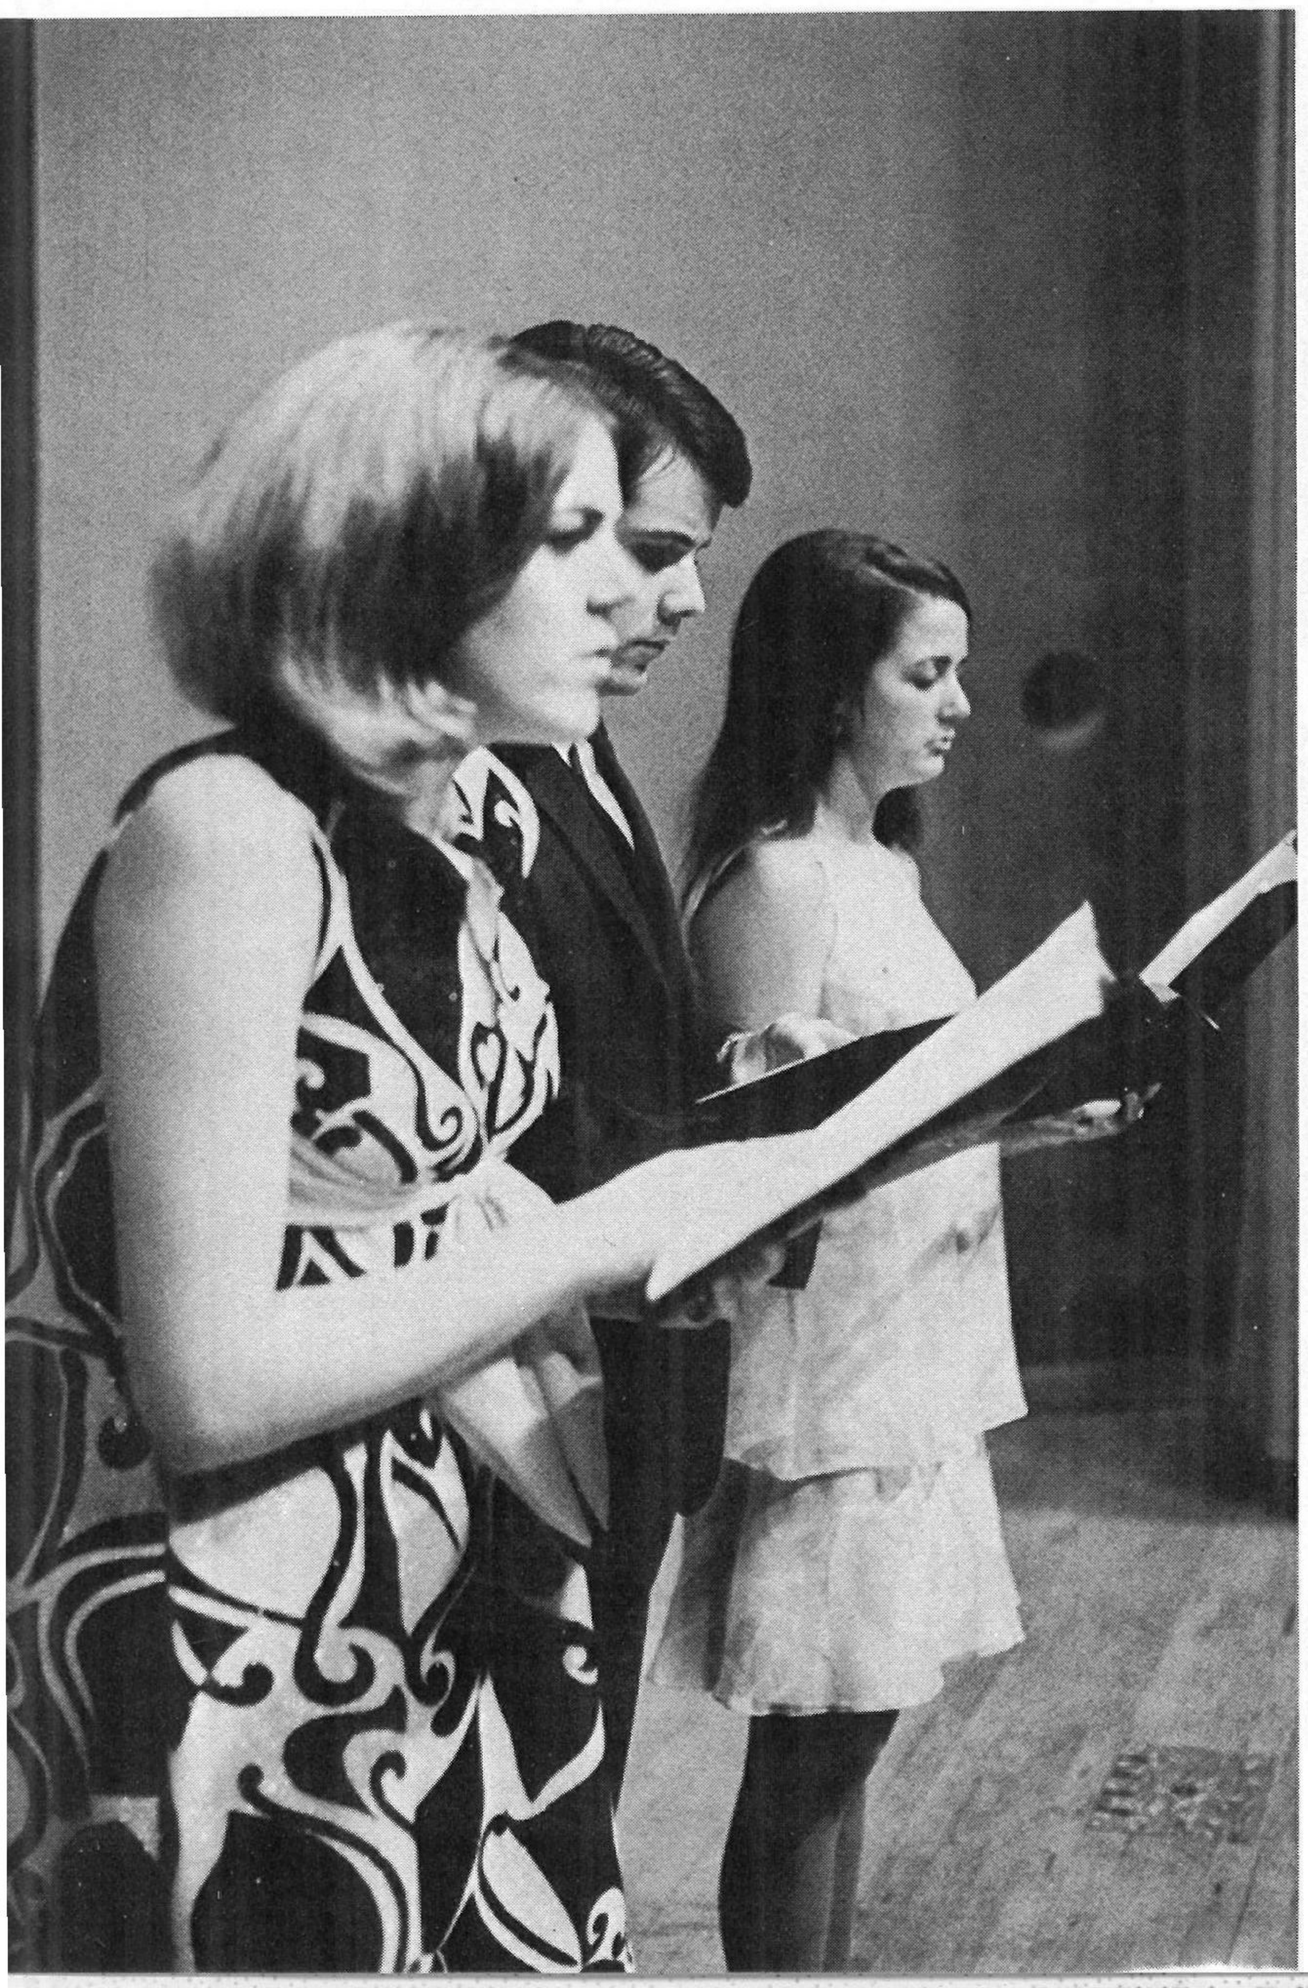

Reader's Theatre presented another season of interpretive reading under the supervision of Prof. Robert M. Post and the Department of Speech.

The bare stage, set only with chairs and stools, took form as the players, with only their scripts before them, slowly evolved into the characters they portrayed.

The 1968-69 season featured presentations of Samuel Beckett's "Endgame" and a collection of stories of deception. Also included in the schedule were Henry Fielding's "The Tragedy of Tragedies" and "The Black List and White America."

Reader's Theatre Doesn't Need the Frills

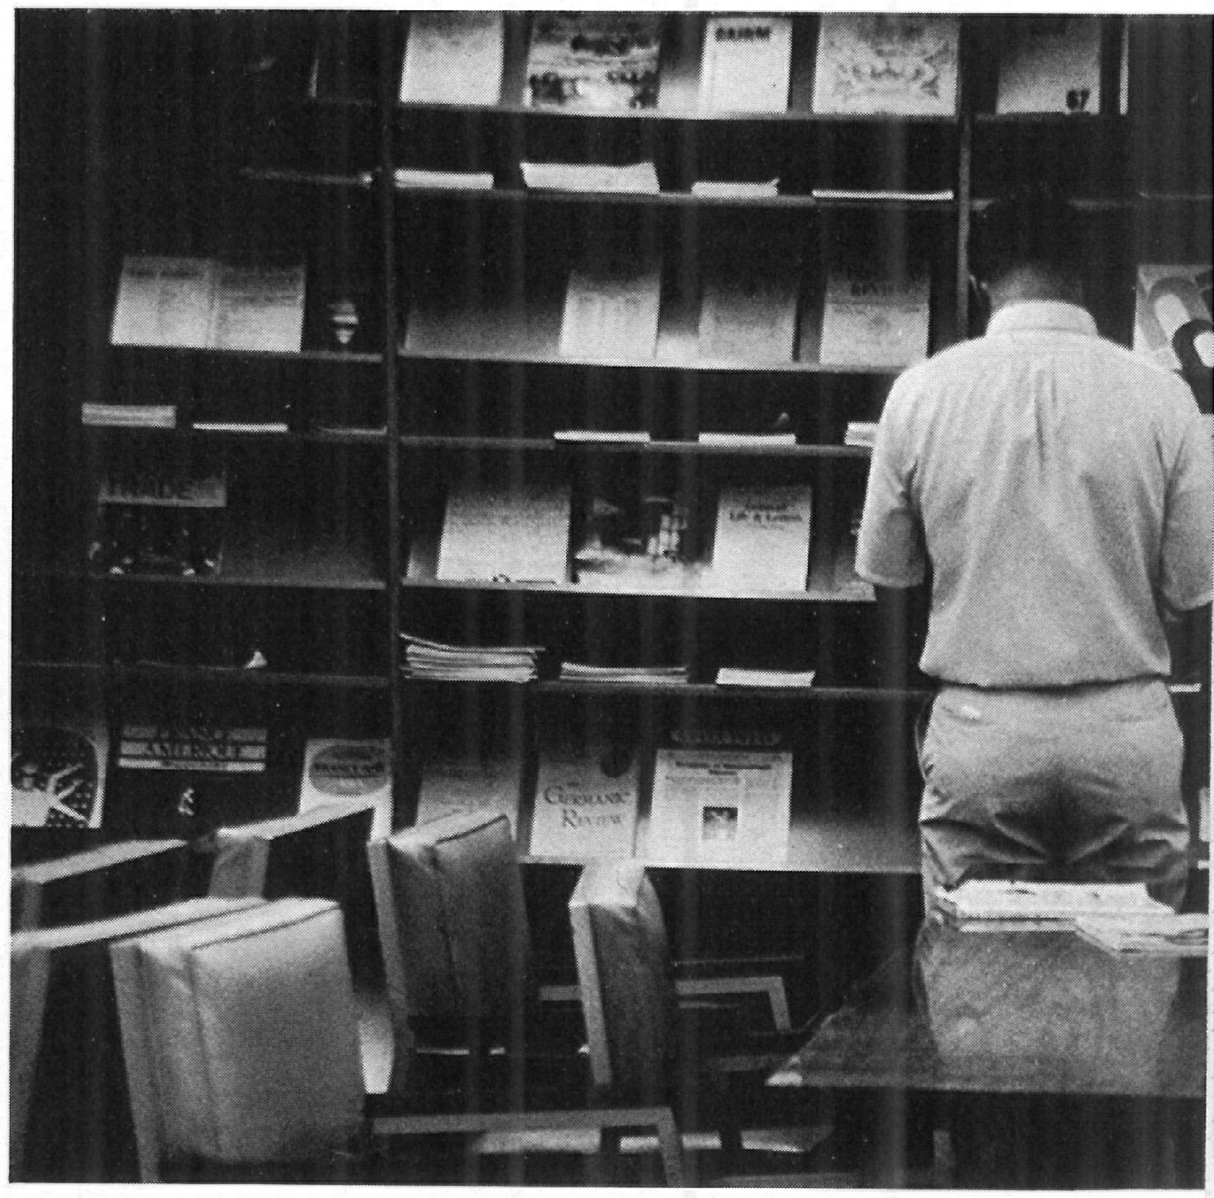

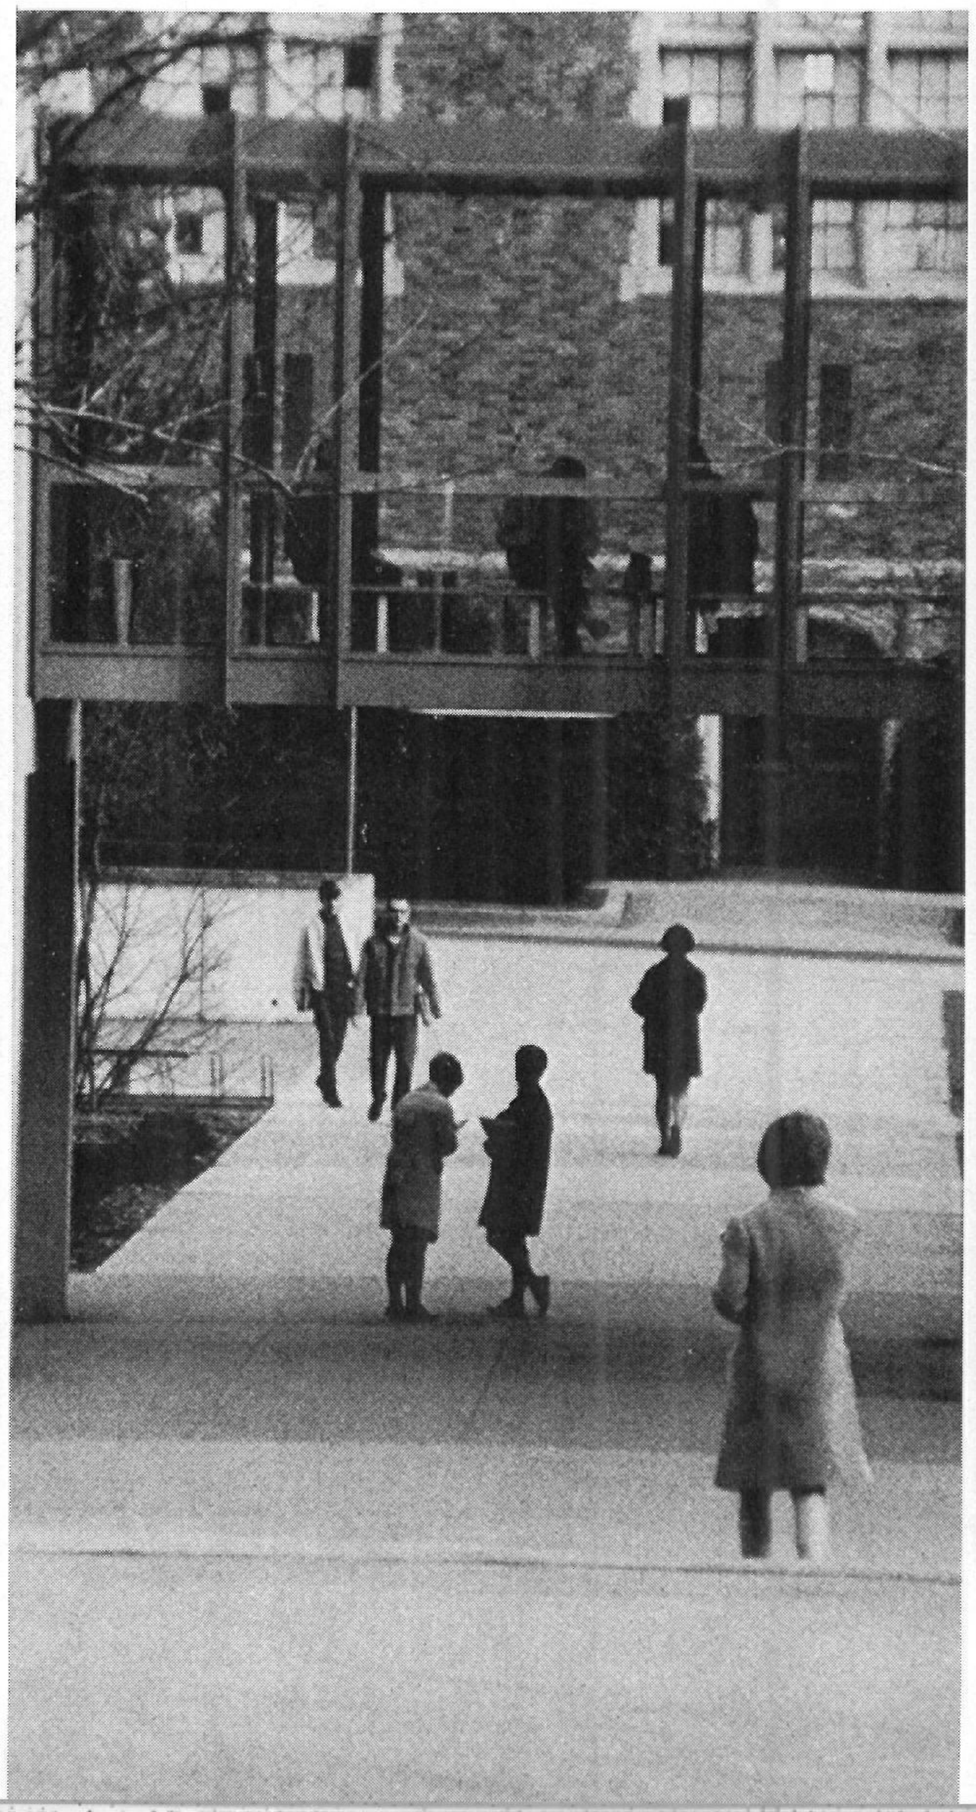

Libraries are nice places to study, but . . . Much of one's education is the outgrowth of confrontations with life in all its diversity. The university is a microcosm. It provides an environment where a gamut of people and opinions are gathered together to be sampled, pondered, tested and then accepted, rejected or modified to suit the individual.

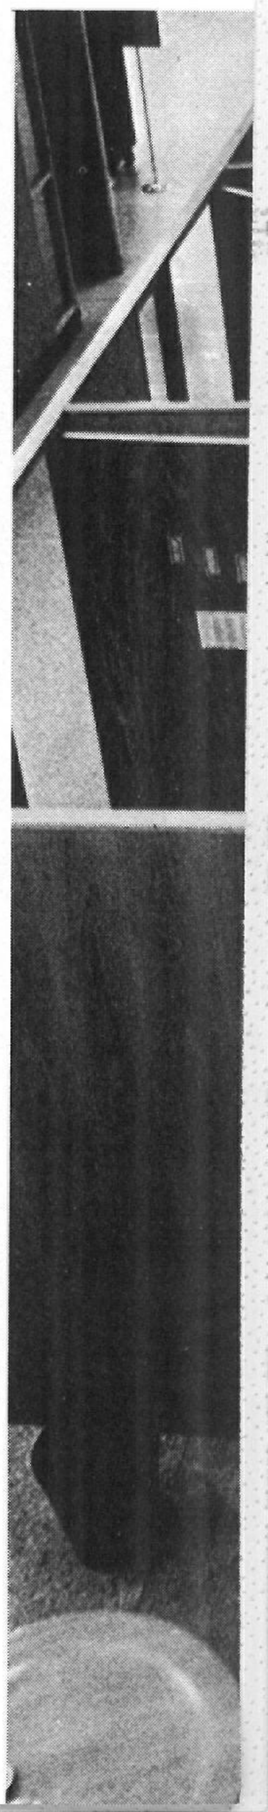

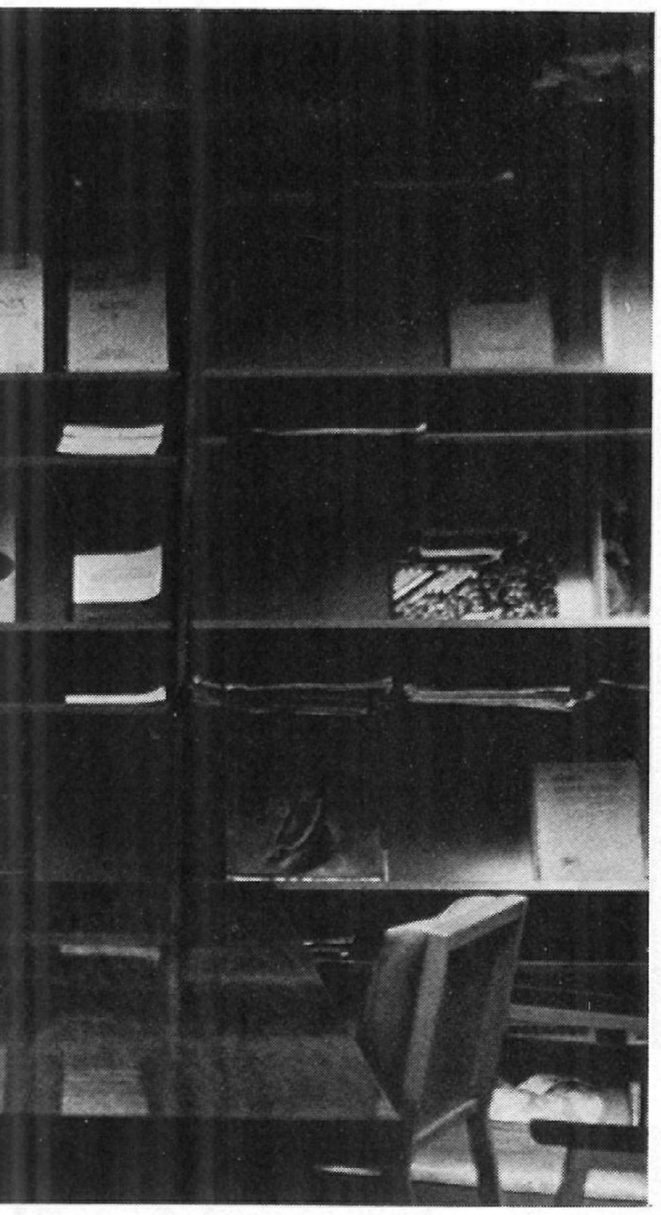

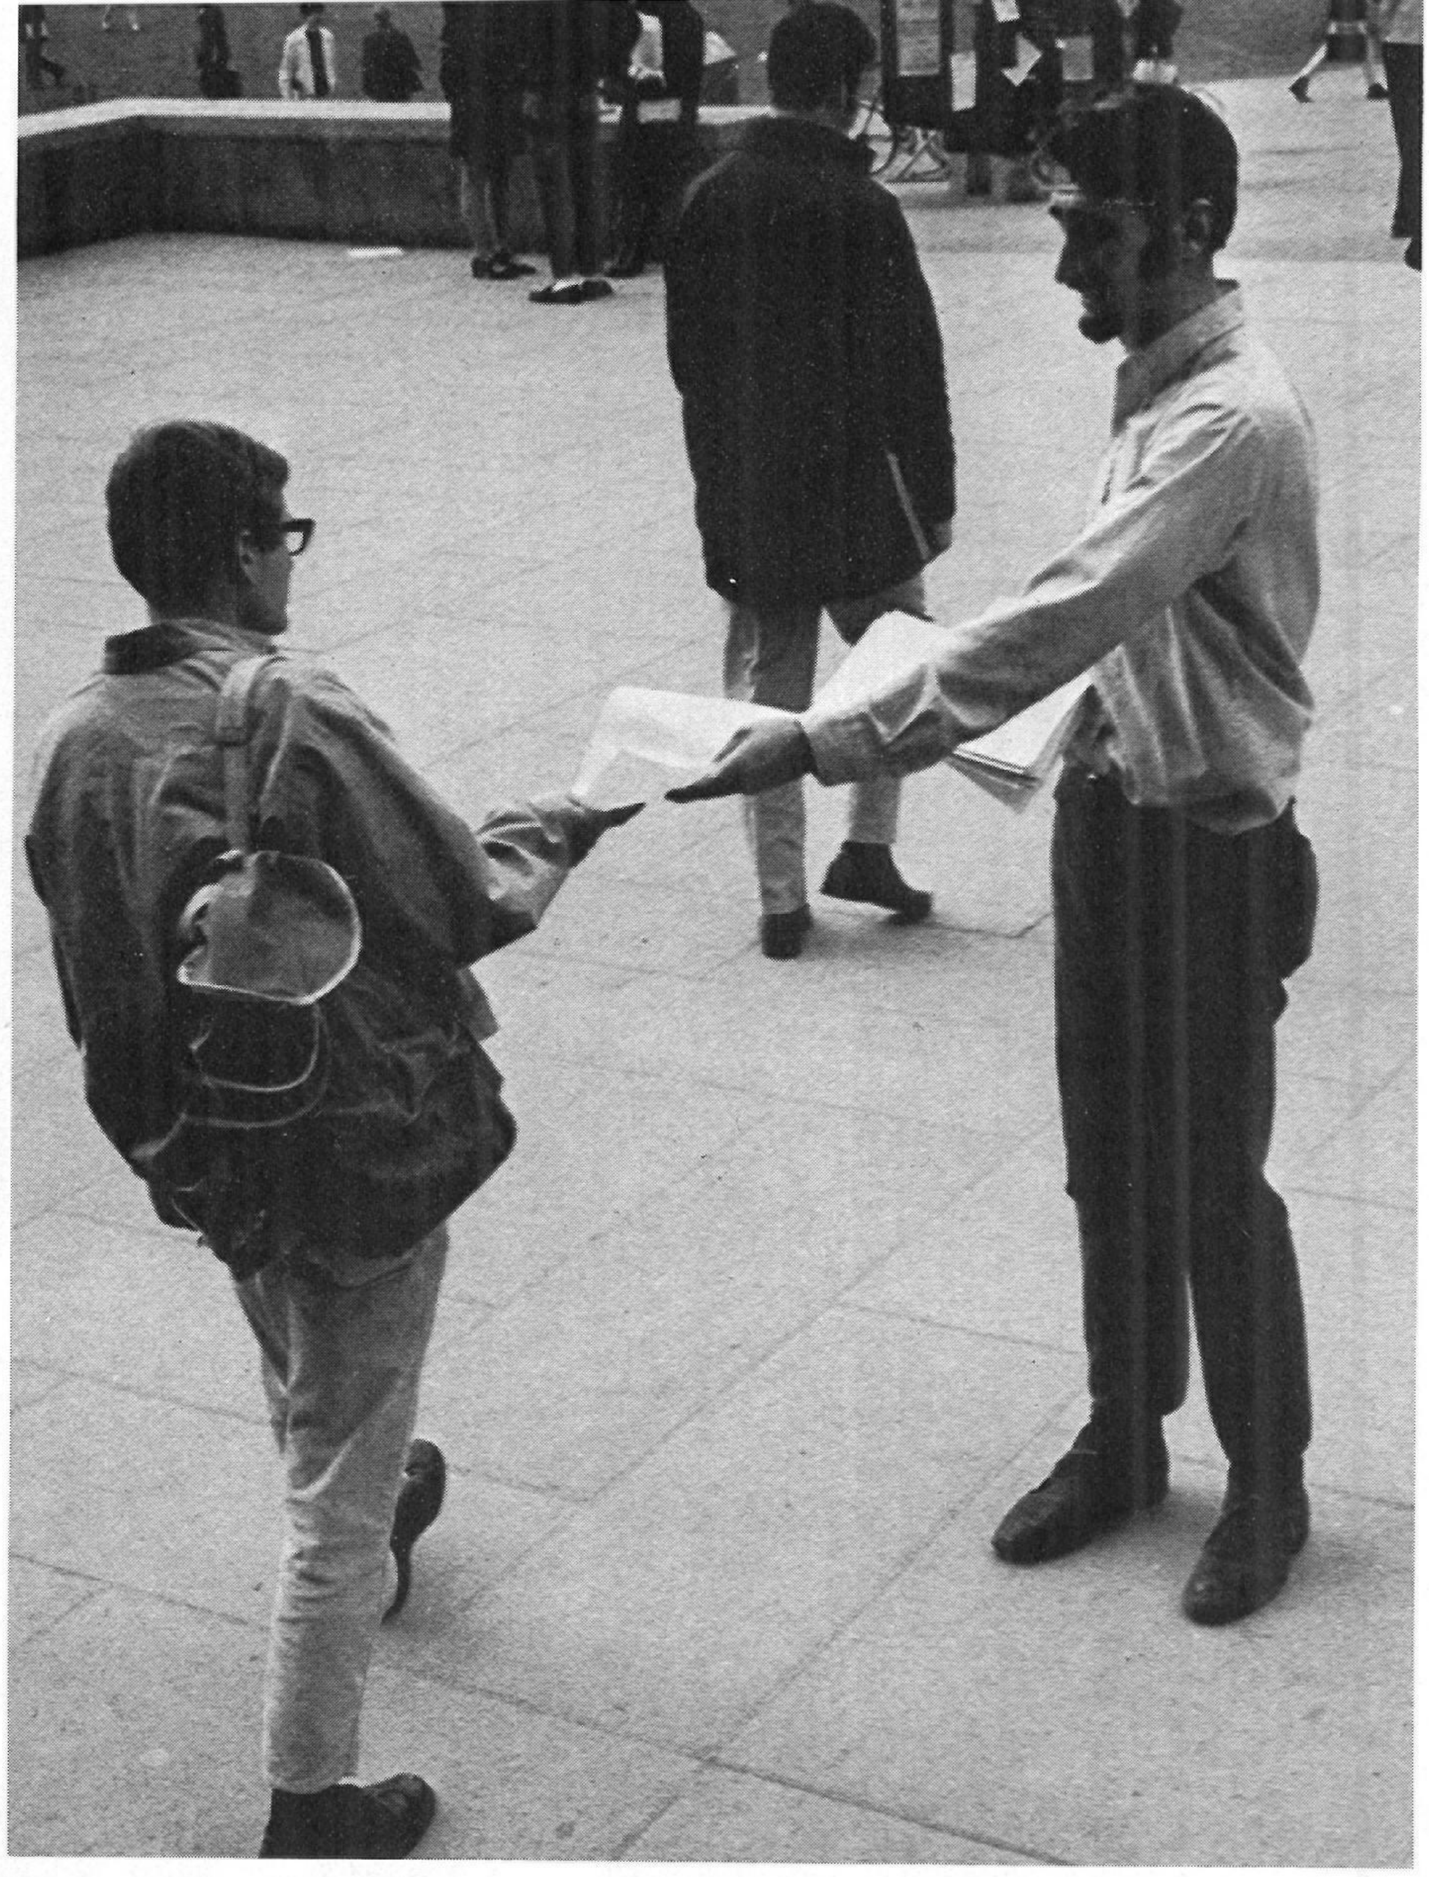

'. . . to learn is to change . . .' George B. Leonard

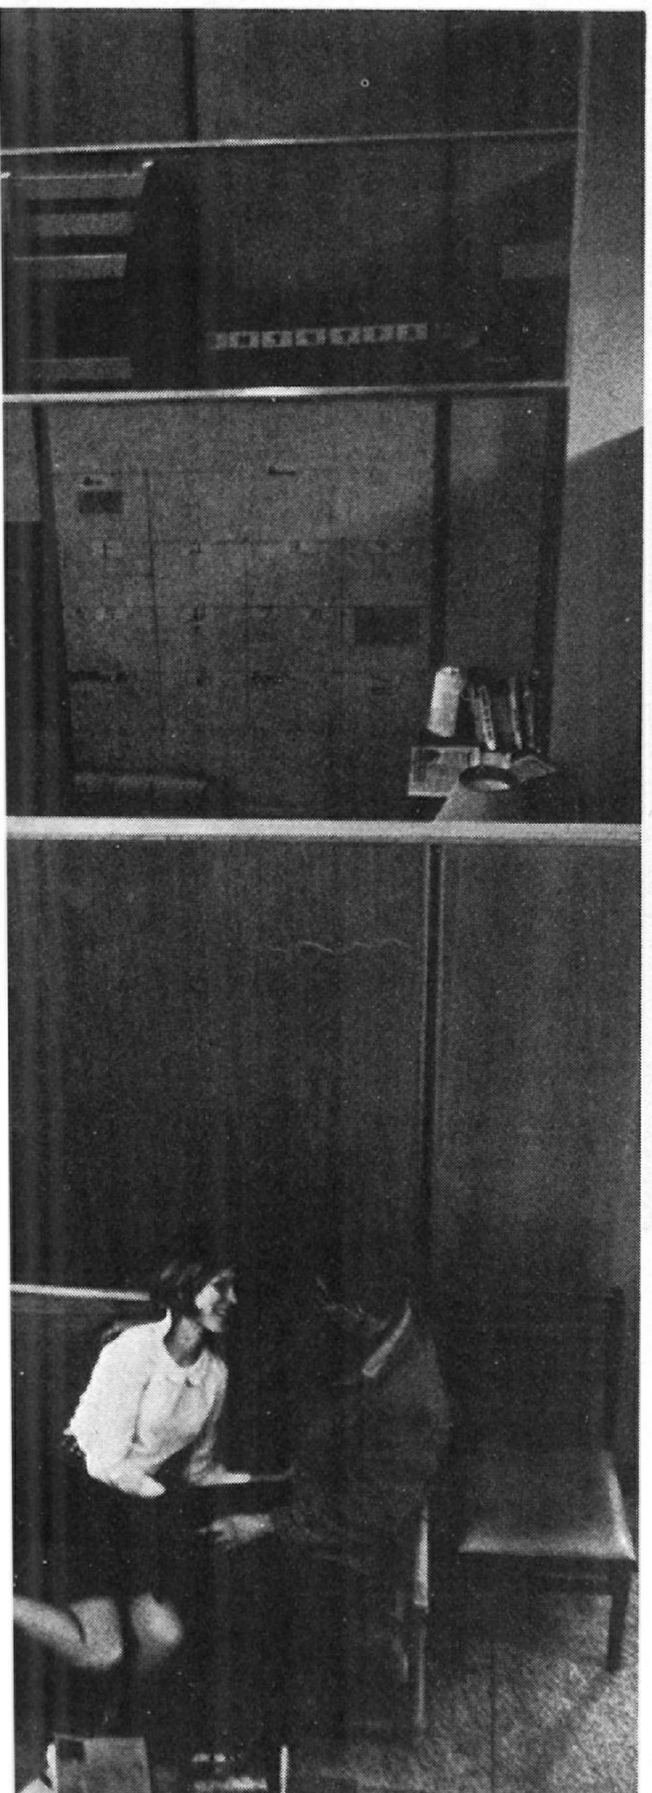

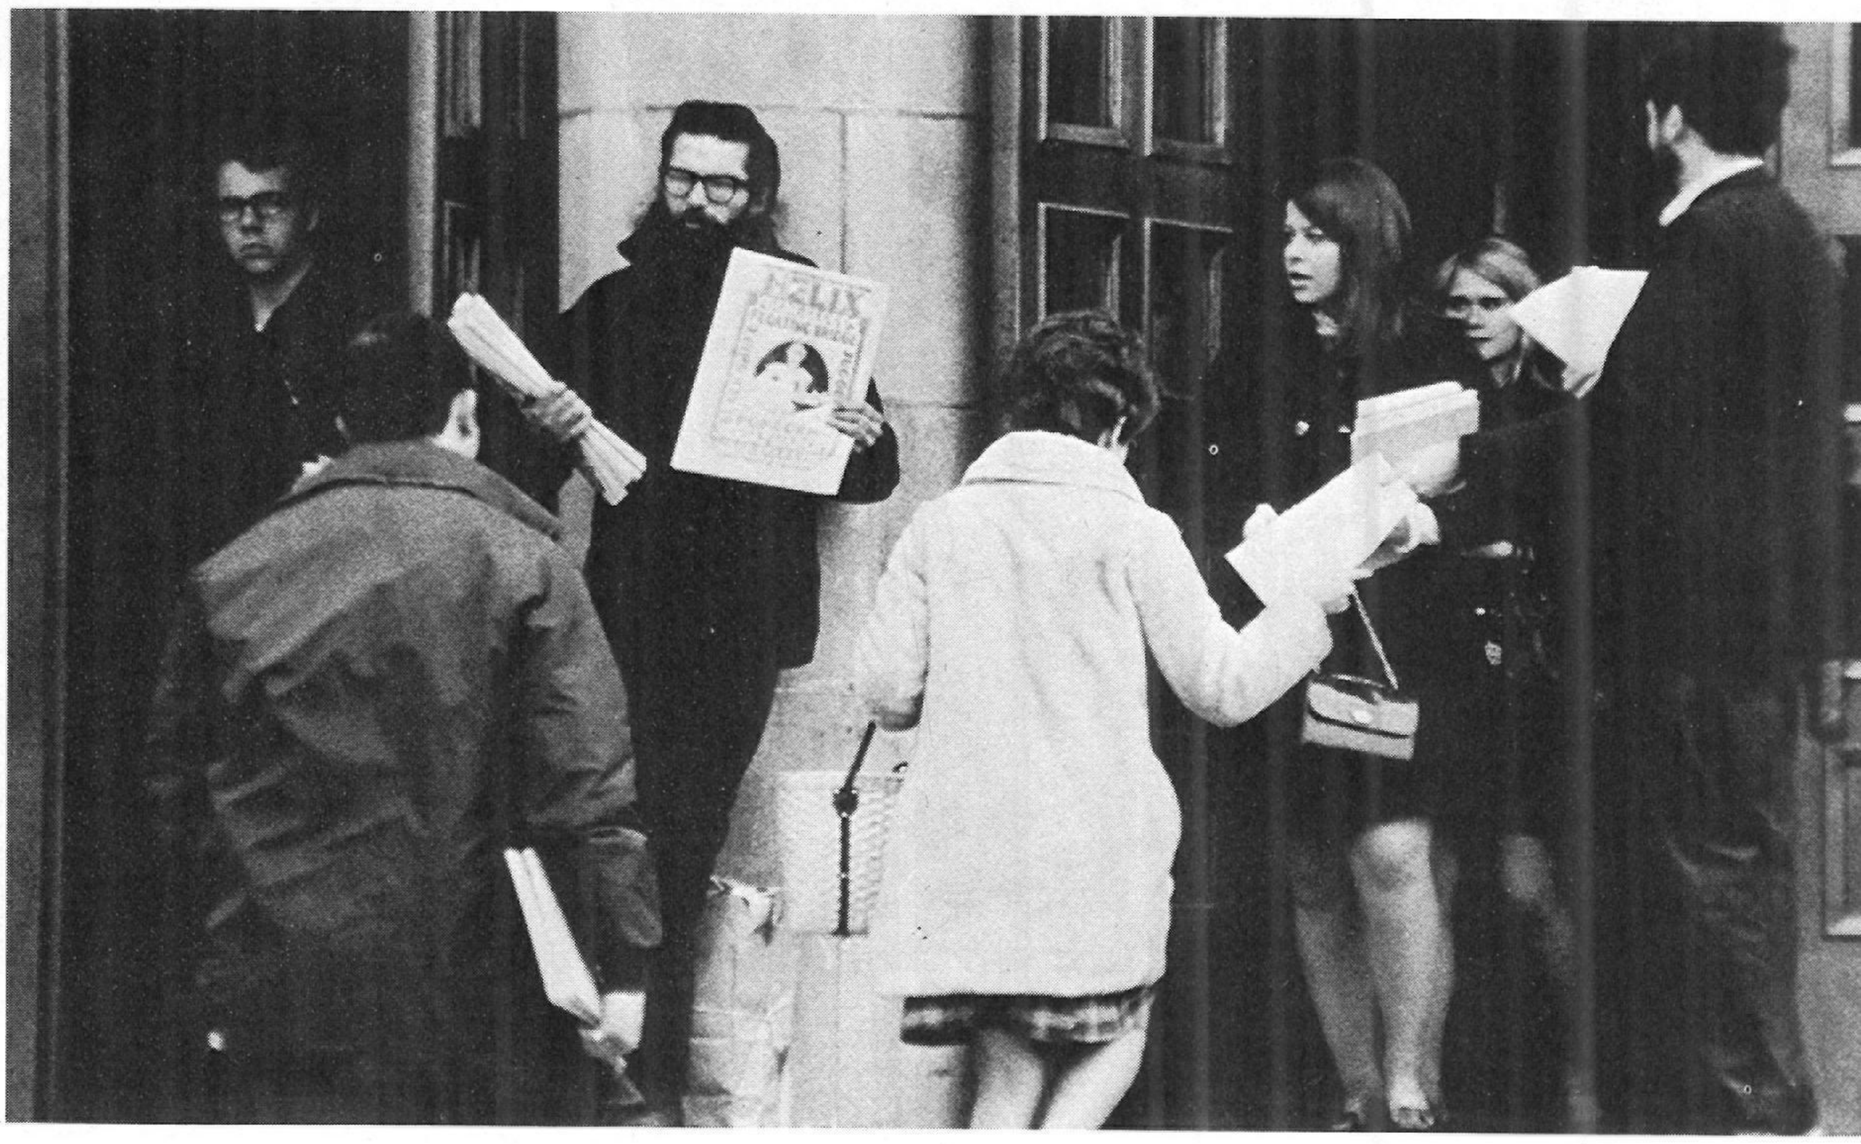

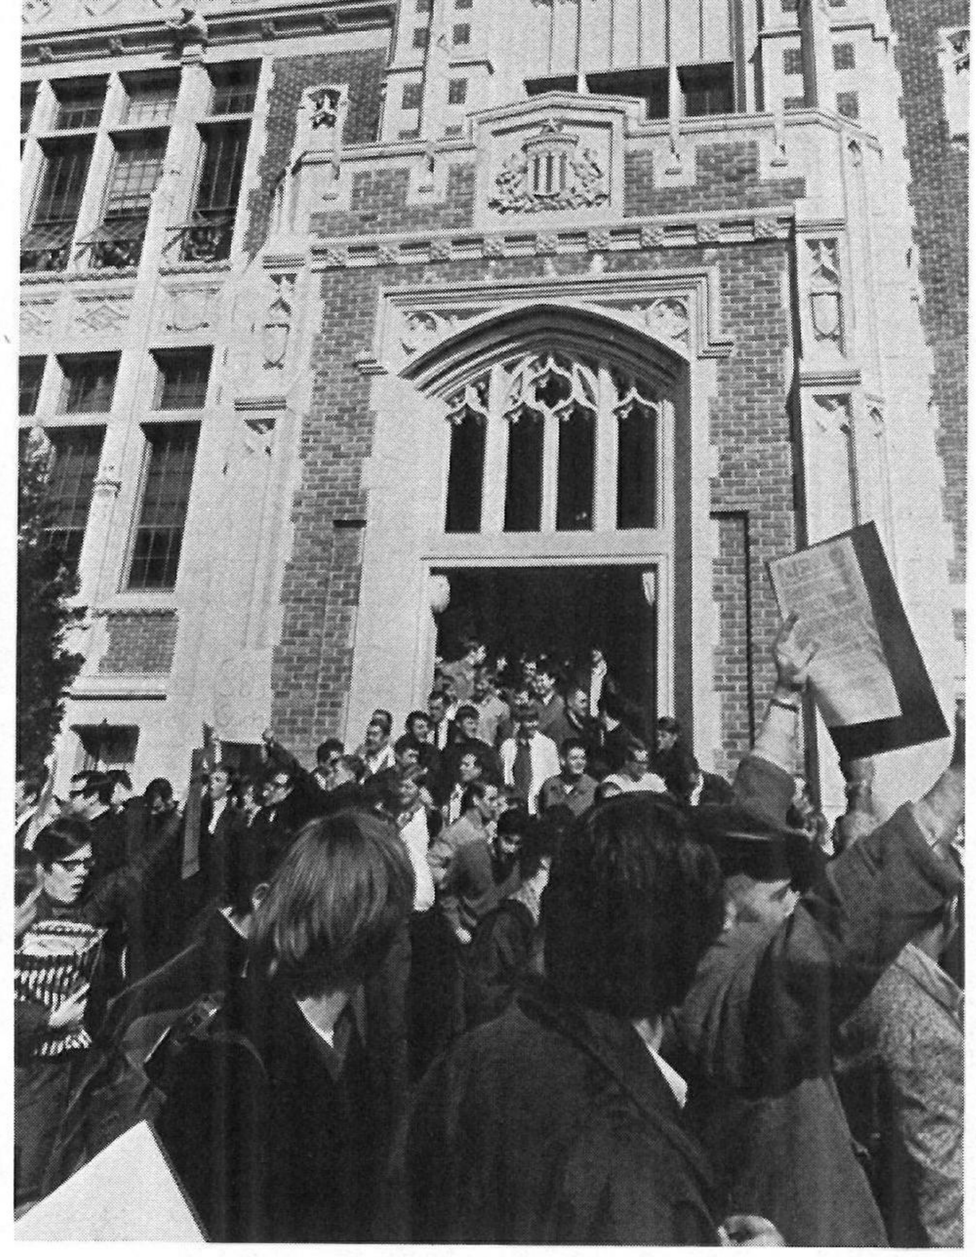

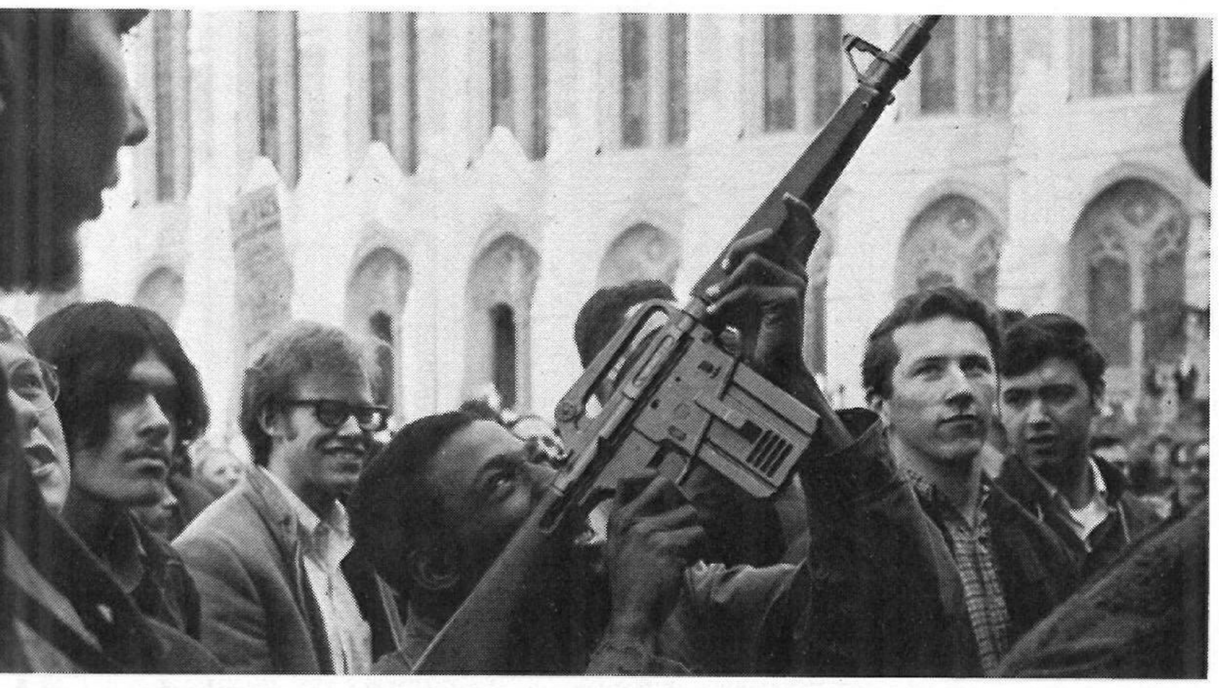

FELIX

A university education is something the student controls. If he wants to emerge from his four years here as an educated person, not a programmed person, he must consciously work—to shop around for the most stimulating courses and professors, to seek out new opinions and evaluate them, to expose himself to new situations. Sure it's scary to break away from the safe, the familiar, the known. But minds stretch only if they are forced to deal with the unknown. Personal growth comes from successfully responding to a challenge.

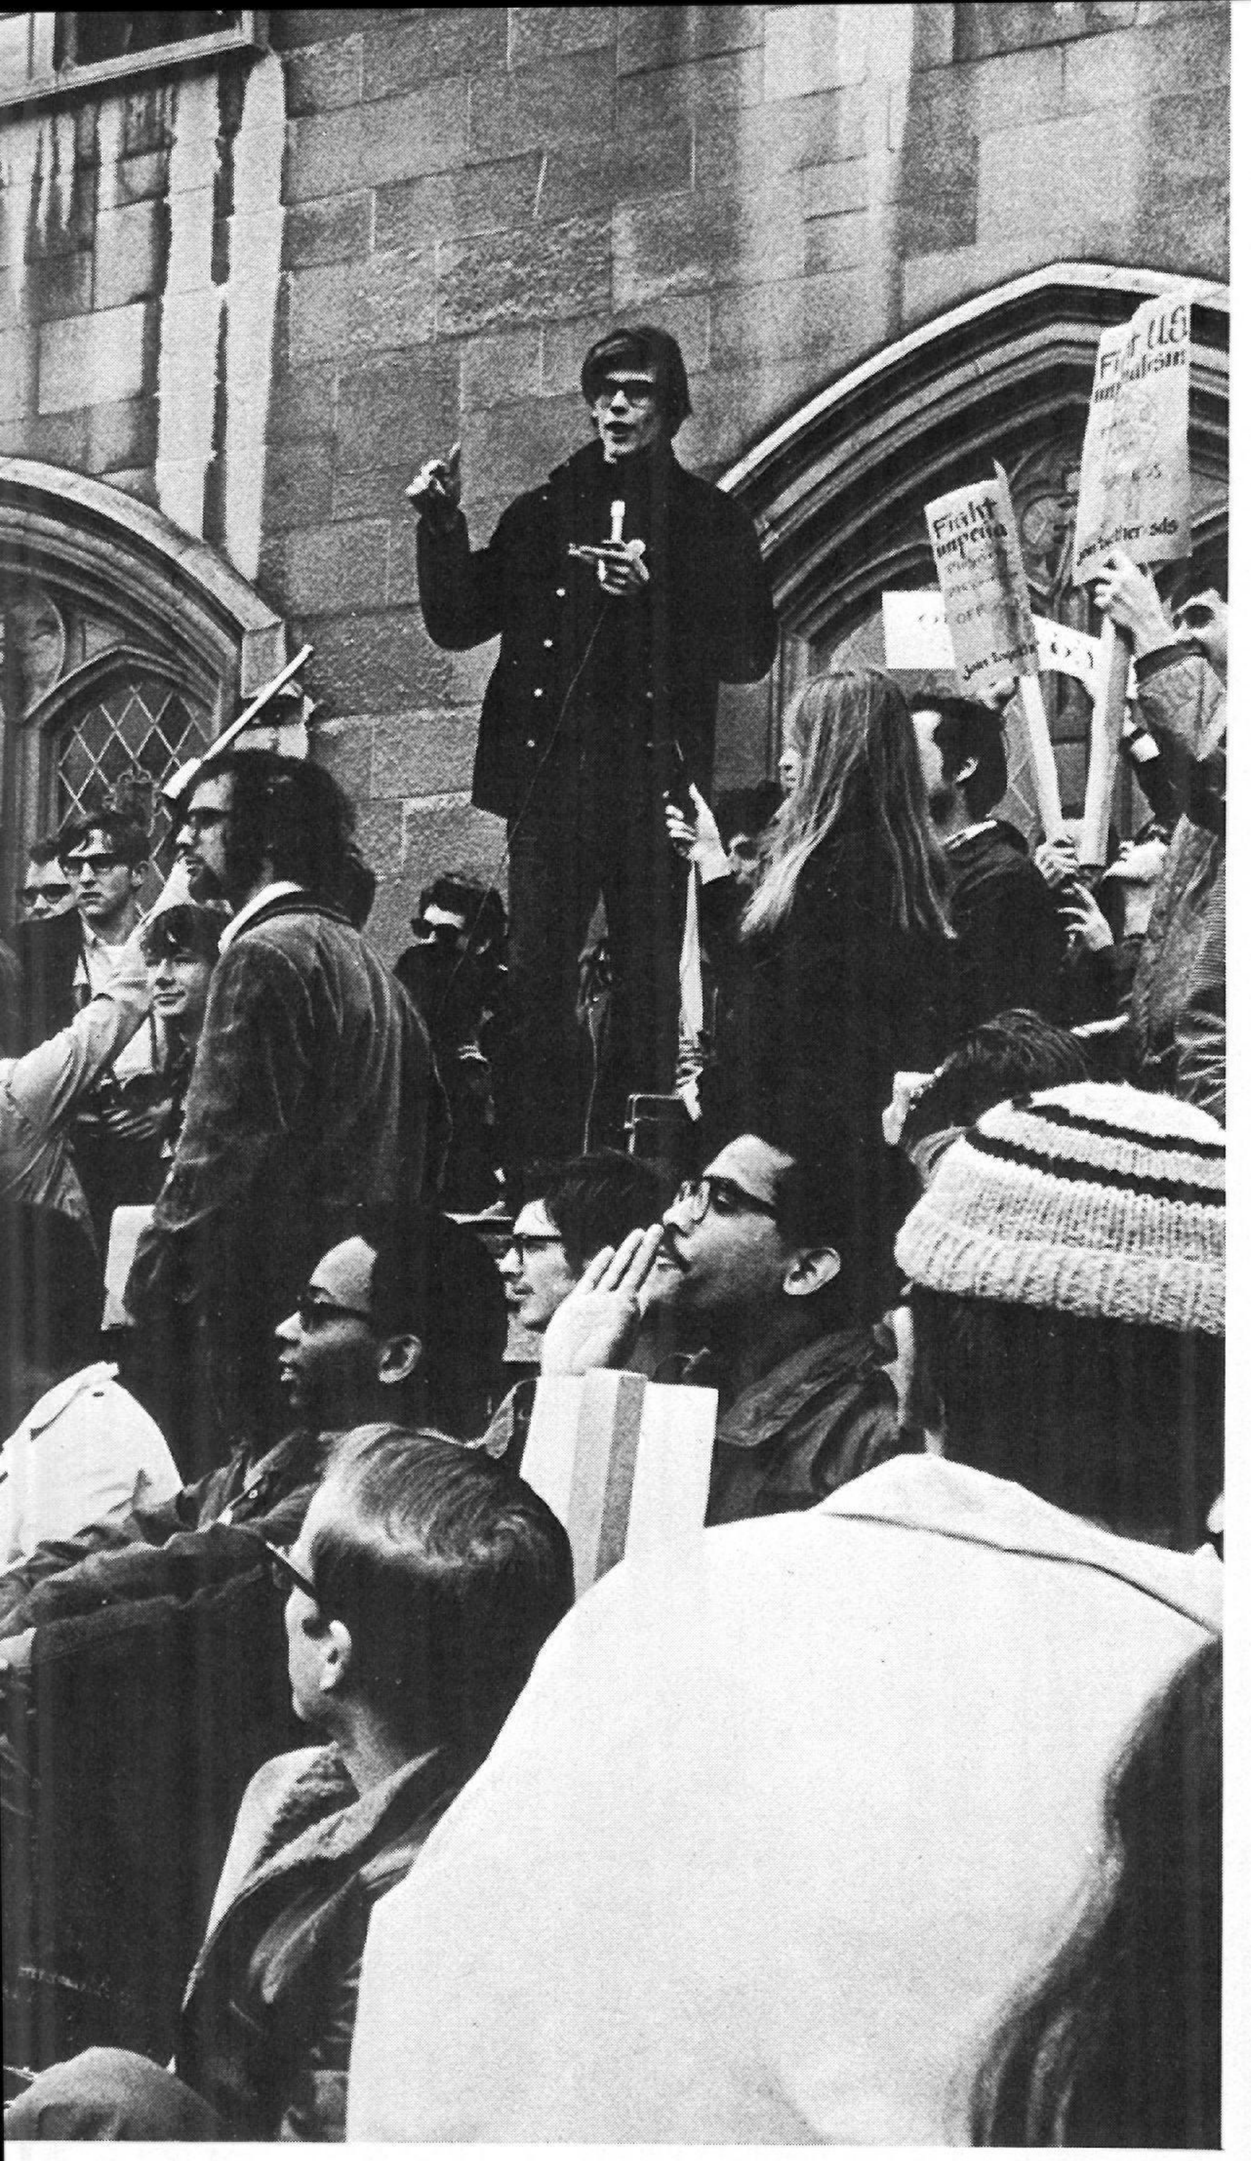

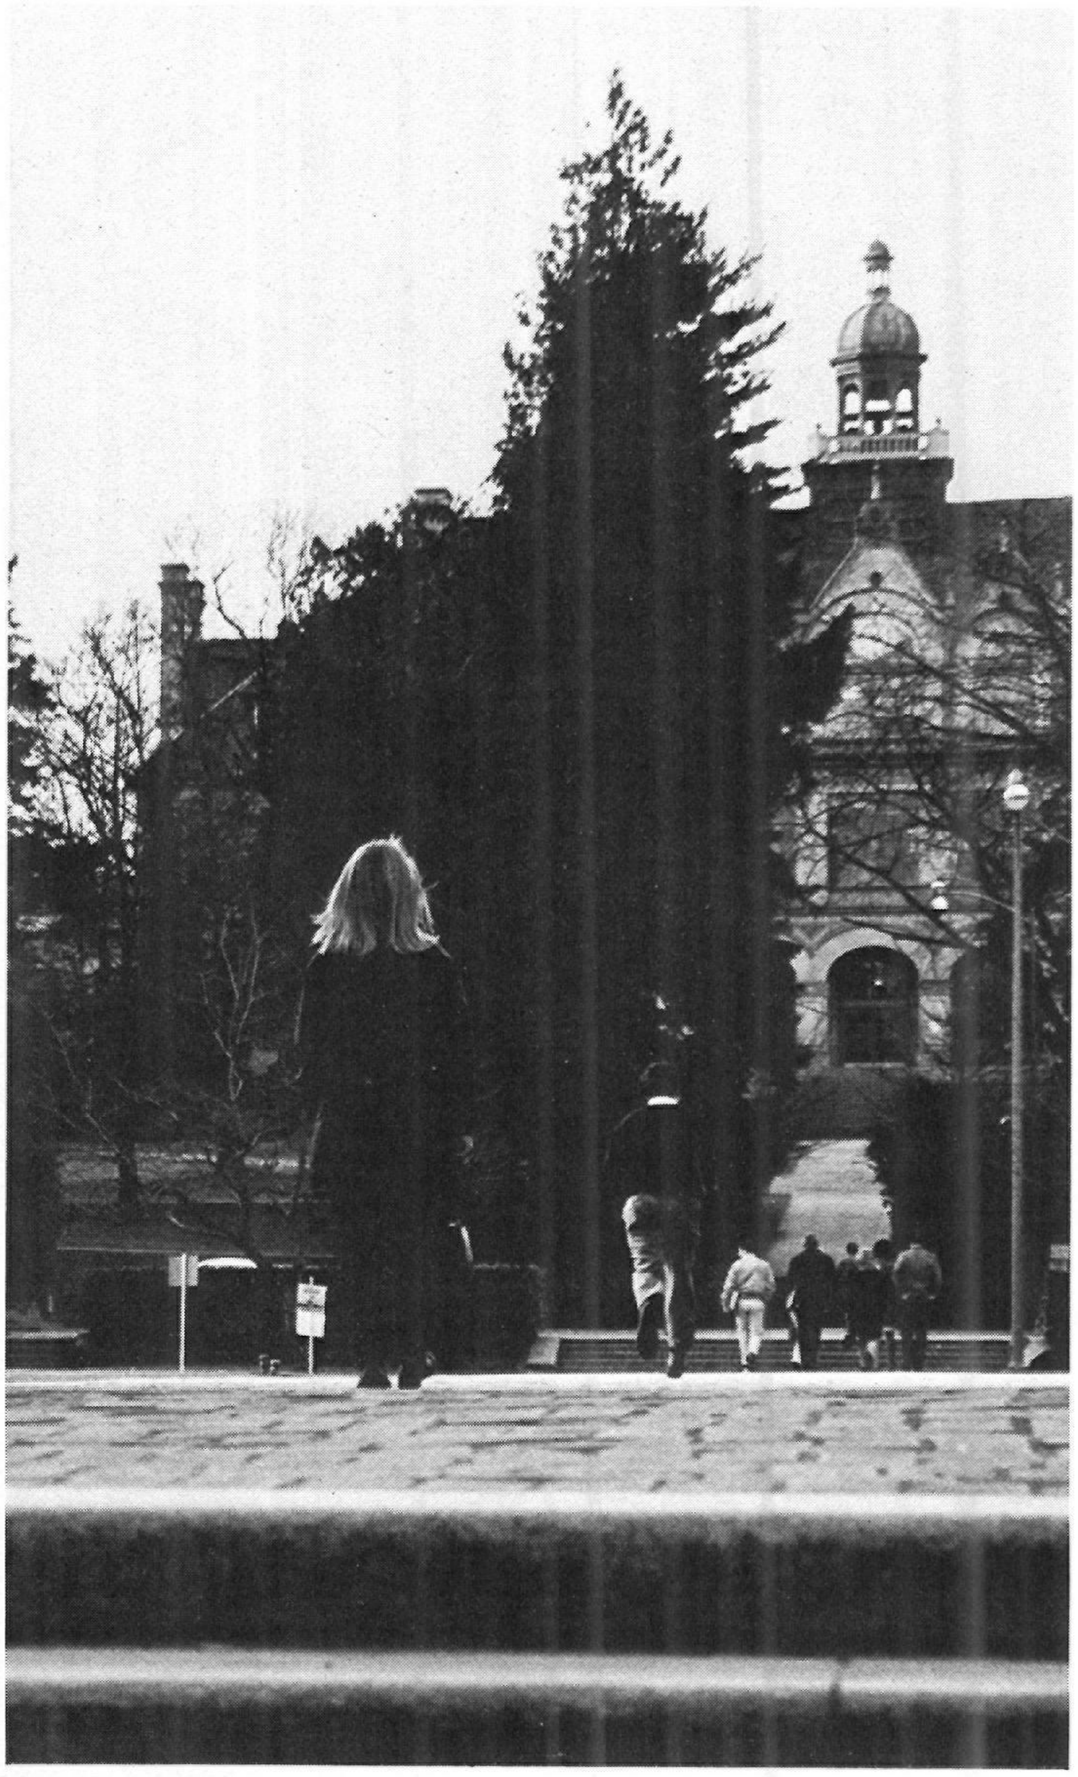

Life is other people and their ideas. The university provides a training ground where students can learn to confront life. If students start learning to think while they are here, the transition from the "university womb" to the real world is one hell of a lot easier.

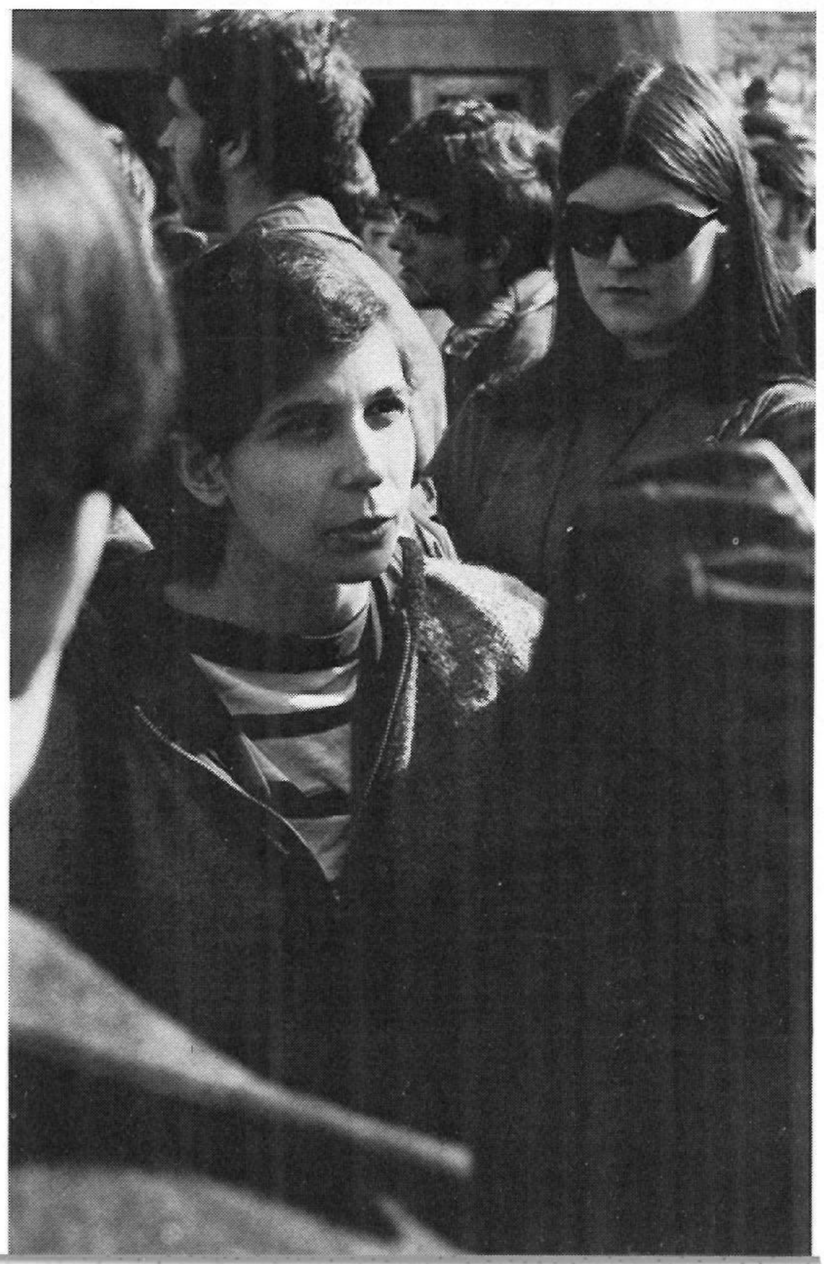

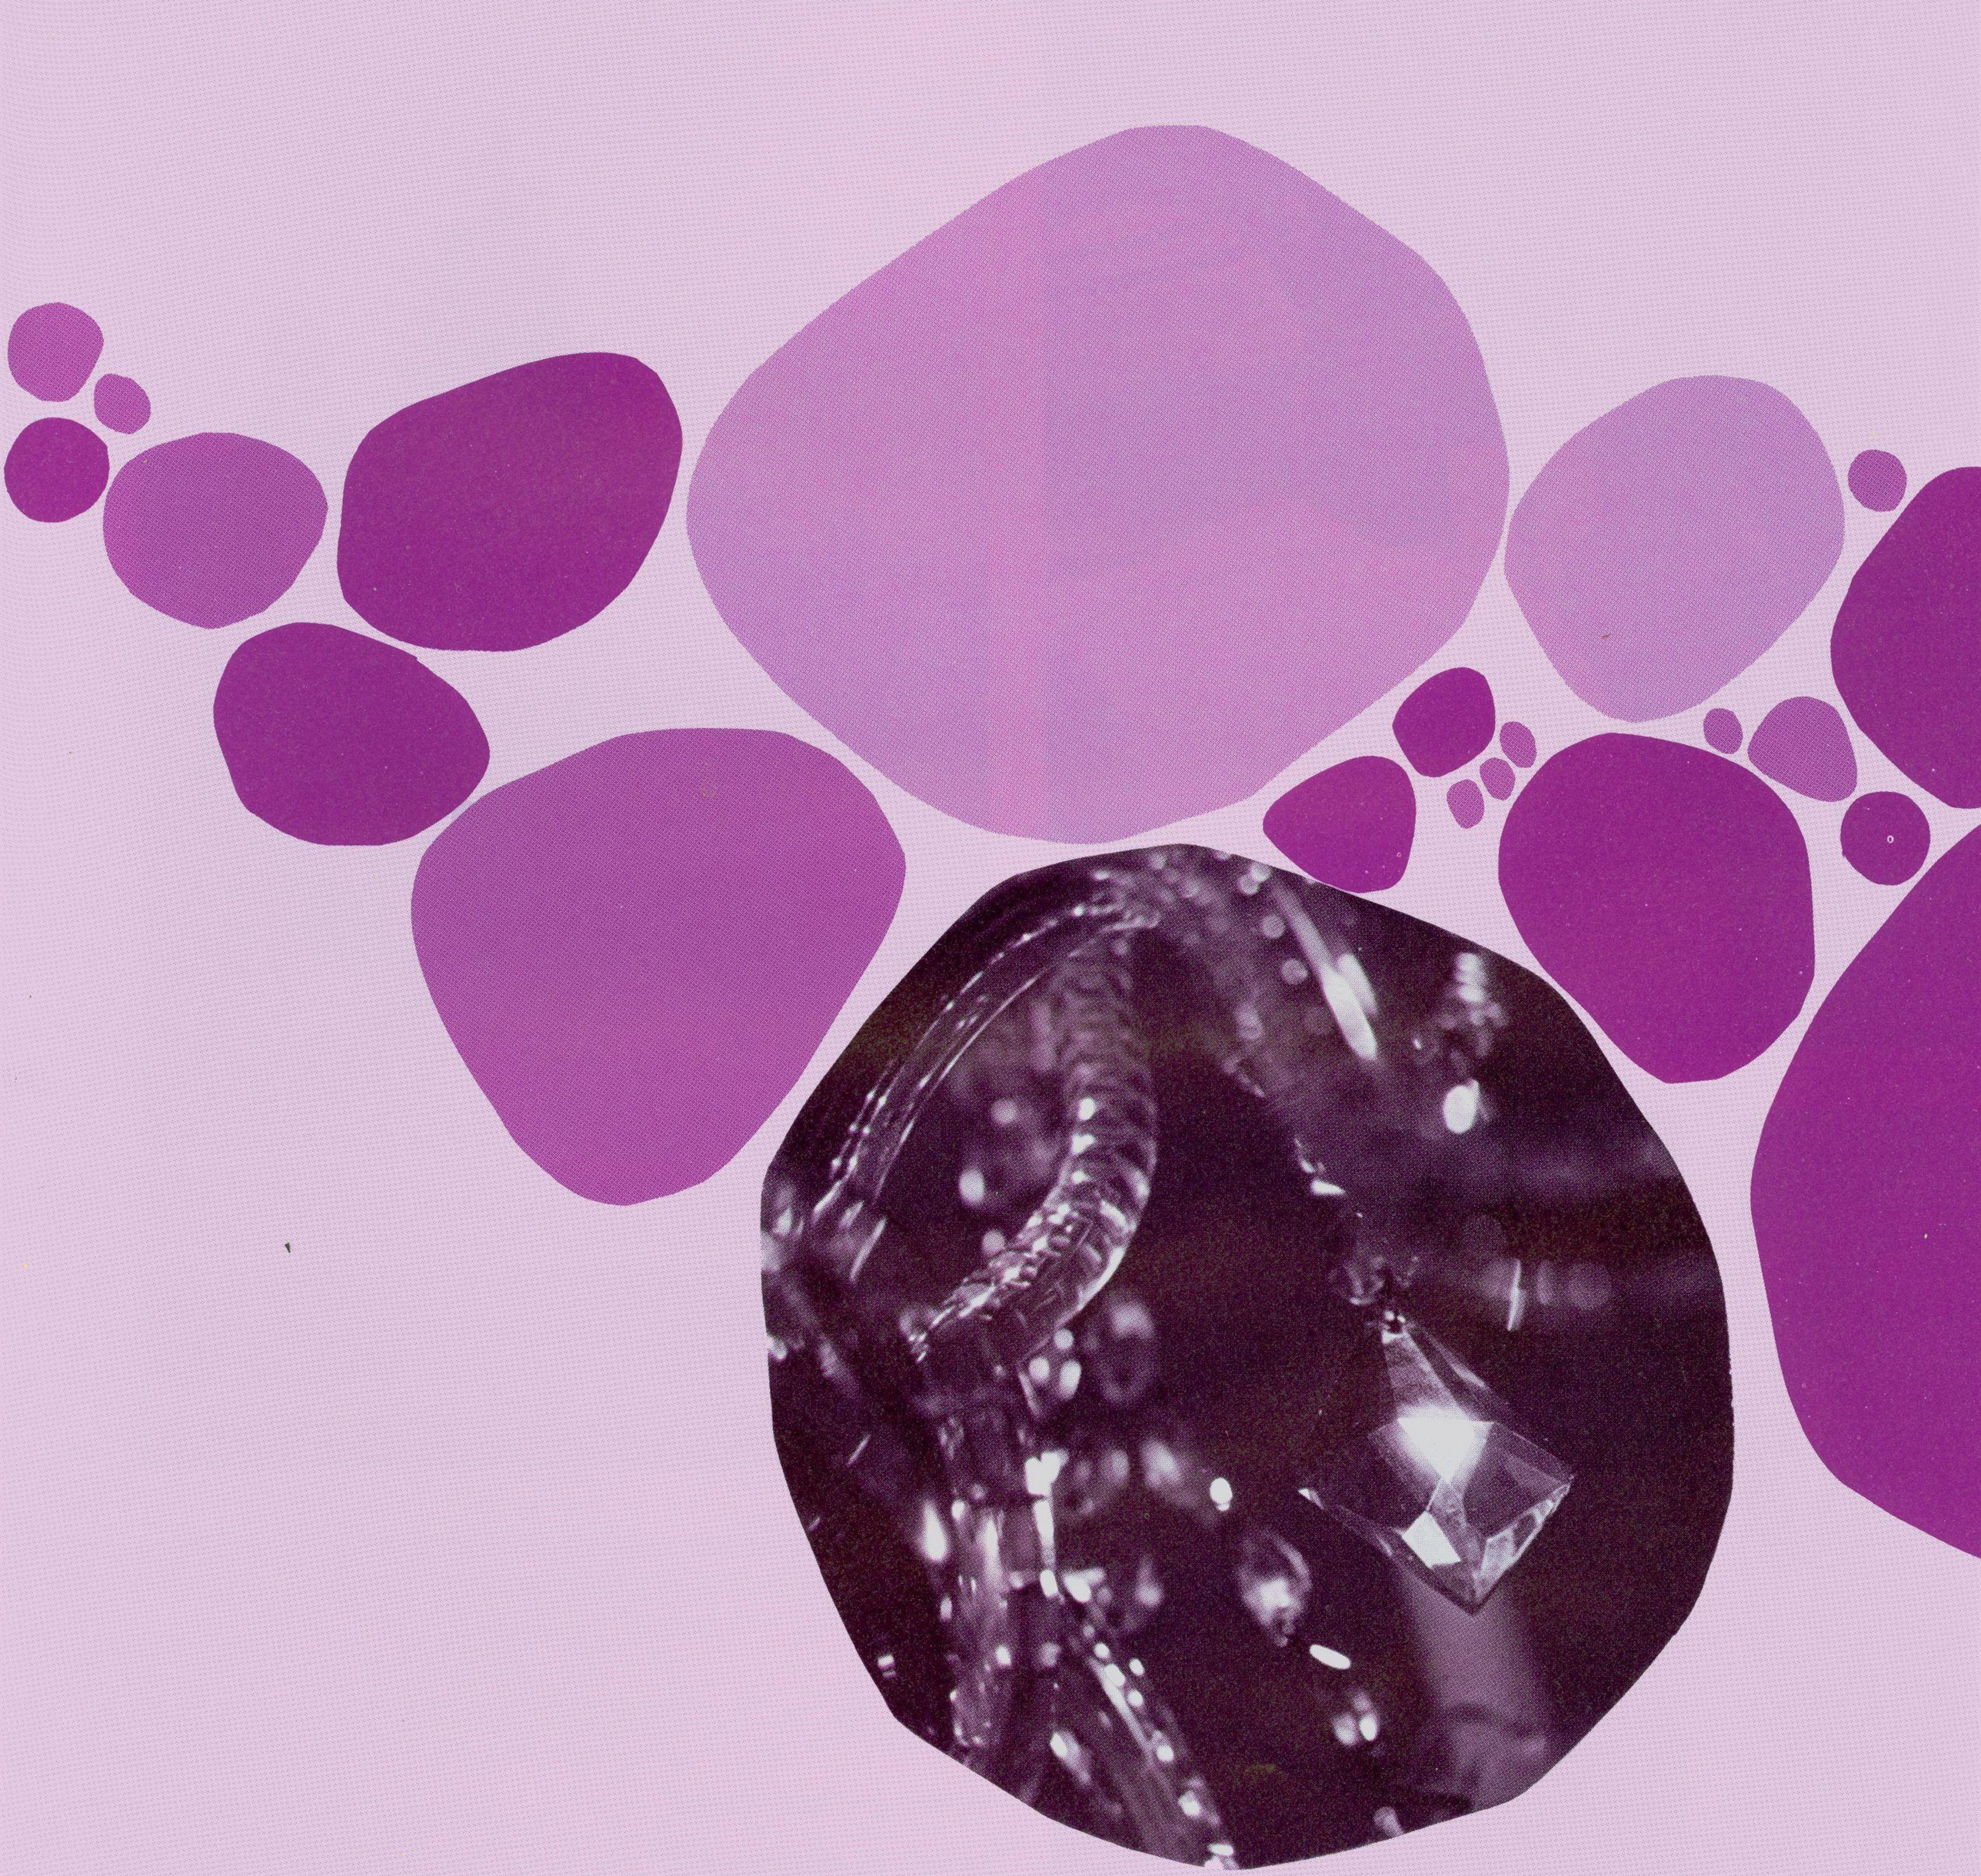

"We will consider ourselves successful if we get students to question themselves. Student awareness is student power."—S.D.S.

Odegaard
His decade. . .
A span of labor
An era of giving
The time of need for the wisdom of a man who sees and believes in the changing shape of things
To this community he devotes. . .
Ten years of masterful leadership in the University of a Thousand Years.

Dr. Charles E. Odegaard

Robert F. Philip

James R. Ellis

Our existence in this giant structure is nourished by minds that guide. Minds flexible to the demand for change, yet aware of the traditional frame upon which the University is founded. We look to these minds for guidance in knowledge and efficiency in administrative procedures.

To find such qualified men is a difficult task entrusted to the governor of our state. Along with the appointment comes the demand for time, ability and wisdom.

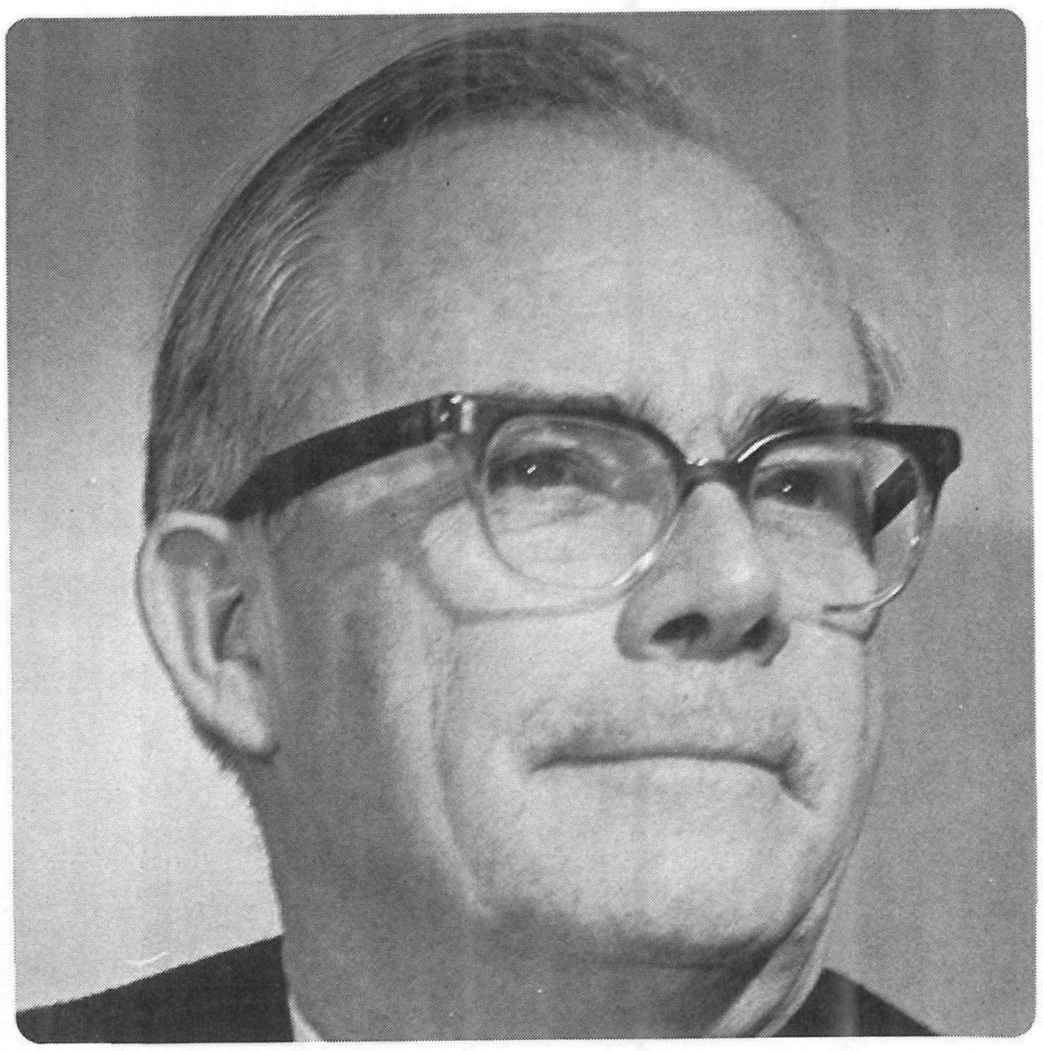

These are the men who govern our changing world.

Power of Professors Displayed in Faculty Senate

Within the governmental system of the UW, the Faculty Senate is a small, but powerful, unit. The Senate is an elected body of over one hundred members, each a teaching professor.

The six councils comprising the Senate prepare legislative proposals submitted to the entire body. These include faculty affairs such as tenure; student affairs; grants and contract research; academic standards such as admission, graduation and grading; and the community services of continuing education, extension services and other public aids.

Professors meet for monthly meetings.

Dr. Robert A. Aldrich, Chairman.

Dr. Kenneth M. McCaffree, Vice Chairman.

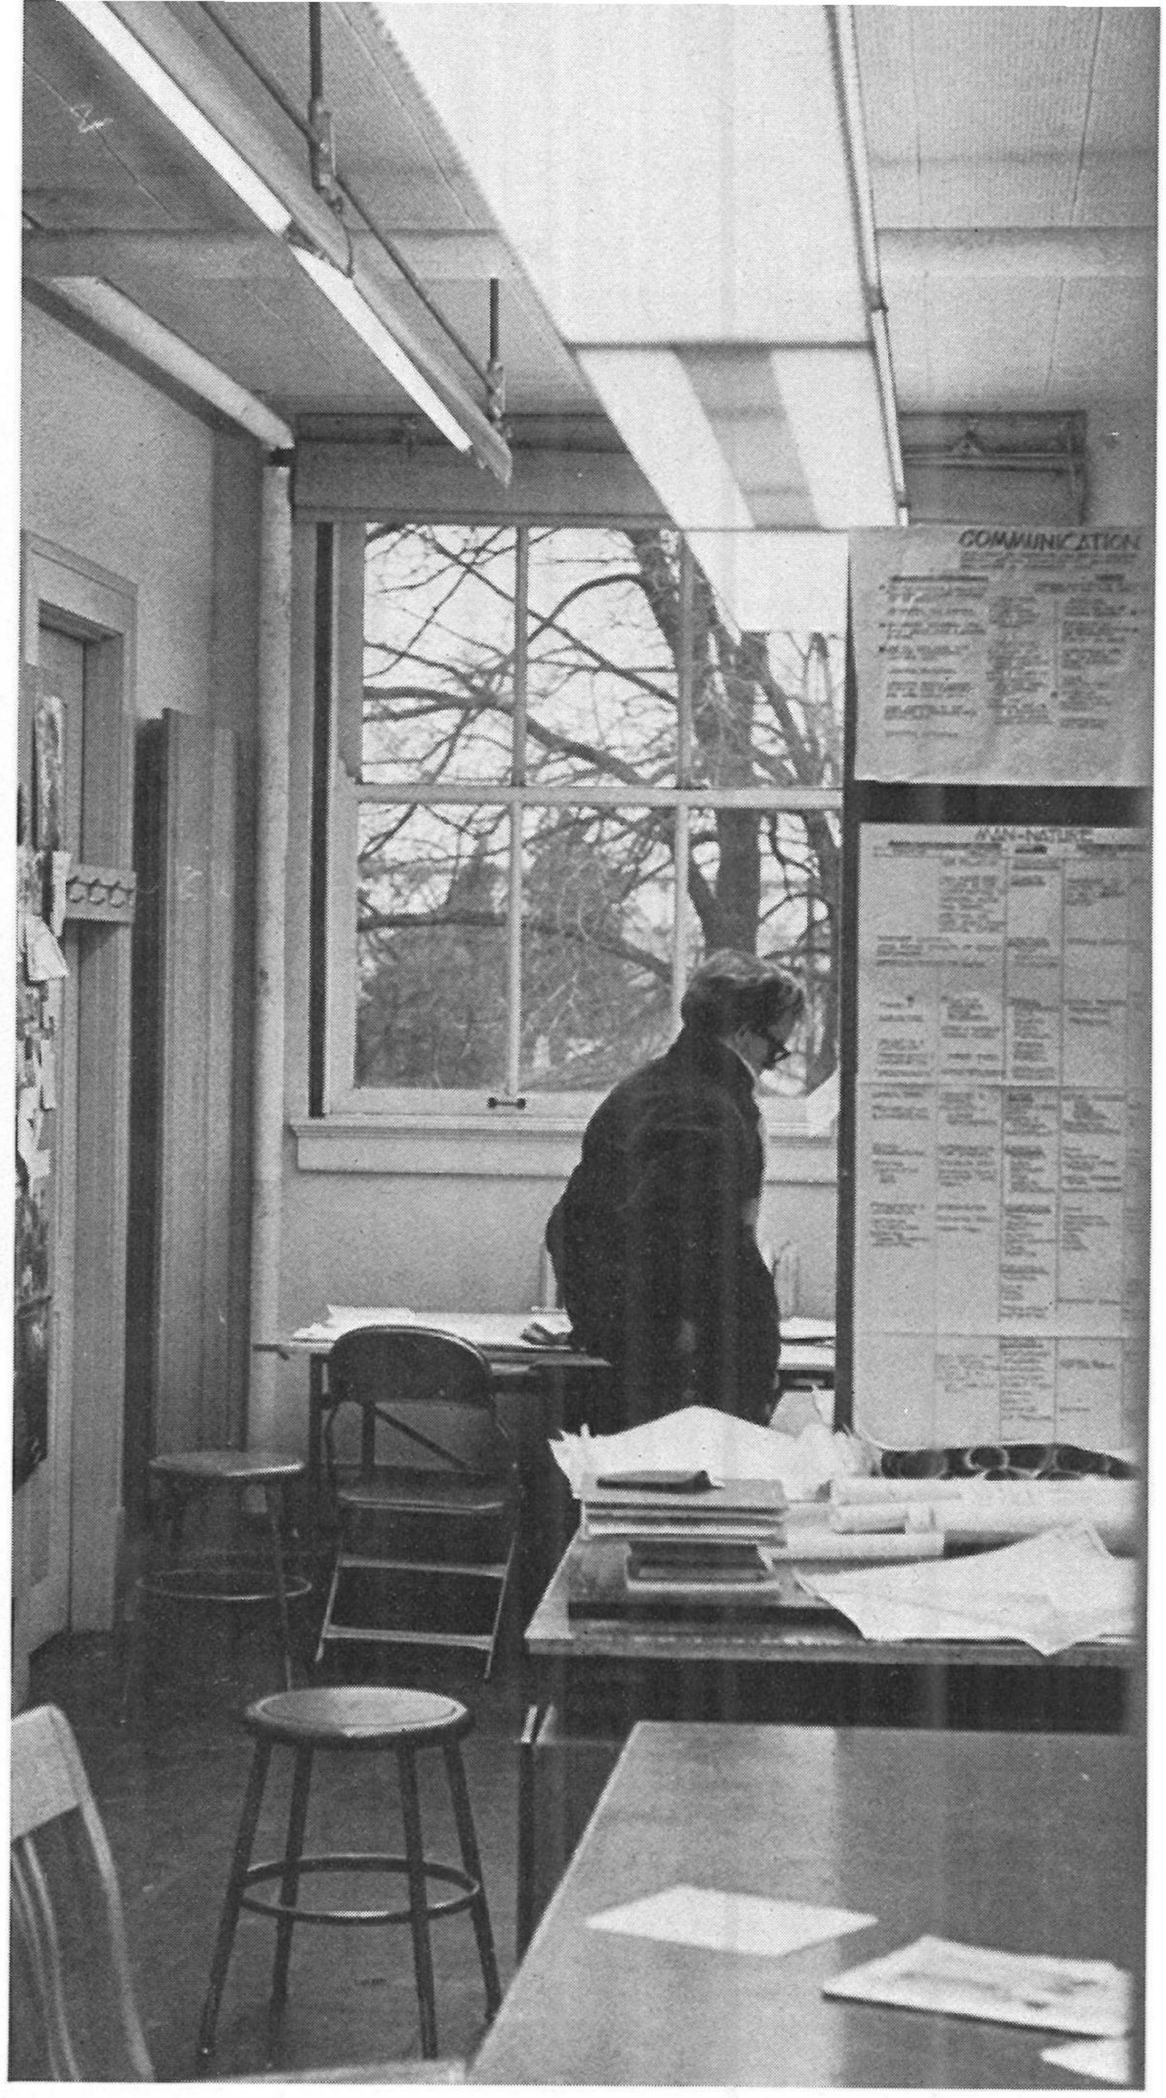

Dr. Oliver W. Nelson, Secretary.

Dean Robert H. Dietz

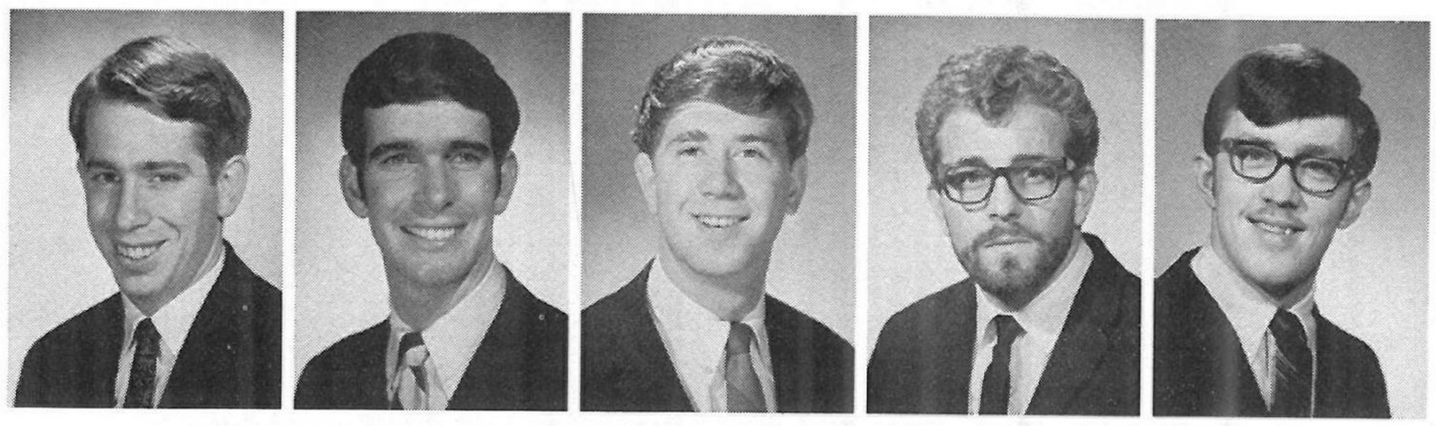

The School of Architecture is undergoing a gradual and continual change to fulfill the school's objective of meeting the altering needs of the profession. To accomplish this goal in response to demands, flexibility is stressed in planning. The old five-year program required to receive a Bachelor of Architecture is now obsolete, having been replaced by a newly instituted six-year program which will eliminate Bachelor degrees and award a Master of Architecture upon graduation.

Arts and Sciences View the Changing Shape of Things

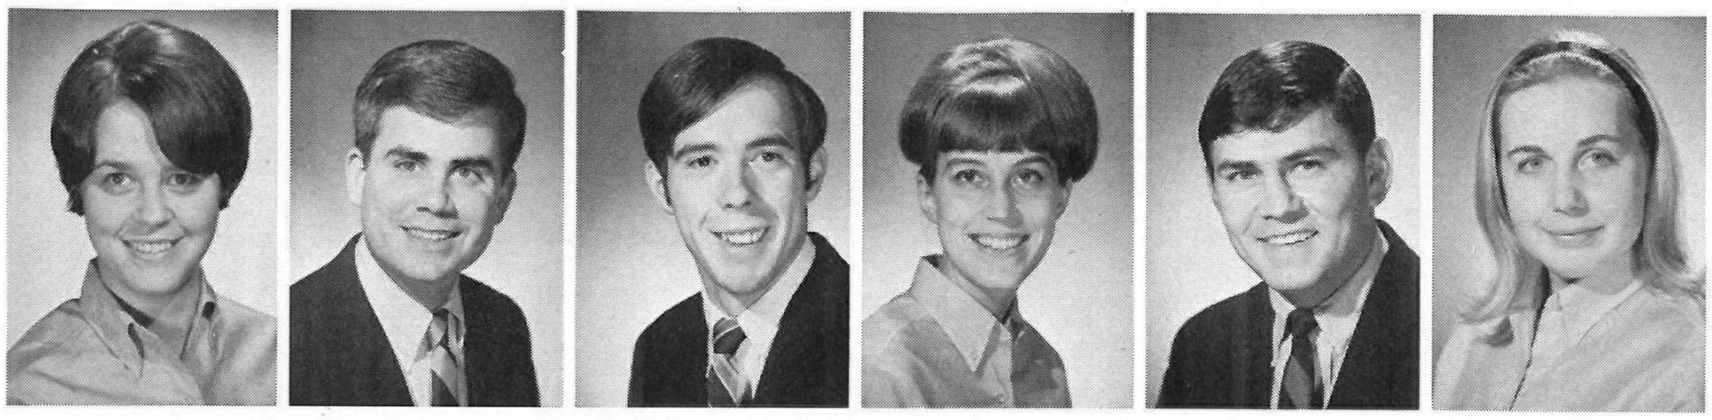

Incorporating more than one-third of the university's thriving population, the College of Arts and Sciences braids diversity with unity. From within comes the opportunity to choose from threads of knowledge ranging from African culture to Zen Buddism. Mathematics and Spanish, worlds apart, sometimes appear on the same schedule.

The unification of art and science in one college is achieved through the weaving of old and new. The faculty ranges from T.A.'s to Ph.D.'s, the buildings from Denny Hall to Loew Hall, and the grading system from a numerical basis to pass-fail.

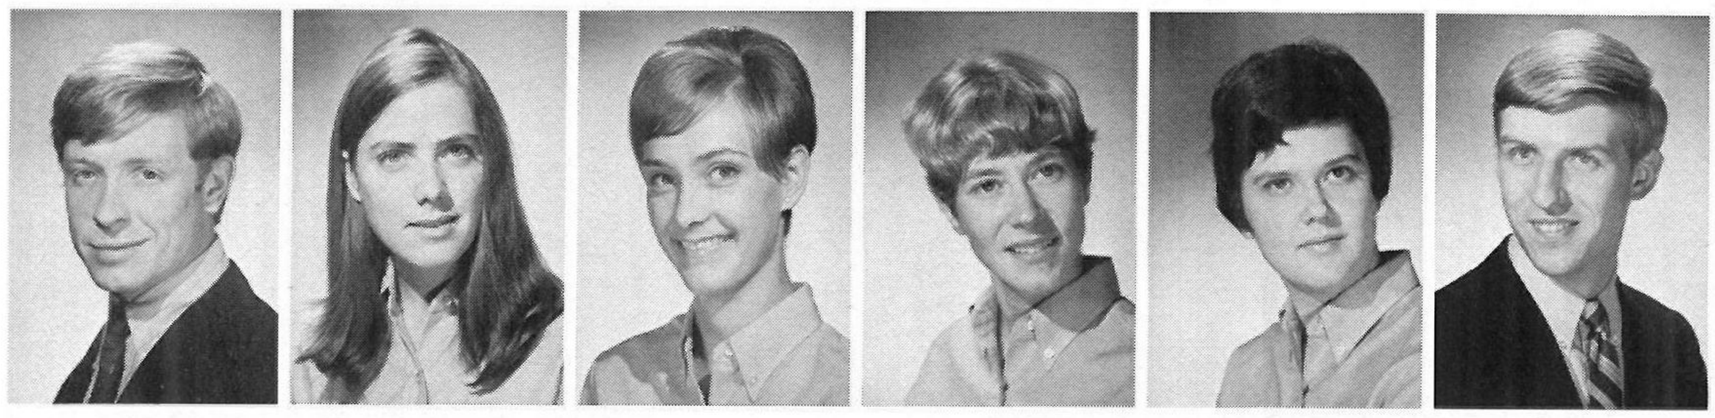

The arts, the sciences—an eye toward the changing shape of things.

Balmer Hall is the center of business activity.

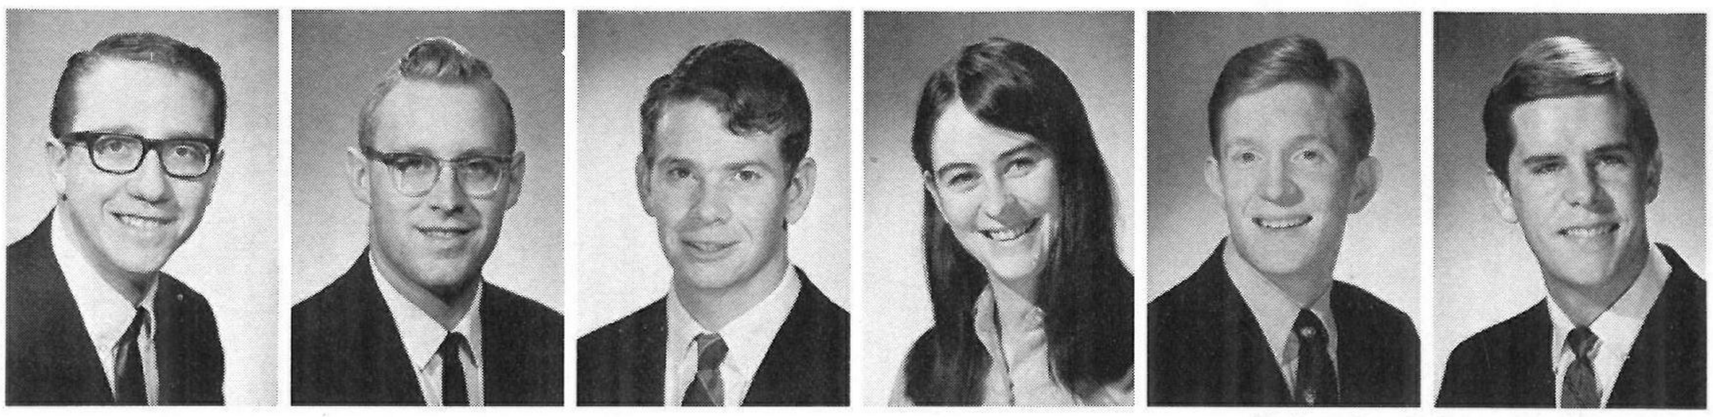

Dean Kermit O. Hanson

Business: A Revolution in Method

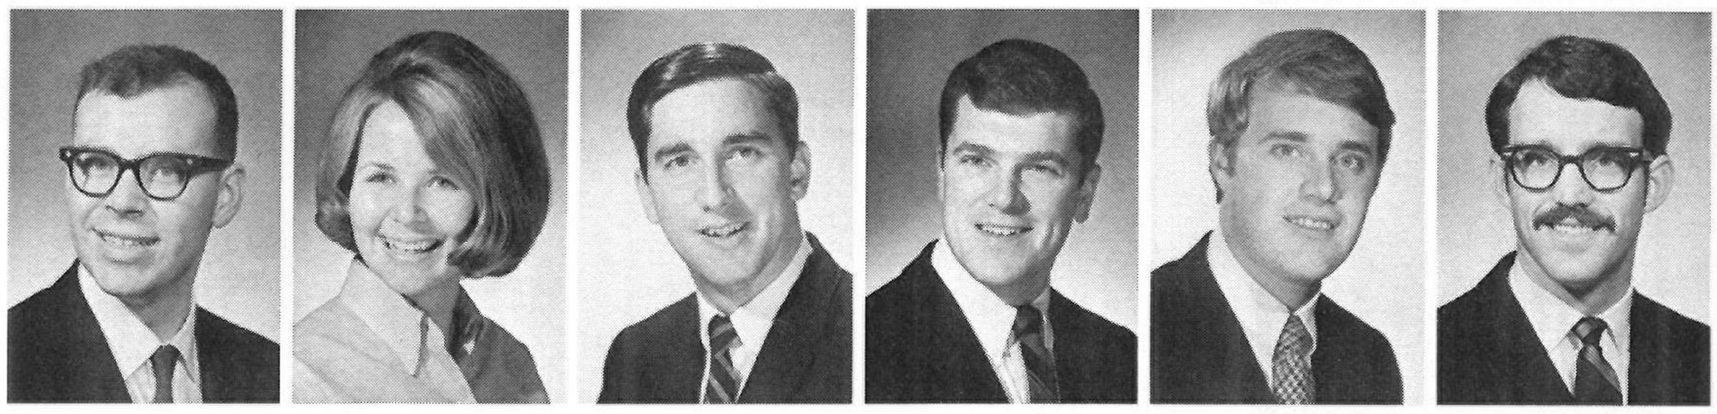

The School of Business stands as an example of revolutionary ideas—new thoughts and new machines. With the advent of electric typewriters, computers, duplicators and electric circuitry comes a more rapid way to handle data.

Using the philosophy of more effective communication, the school offers limitless areas of study in accounting, business, government-society, finance, marketing, operations management, qualitative methods and transportation.

For the first time, the class presidents in the School of Dentistry joined the faculty this year in a two-day discussion of objectives and methods of dental education. The conference was held at Pack Forest, the forestry school's chief experimental station.

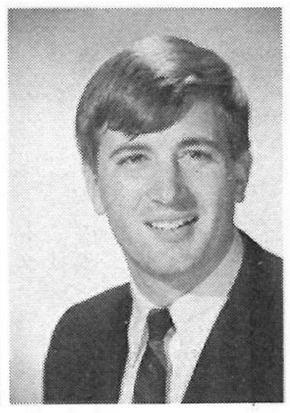

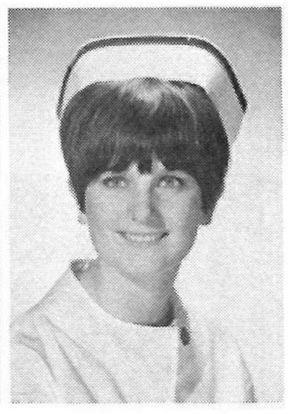

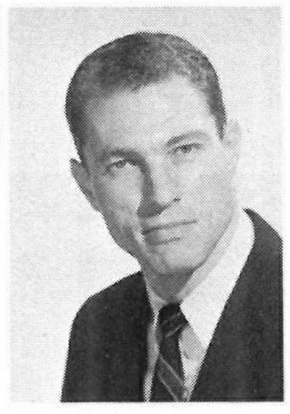

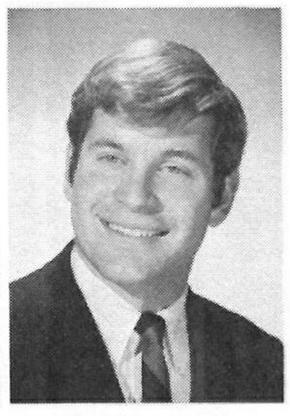

The University offers the only bachelor's degree program in dental hygiene in the state. While hygienists can be trained in clinical skills in a two-year program (a number of these are being developed in community colleges), the University graduates furnish the reservoir from which the teachers for the new programs can be drawn.

Today's Educator

Must Satisfy

Hungry New Minds

The immense progress of mankind in the past half century is due primarily to the educational revolution. The educator of today is responsible for keeping pace with the growing expanse of human knowledge, and for transferring and interpreting essential elements needed by an increasingly aware younger generation.

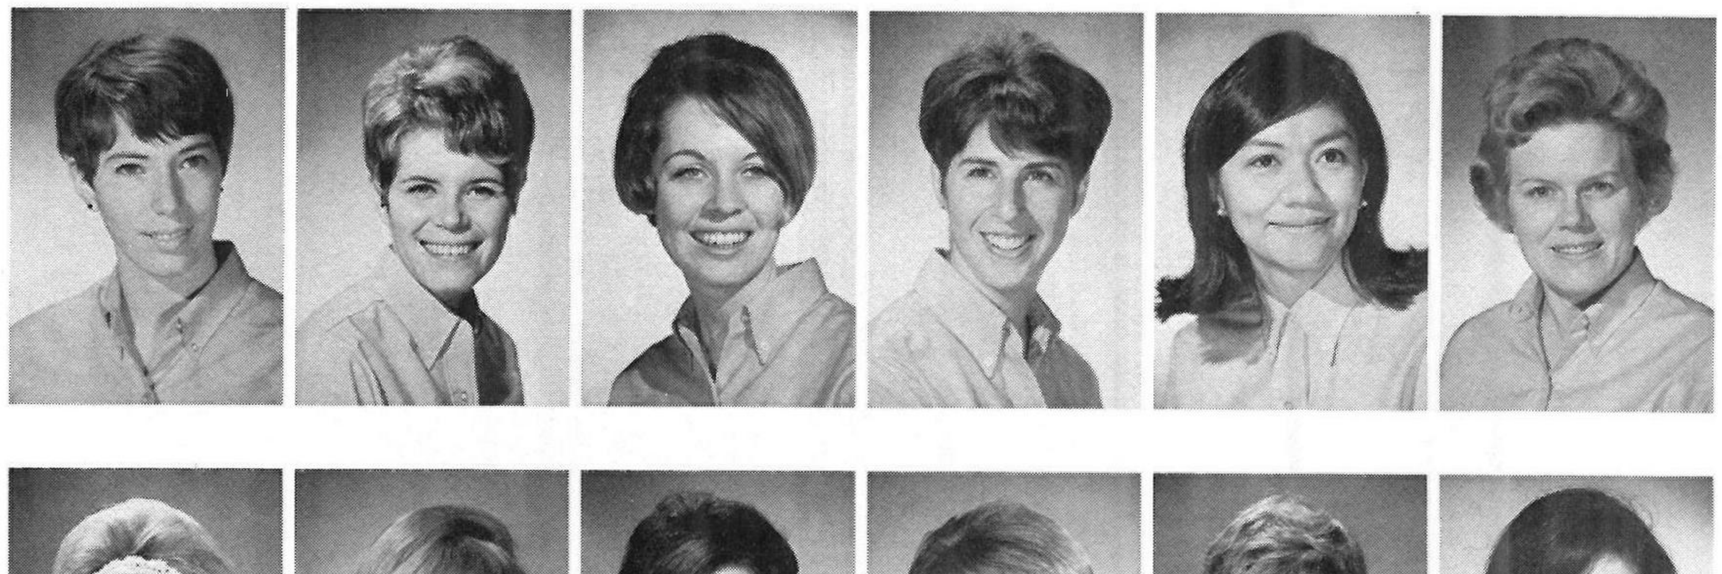

The students in the College of Education are attempting to meet this demand. Under the leadership of some of America's most informed educators, the men and the women in this college are well equipped to teach and guide our succeeding scholars.

Bridging the Generation Gap Is a Full Time Job

Accuracy and Eagerness Help Form the Engineer

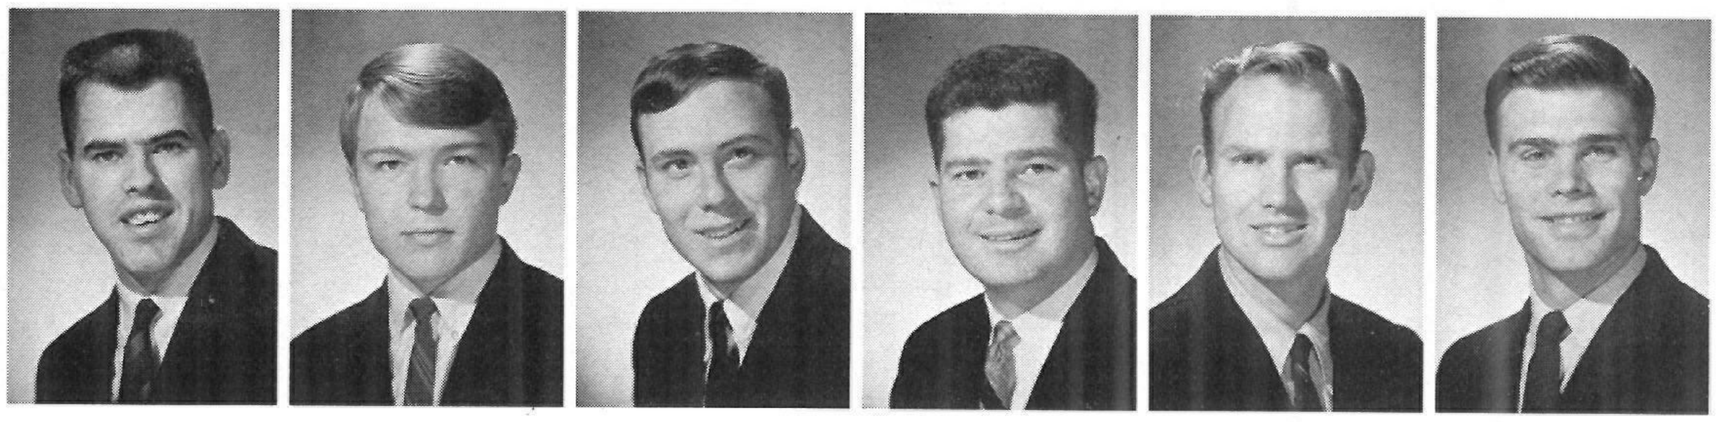

Somewhere among equations and computers emerges the engineer, eager to gain insight into today's world and striving to test his talents and abilities. The College of Engineering offers many opportunities for its students. One of the newest, adopted this fall, is an optional co-operative work-study program, combining industrial employment with academic training. In addition, a two-year grant from the National Science Foundation opened up an avenue to finding new and better computer language.

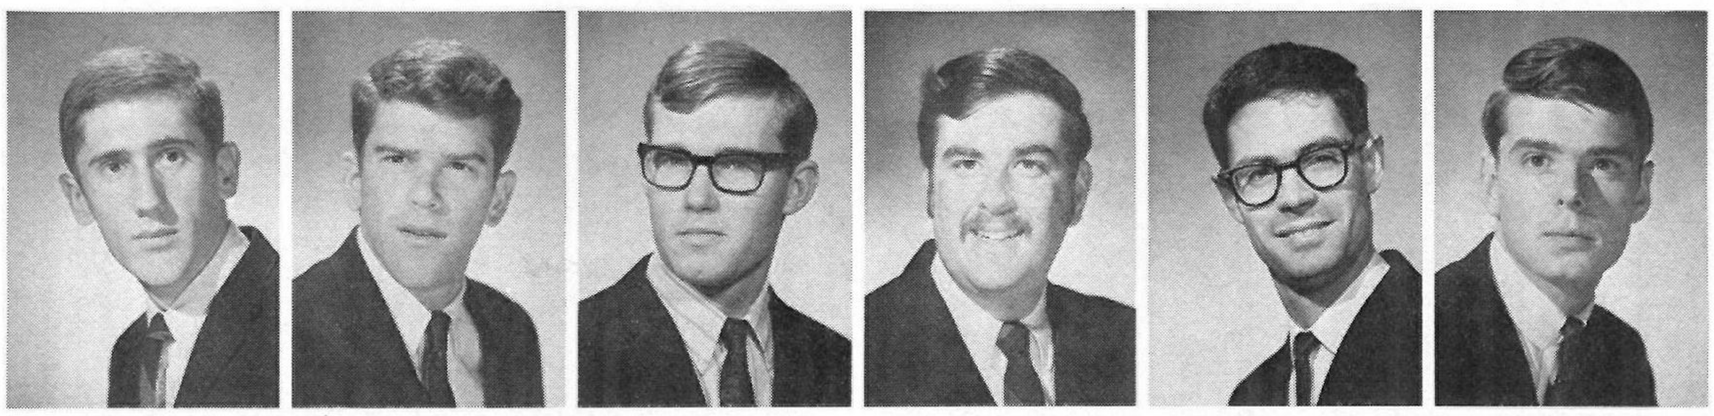

The engineering world is an exacting one which demands, in every case, accuracy . . . accuracy . . . accuracy . . .

Like all thriving institutions, the College of Fisheries outgrew the old and acquired the new. The new is a one million dollar fisheries wing completed this fall and already inhabited by its 350 students.

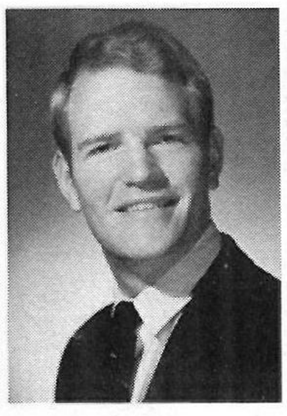

Through an act of Congress, the College of Fisheries acquired a sea-grant policy which led to the establishment of marine resources.

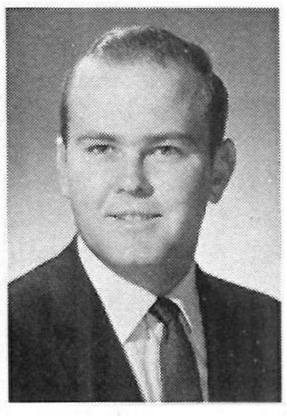

Because of the concern with the growth of the world's fishing industry, the fisheries student must keep pace with the demands of a fast changing population.

Foresters Are Cultivating a New Building

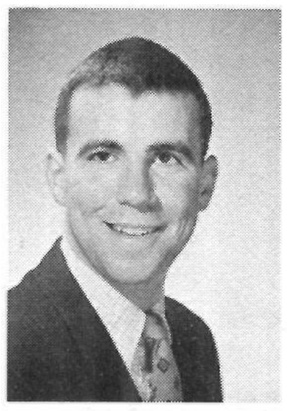

Foresters will get a chance to dig deep into their interests when their new teaching and research laboratory is completed. The three-story building, to be built next to Anderson Hall, will house facilities for pulp and paper technology, wood chemistry, wood anatomy and wood physics.

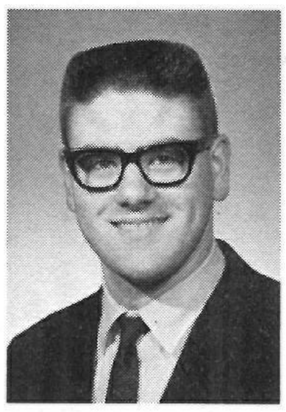

Knowledge of the forest is also gained outside of the classroom. Students are expected to perform research work in the land holdings provided on Mt. Rainier.

The Graduate Student Goes Beyond the Necessary

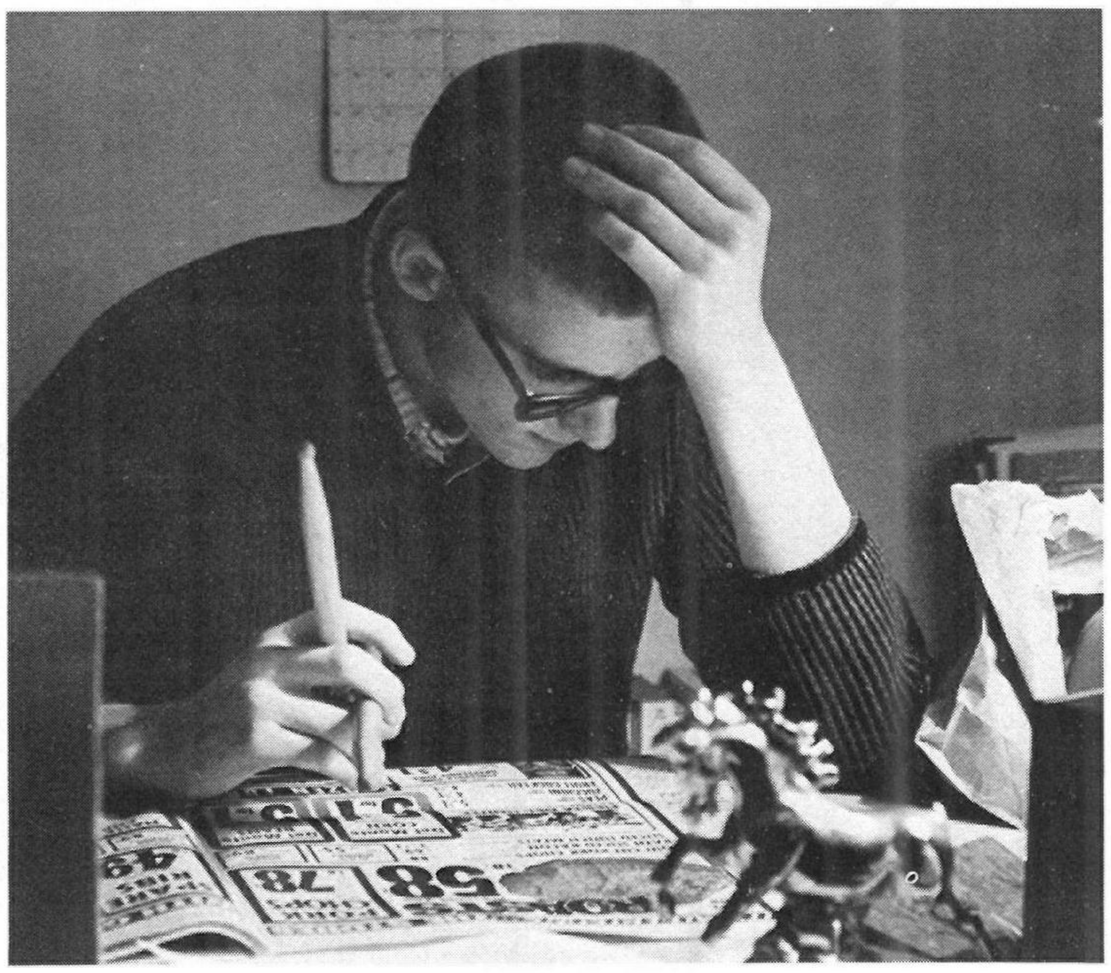

Students in the university's Graduate School realize the attainment of an ideal student-faculty relationship. Being in close communion with his mentor requires strictness coupled with sympathy. The student's goal is clear; his purpose depends on his ability to see his own direction.

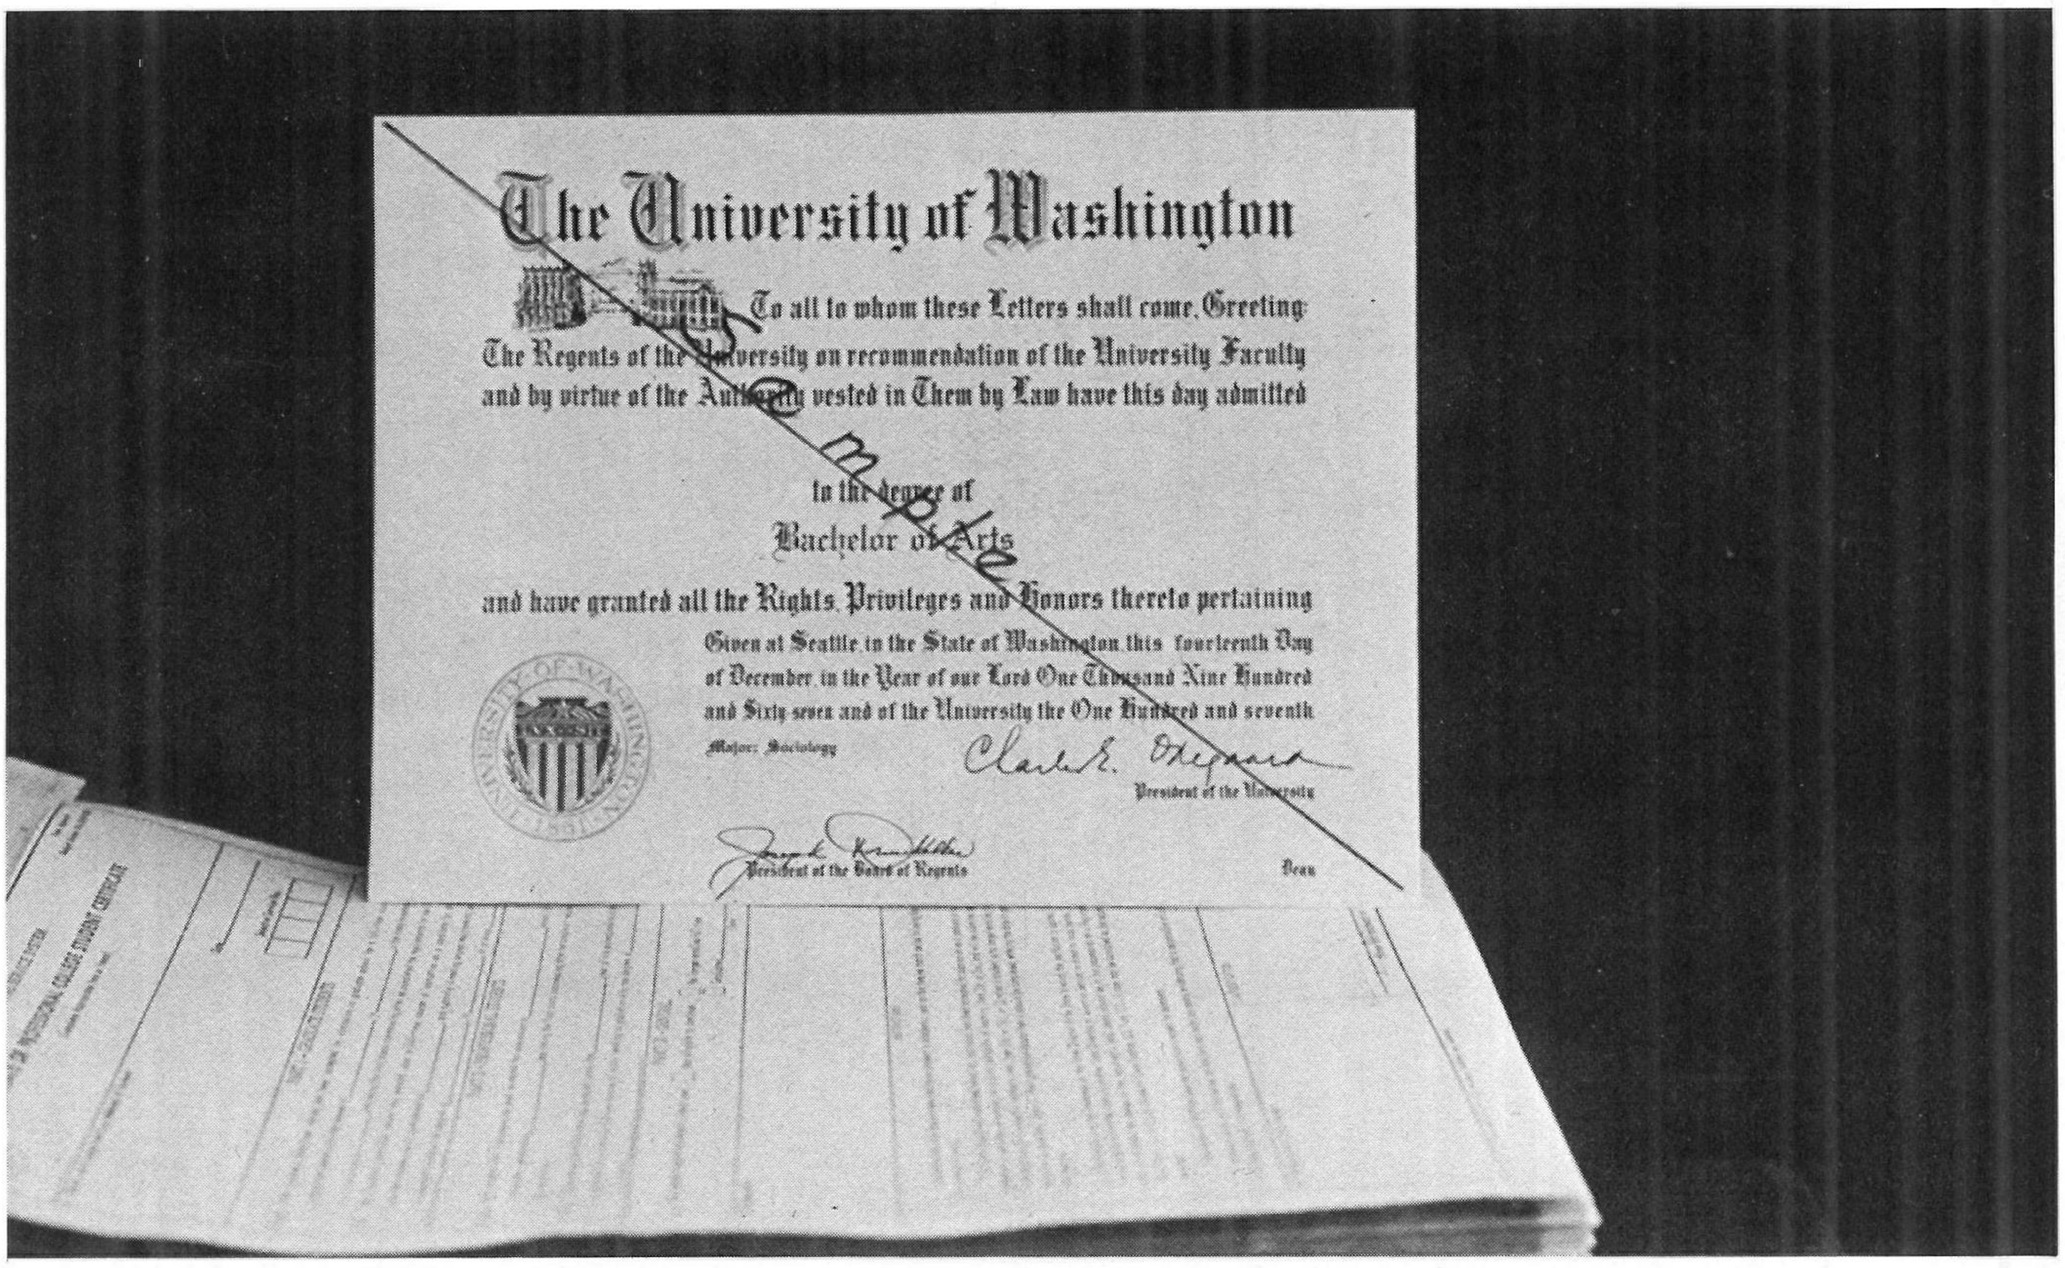

Each student is also aided by such supporting facilities as grants, fellowships and his own desire for achievement.

Learned Men of the Law

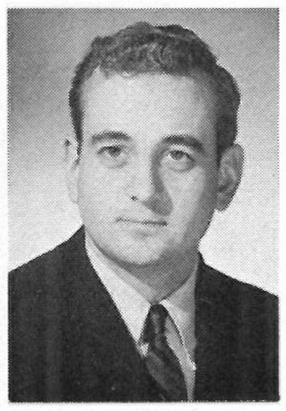

Evoke True Justice

"The most learned men have determined to begin with Law, and it would seem that they are right, if, according to their definition, Law is the highest reason implanted in Nature, which commands what ought to be done and forbids the opposite. This reason, when firmly fixed and fully developed in the Human mind, is Law."

Cicero

The University of Washington's School of Law, one of the nation's finest, produces such learned men. Today's population depends on their reason to evoke true justice.

As students, as humans, we depend on the skill and knowledge that the medical student at the University of Washington is receiving. The training that the students receive comes with years of hard work in such departments as pathology, biochemistry, microbiology and laboratory technology.

By working in conjunction with Children's Orthopedic Hospital, Harborview Hospital and the University Hospital, the medical students are able to gain a better insight into the world which demands and readily receives their talents.

Nurses: Preparing to Accept New, Responsible Roles in Medicine

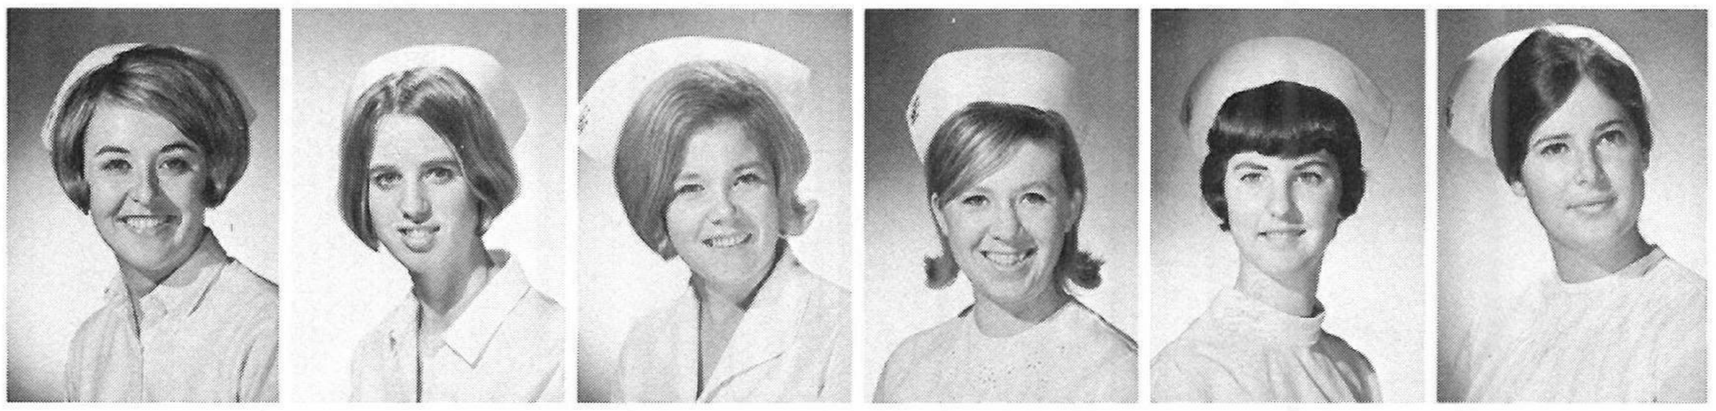

Along with the continual advancement of medicine, today's nurse is assuming a more responsible role in meeting the needs of the patient. The School of Nursing is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. Its constantly progressing curriculum and program is reflected in the well-trained students.

The new Nurse-Scientist Graduate Program offers a minor in nursing on the doctoral level with the major matriculation in anthropology, microbiology, physiology or sociology. The nursing program attempts to prepare the student nurse to function in any environment, and the courses each year vary with scientific advancements.

Pharmacists Must Be Drug Experts and Businessmen

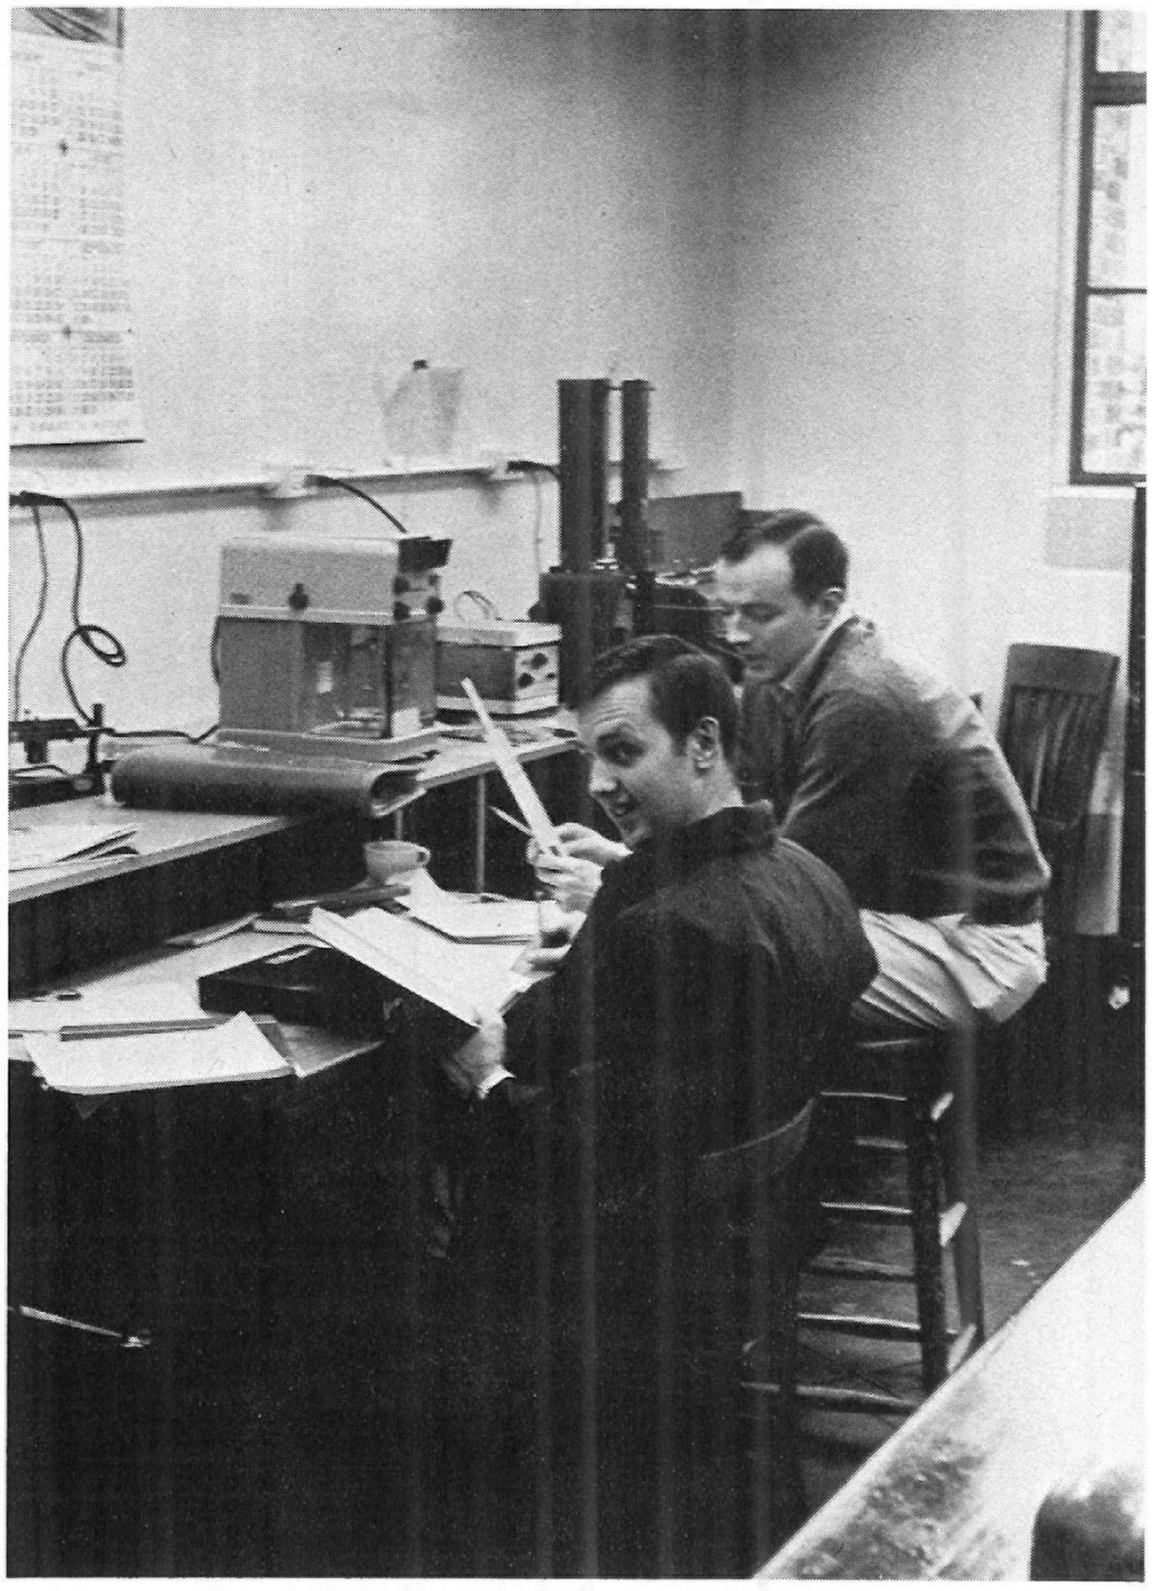

The qualified pharmacy graduate of the University of Washington is capable of maintaining a balance of medical dignity and consumer zeal.

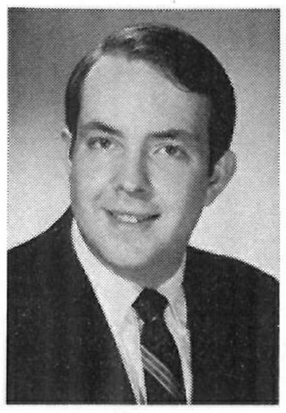

As an intermediary force, he must be a drug expert as well as a public relations man.

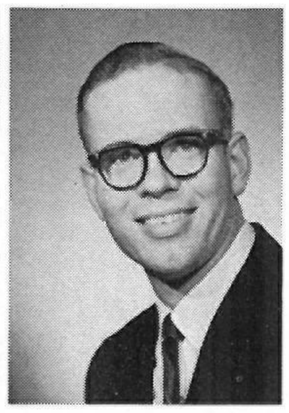

This year, selected third, fourth and fifth year pharmacy students participated in an experimental program that required extensive knowledge and was aimed at directing the student towards areas of specialization.

From the Dark . . . a Rowing Renaissance?

Success Comes from Dedication and Sacrifice

The white blades of Washington were once feared as much as a tidal wave. No more. Tarnished over recent years, a major effort is required to restore the lustre of this proud tradition.

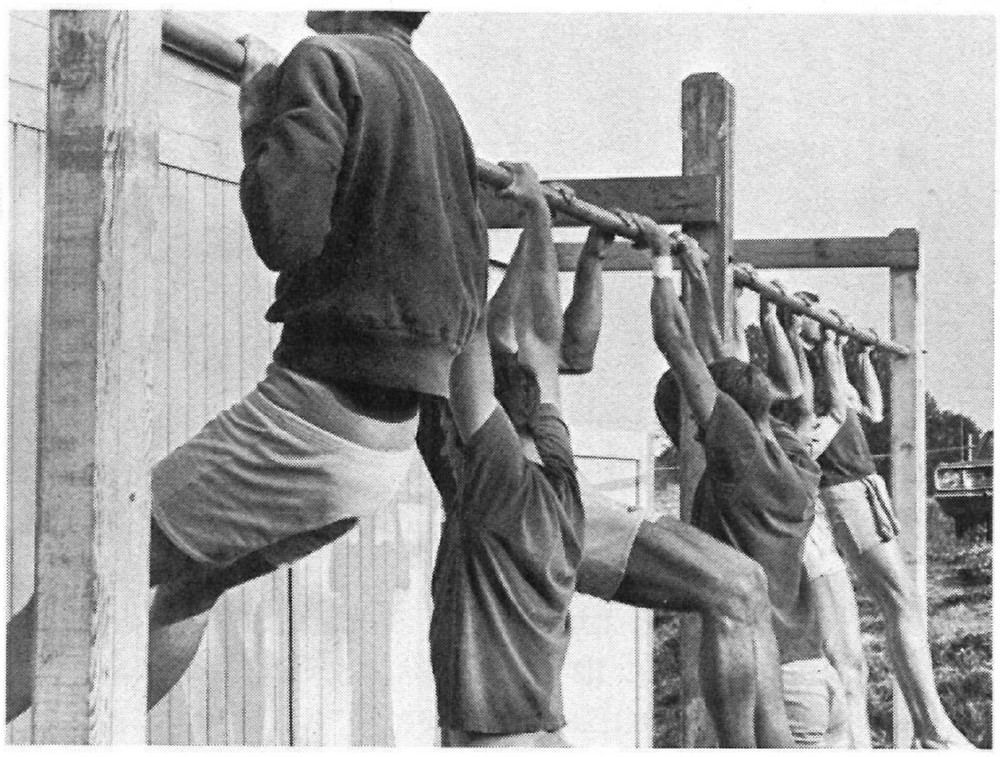

The crew season ignores all varieties of weather, requires late hour workouts and gives little recognition. But even those who never race return to row again.

New head coach Richard Erickson took the helm and set a new course for the Husky fleet. Special weight work-outs and long-distance running were added and an isolated spring-break training camp was instituted. Much was promised . . .

But when Stanford upset the Huskies in the first meet, eyebrows were raised. Doubts diminished, however, as the varsity went on to row to successive victories.

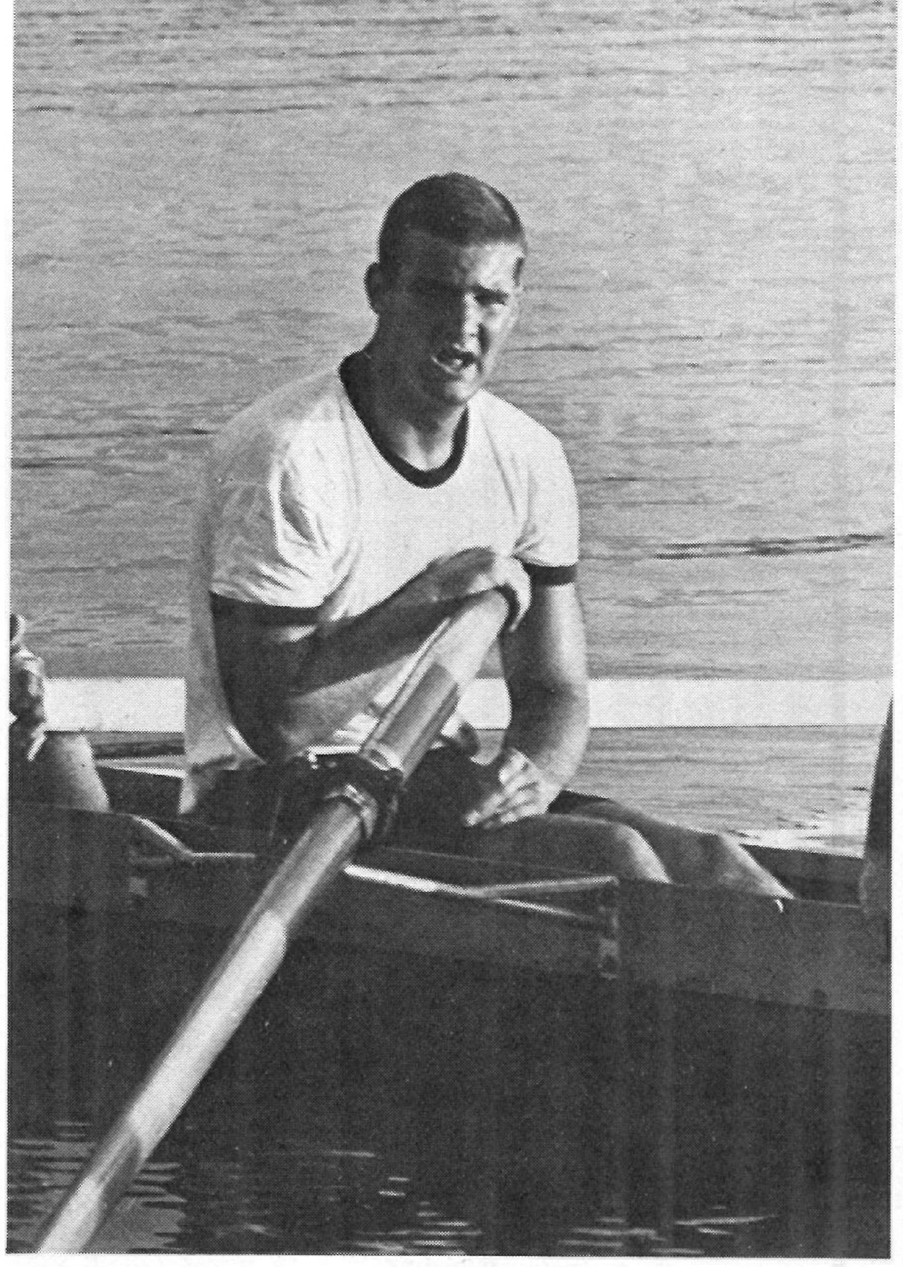

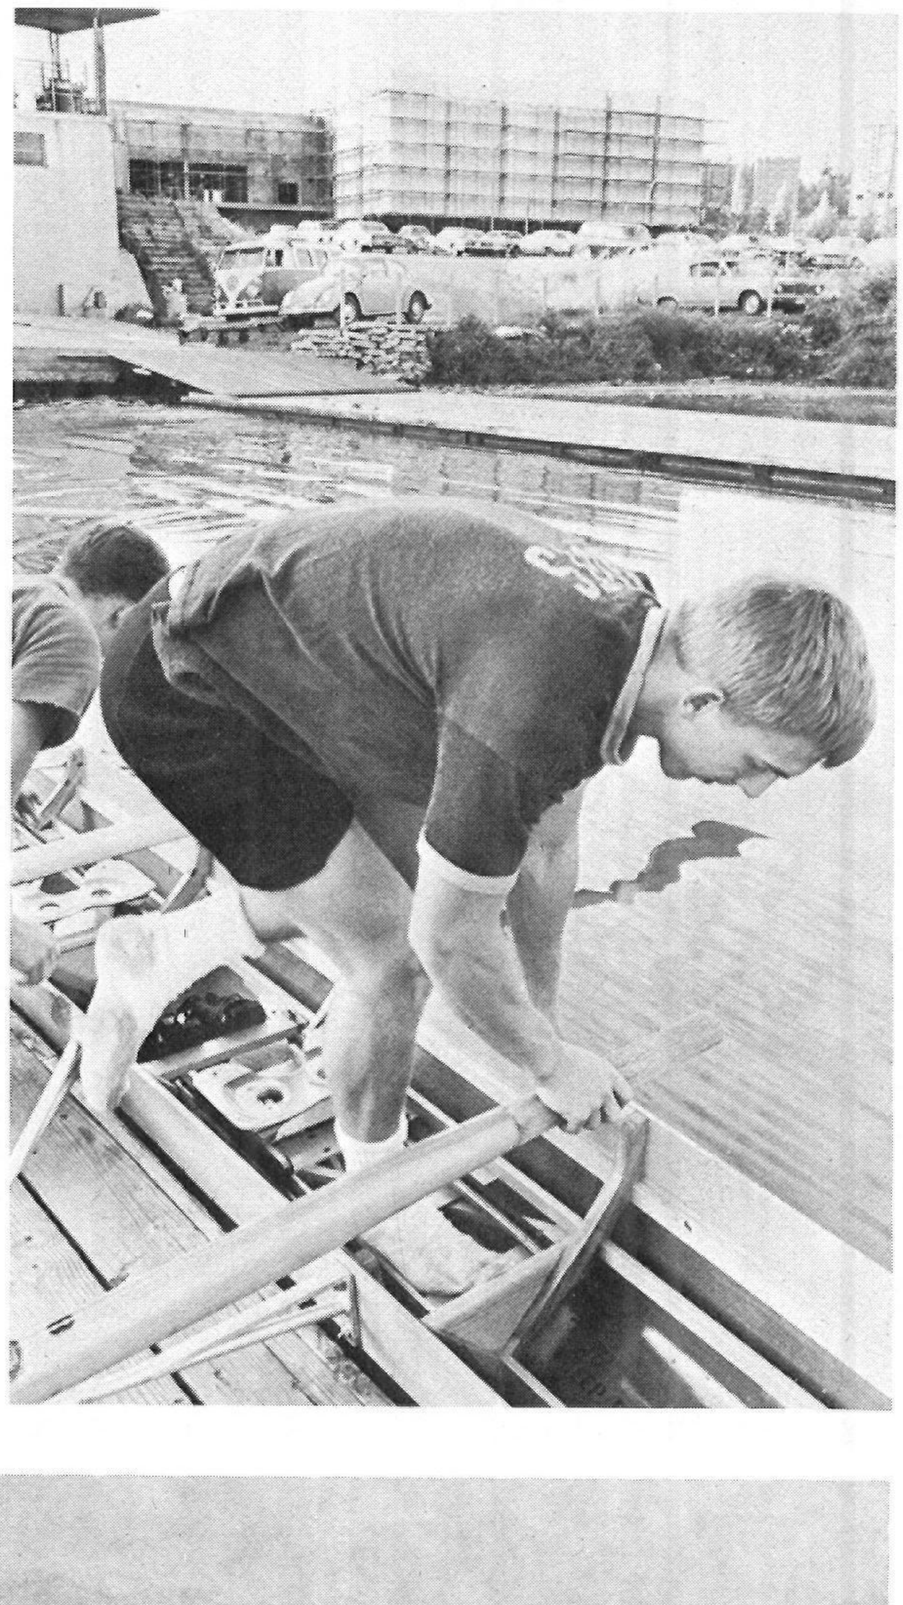

Coach Erickson cajoles his men prior to rowing.

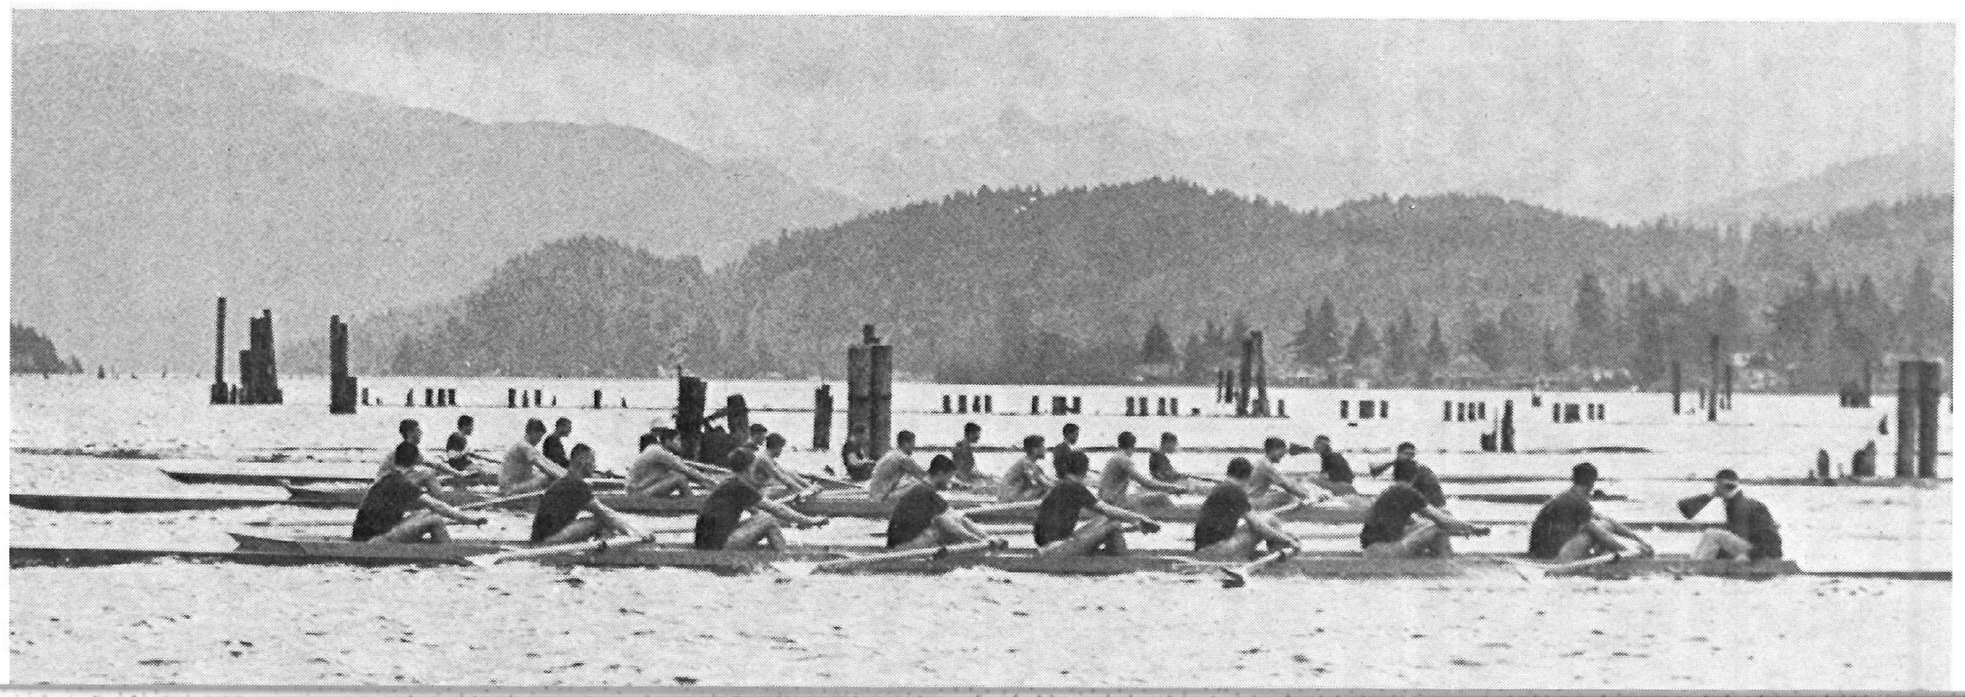

Home drills and Bellingham camp take devoted effort.

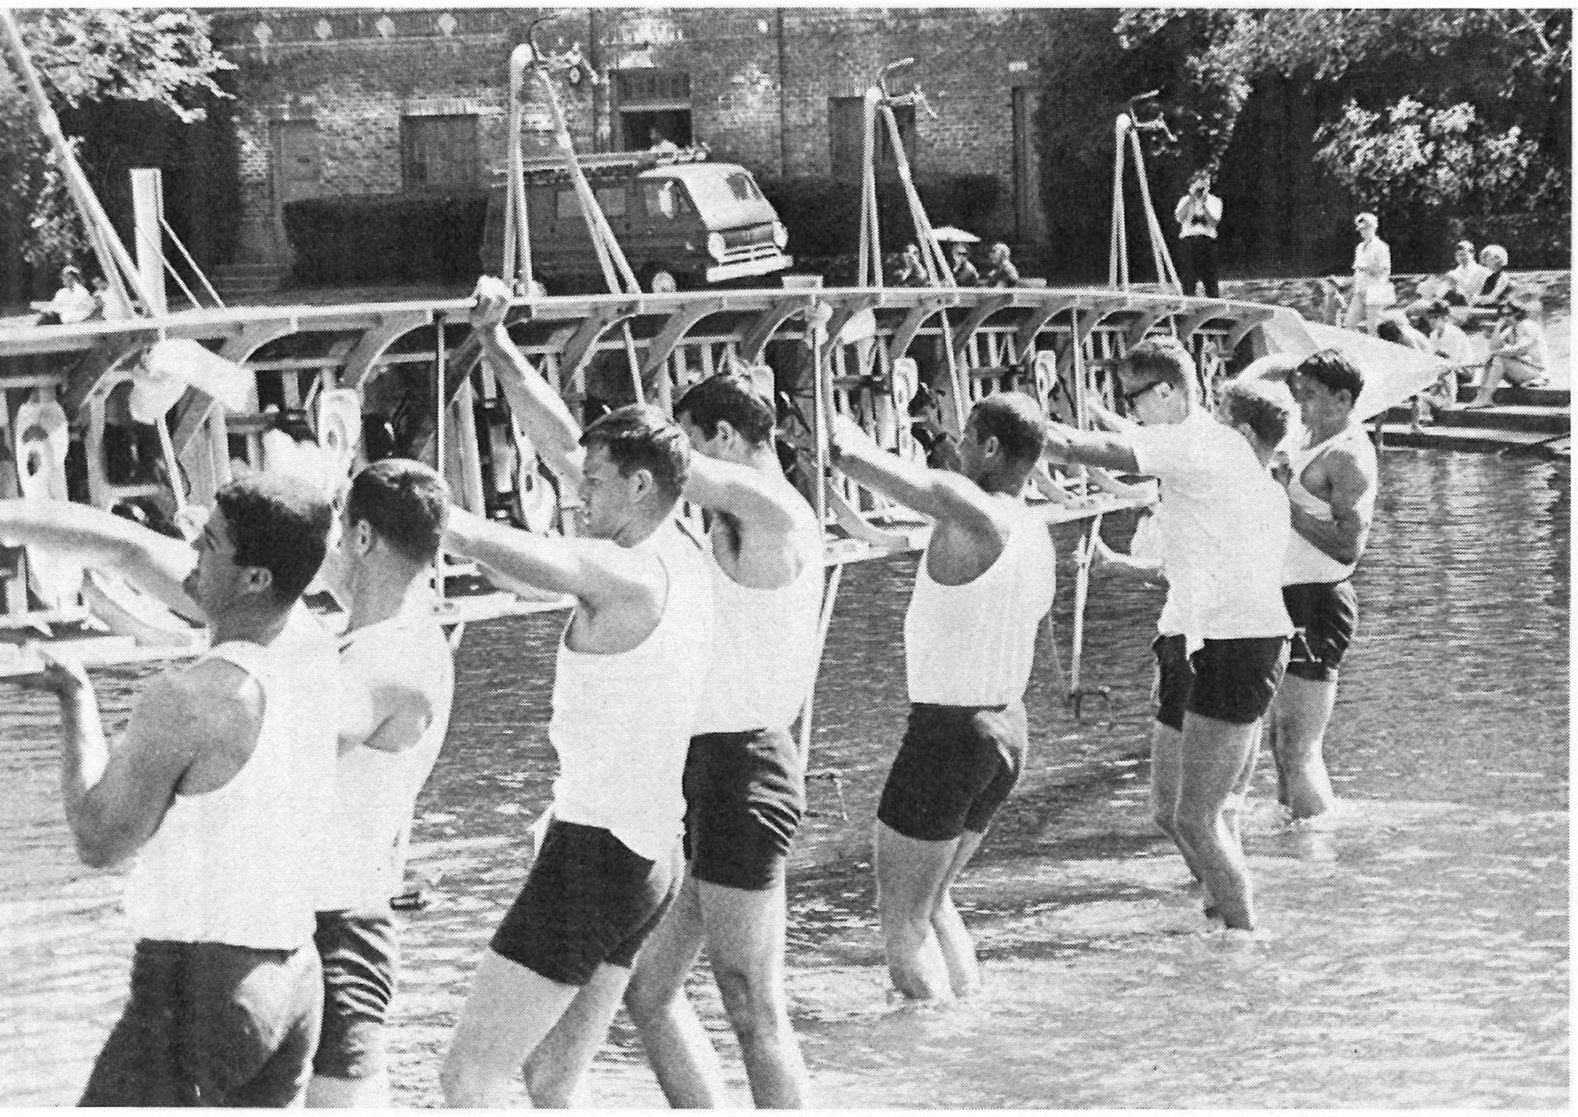

Eight Months of Daily Toil

Conditions were perfect for the finals of the Western Intercollegiate Spring Championships, hosted by the UW on the 2000 meter Seward Park Course. The Frosh eight took their event with flying colors, and the Junior Varsity launched a second place finish.

After a record shattering performance, gaining the AAWU championship, the Varsity was congratulated by the coach before they even left the water. Demonstrating their appreciation the oarsmen gave Coach Erickson a victory dunking.

Following the Spring Regatta, the Huskies prepared for the national crew engagement at the IRA on Lake Onondaga by defeating Wisconsin and Navy.

A sparkling second place finish at the IRA sent the Varsity to the Olympic Trials. Although failing to qualify, their overall performance left the impression that indeed a new era has dawned for Husky Crew.

Track and Field: Key Upsets in

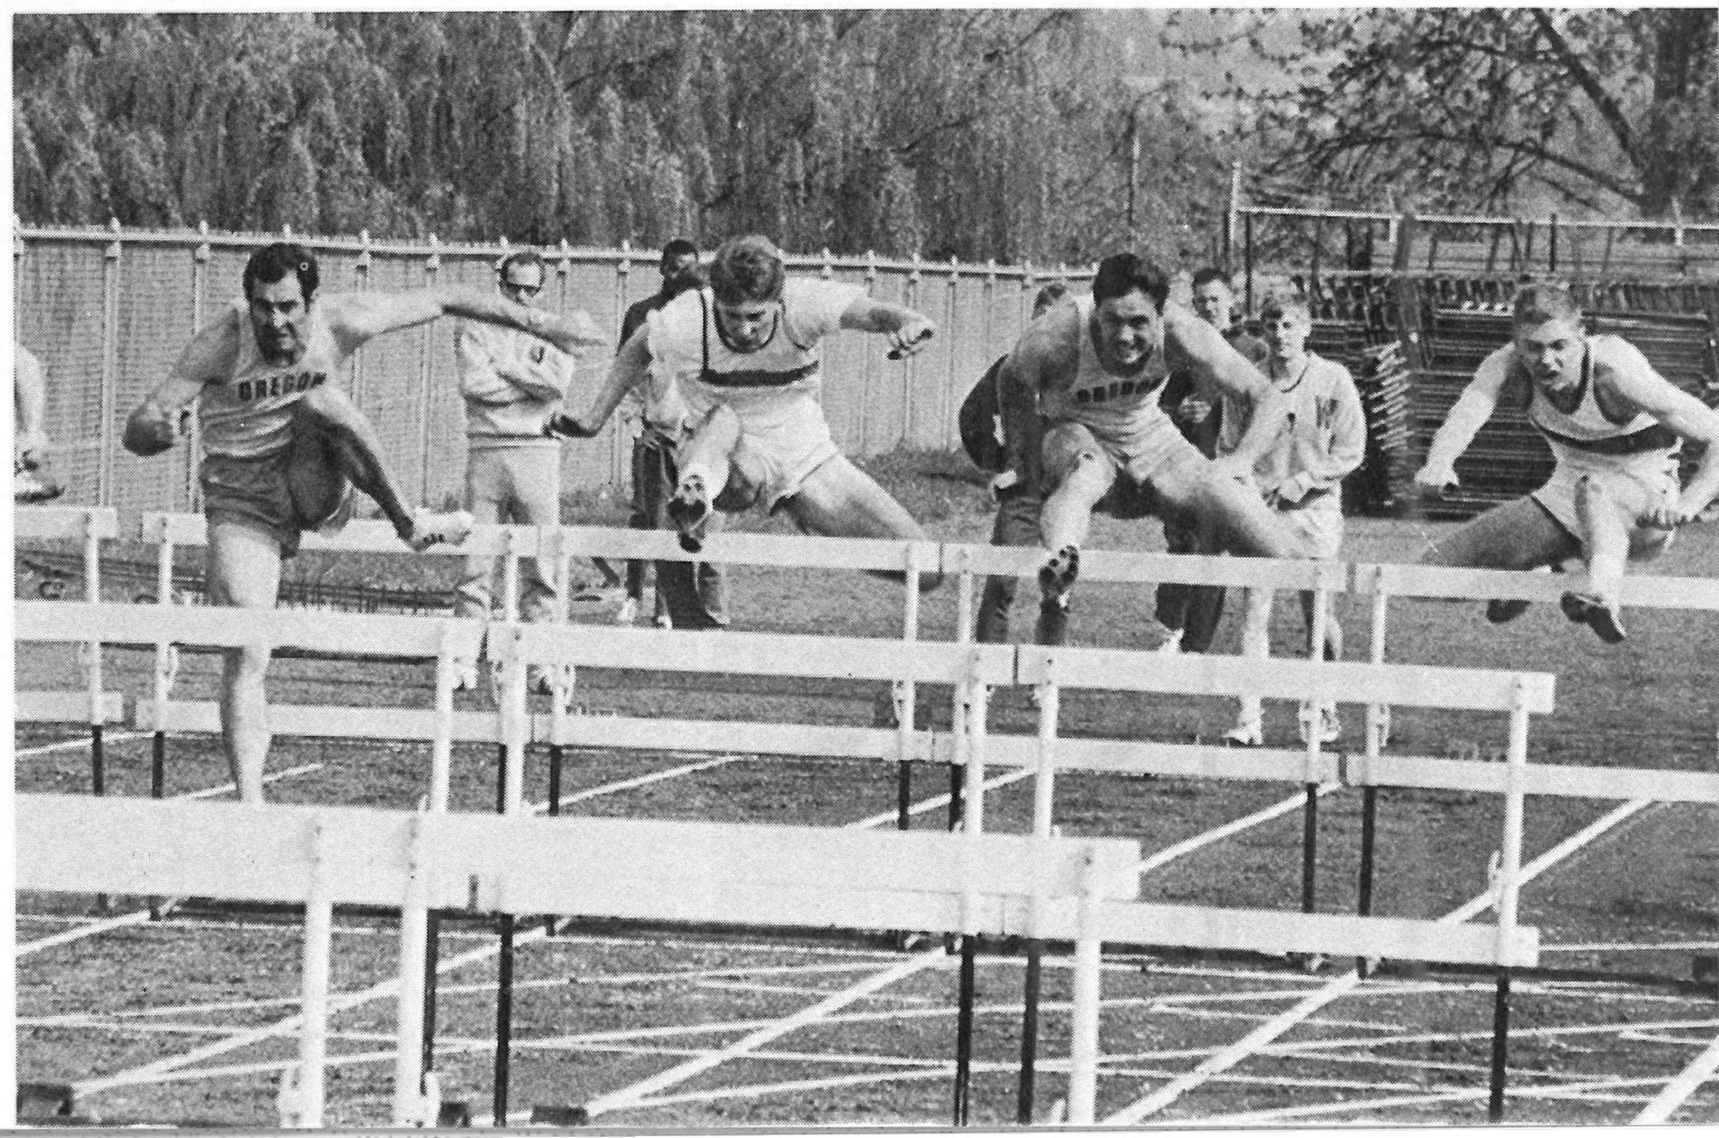

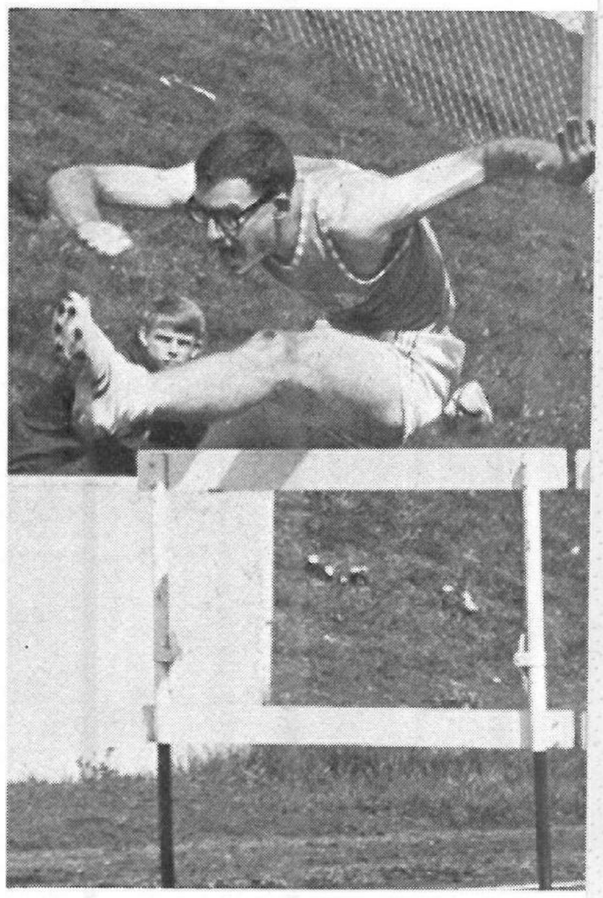

To watch a track meet is to view the heritage of western man. The competitive instinct which is human was first formalized by the ancient Greeks in a series of martial exercises. This test of man against man evolved into a modern complex of athletic events. Yet in today's sports world the art and grace of the human body is revealed in its classic form only in a track meet. Events like the discus, javelin, sprints and distance running have changed little since ancient times.

The athletes' need for long hours of practice hasn't changed either. No matter what a Husky's speciality, he runs and exercises above and beyond the motions required for him to complete his event.

Spite of Injuries

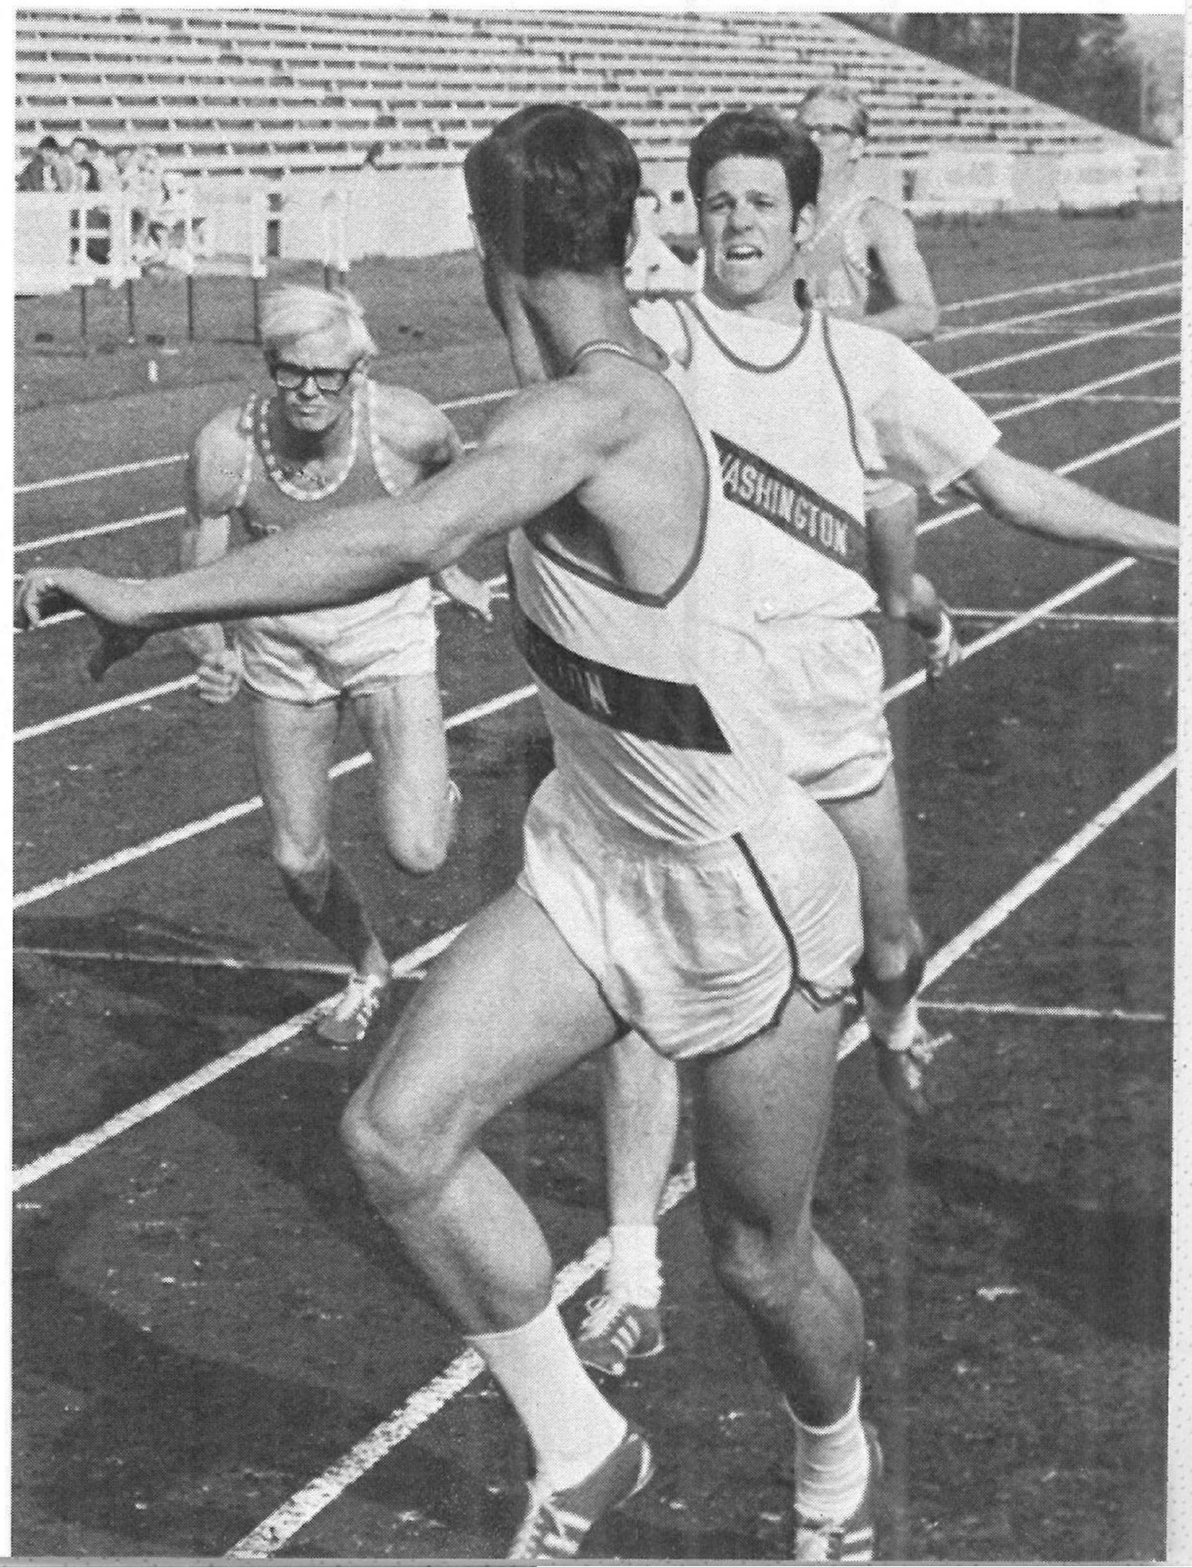

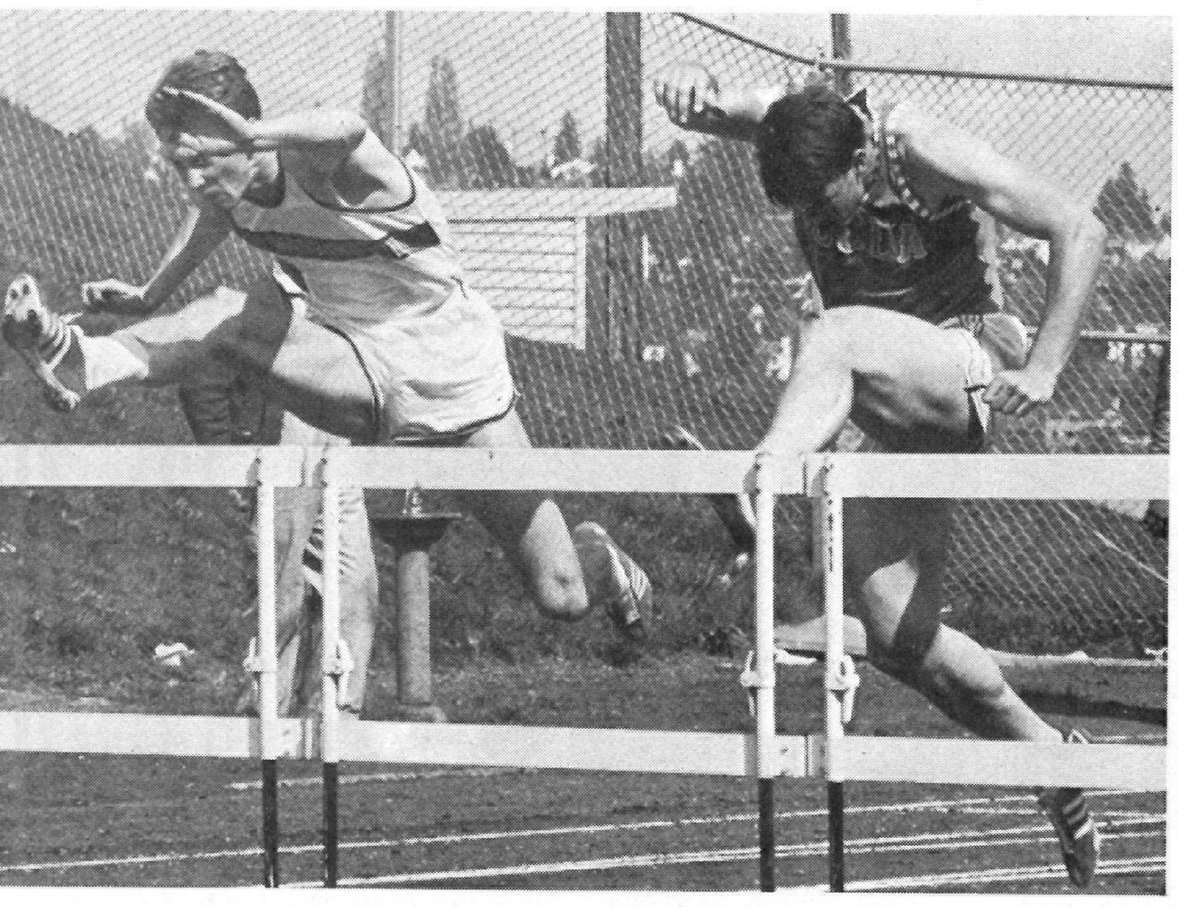

Coach Stan Hiserman foresaw a season of promise during 1968. It started well enough, but a continuous plague of injuries kept key performers out of competition.

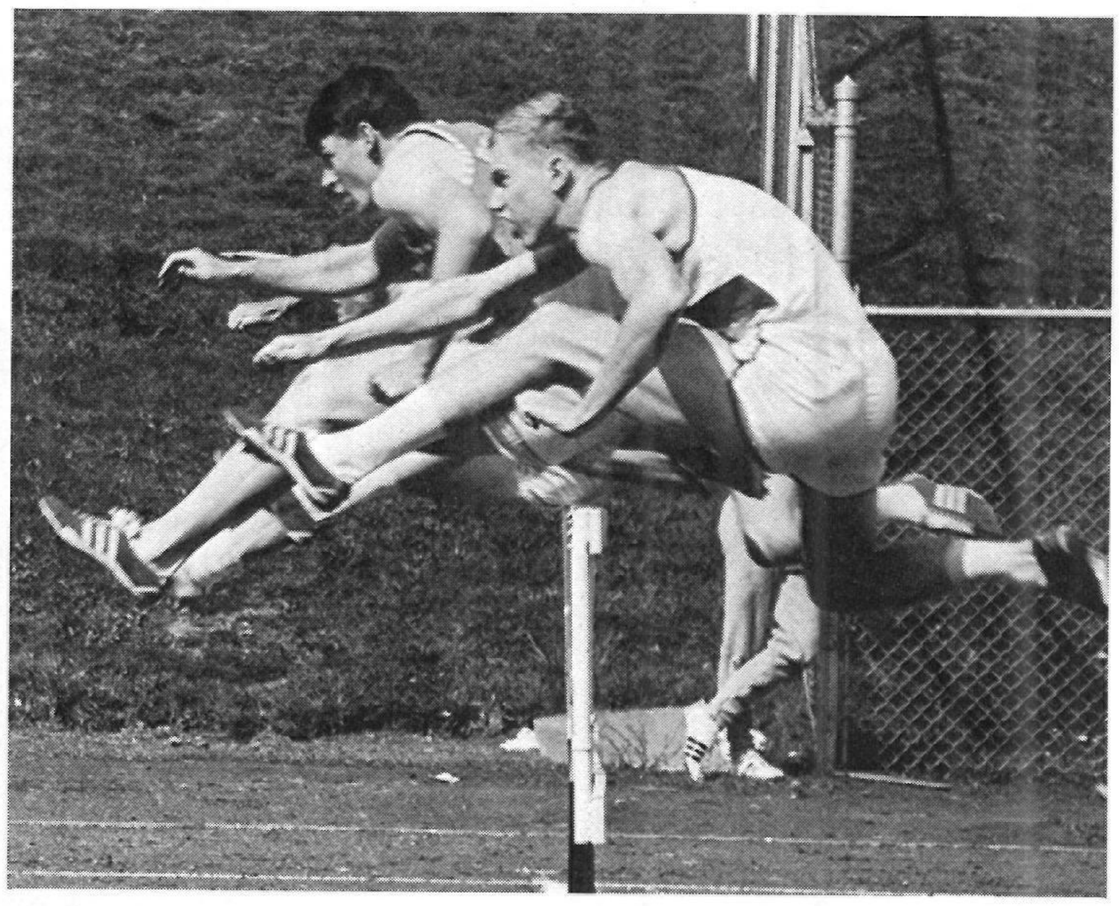

Despite illness, several records were set. Sophomore John Hubbell, one of seven representatives to the NCAA meet, established a shot-put mark of 61'4¼". Junior Eric Klein set a 50-foot mark in the triple jump while John Celms ran the steeplechase in 8:58.9. Fred Luke heaved the javelin 242'3" to cap new school records.

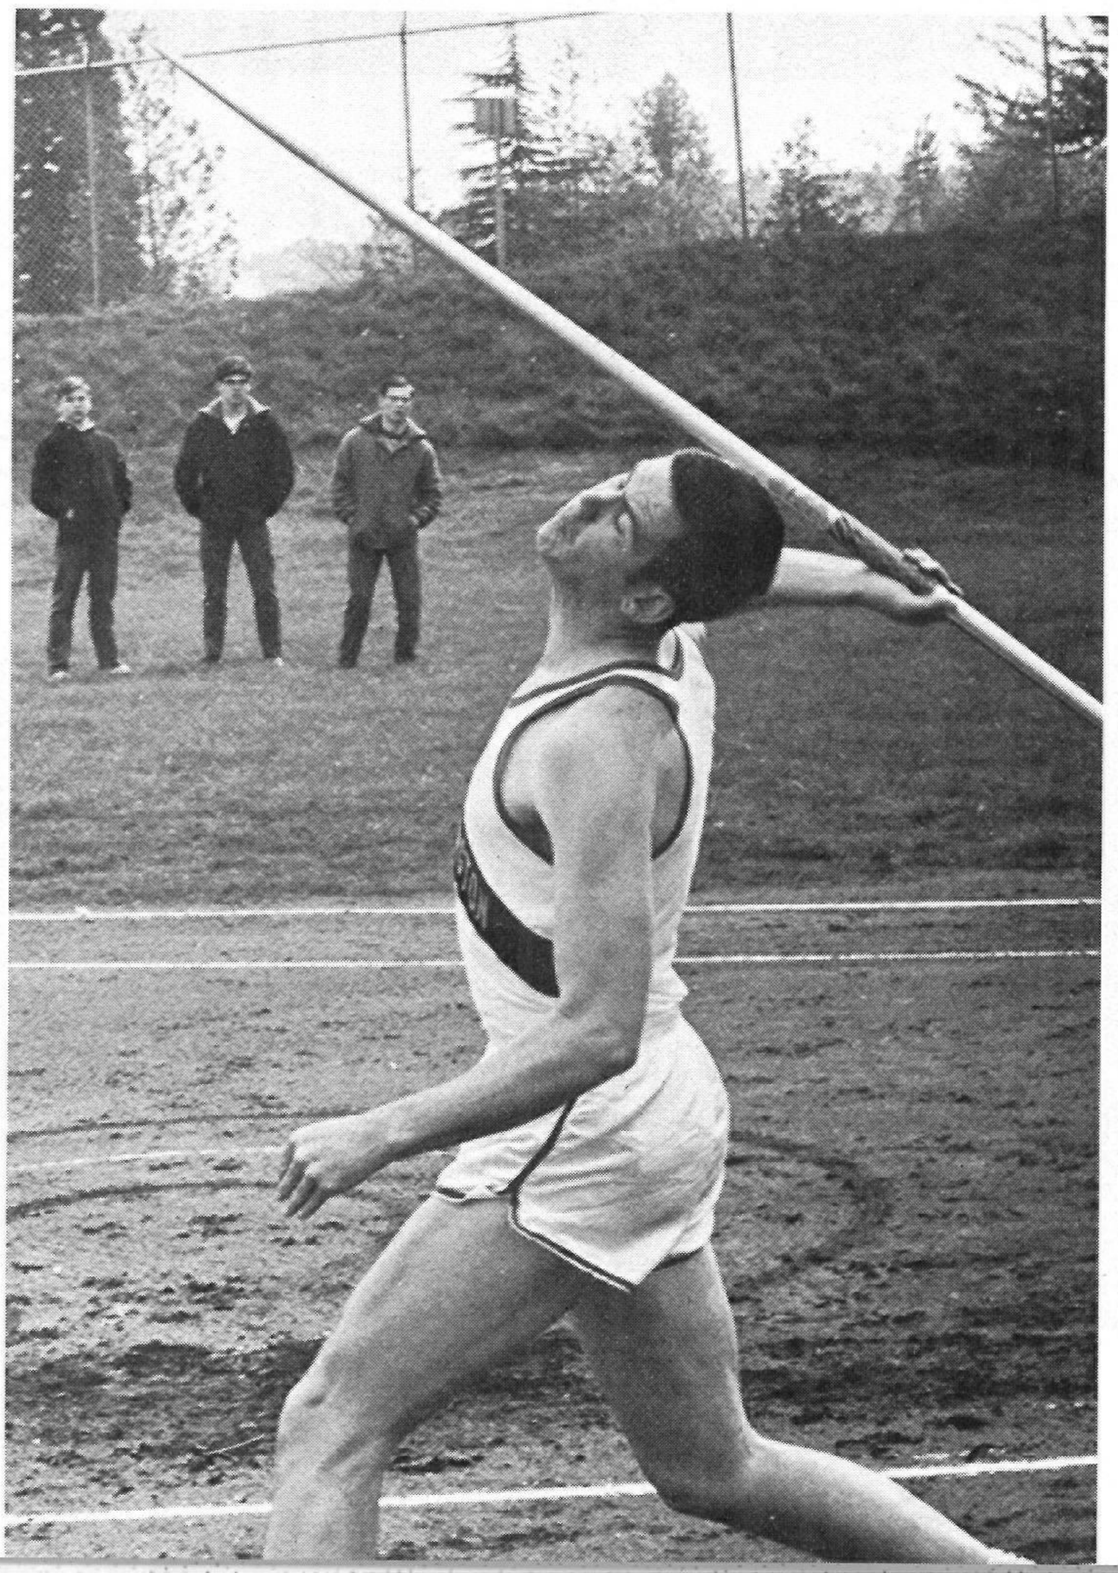

Highlights of the team's season were the upsetting of UCLA and Oregon.

Pac-8 Conference Games Italicized

Rain and competition weren't the only factors that thwarted the good intentions of Coach Lehman and his team in 1968. Starting like a fireball, the baseball team appeared to be climbing the winning ladder, taking four games in a row. It then slipped on a broken rung, never regaining its successful form. When the umpire signaled the last out, the overall record stood at 16 wins and 25 losses, with a conference performance of 2 and 18.

Washington was at bat 1,314 times, getting 36 more opportunities to score than the opponents. Although the Huskies made more hits, 340 to 313, they fell short in the scoring department 197 to 237. The final batting average was Washington .259, opponents .245.

You might say it was a season to forget. But even in defeat something was imparted to the players—experience, to perhaps promote a better season in 1969.

Baseball: The Intentions Were Good

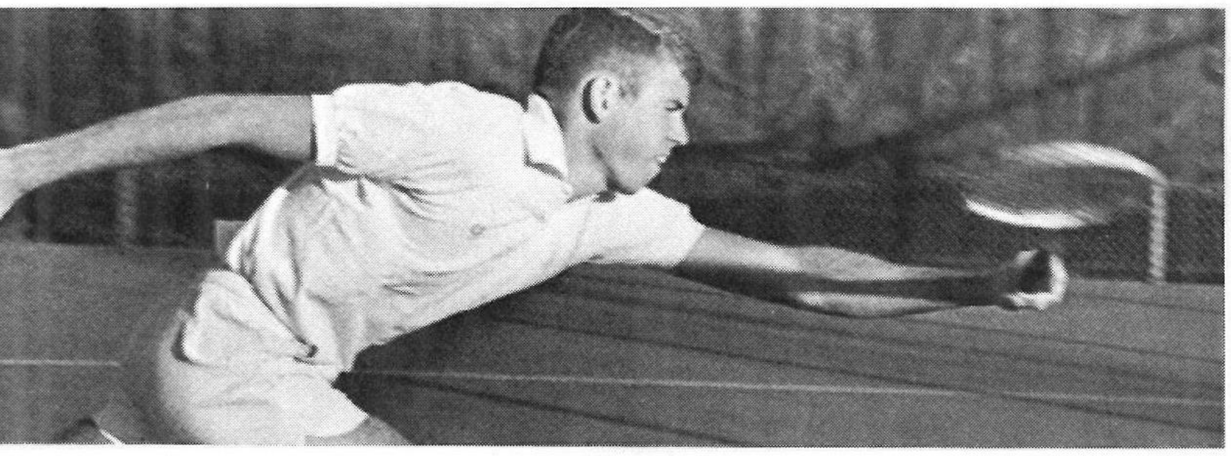

While the tennis team served itself a successful season, the golfers found themselves frequently in the rough. With nationally-ranked Dick Knight, the tennis team ended the season with a commendable 8 wins and 4 losses. Losing only one man, Coach Bill Quillian expects this spring's team to be one of the best in a decade.

Despite Steve Cole, who scored 312 strokes for the 72 hole match, the golf team placed sixth in the PAC-8 conference meet. With a dual meet record of one win-4 losses, Coach Ray Bennett sees an opportunity this season to revitalize and build for the future.

Despite Individual Brilliance,

It's a typical football afternoon. Skies are threatening, the air is crisp and spirits are high. The team comes on the field, the coin is tossed and the game is underway. When the final gun sounds, the gleeful fans wind their way home celebrating another Husky victory. Right?

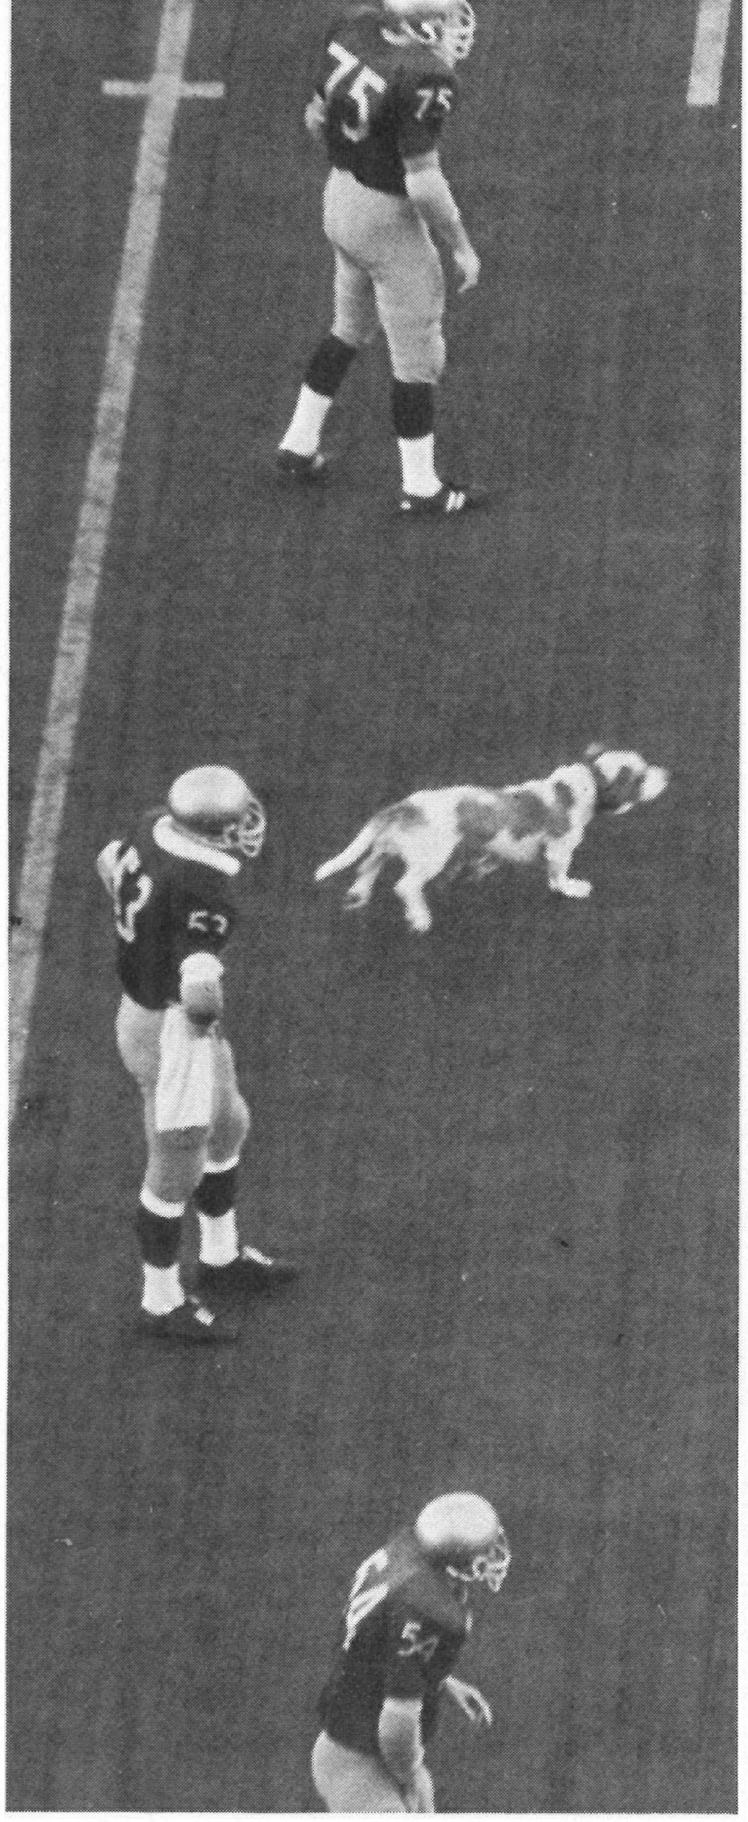

Wrong!

Times have changed. The Owens system is no longer impregnable. In fact it is readily assailable.

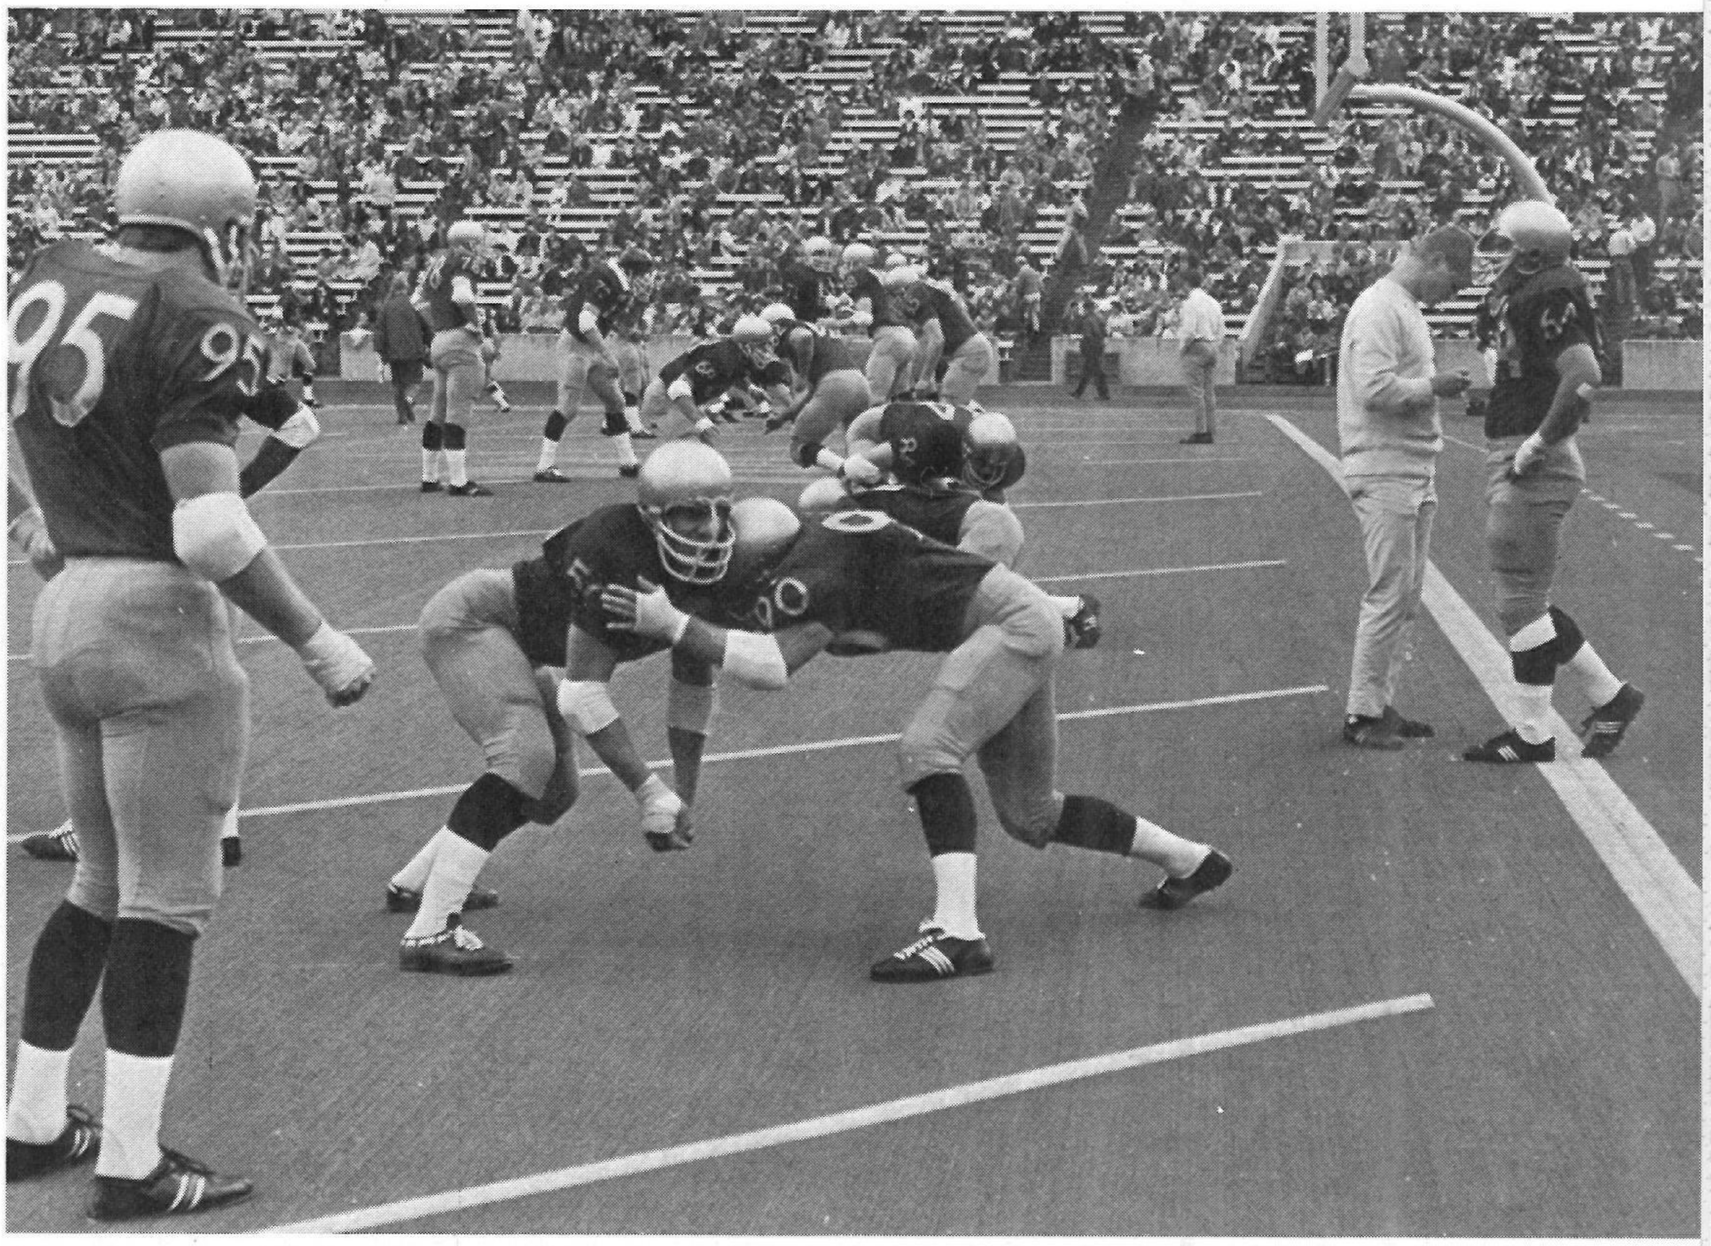

Although hopes were reserved at the start of the season, no one anticipated the mayhem that would follow. People felt the introduction of astroturf would free the Huskies of slippery mud, allowing a fast moving, highly skilled game. But it did not work out.

Finishing conference play with only one win, one tie and five losses, the Huskies possessed the embarrassing distinction of occupying the sub-basement of the PAC-8. Despite outstanding individual efforts, the Huskies were seldom able to marshal a consistent attack.

The Huskies often fielded support for their efforts. Here they are assisted in a kickoff.

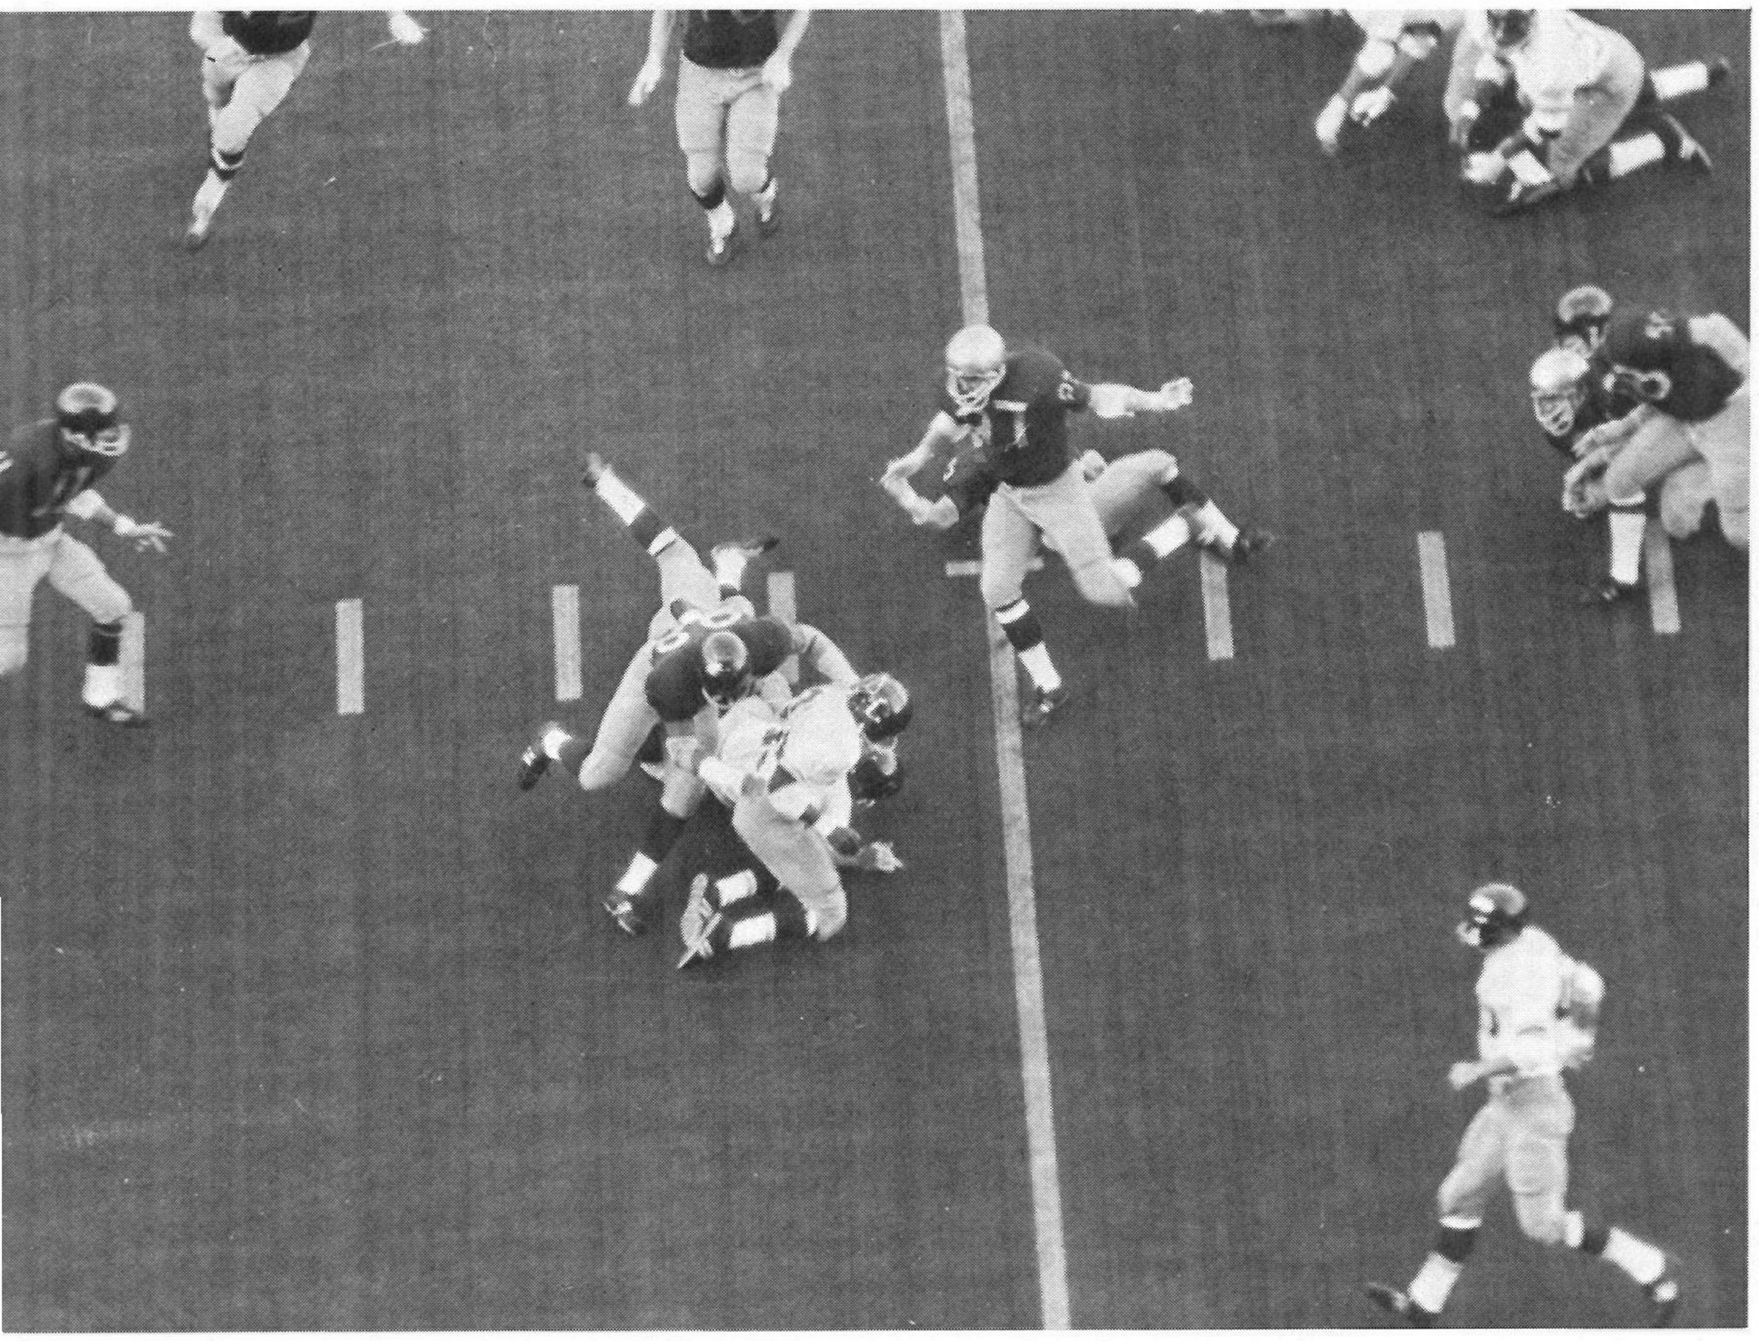

Practice, mental preparation and pre-game warmups are essential for any football effort. Each game culminates an effort begun the previous spring to condition athletes.

Statistics are not the best means to tell the story, but they are the only remains of a season. Washington outrushed opponents by 544 yards, compiling an average of 3.5 yards per carry. But the opposition made 1321 yards from aerial bombardment and scored TD hits eight times, with a completion average of .458. Total offense gave the Huskies a deficit in yards, 2805 compared to their opponents' 3159.

Pass defense was the major accomplishment of the security platoon, which picked off 30 enemy strikes and set a UW record. Key stand-out was senior Al Worley who was elected to three major All American teams. Appropriately called "thief," Worley intercepted 14 times to set a NCAA record. George Jugum shouldered a large part of the defensive load making 85 tackles, 69 assists, 3 interceptions and a fumble recovery.

Senior Carl Wojciechowski, netting 651 yards, was placed third on the all time single season rushing ladder. Quarterback Jerry Kaloper ended up with 545 yards gained through passing. Bo Cornell took top scoring honors.

Husky Soccer:

An Improved Game

But Still No Fans

Once again, the Husky soccer team had to generate its own momentum. Without fans, and with such highly competitive league opponents as the Canadians, masters of "British Football," the Huskies managed to capture top league honors, sharing the crown with WWSC. Traveling to the regional championships, the team ran into last year's NCAA champs and took a bad beating. But with the experience gained, Coach Mike Ryan hopes his footmen can improve in next year's competition. After years of playing in the mud, Husky Stadium with its astroturf seemed a virtual paradise. Even without fans, enthusiasm ran higher than ever for the Huskies.

Water Borne Soccer:

Water Polo a Success

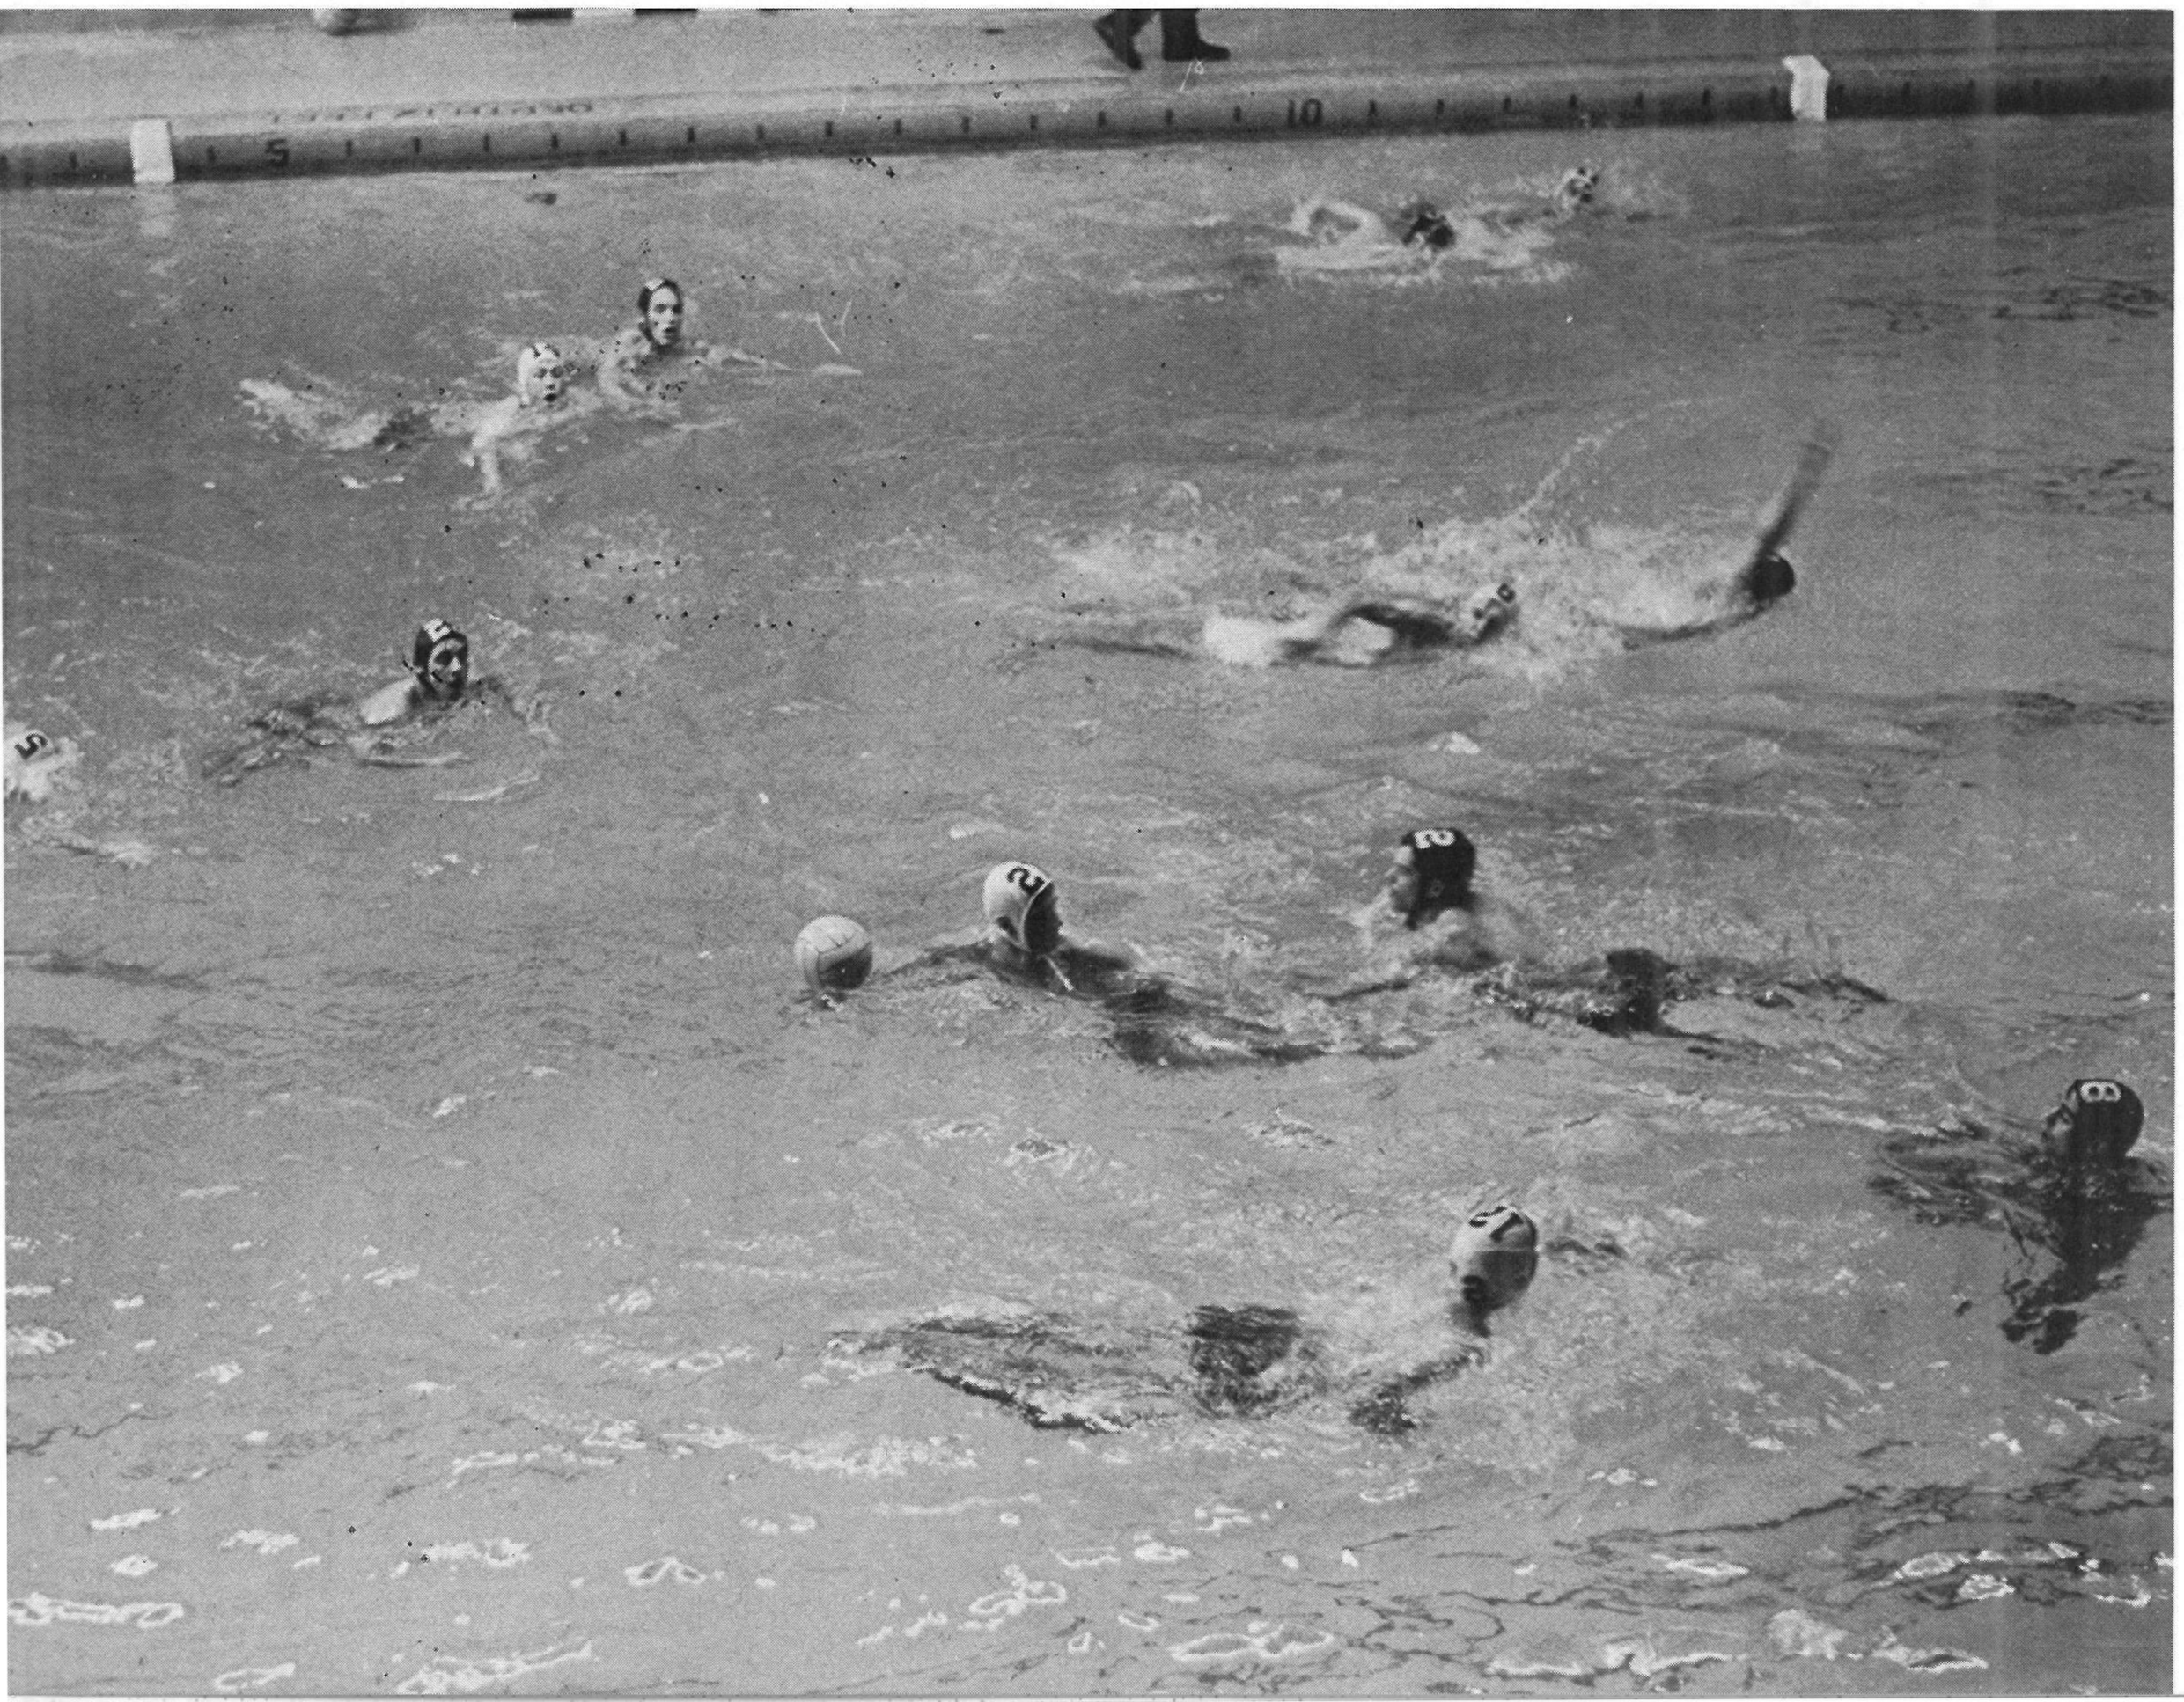

In Initial Season

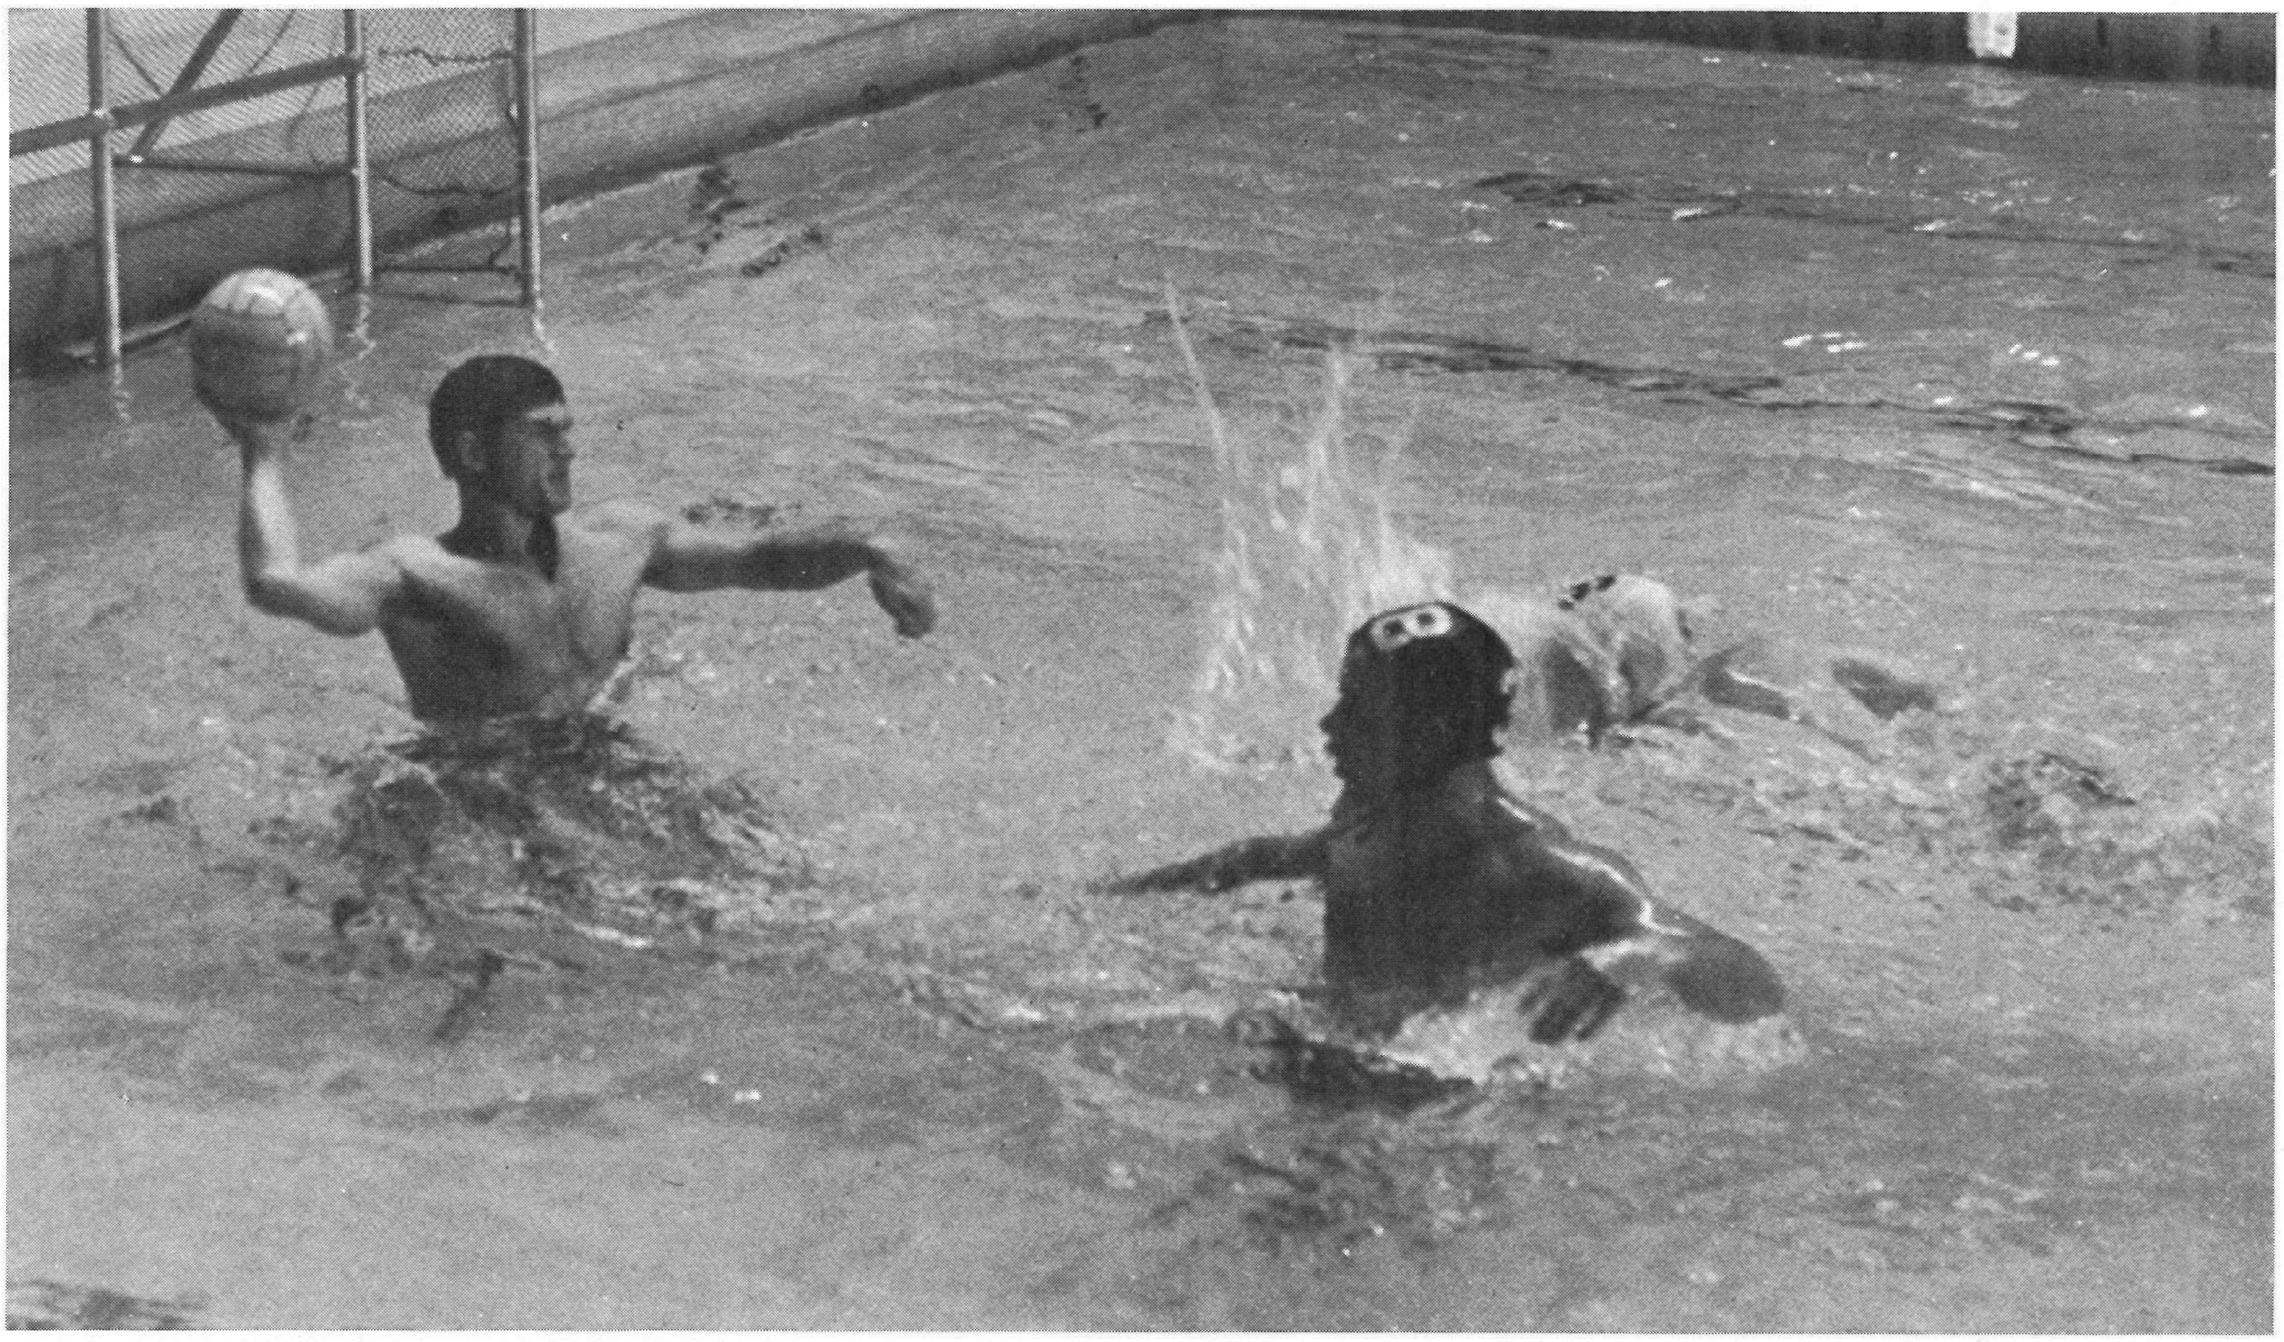

What is it? Sort of a water borne soccer match. It takes the stamina of a long distance swimmer and the finesse of a volleyball player. It may be fast or slow. And like all sports, it pits man against man and team against team.

New to the university, water polo expands the growing aquatic program. Although it is not a recognized intercollegiate letter sport, water polo has captured enough interest for practice to be continued even after the scheduled competition has ended. In time it may become a regular part of the university's intercollegiate athletic program.

On your mark, get set, go!

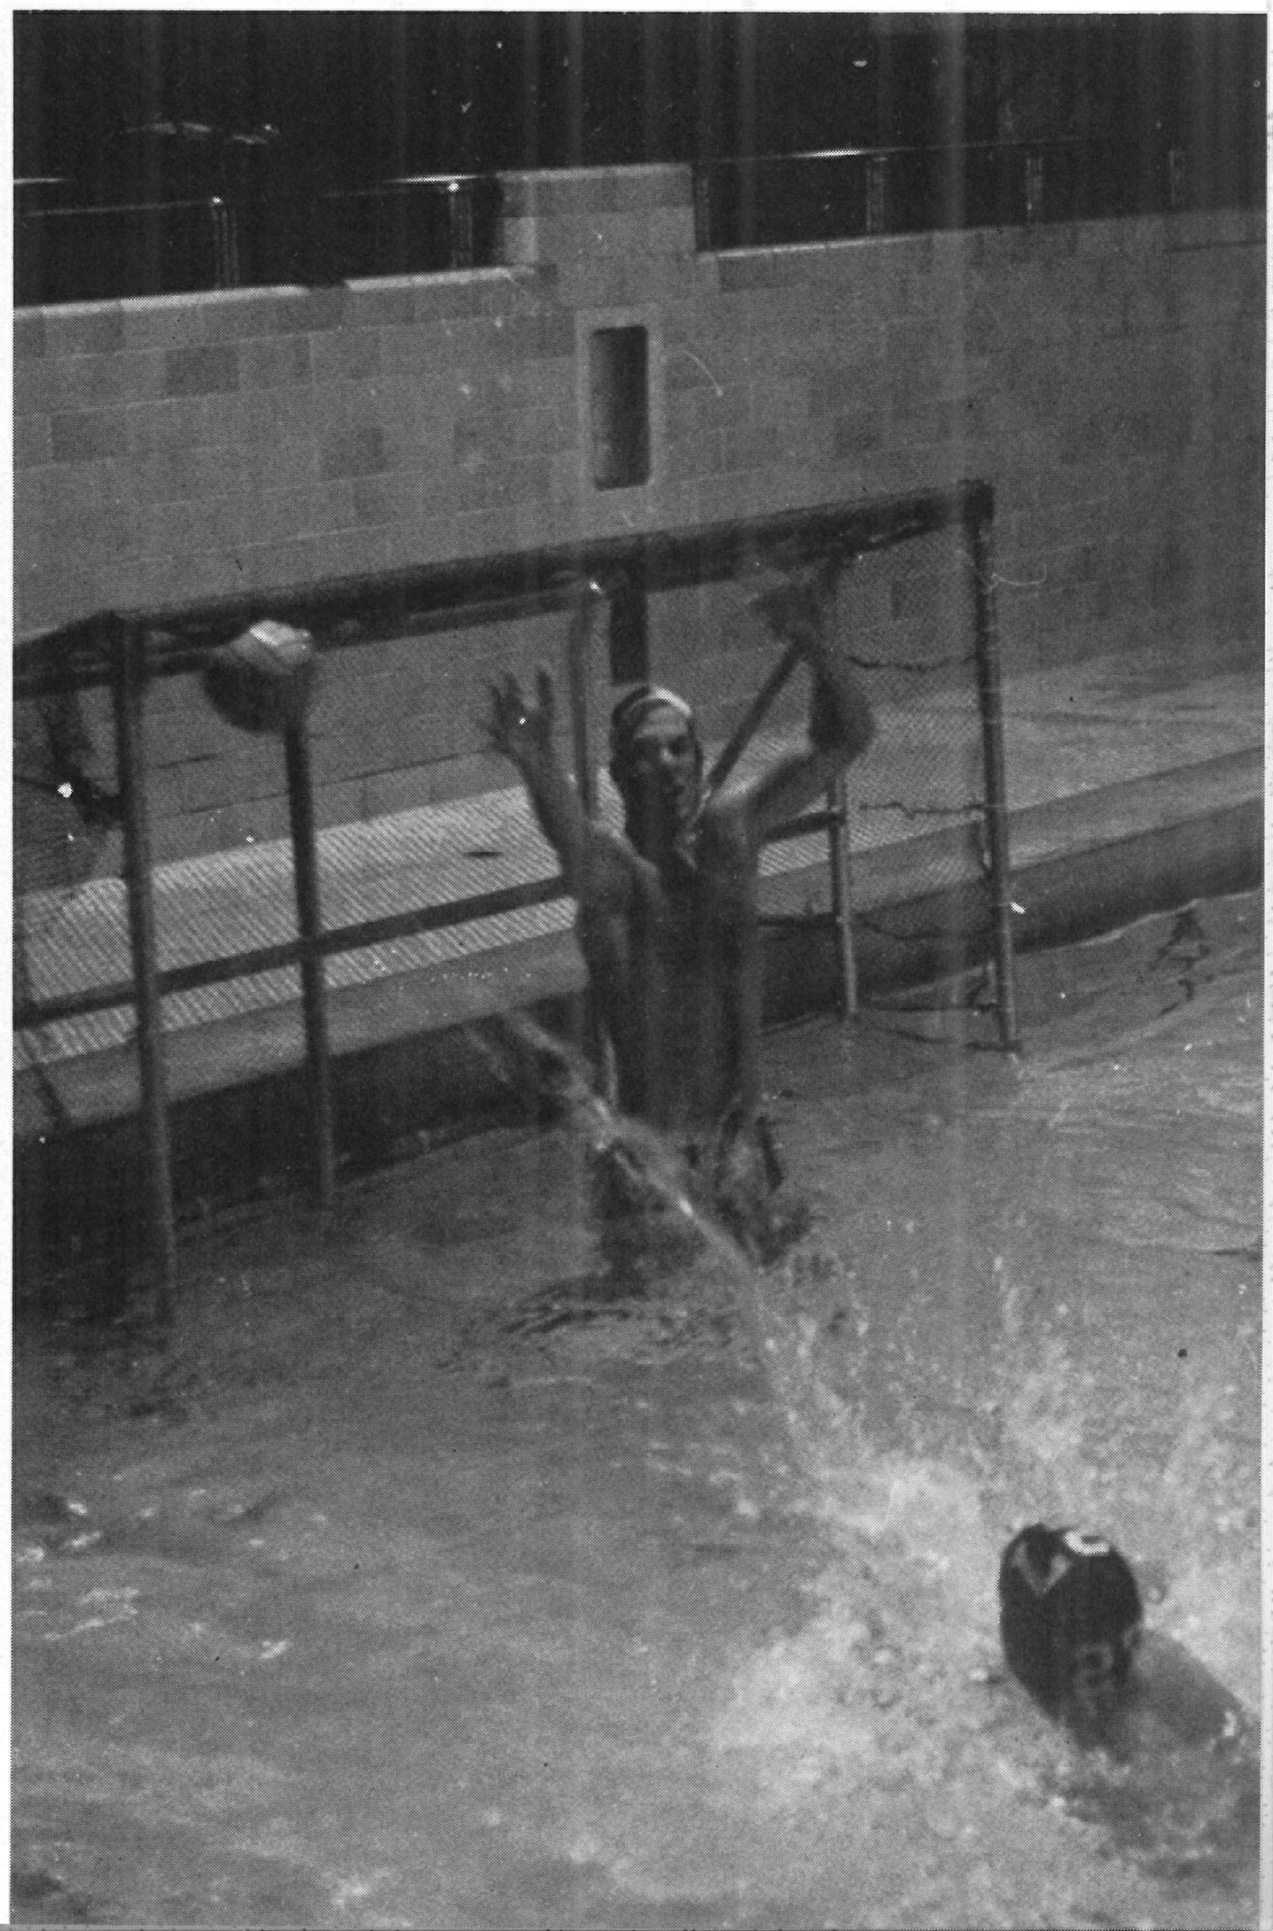

After preventing a UPS score, the Husky goalie has the option of what to do with the ball.

The idea is to stop the ball . . . or the other player.

Interest was great enough to set up two teams.

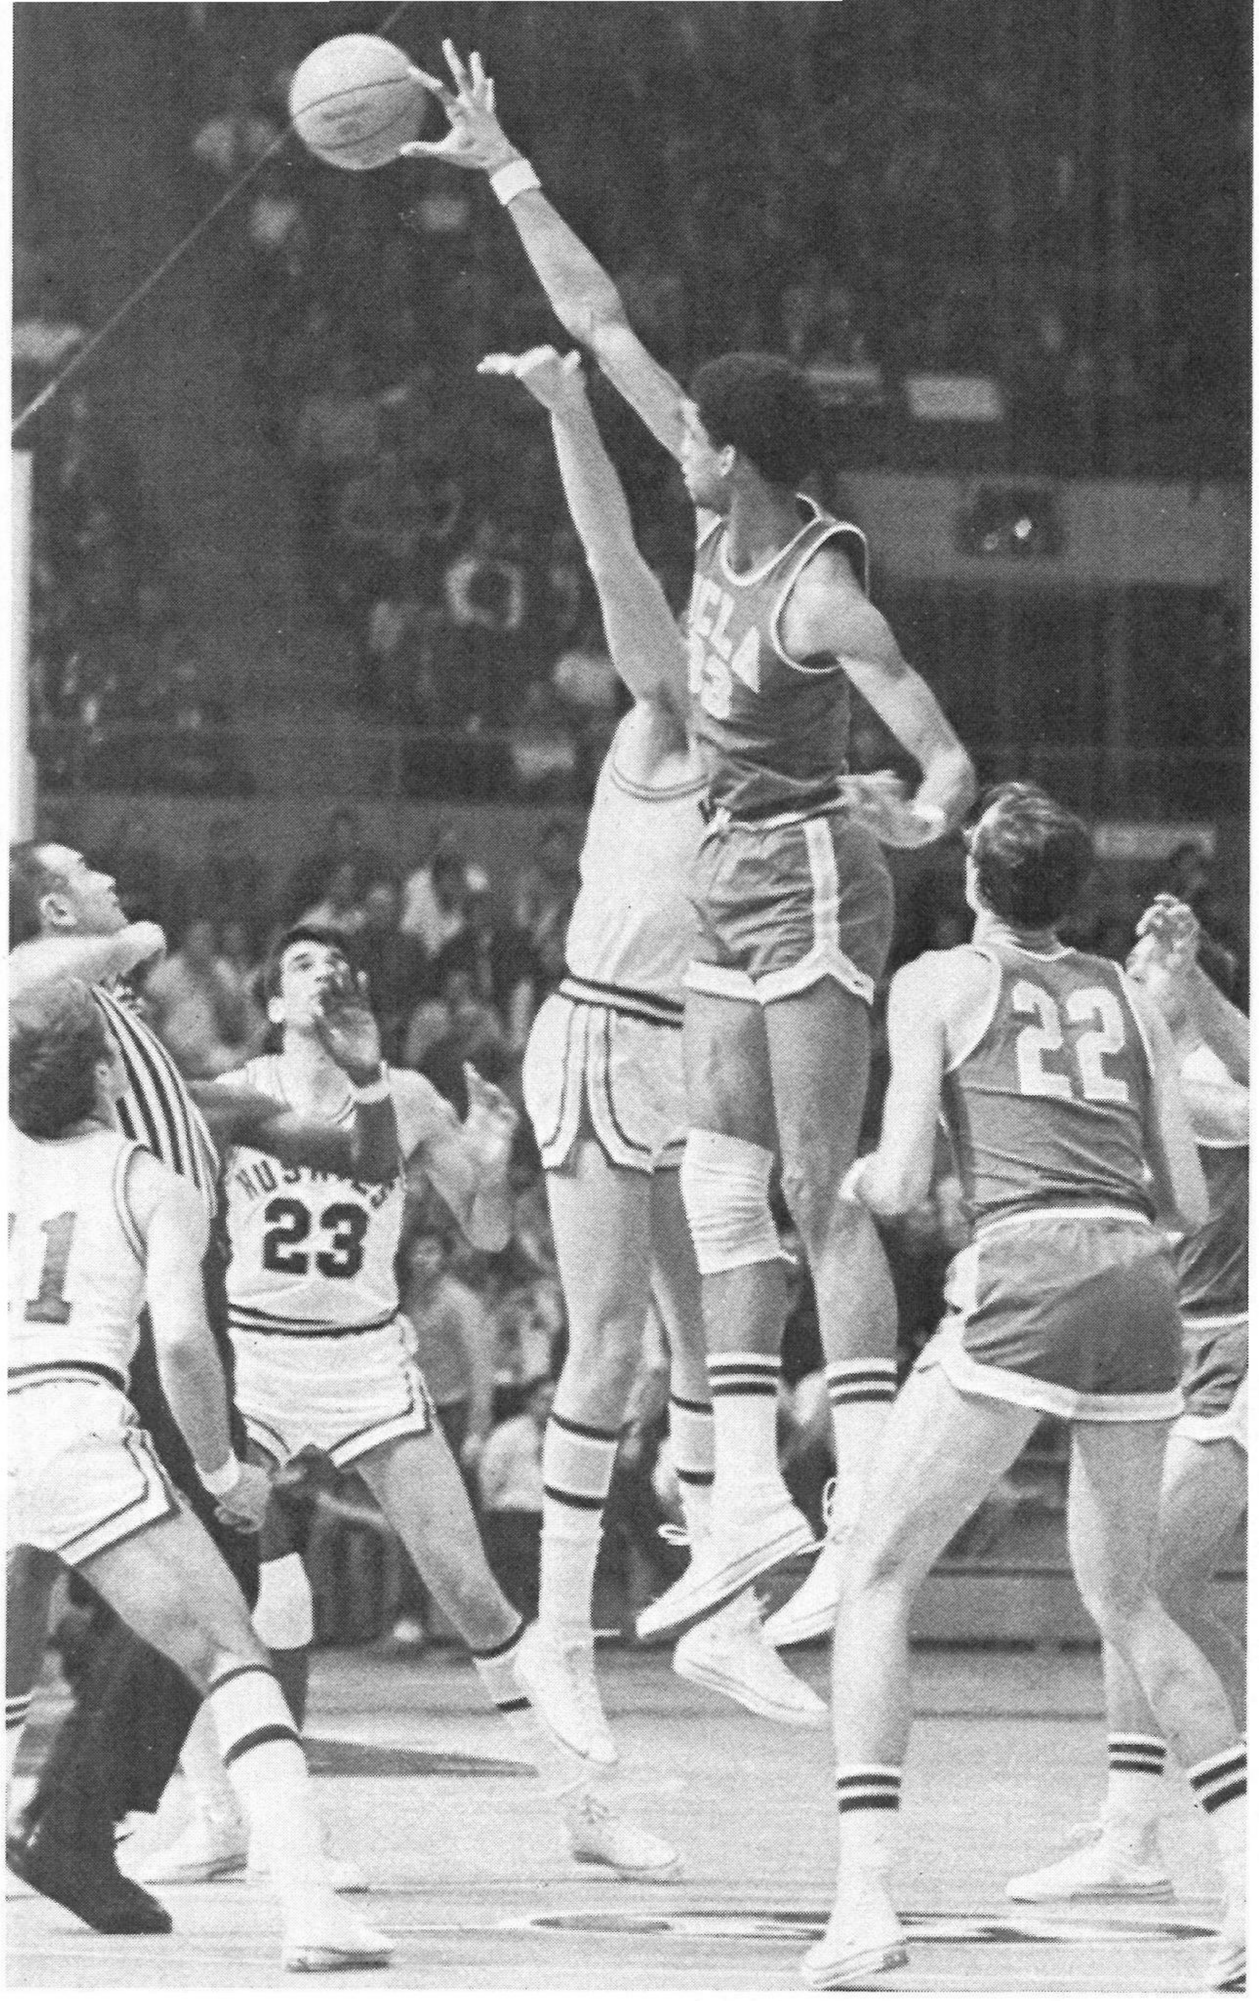

Rugby Is Brutal Mayhem

Yet Players Love It

Neither rain, snow nor gloom of night will stay these ruggers from their plight.

A sport where injuries are expected isn't exactly pleasant. In fact, rugby may aptly be described as organized mayhem. There are no substitutions, no time outs and the game goes on even when the sky is falling.

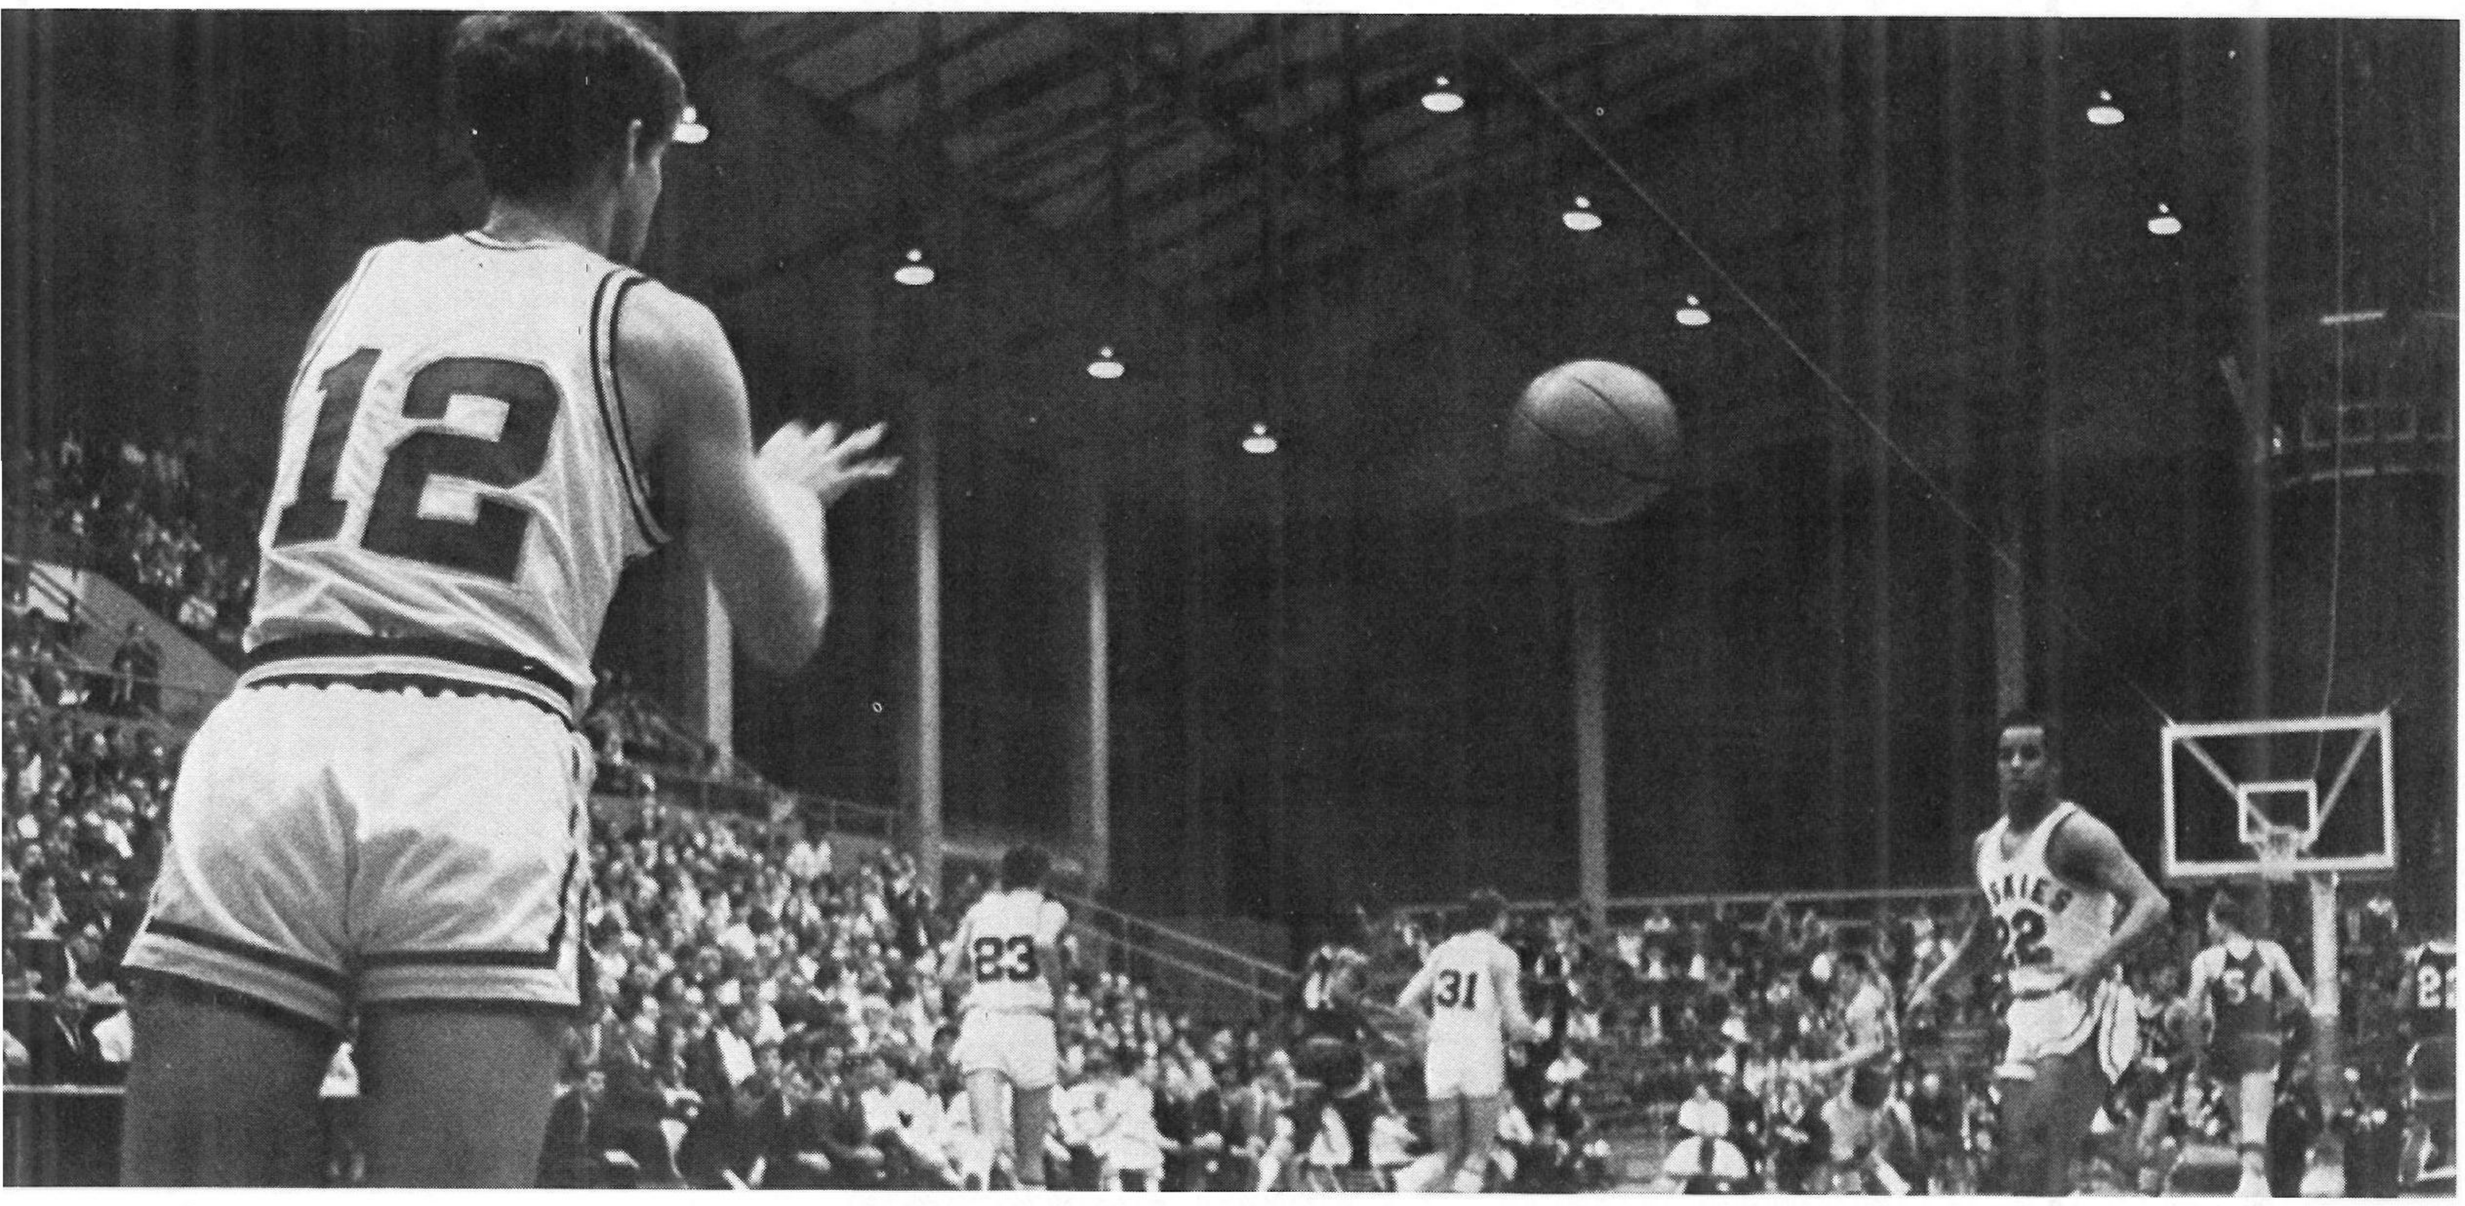

More often than not, the ball is hidden by a flailing fusion of combatants fiercely attempting to gain control for their team. It is sort of a violent combination of soccer and football without pads. Because rugby is a game requiring more brute strength than finesse, body contact predominates playing. Despite the injuries, weather and lack of fans, the players seem to love it. Even though early losses were suffered at the hands of the experienced Canadians, Coach Jeff Corkill expressed optimism for later matches.

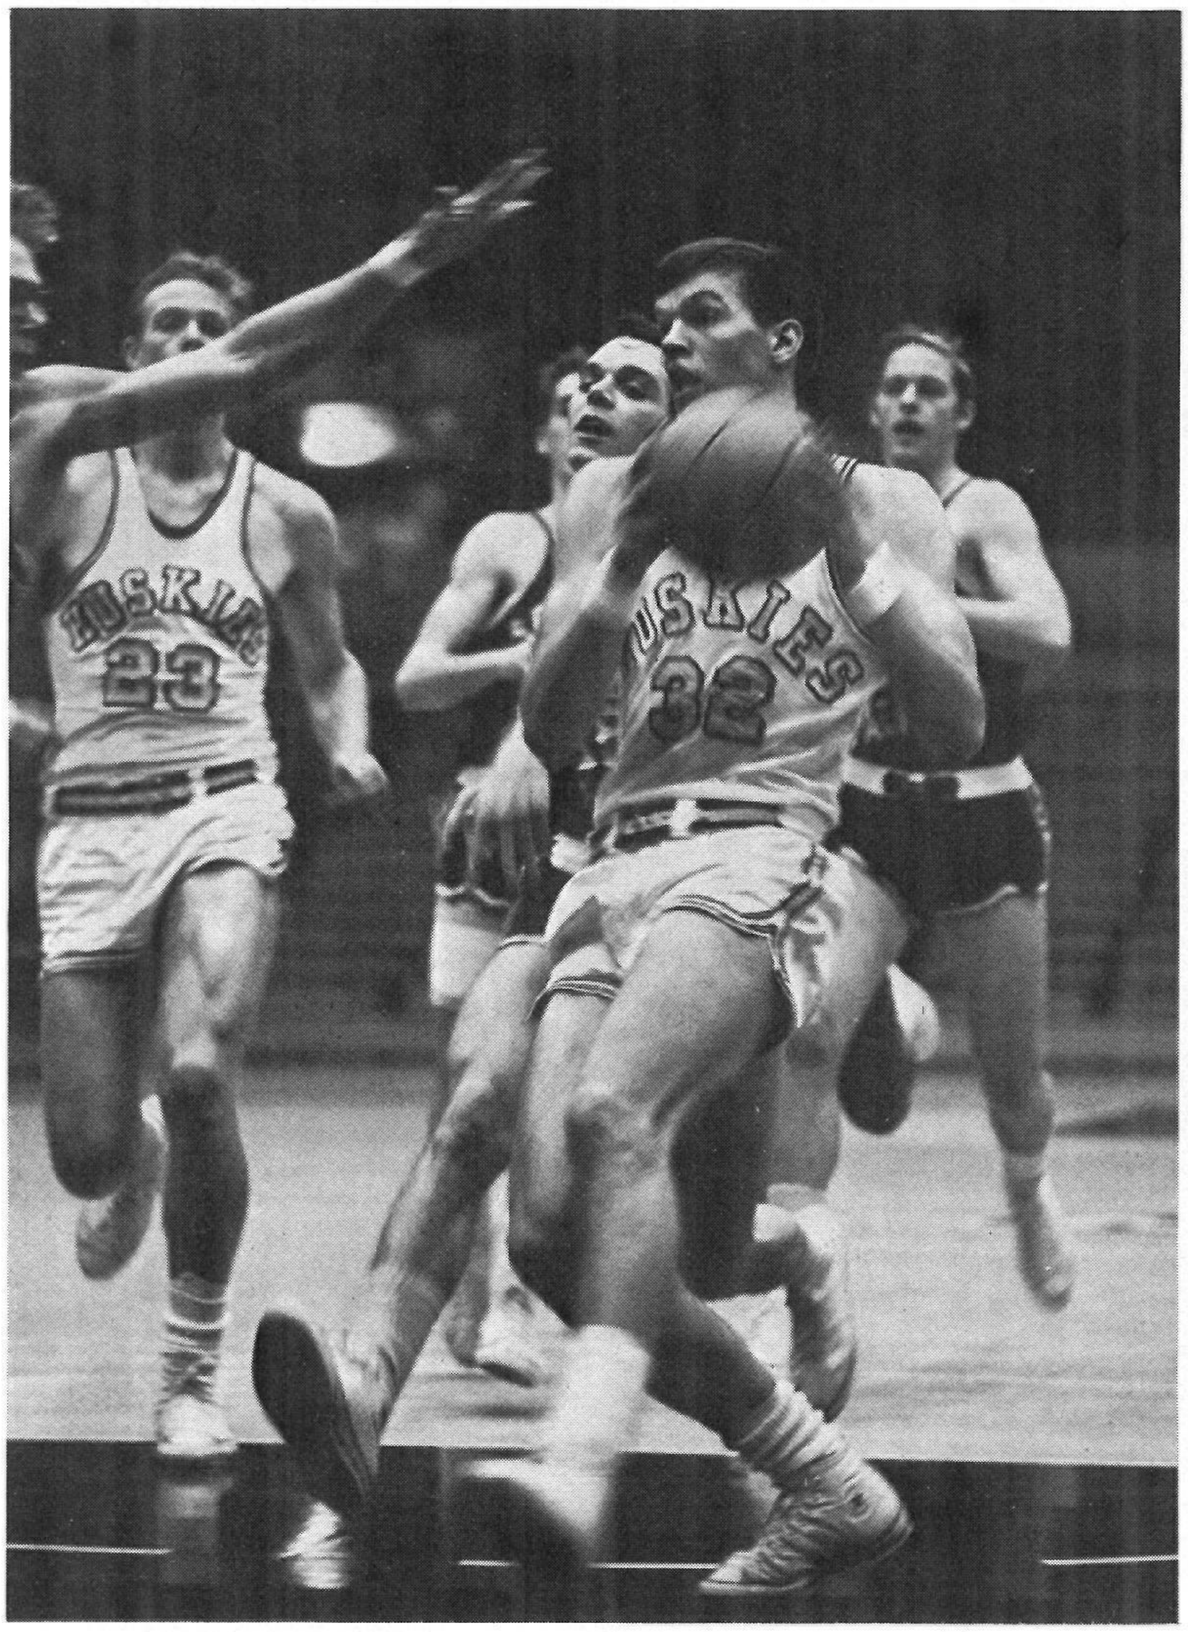

'A Discouraging .500,' First to Scare UCLA, Soft Athletes?

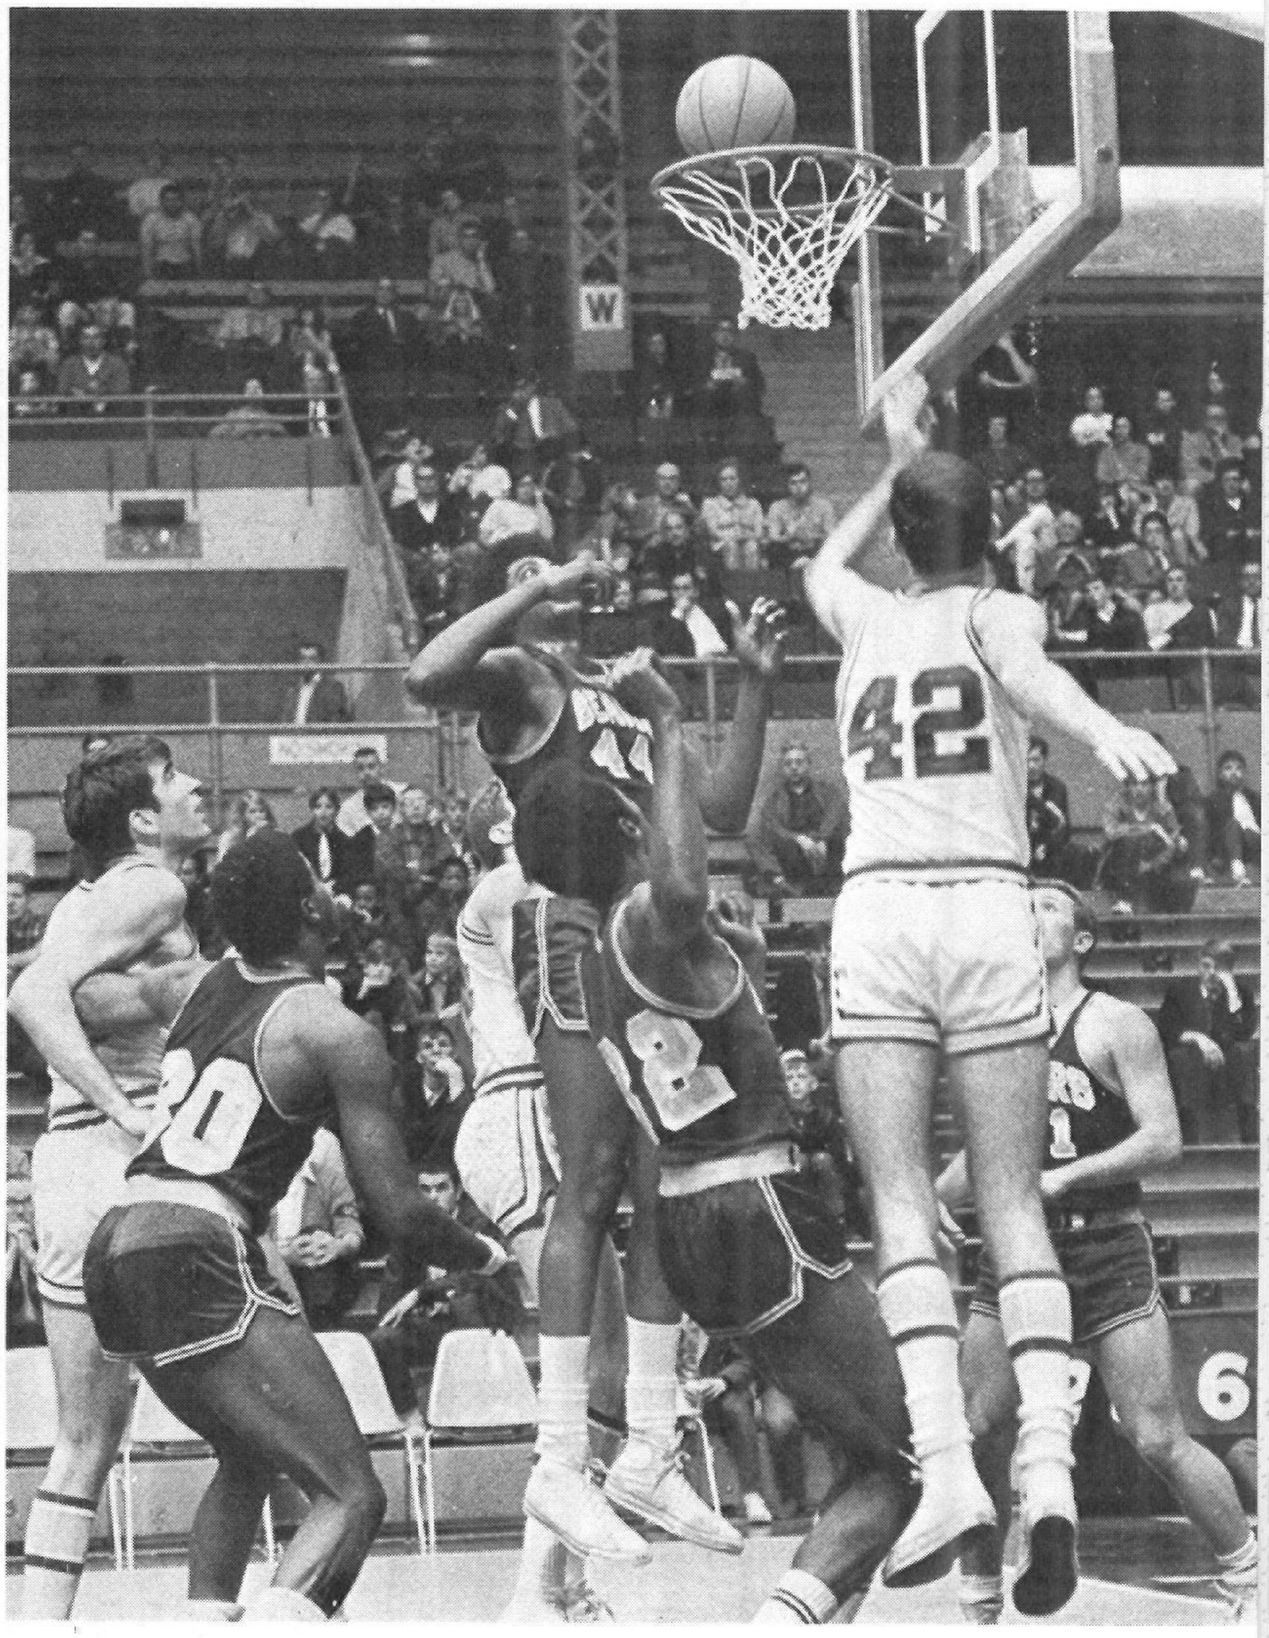

An exciting future for Husky basketball seemed imminent when Tex Winter took over the reins left by retiring basketball coach Mac Duckworth. A "new look" was promised. A new look reflected not only in a more dynamic game, but in the season record as well. Coach Winter fully expected a major improvement in team performance. With an awesome record behind him, Winter sought to adapt his time-tested approach to the Huskies. For some reason it didn't work.

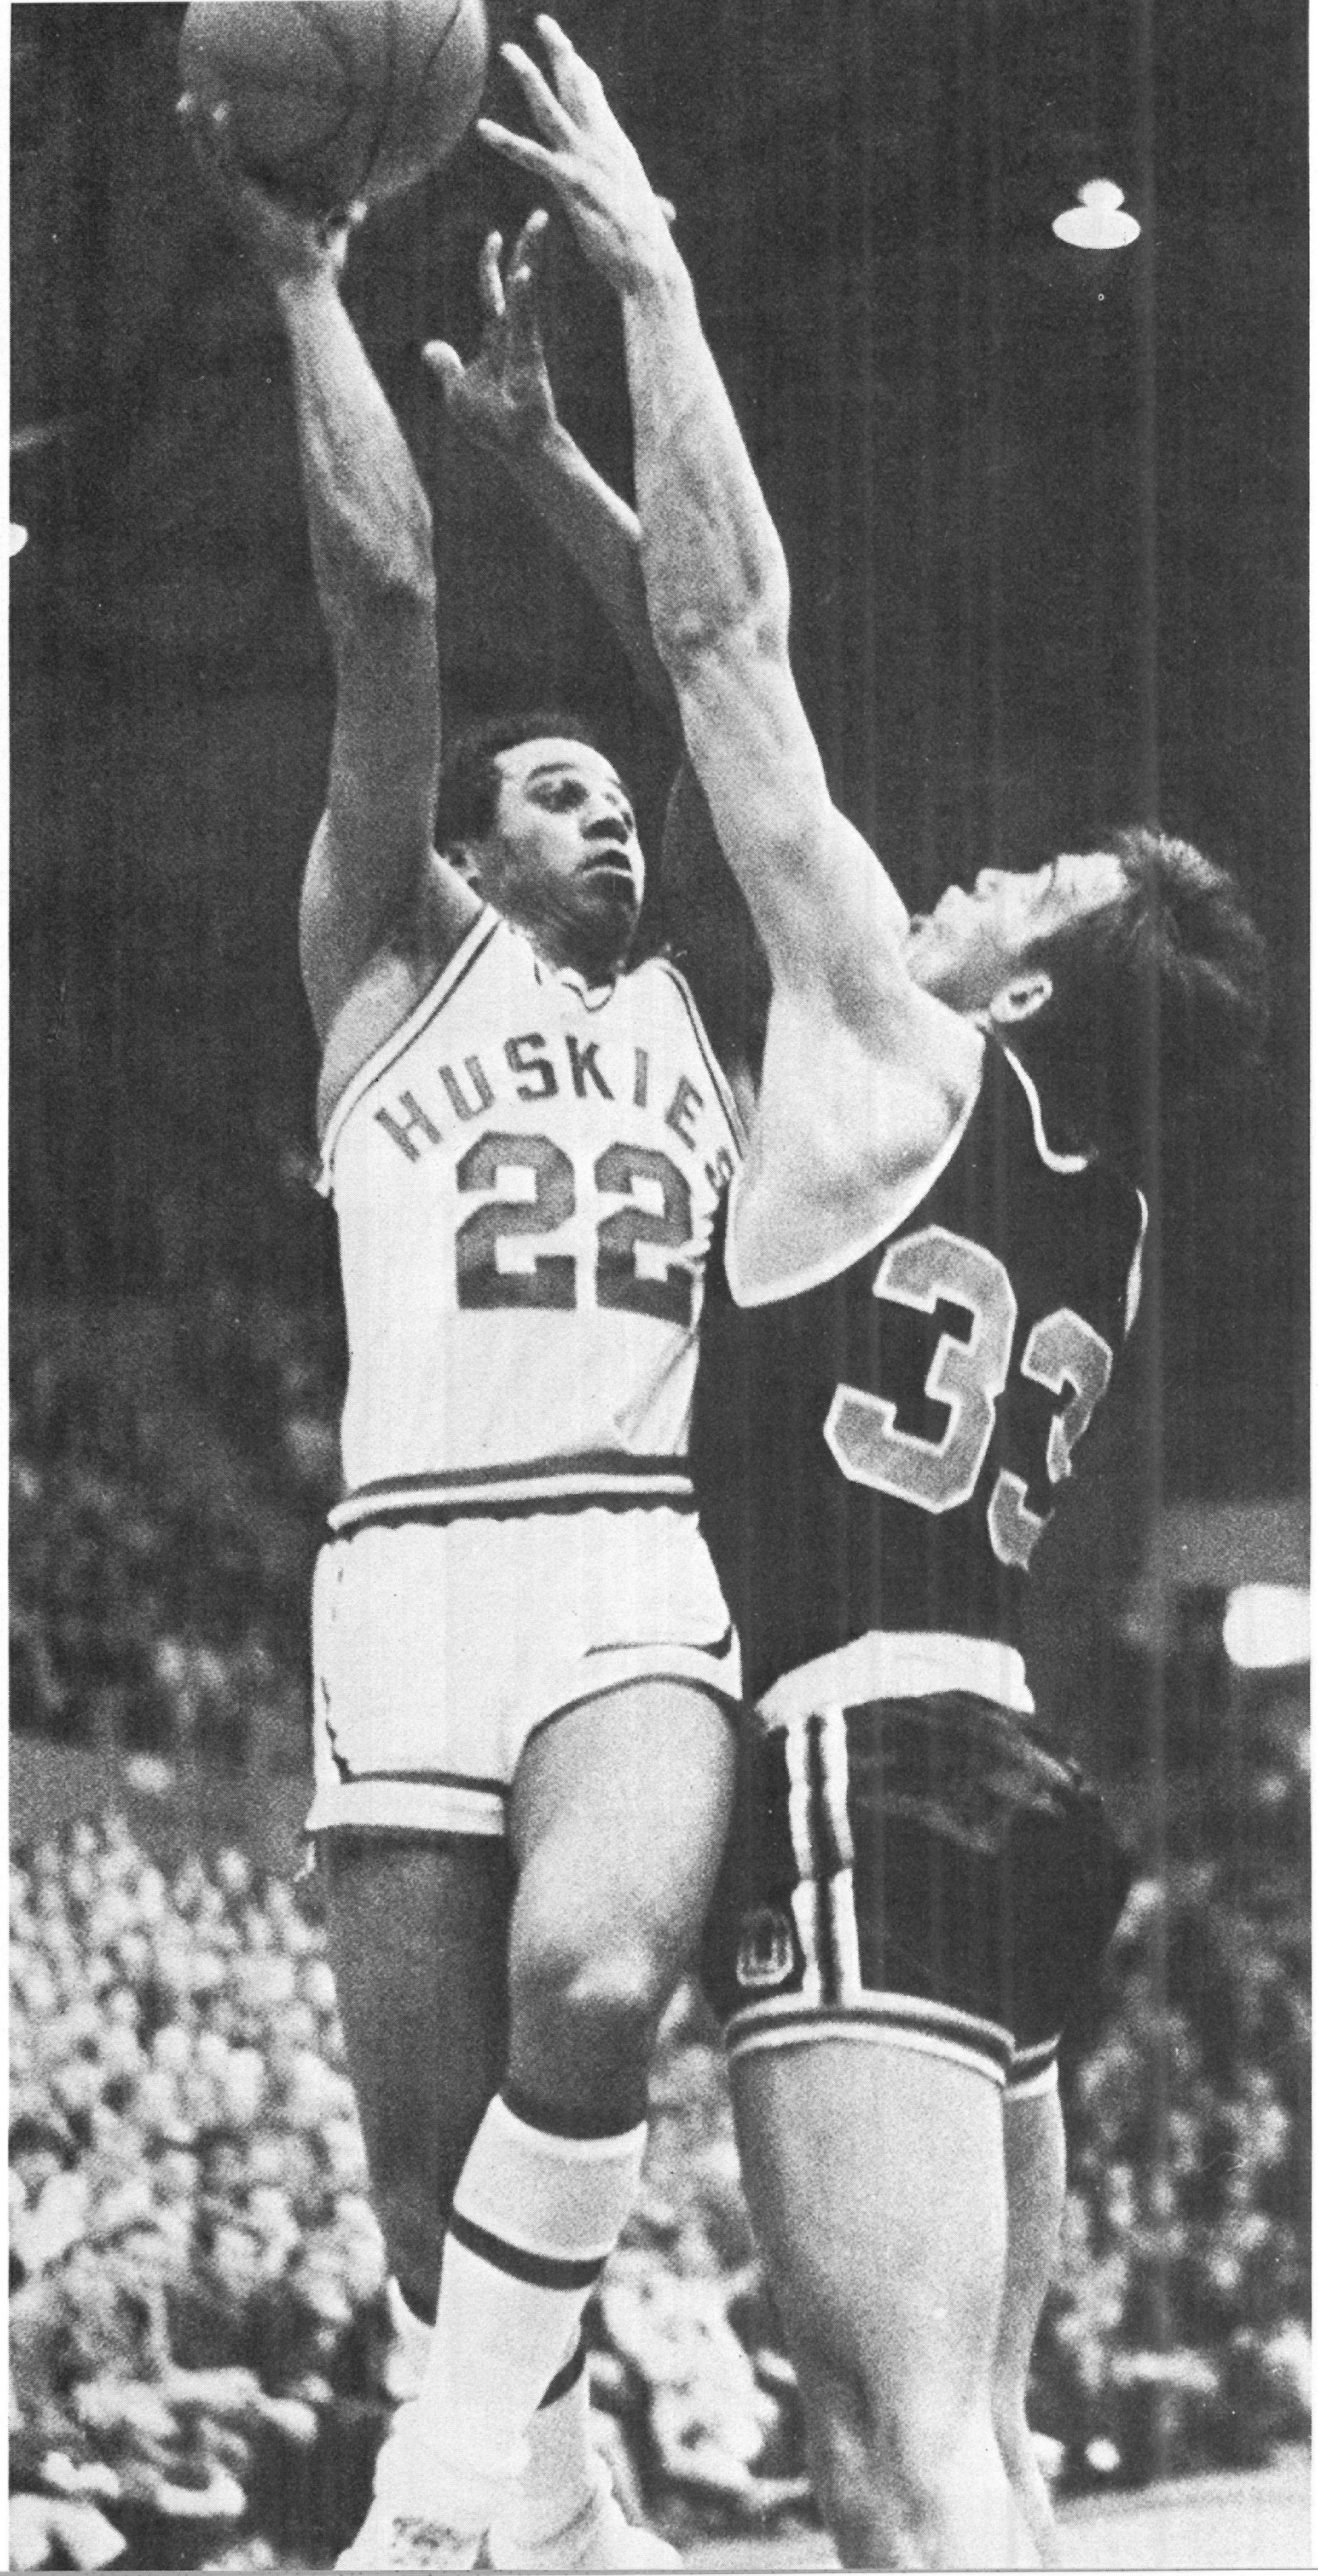

The Huskies did improve this season, but it wasn't much. Despite occasional brilliance, the record was only 13 wins and 13 losses, only one game better than last year. Conference standing rose from seventh to fourth, but Coach Winter was discouraged.

George Irvine bolstered the Husky effort all season.

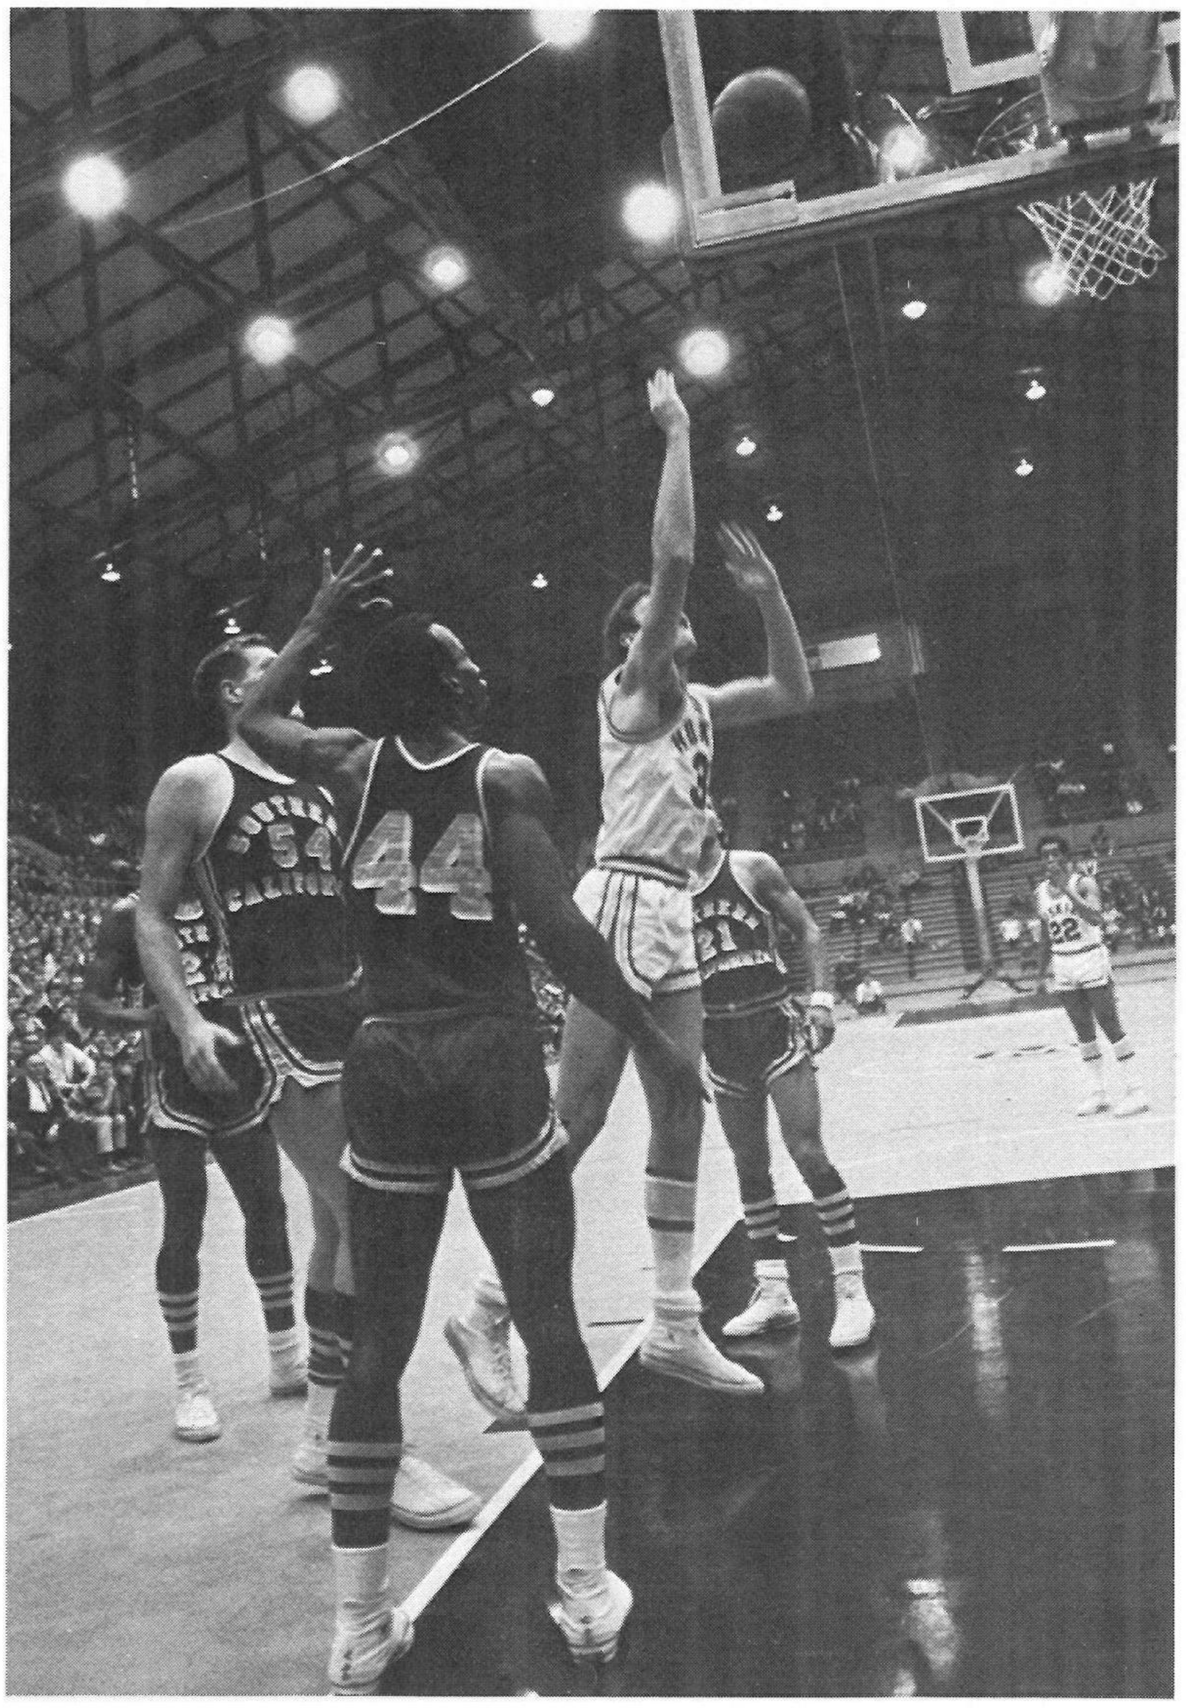

In the locker room after the final game, Coach Winter addressed the startled team in a manner unprecedented at the UW. His fiery speech reverberated in the sports columns of local papers. For Winter told it as it was. He put into words the thoughts of many.

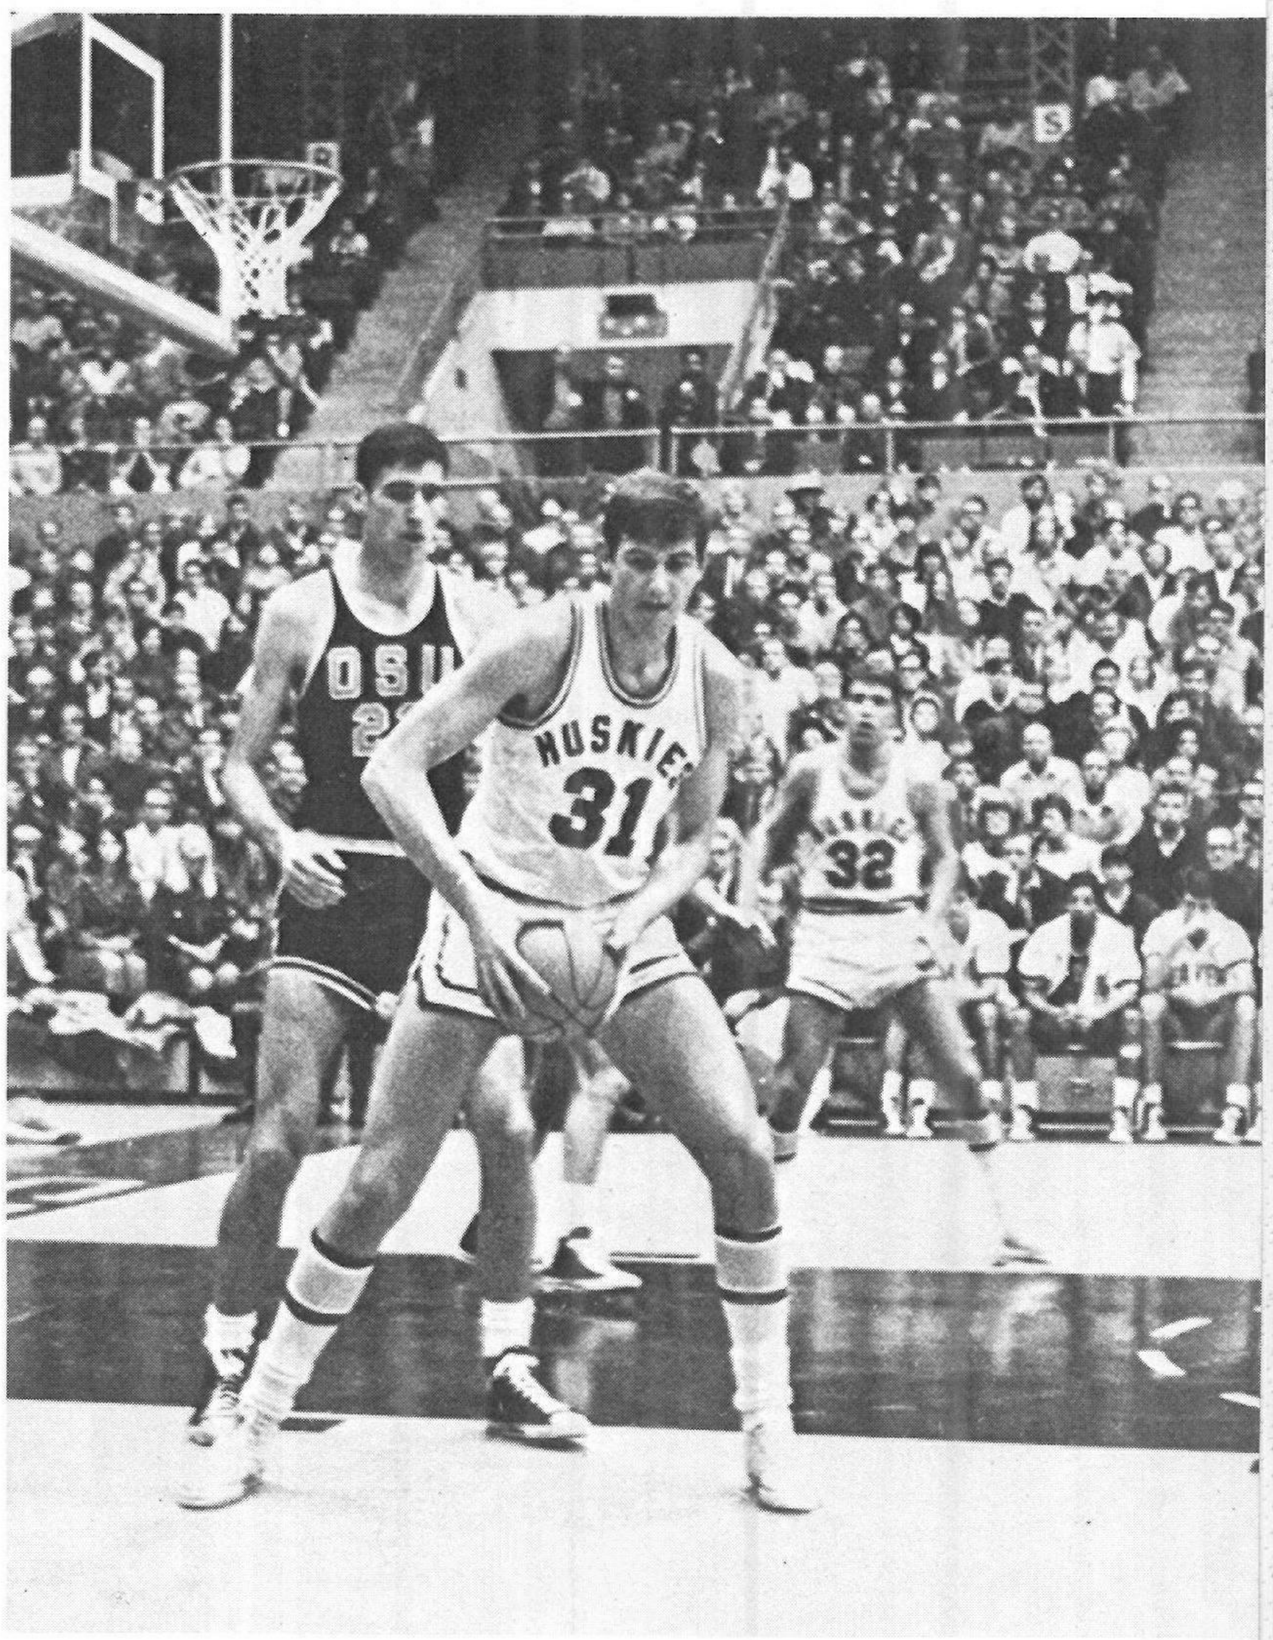

There is a distinct lack of "physical and mental toughness" among Washington athletes. "They go out and do the best they think they can and let it go at that." No special sacrifices are made, no 110% effort exerted.

Winter's remarks must be taken seriously. His past record and years of experience indicate his competence. Despite Winter's disappointment, however, Husky basketball fans looked forward hopefully to next year. All of his starters will return, older and wiser, as seniors. A new crop of big, fast sophomores will provide help and competition for the veterans.

Injuries and Illness Devastate Gymnasts

How can a coach go wrong? Key men out or on the partial duty roster and still consistent victories. The gymnastics team had a lot more depth than anyone anticipated. Despite the fact that key performers were often out, the team indicated its NCAA championship potential by many excellent performances.

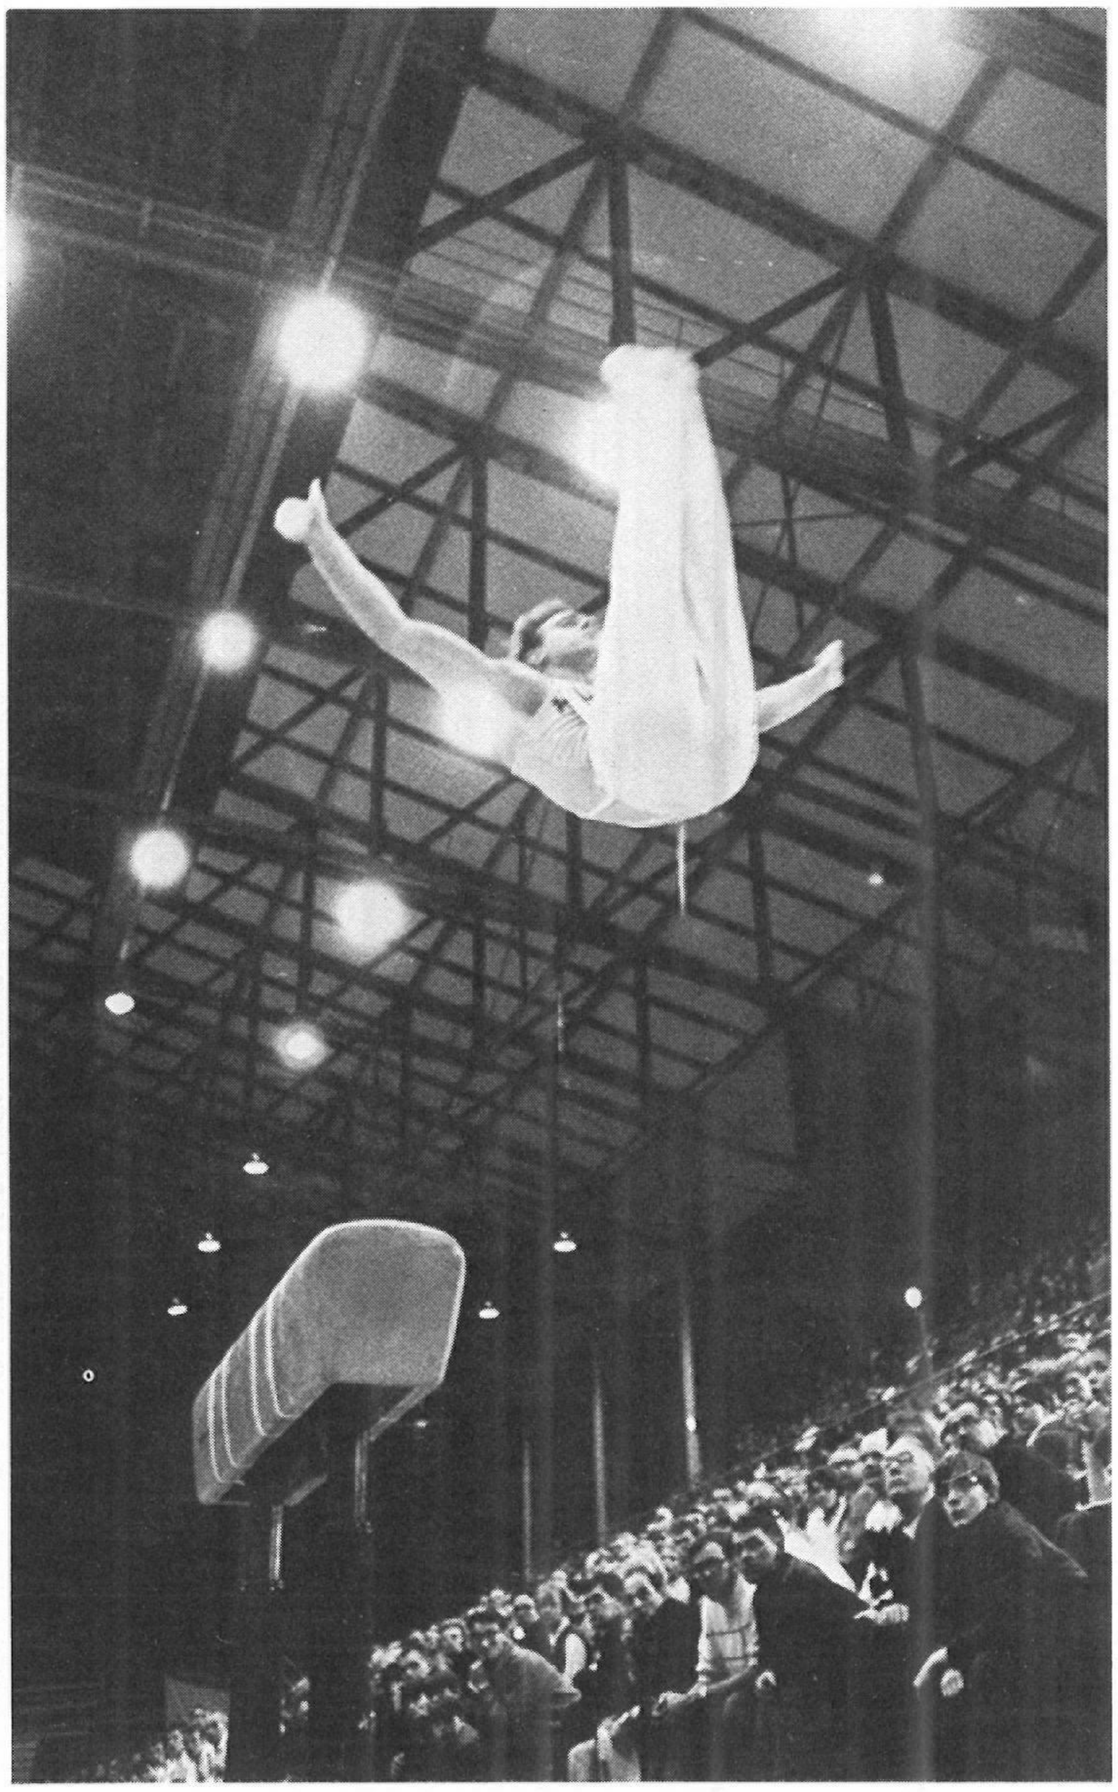

Coach Eric L. Hughes attributed the success to outstanding individual effort. He said people whom he didn't expect to compete much were "just coming through real well."

Not to be outdone by the Varsity, the frosh also came through well, compiling an outstanding record. With its great depth, UW may very well be on the way to becoming a consistent, national gymnastics power.

Starting the season with a vengeance, the Husky wrestlers threw opposing teams four straight times. It looked as if Coach Jim Smith's feeling that the Huskies "are tougher than hell" was amply justified.

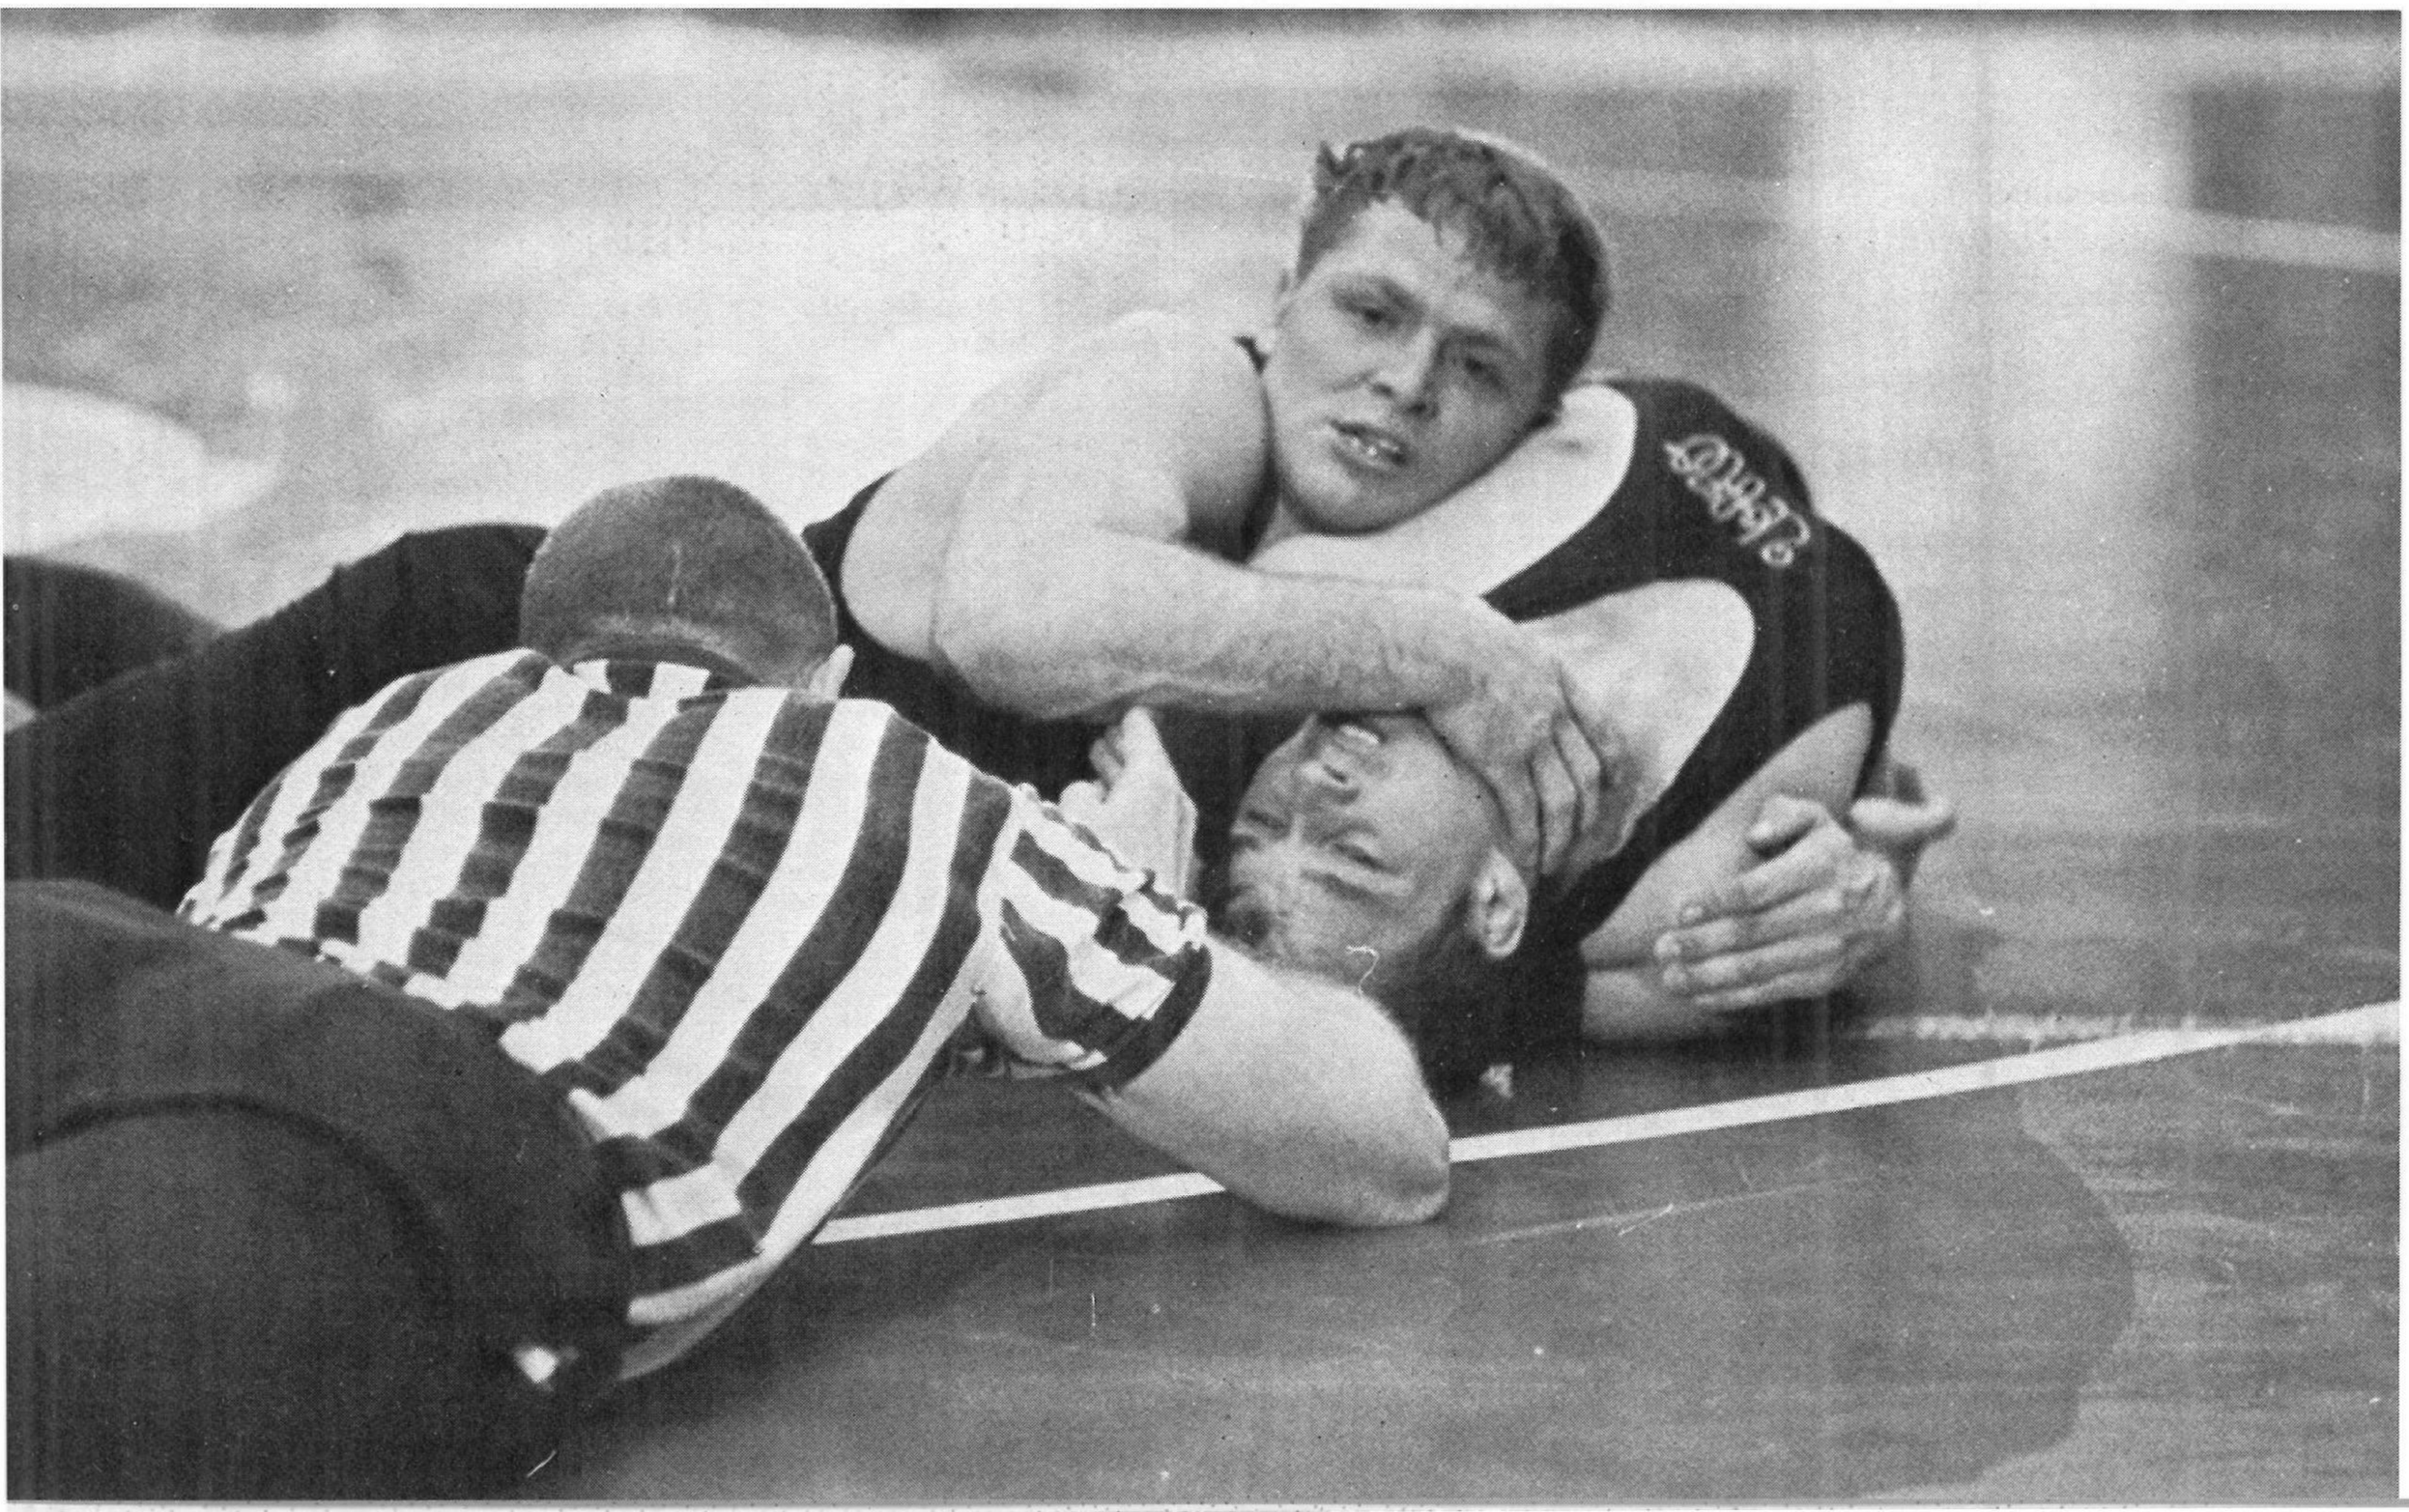

A few falls later, the grapplers were in the awkward position of having several defeats. Injuries and other factors took their toll. At one point the decimated team could not perform in any weight division.

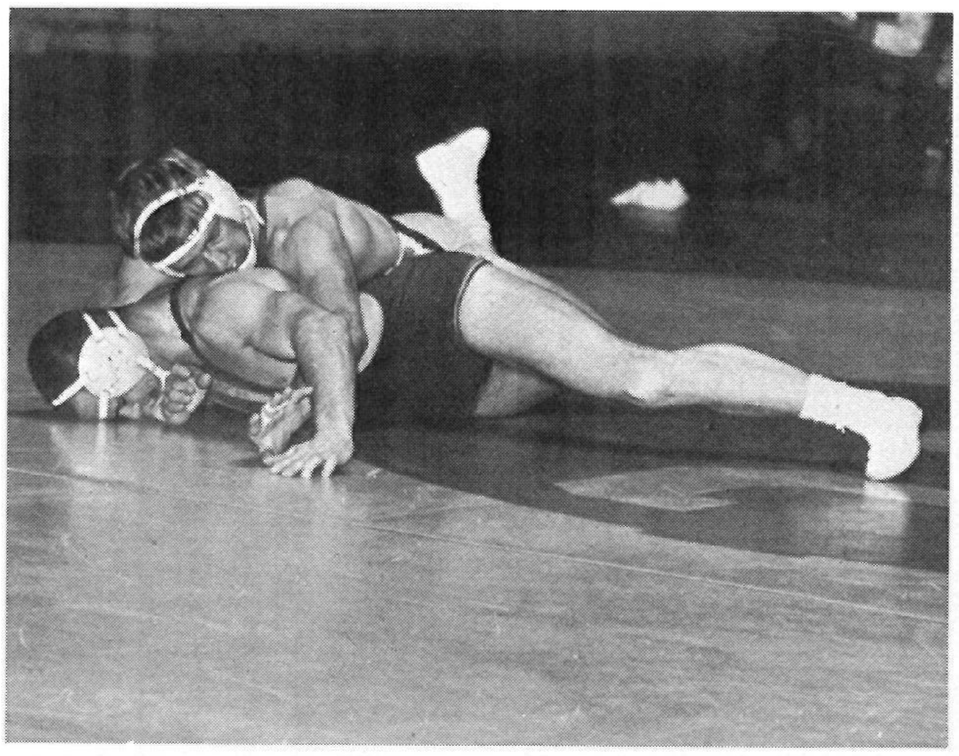

Performance remained inconsistent despite the return of key men. However, the team placed second in the tough Pacific-8 meet and was building a national reputation. Randy Berg, last year's PAC-8 lightweight champion, didn't lose a match and defended his title successfully.

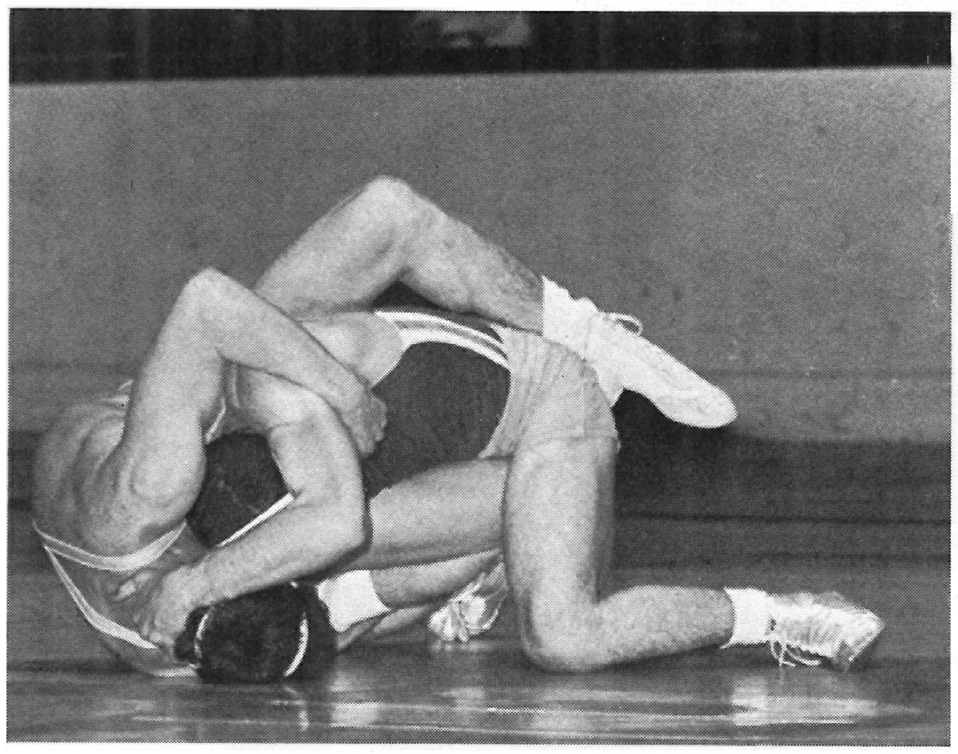

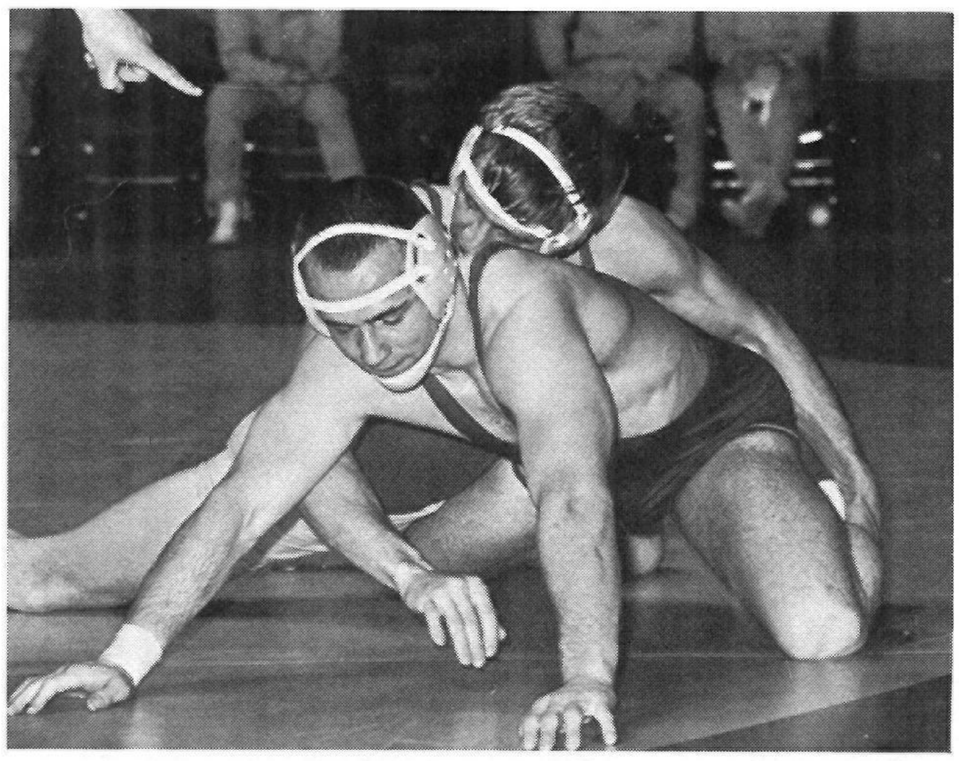

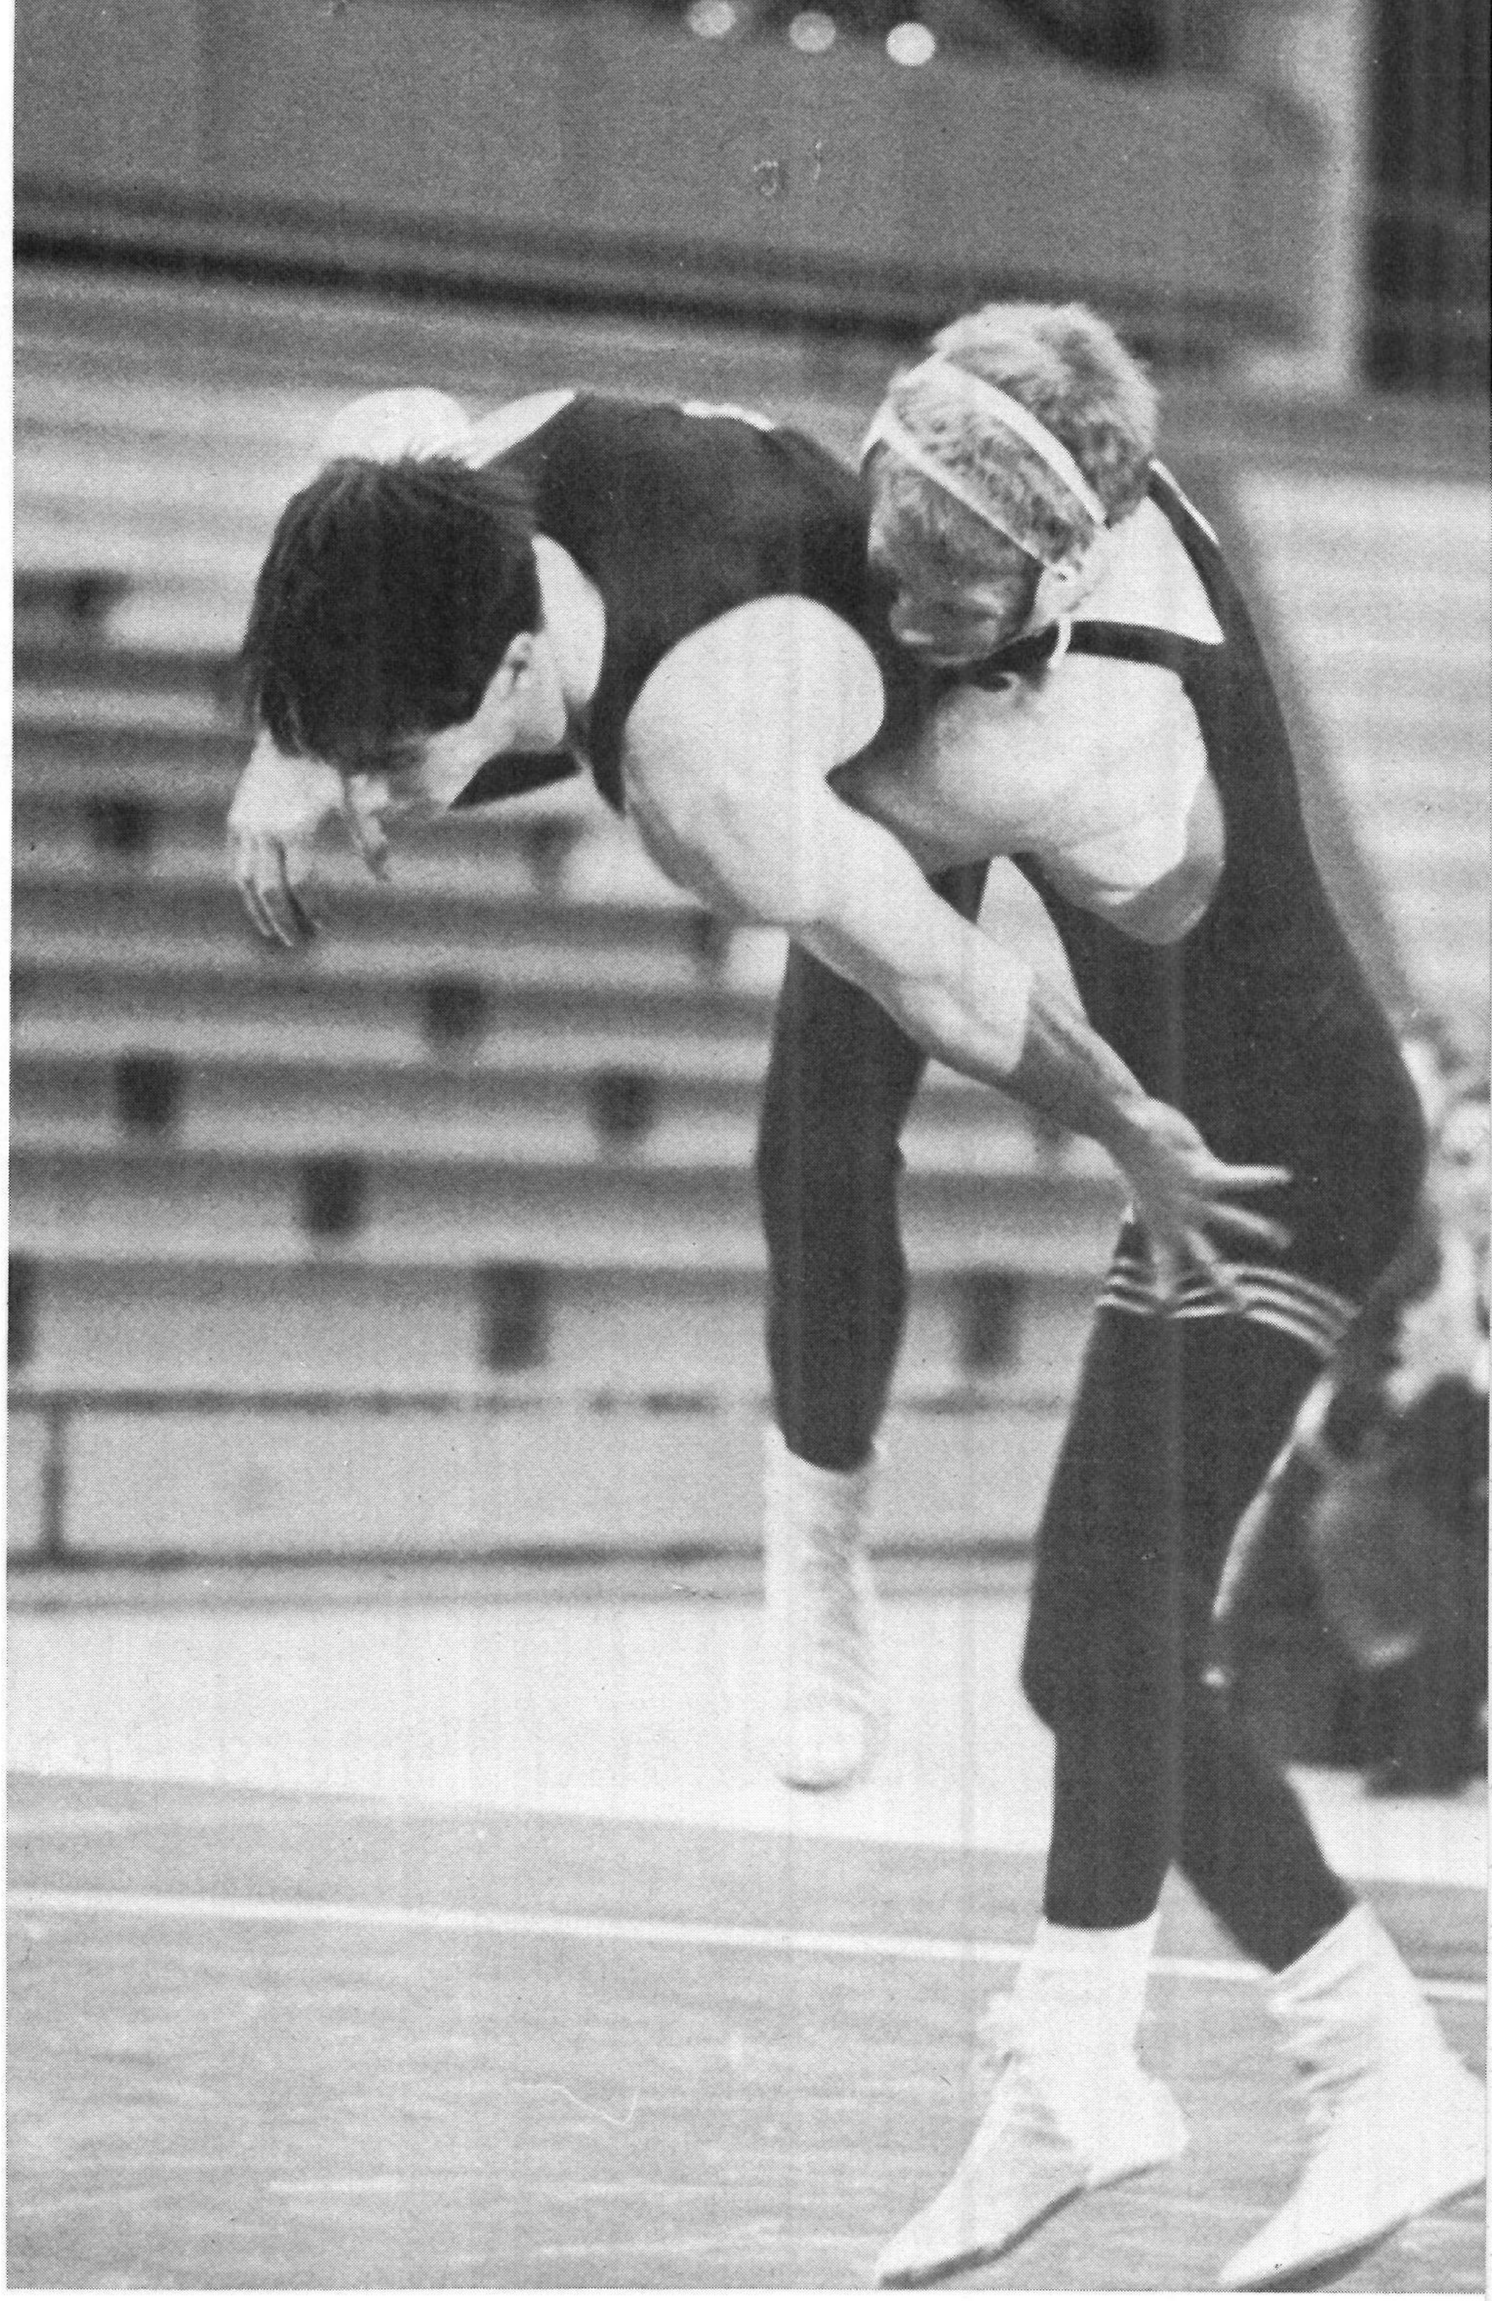

Grapplers Begin Season with Vengeance

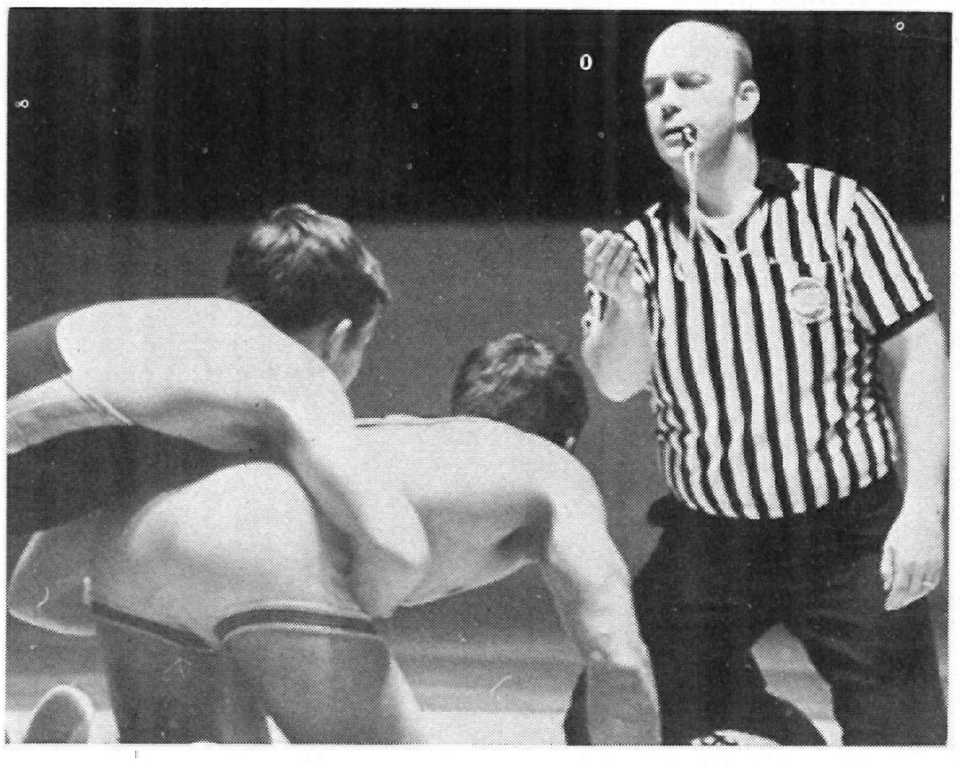

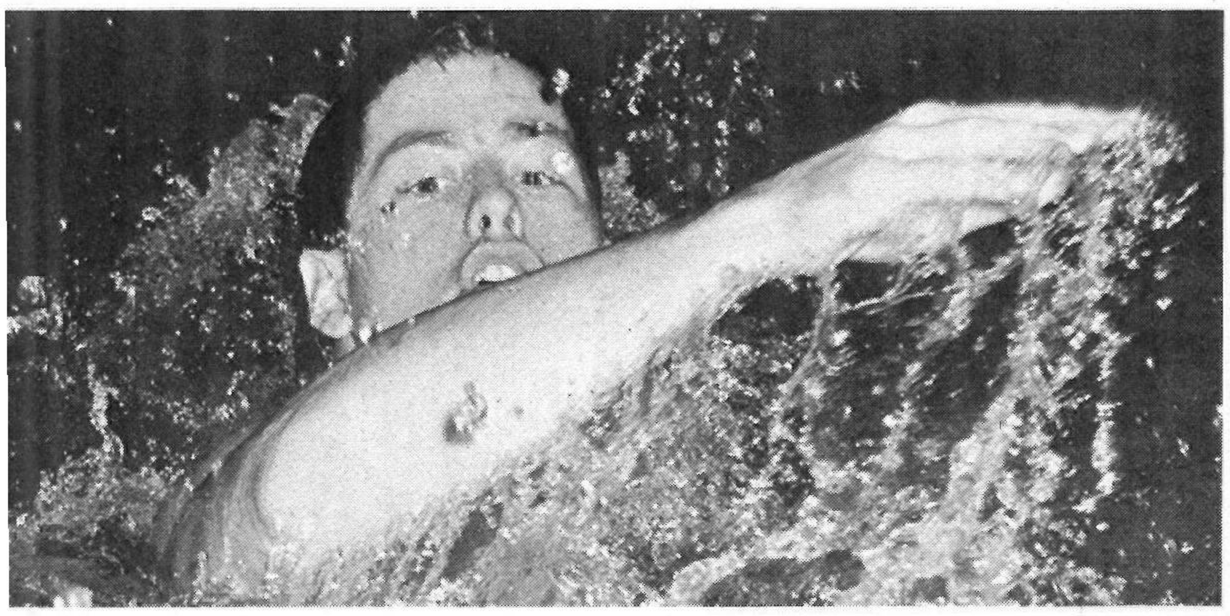

Many close finishes kept mermen tense all year.

Judges and Timers Ready, Swimmers Take Your

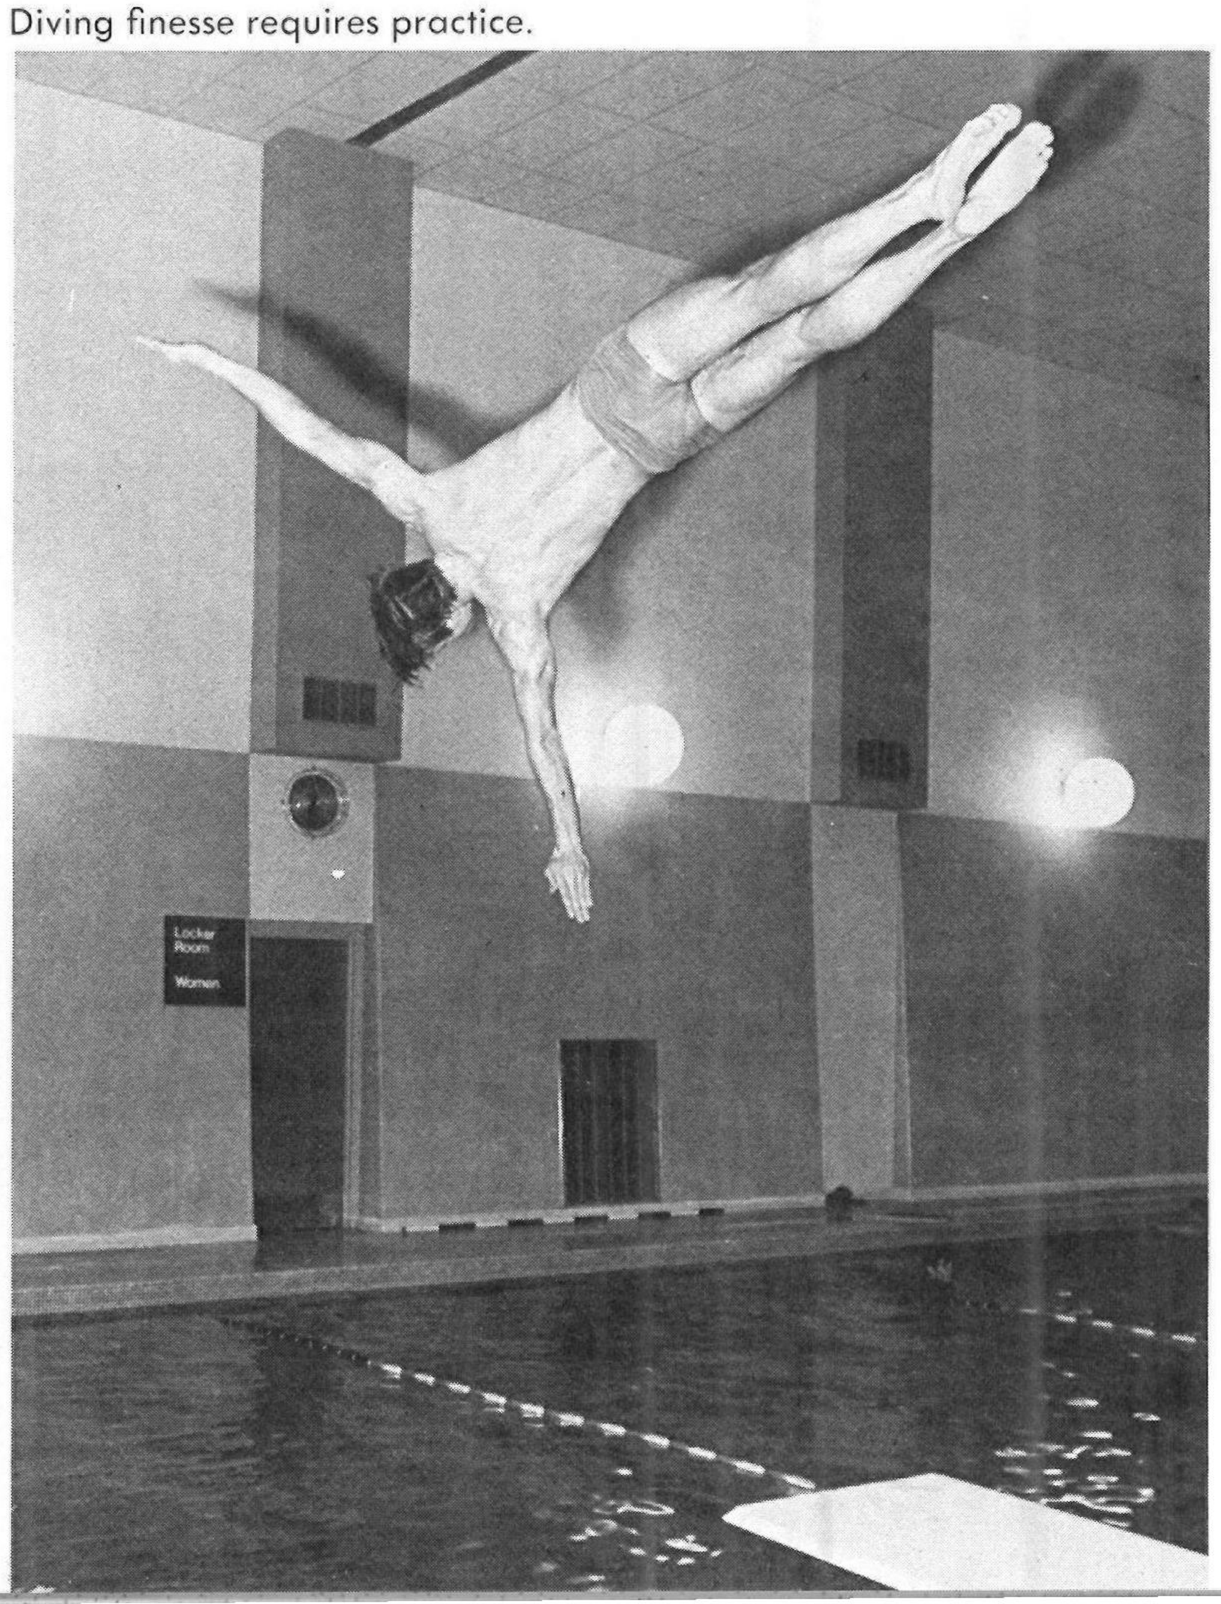

Before a season even begins, miles and hours of practice are behind each swimmer. They don't enter competition in the PAC-8 without a lot of preparation, especially when the league is the nation's most rugged.

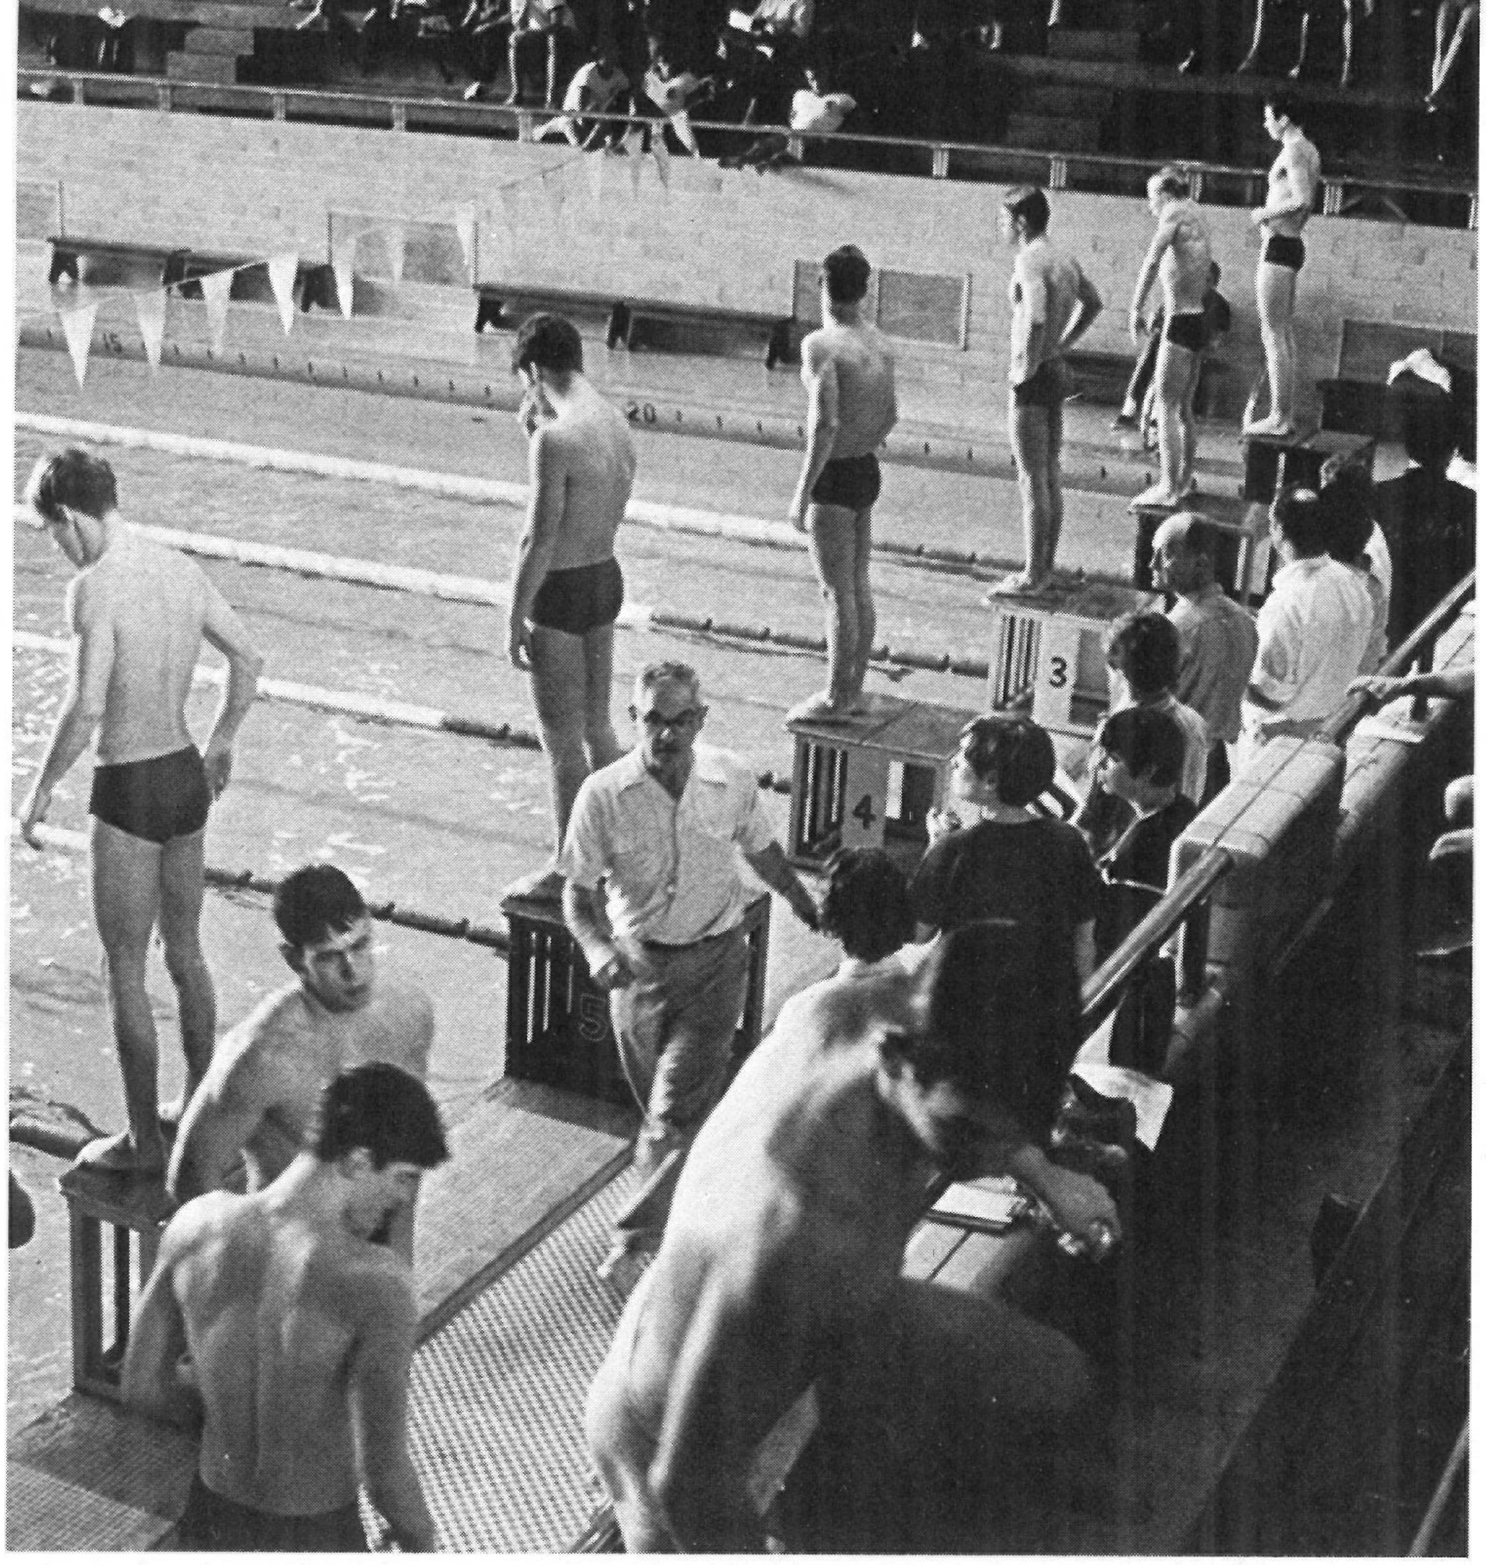

California teams go at it all year round, indoors and out. The experience apparently rubs off. UW tankers were left in the wake of Cal schools all season. But it wasn't a futile season. Added to some team victories were record setting individual performances. It was a case of being good in a league of the best.

'Pleasure Palace' Opens New Athletic Vistas

At long last Husky sports addicts have a place to unwind frustrations and bruise themselves thoroughly. After many construction delays and a check of foundation slippage, the Intramural Athletic Building was opened late in the fall. Catering to the many interests of faculty and students alike, "The Pleasure Palace" features an immense swimming pool, lounge and numerous courts and rooms for the pursuit of any sport in which one may care to indulge.

For the first time, the male and female athletic program meshed together on a regular basis, providing numerous co-ed sports activities.

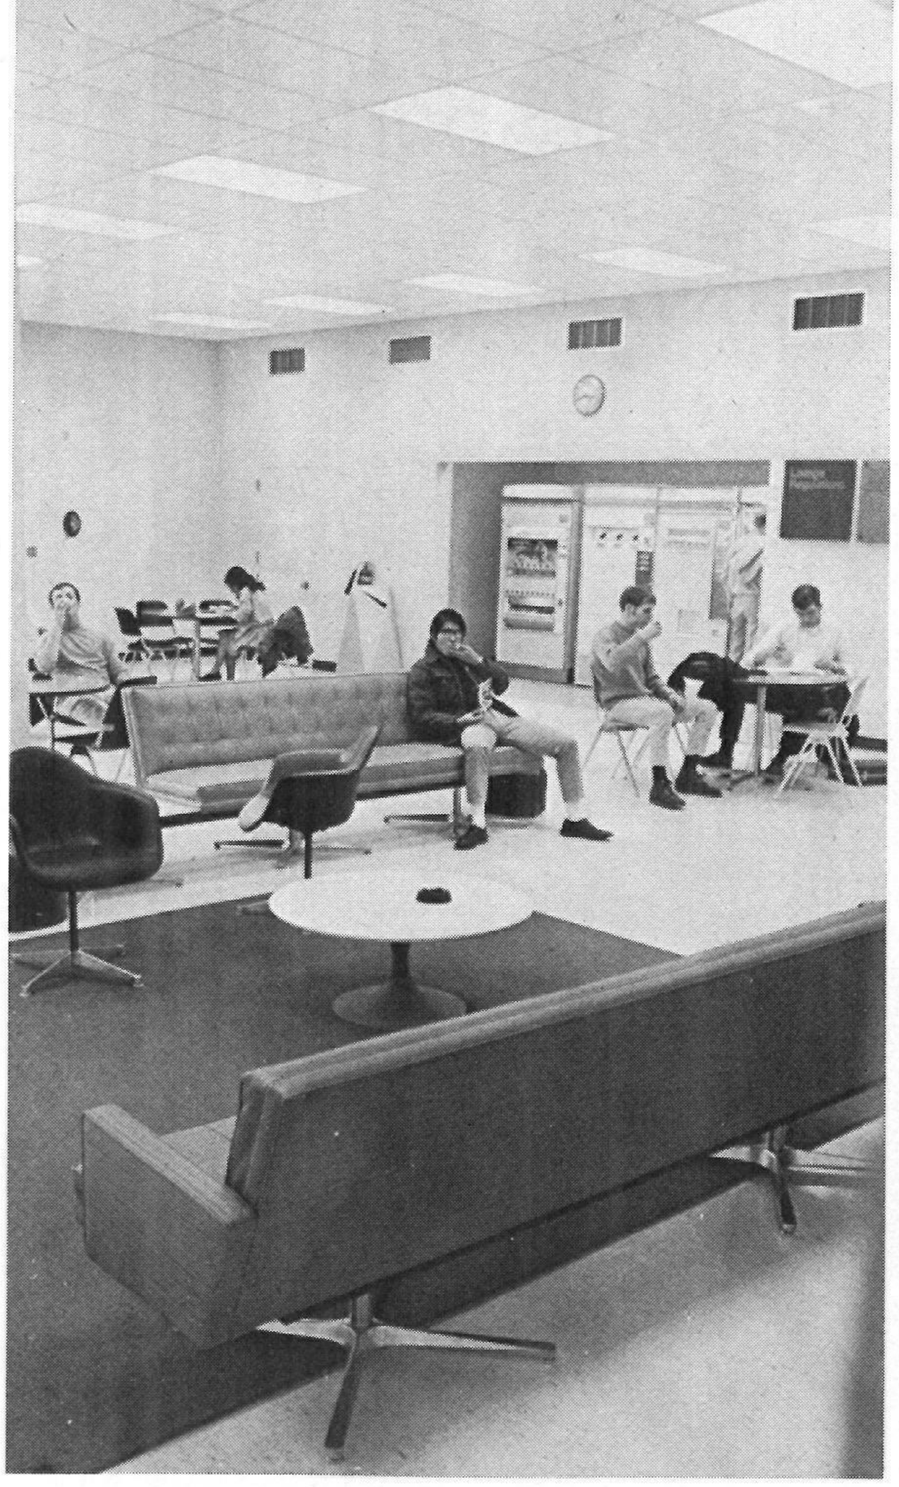

No lack of interest was evident when parking became a problem.

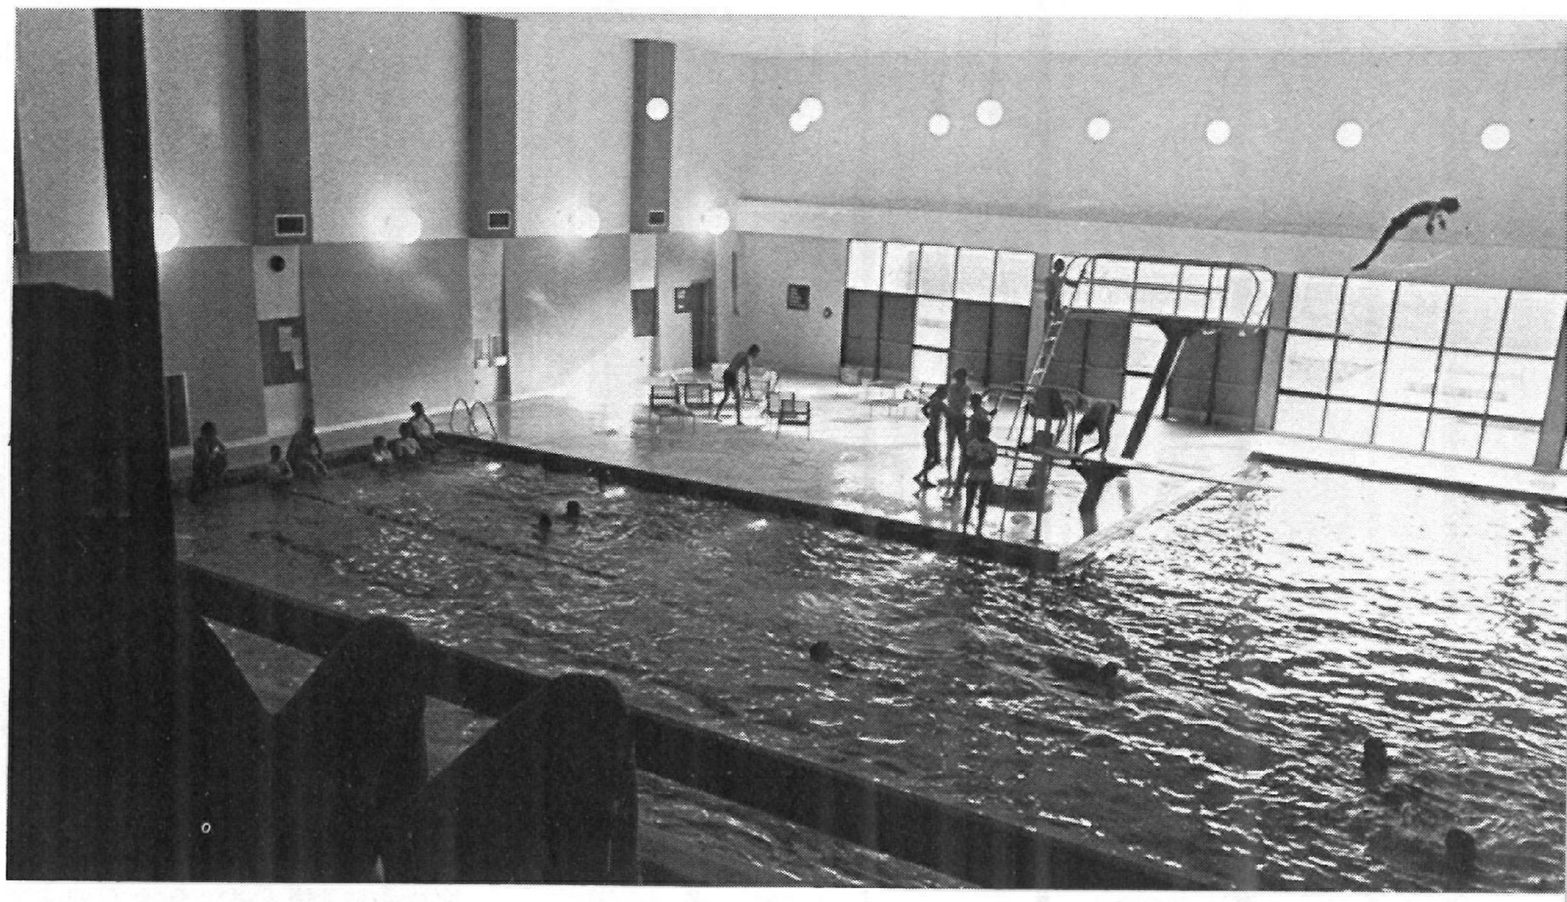

At least a guy can make a date for nothing. The only trouble is, she may embarrass him. Some girls have proven fairly proficient in activities thought exclusively as man's territory

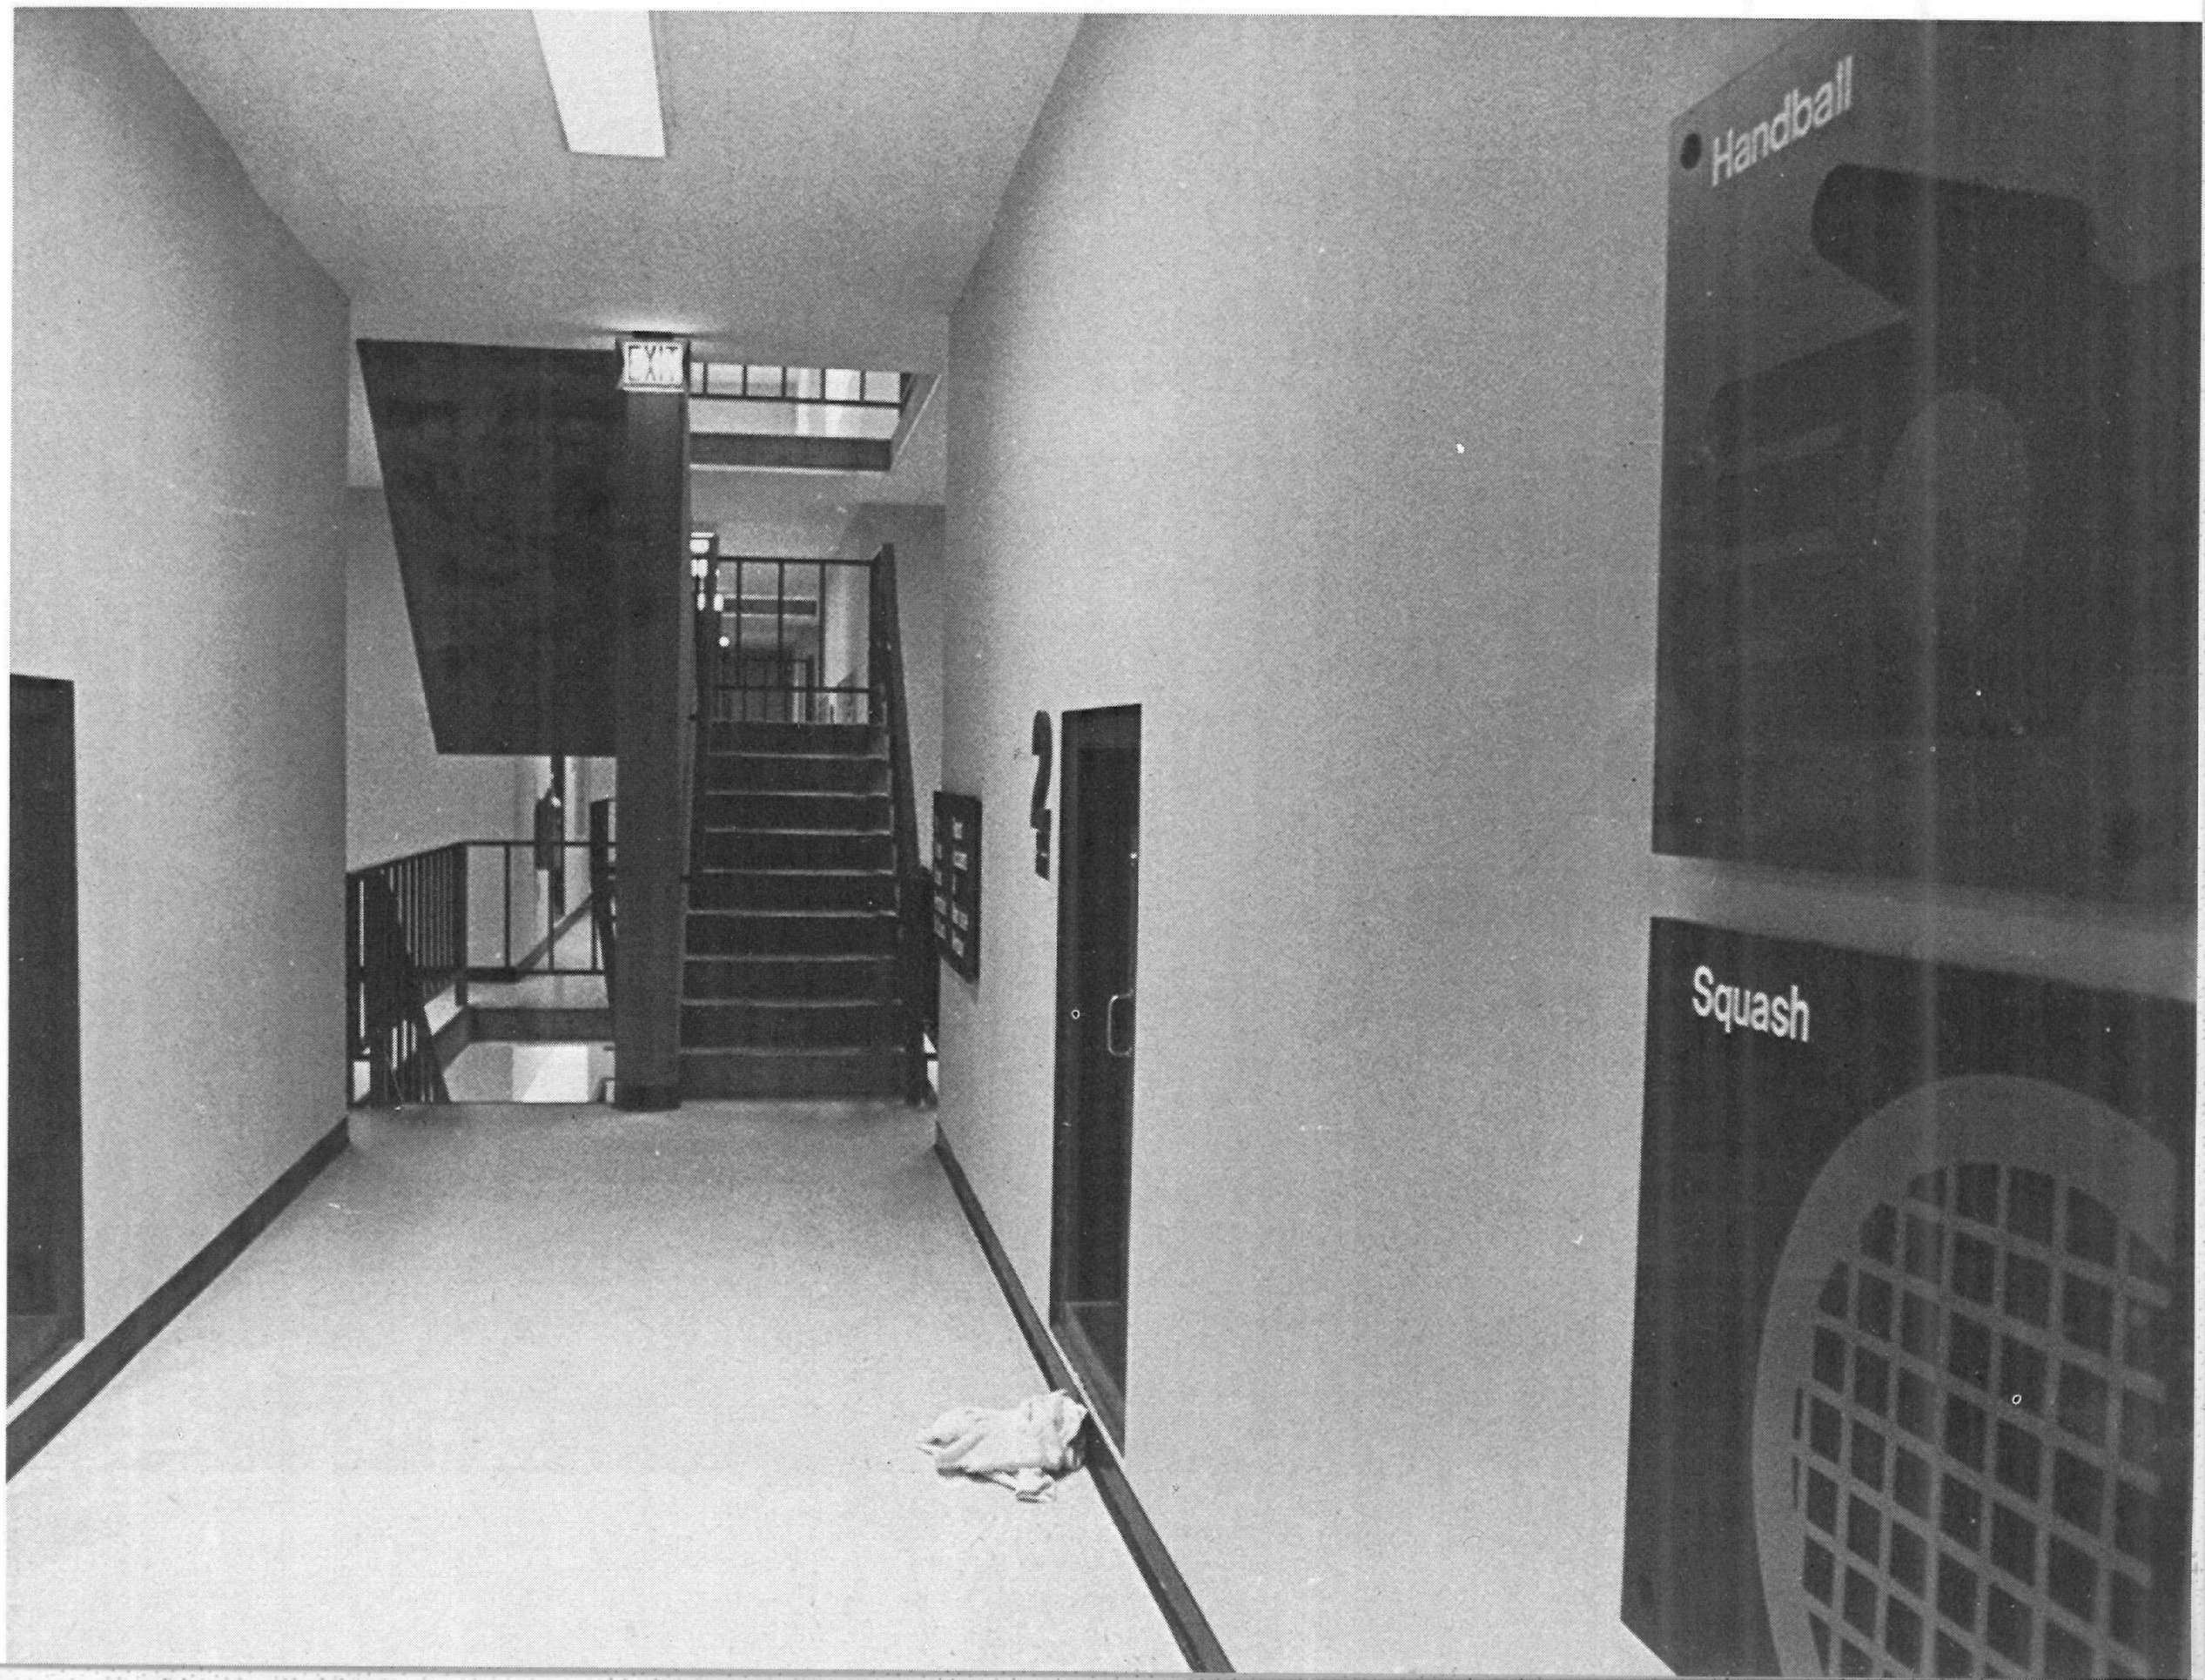

In all its glory, the Intramural Building finally opened its doors.

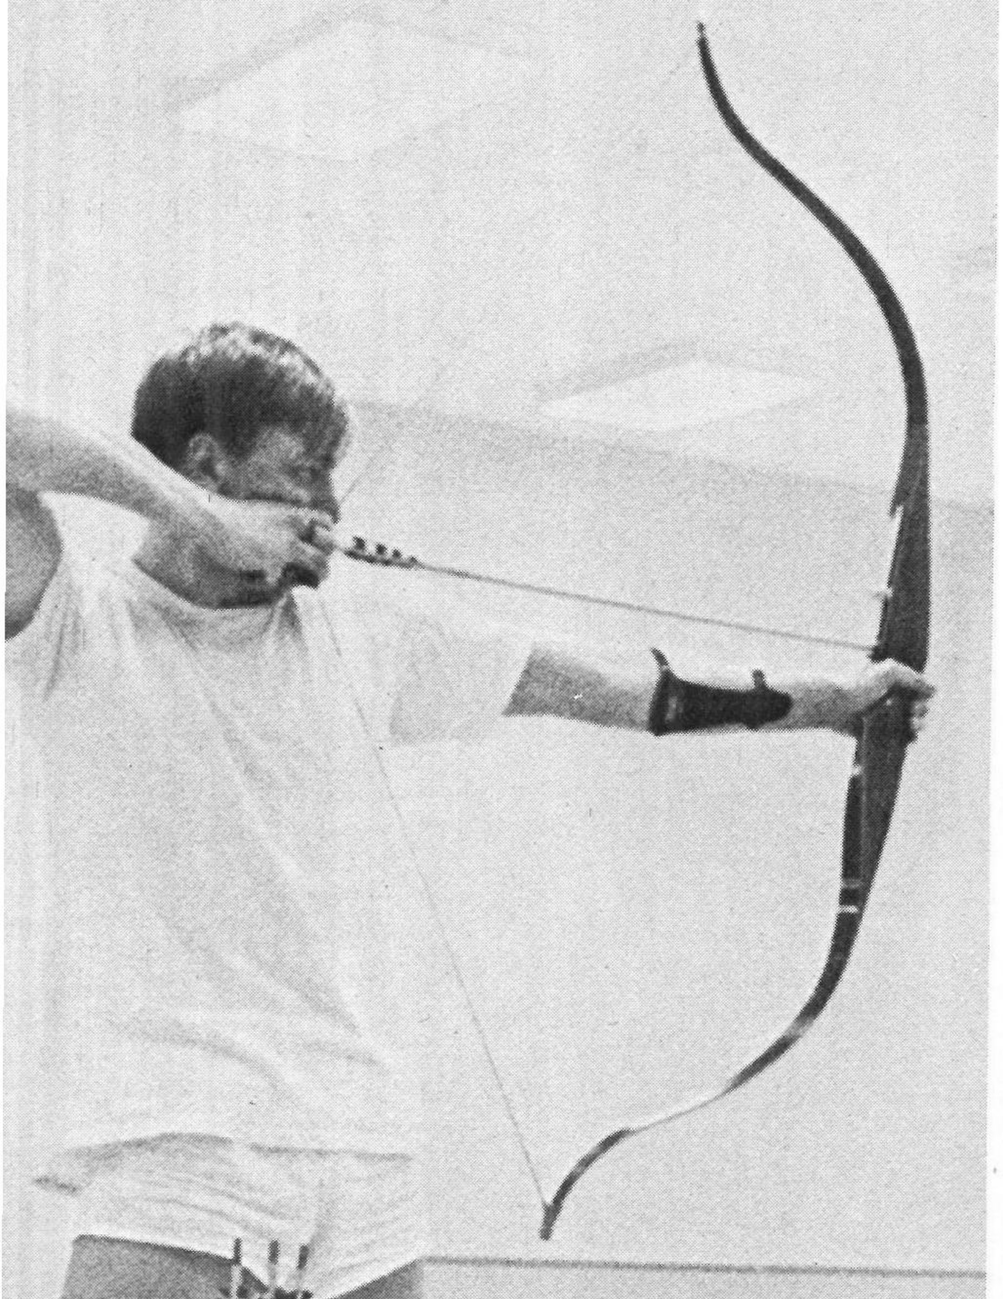

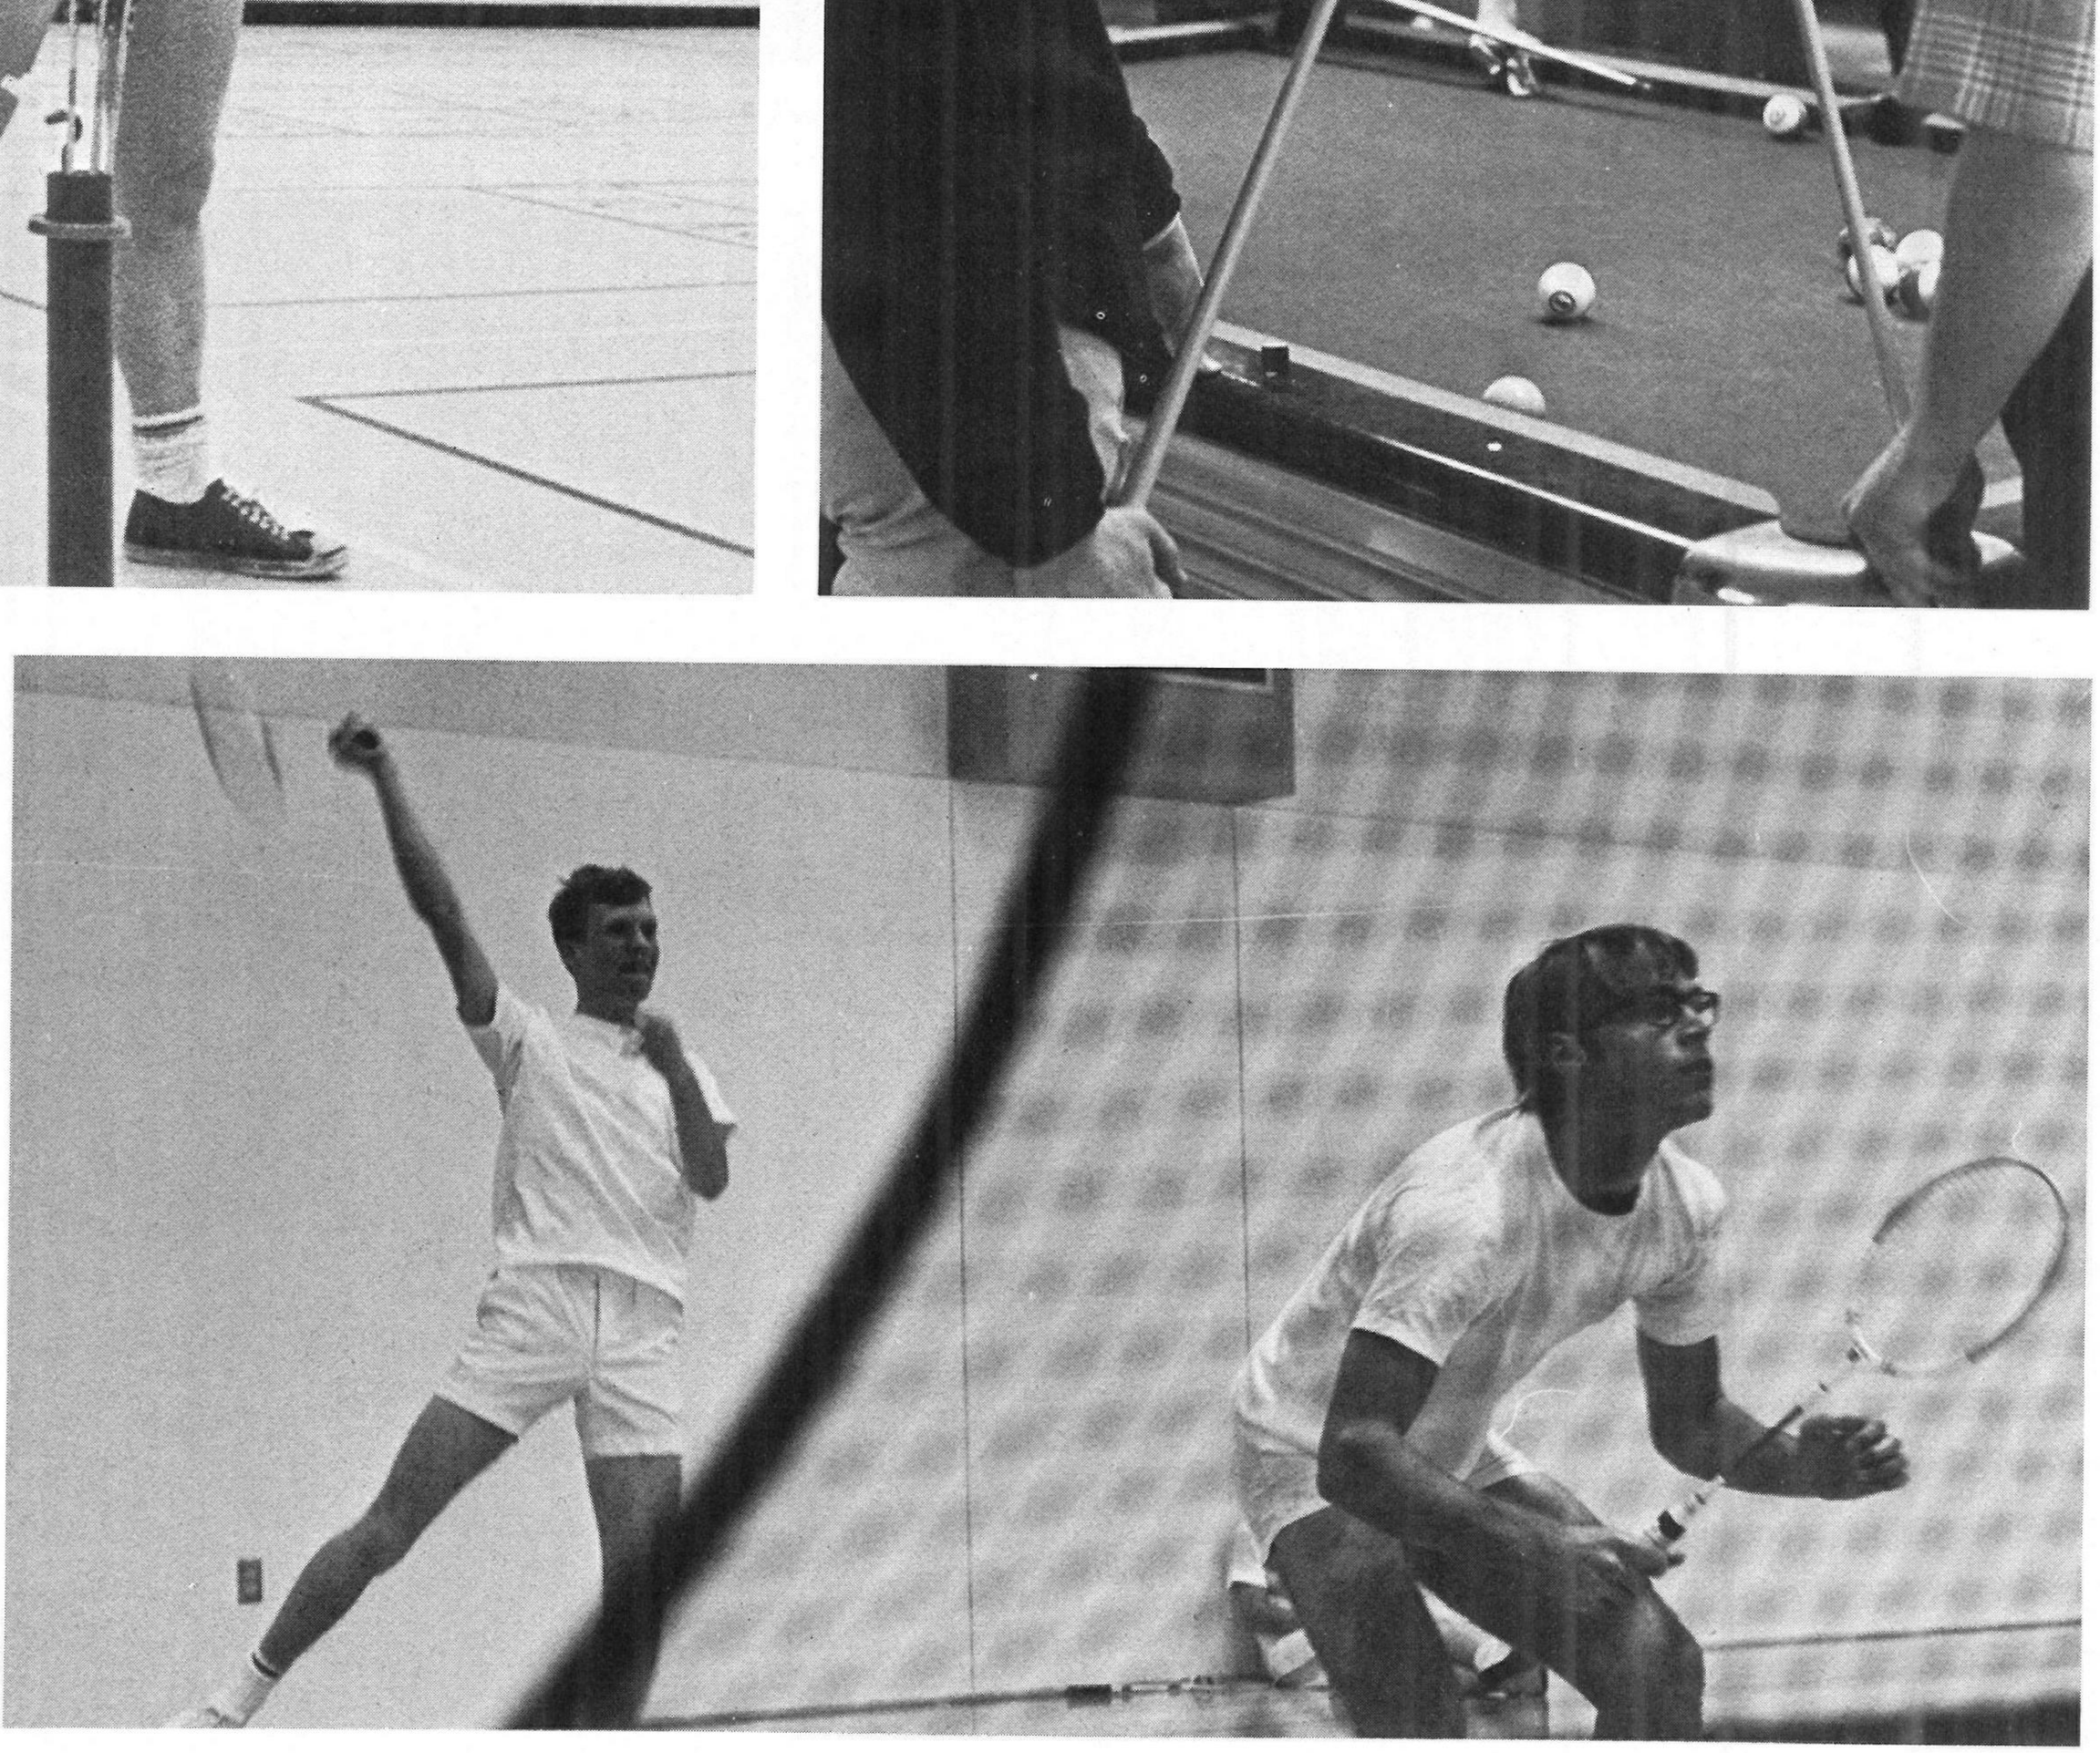

The huge new pool is a swimmer's (and diver's) delight.

Sailing, Sailing

The wind changes. So did the fortunes of the Husky sailing team. At times the wind was fair and steady. Frequently it was foul as the sailors found Californian and Canadian pirates tough to handle.

Not all sailing is competitive. Many individuals prefer just to relax and while away the time gliding over the usually placid waters of Lake Washington and Union Bay.

Although the team competes in one class of boat, several others are available with instructions provided by yacht club members. Like many other sports, sailing requires a lot of practice to develop proficiency. And then there are many preparations which precede each voyage. But with a friend it's no bother.

When the wind is steady, the sails filled and the boat winging, there is a marvelous sensation of harmony with nature. Sailors are in their own world of graceful motion.

Adelphi Is Brotherhood of Independent Men

Sports, social events and service make up the nucleus of Adelphi, the brotherhood of independent men on campus. Nearly every intramural sports event this year included a team fielded by Adelphi. Sorority exchanges and parties were held to help alleviate scholastic pressures and round out a busy college career.

Crystal Mountain was the stage for two weekend ski-ins for Adelphi skiers. The costumed Halloween party, hedonistic Roman Orgy and the swinging spring cruise were added to ASUW affairs and community service projects. Such activities gave the nearly one hundred members a direction and purpose at the university.

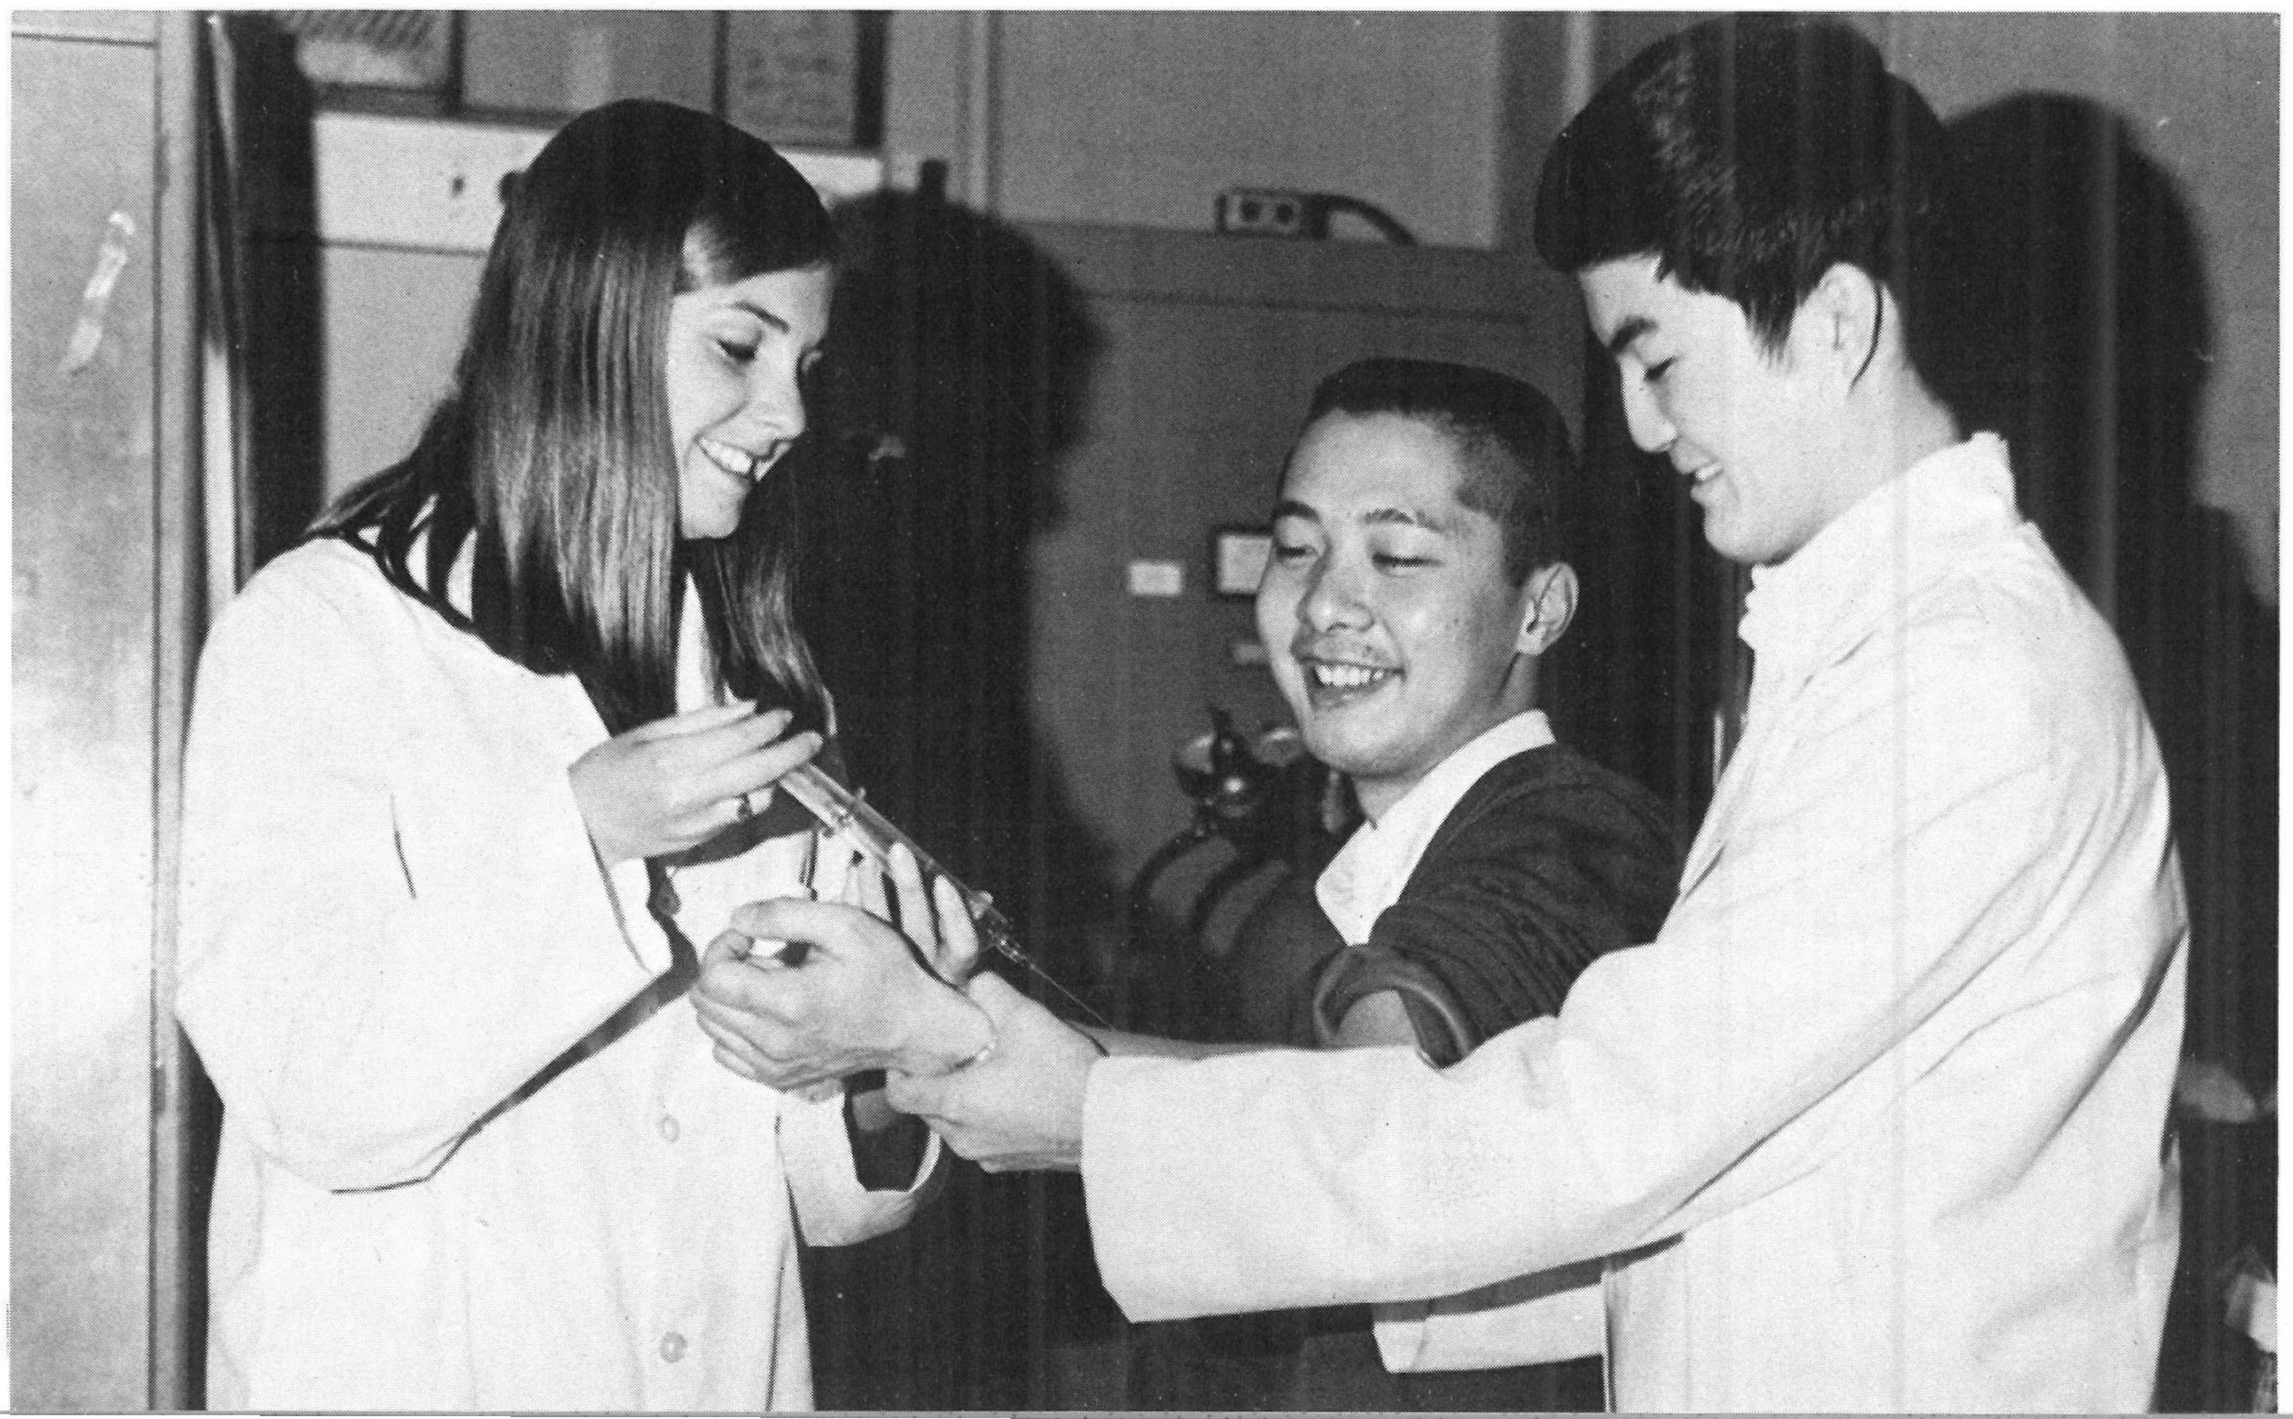

ALPHA DELTA SIGMA, a national men's advertising fraternity, aims to bridge the gap between school and business. In addition to field trips and bi-monthly meetings featuring speakers from the field of advertising, communications and marketing, the Robert W. Jones chapter of ADS sponsored a special one-day program, Talk In, designed to narrow the generation gap between advertising professionals in the Pacific Northwest and University students. Active members include: President Jed Niederer, Vice President Rod Barrie, Treasurer Ed Tudor, Secretary Gary Odegard, Rich Nordquist, Bill Wedin, John Meadows, Doug West, Lee Bjorklund, Mike Mathis, Stacey Brothers, Harv Jaffe, Dick Rosenwald, Tracy Tripp, Brook Nelson, Ken Stout, Tom German, Dave Hunsberger, Bob Billings, Gregg Taylor, Mike Volchok, Denny Olsen, Mike Brotman, Dennis Brown, Art Hodgins, Steve Hawes, Don Whiting, Bill Elberson, Steve Carrier, Mike Daigle and Chapter Sponsor Thomas F. Honor Societies Encourage Medical Students

Alpha Omega Alpha, an honor medical society organized in 1902, is comprised of three classes of members. Undergraduate membership is based entirely on scholarship, personal honesty and potential leadership; alumni and faculty membership is granted for distinctive achievement in the art and practice of scientific medicine; and honorary membership is awarded to eminent leaders in medicine and the allied sciences. The motto of the society is "to be worthy to serve the suffering."

Alpha Epsilon Delta is an international honorary society for highly qualified pre-medical and pre-dental students. It is dedicated to excellence of scholarship and the encouragement of medical vocations. To acquaint members with the many specialities available in medicine, the chapter sponsors numerous films, speakers and field trips to hospitals. Last spring AED oriented hundreds of high school students to the possibilities of a medical career during a program held in the Health Science complex.

Happy birthday to the club that again received the 100,000 point efficiency award. Happy birthday to the club that brings businessmen and business students together to exchange ideas. Happy birthday to the club that has been on UW campus for 50 years.

The purpose of Alpha Kappa Psi is the better orientation of members to the business world through speakers and field trips. Besides this preparation for the future, the men also have a lot of fun.

The organization is open to all male students majoring in business or economics with a gpa over 2.5.

The club sponsors some strictly business events, such as Business Administration News Letter and the annual scholarship awarded to a business student. However, banquets, dances and picnics give the members a chance to be informal.

AIESEC Fosters International Business

AIESEC, Association Internationale des Etudiants en Sciences Economiques et Commerciales, offers students work traineeships in foreign companies as an opportunity to understand business on an international level. In addition to sponsoring an international exchange of training assignments, AIESEC is organizing two summer session training programs in Seattle in 1969. The programs this year entitled "Innovations in Transportation" and "The Role of Financial Institutions in the U.S. Economy," are designed to unite the business and academic communities in discussion of current problems.

Pharmacy Day Hosts Two National Presidents

The UW student chapter of the American Pharmaceutical Association, composed of 125 pharmacy students, provides an outlet for student opinions on pharmaceutical education and practice today and in the future. In accomplishing these goals it allows students to exercise appreciable influence upon faculty, institutional and professional pharmacy organizations.

The student APHA organized a pharmacy open house and an awards banquet. Winter quarter the APHA put on Pharmacy Day, which consists of stimulating discussions presented by recognized authorities, students and faculty. This year's program included presentations by the national presidents of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy.

Army ROTC Trains Men

What motivates the ROTC cadet to undergo four years of vigorous military training in addition to the work load in his academic major? Call it responsibility. The cadet is a realist who sees through the pacifism that pervades the university and feels that this generation must possess the resource of good leadership if it is to remain free. Army ROTC provides this opportunity.

Christian Scientists Acquire New Building

The completion of a new building in January, 1969, made this an especially significant year for the Christian Science Organization at the UW. The building contains an auditorium for the organization's weekly meetings, at which time students give testimonies regarding the practical applicability of Christian Science to all aspects of daily life.

Designed as a student center, the new building provides a religious study area, committee rooms and a caretaker's apartment. Besides testimony meetings, the organization sponsors public lectures on Christian Science.

Lambda Rho Encourages Active Women Artists

Lambda Rho, women's art honorary, continued with successful projects of past years and aspired to new and exciting horizons in and out of the university environment. Sponsoring various art shows and conducting the annual lost-and-found sale for art scholarship funds are projects now synonymous with the name Lambda Rho.

New ideas were tried for more involvement, perhaps the most successful being the Christmas nursing home project. Membership is given to women in the College of Fine Arts, including those in art education. Prospective members must have a 3.0 gpa in art and a 2.8 overall gpa in order to be considered for recognition.

Husky Honeys Greet Visitors

Husky Honeys, the University of Washington's official hostesses, are a familiar sight to visiting football teams. The Honeys greet visitors with a smile and a token of Washington's welcome—the delicious apple.

Their annual events include selling student directories, helping with the trim-a-limb party for the faculty children, and honoring foreign students at a banquet. The Husky Honeys serve at university receptions and arrange campus tours for visitors.

Sitzmarking Husky Winter Sports Club: A Fun Loving Group

At first glance, the Husky Winter Sports Club appears to be just a fun loving organization. At second glance, it's certain. But then, that's what Husky Winter Sports Club is all about—skiing is fun and membership in the HWSC proves it.

For one thing, the club has the largest membership and ski school of any comparable organization in the nation. Of course, any bona fide ski enthusiast can tell you that better than a HWSC member.

This year members attended exciting ski films (featuring none other than Jean-Claude himself), a fashion show by Roffe (did you catch that jump suit?), a winter carnival at beautiful Mission Ridge (with the traditional ever-famous beer slalom) and finally . . . a spring break that college students could afford—and at Jackson Hole, no less!

As far as ASUW skiers are concerned and no matter how many sitzmarks made, HWSC is where it's at.

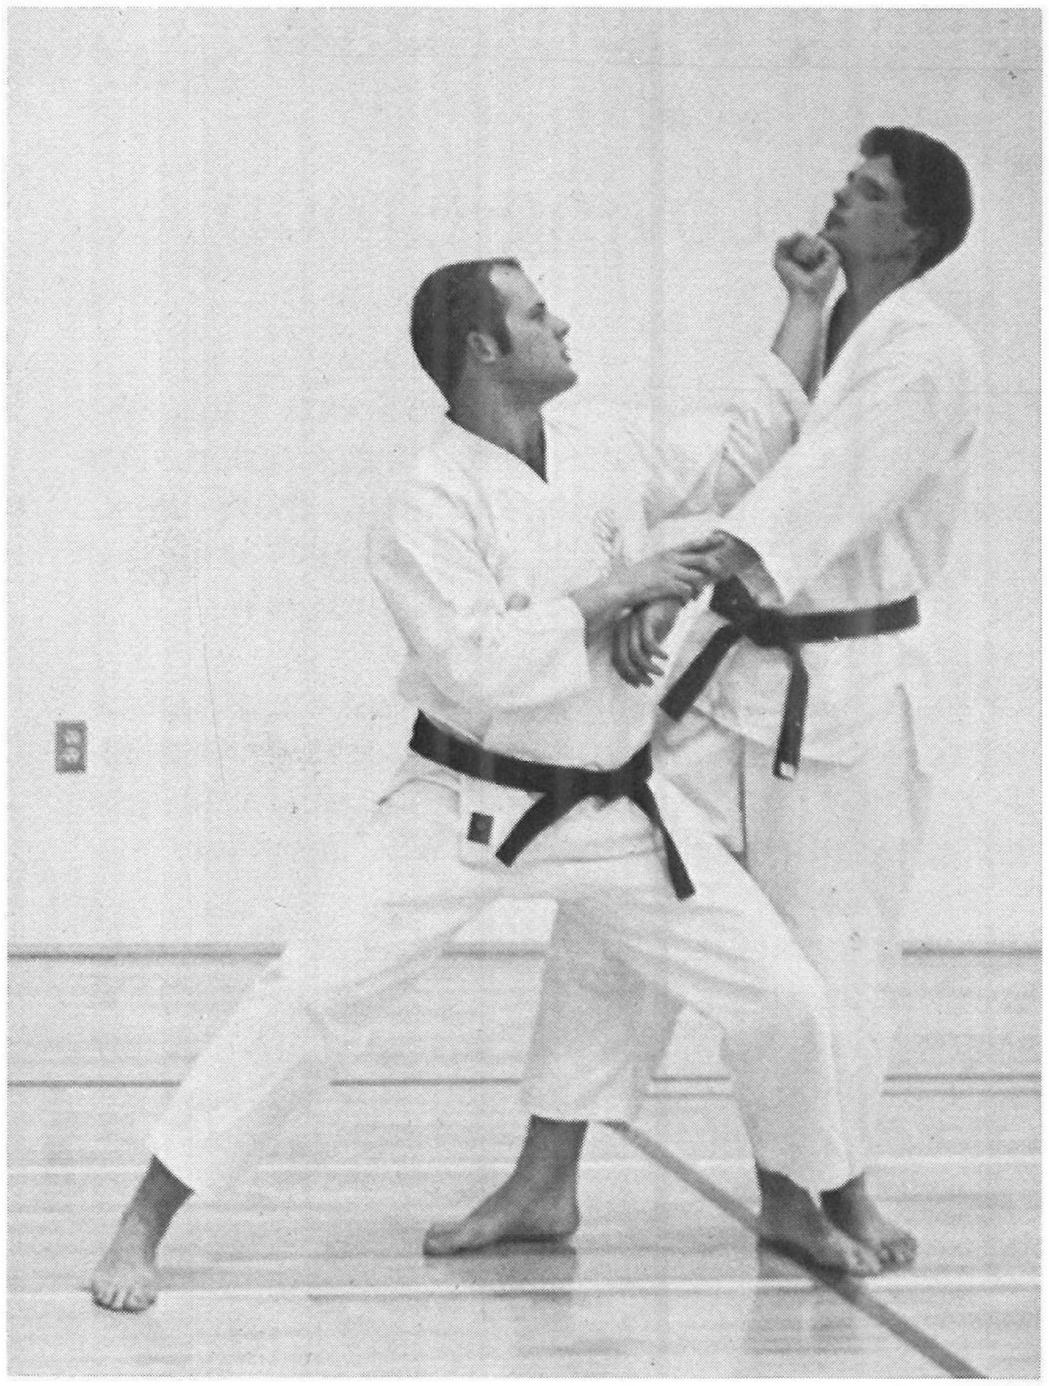

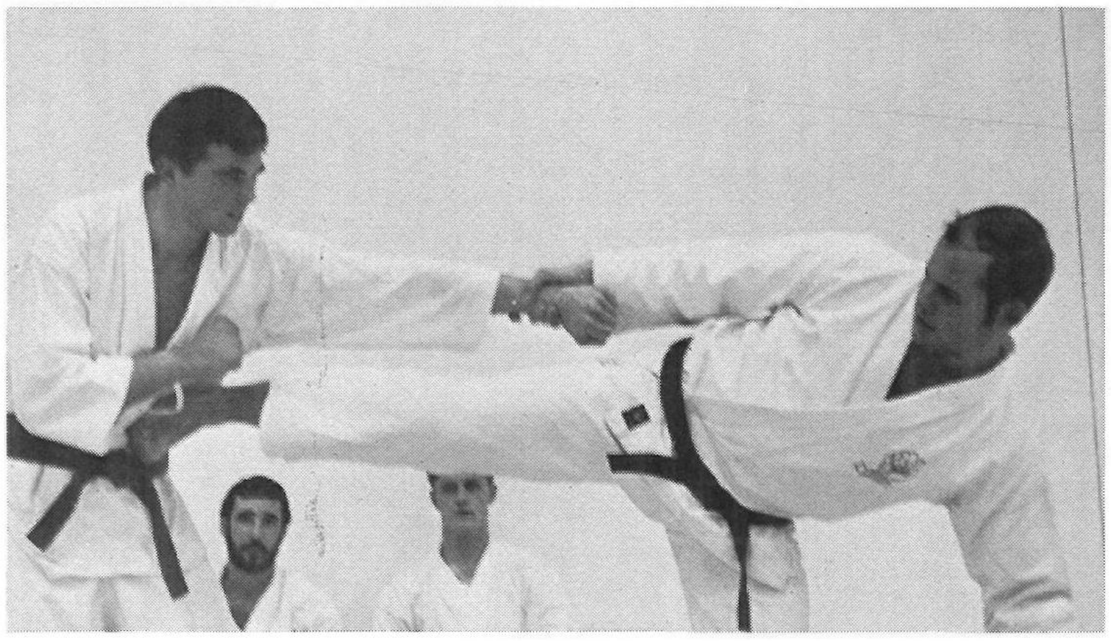

Karate training consists of four main parts: physical conditioning, basic techniques, Kata and Kumite.

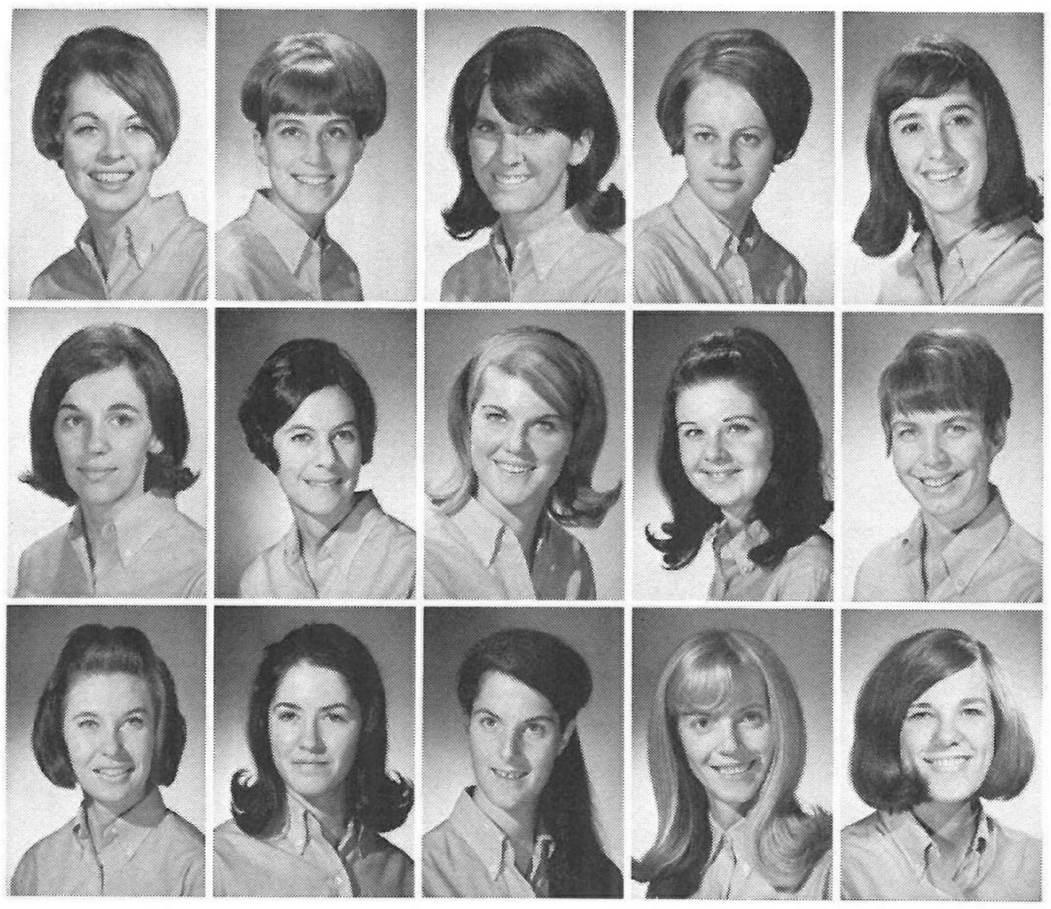

Karate Is More Than Just Breaking Boards

True karate is a religion designed to develop a person's mind to its fullest extent. The major objective of karate training is to develop mind and body as a whole. Physical training is the first step in achieving this goal.

The UW Karate Club, started Fall 1967, offers classes ranging from beginners to advanced. The main developments of karate include: speed and accuracy, general coordination, flexibility, balance, endurance and sportsmanship. The club members have entered tournaments, put on demonstrations and have participated in exchange practice sessions with other local dojos.

Mortar Board Stresses Service to Community

Although the selection of Mortar Board members is based upon outstanding scholarship and leadership during one's university career, the organization's greatest asset lies in the opportunity it offers for the sharing of friendships and experiences.

A concern with service underlined their project of reading to the blind students, while self-enrichment was expressed in debating with the BSU or conducting a seminar on the role of women in professions and graduate schools.

Fun and Harmony

Make Active Year

For Mu Phi Epsilon

With music, friendship and harmony as their goals, girls of Mu Phi Epsilon spent an active year. As part of an international women's music sorority, members sent music to a sister chapter in the Philippine Islands. In the spring, programs were presented for campus residence halls. Several trips were made to Fircrest, home for the mentally retarded, to bring music and games to the children. Mu Phis could often be seen selling coffee and doughnuts to hungry students and faculty members in the Music Building.

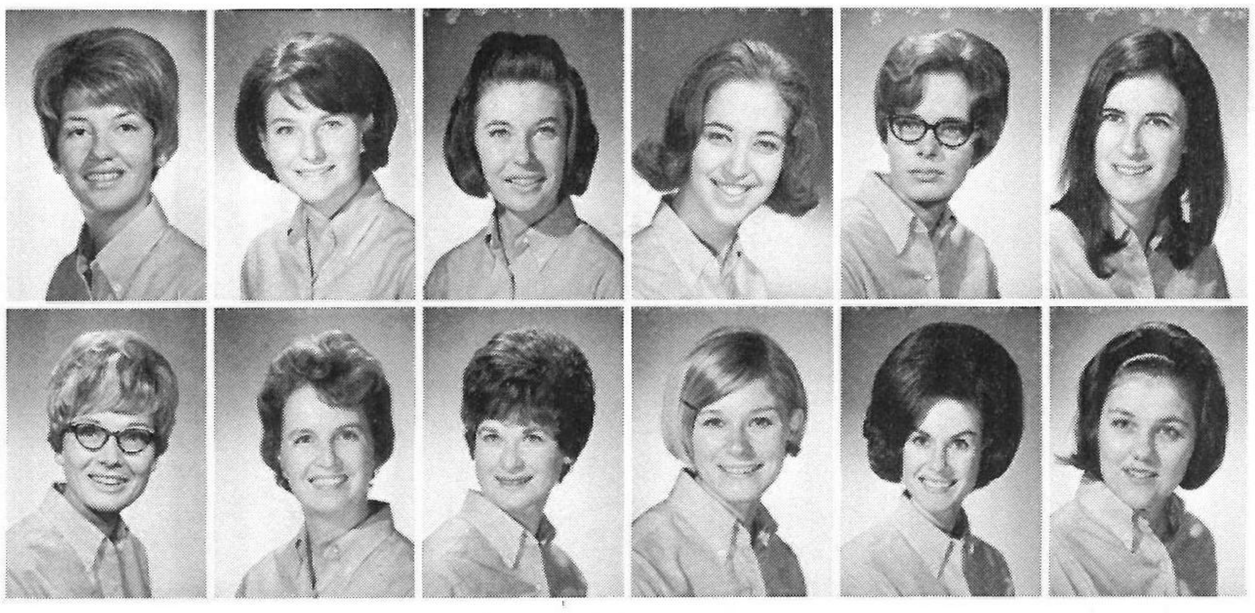

Occupational Therapy Helps the Handicapped

Occupational therapy attempts through the therapeutic use of activities to evaluate and treat the physically, emotionally and mentally handicapped. The club's purpose is to broaden the understanding of occupational therapy, to sponsor social and educational activities for its members and to promote interest in the field within the community and especially among prospective students.

Club members serve the community by helping the handicapped.

Juniors and seniors fulfilling the requirements for the bachelors degree with a major in home economics, who have maintained superior scholarship, and also graduate students in this field, who have met certain standards, are pledged. Initiations are held in the spring and fall.

Outstanding Men Recognized by Oval Club

For over 60 years Oval Club has annually recognized 25 to 30 junior and senior men for outstanding contribution to the university. Members are students who have shown themselves to be outstanding in activities, athletics and academics.

Functions include regular meetings with a social event every quarter, winter and spring quarter initiations, the annual Foreign Student Banquet with Husky Honeys and an annual dinner with Mortar Board at Dr. Odegaard's home.

W-Key Proves: A Little Giving Goes a Long Way

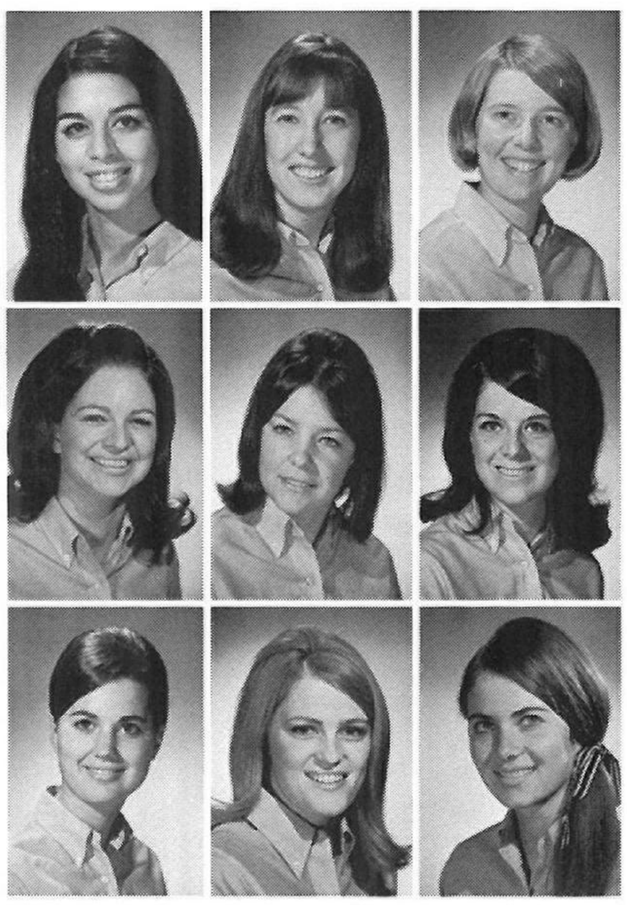

The name of the organization shall be W-Key. The purpose of the organization shall be "Service to Washington."

The official insignia shall be a silver key worn on a silver chain. The key shall be a polished "W" superimposed on a shield. Above the "W" shall be a scroll bearing the motto "Lux Sit".

Qualification for selection shall be an accumulative grade point of 2.5 from two previous quarters of the freshman year with a minimum of 28 academic hours and outstanding participation in campus activities.

W-Key is the sophomore scholastic and activities honorary; to the 33 members, it is a spontaneous service organization.

Members come to know W-Key through a constitution revision, pumpkin carols, Christmas cards to Vietnam, pudding custard pies and quarterly blood drives.

1969 Was Kappa Psi's Most Active Year

Kappa Psi is a professional pharmaceutical fraternity aiming to promote scholarship, fellowship, socialization and the advancement of pharmacy among its members. The chapter, with over 50 members, works for the betterment of the College of Pharmacy as a professional entity.

The members participated in such pharmacy activities as the pharmacy basketball team, an all-college dance, Pharmacy Day and the annual Pharmacy Picnic. The chapter sponsored Medicines for Missions, the Kappa Psi baseball team, seminars and parties.

Pharmacy Honorary Aids World Wide Distribution

Lambda Kappa Sigma actively promotes its professional goals among pharmacy women by creating a friendly college environment, recognizing scholarship achievement and encouraging a high standard of professional ethics and social responsibility. To provide a continuation of professional growth and civic service, most women seek active membership in the alumni chapter.

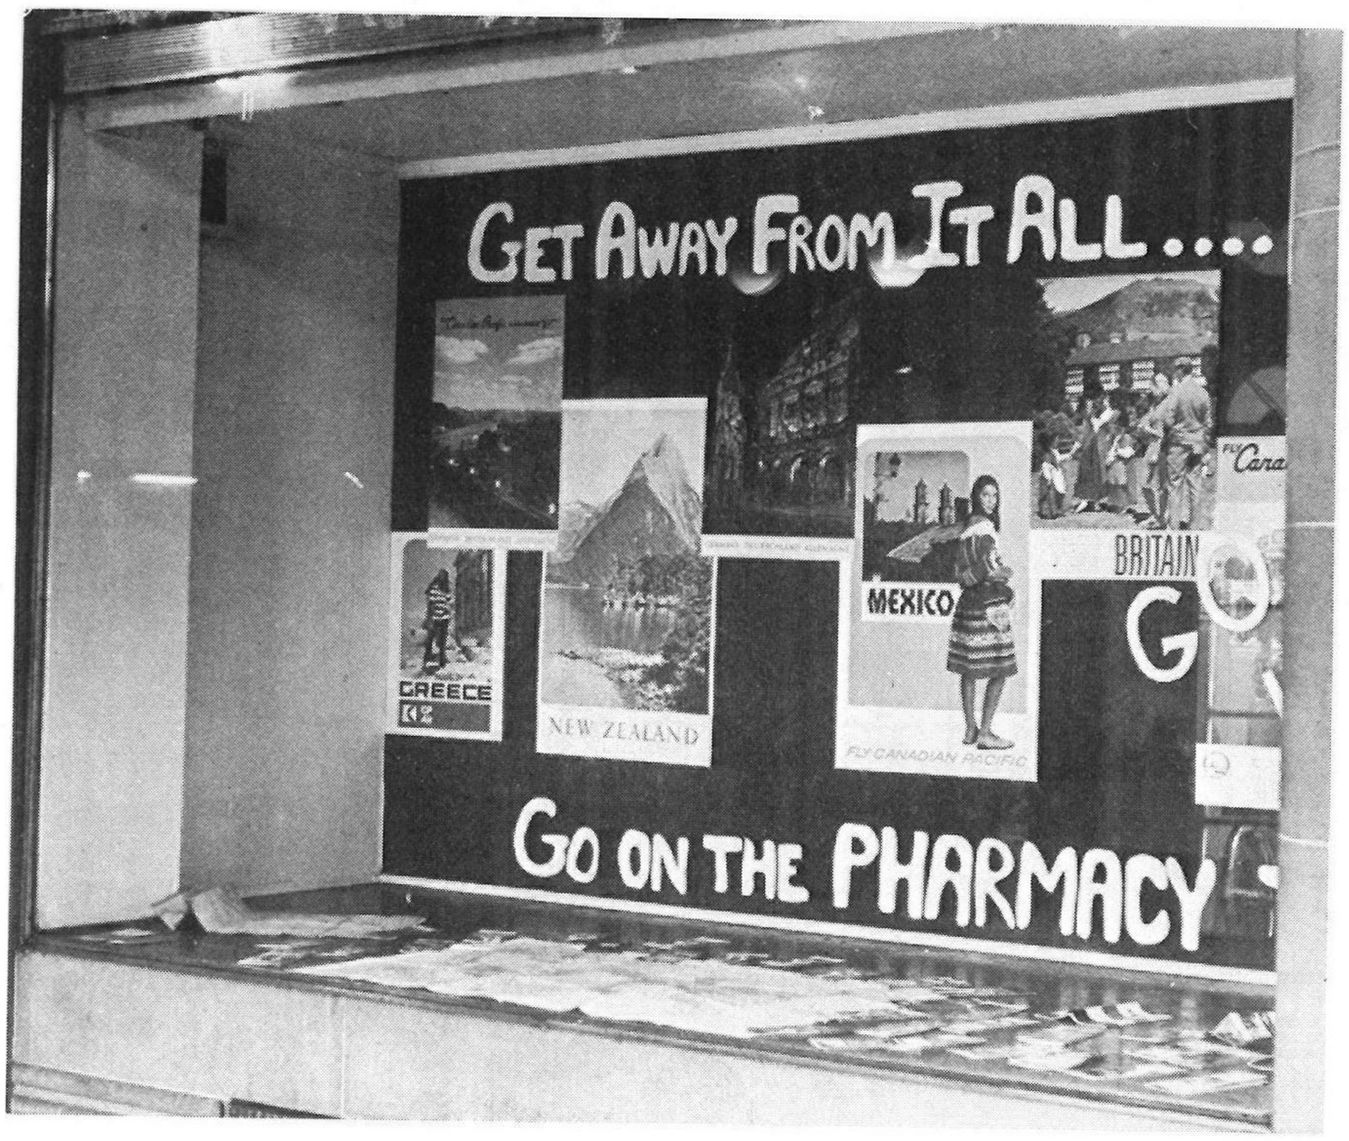

Activities include the Pharmacy Open House, a Pharmacy Women's Tea, pledging functions and a Spring Mother-Daughter Breakfast in honor of graduating seniors. Drugs to be sent to foreign medical missions are counted, classified and packaged at Medicine for Missions. Pharmacy Honorary

Stimulates Interest

Rho Chi pharmacy honorary recognizes and stimulates high scholarship and promotes intellectual fellowship between faculty and undergraduate members.

In addition to providing information on graduate schools to undergraduates, the members work on Pharmacy Open House and Pharmacy Day projects. The honorary awards a copy of Remington's Pharmaceutical Sciences to the outstanding freshman pharmacy student.

Historic Fraternity Honors Outstanding Scholars

Founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest honorary society in the U.S. Its purpose is to promote and recognize excellence in liberal scholarship. Each year the Washington Alpha Chapter invites to membership those seniors whose grade point is above 3.5 and whose education is judged to be liberal in character, regardless of their major field.

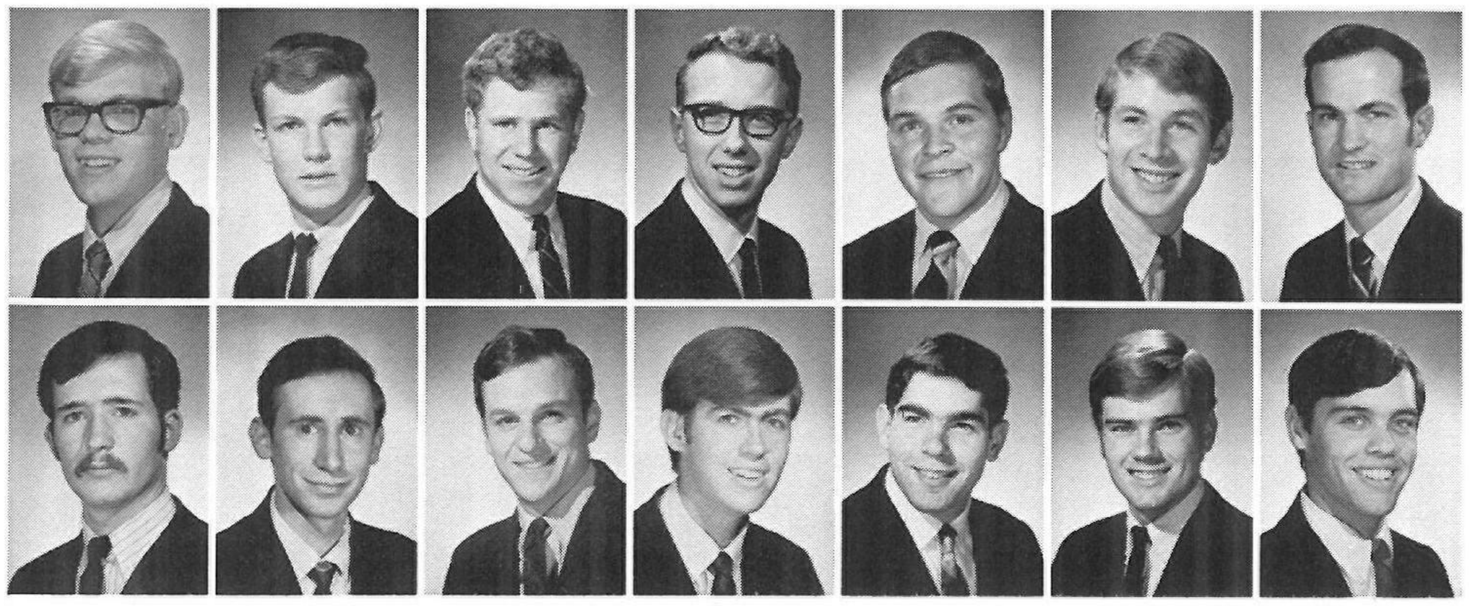

Junior honors recognize those students who have earned a 3.7 gpa at the end of their junior year in college.

Each year the chapter awards a scholarship to an outstanding senior. In 1968 the award was presented to James J. Enrico. Phi Beta Kappa also brings distinguished scholars to the campus for lecture series.

Alumni members have formed a Puget Sound Association which works to encourage liberal intellectual achievement by granting Book Awards to top high school students and by presenting an annual Outstanding Teacher Award.

Phrateres Means Friendliness

"Famous for Friendliness" is the motto and aim of Phrateres. Throughout the year members strive to live up to their motto by offering unselfish service to the university and the community. Although Phrateres is for all women students, its members are mostly commuters and dormies.

Along with stressing fun and friendship, Phrateres also stresses scholarship. Awards and recognition for high scholastic achievement are presented at the Winter Initiation Ball. Phrateres tries hard to combine work and fun so that its members will benefit socially and scholastically.

Physical Therapy Club Services And Educates

As a special interest group of the state's Physical Therapy Association, the Physical Therapy Club aids in development of physical therapy service and education through special projects, lectures and field trips. Special projects include volunteer service at Fircrest, designing and making special displays to be used in lectures and at conventions. Emphasis is on restoration of physical losses and impairments due to disease or accidents.

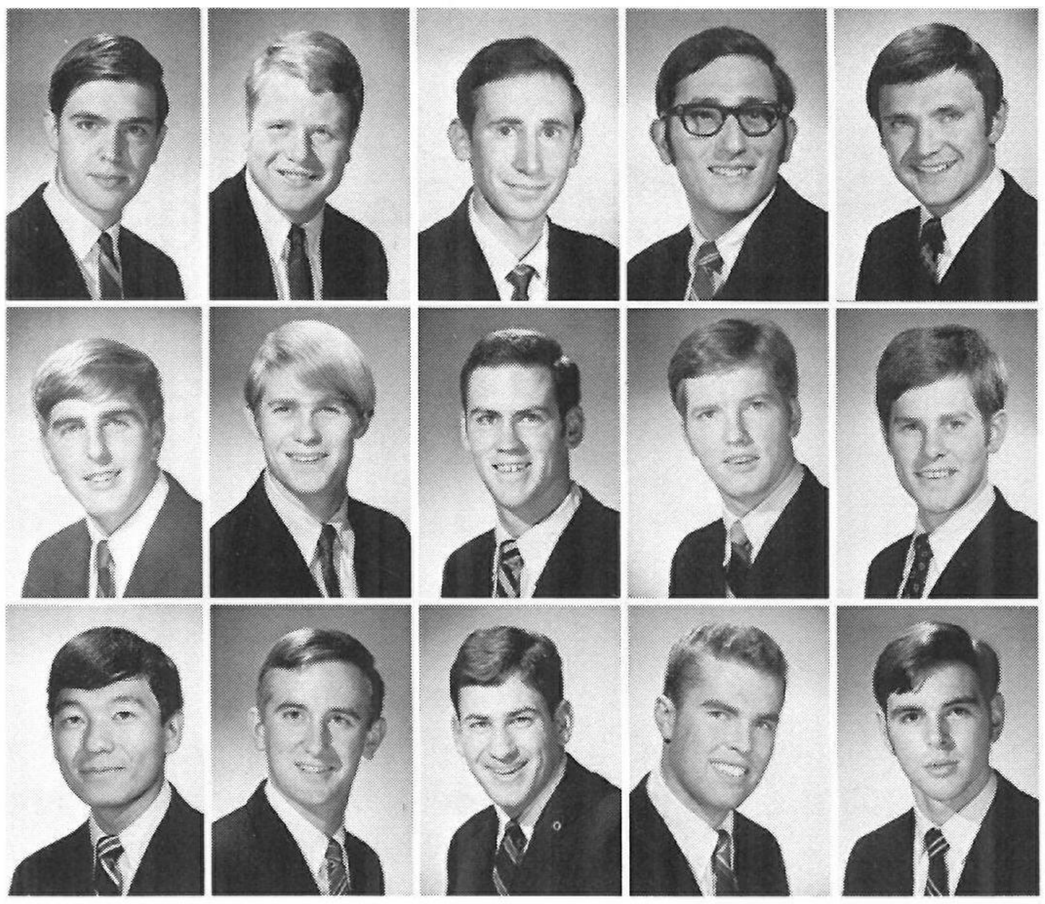

National Theme Sparks Pi Lambda Theta

Pi Lambda Theta, national honor and professional association for women in education, continues to recognize women of superior scholastic achievement and high potential for professional leadership. This year's program included panel discussions, guest speakers and afternoon teas to honor women in education.

This year Zeta Chapter members explored implications of the national theme, "Quality Education, Continuing Evaluation." The theme was chosen in accordance with the purposes of Pi Lambda Theta, to "accept responsibility for evaluation and improvement of the profession of teaching."

Odds Are 3367 to 43 FOR Women Engineers

Women unite! And that's just what they did. They formed a Society of Women Engineers. Who says women aren't just as good as men? Not them. Armed with their trusty slide rules, these women can hold their own against some pretty wild odds; namely, 3367 to 43. These women are welcomed with open arms.

They might complain about all the homework, but the atmosphere is perfect. What do they do in their spare time? What every female does. After all, they're just like regular girls except that every purse contains a slide rule. Lower campus and engineering is their bag, and they wouldn't have it any other way.

The Solemn Duty Rally Girls Perform Sounds Like Rah-Rah

For the Rally Girls, promoting pep on campus is a solemn duty. During the football season the members coordinate with Sundodgers on card stunts. Highlight of the game season is their trip to California.

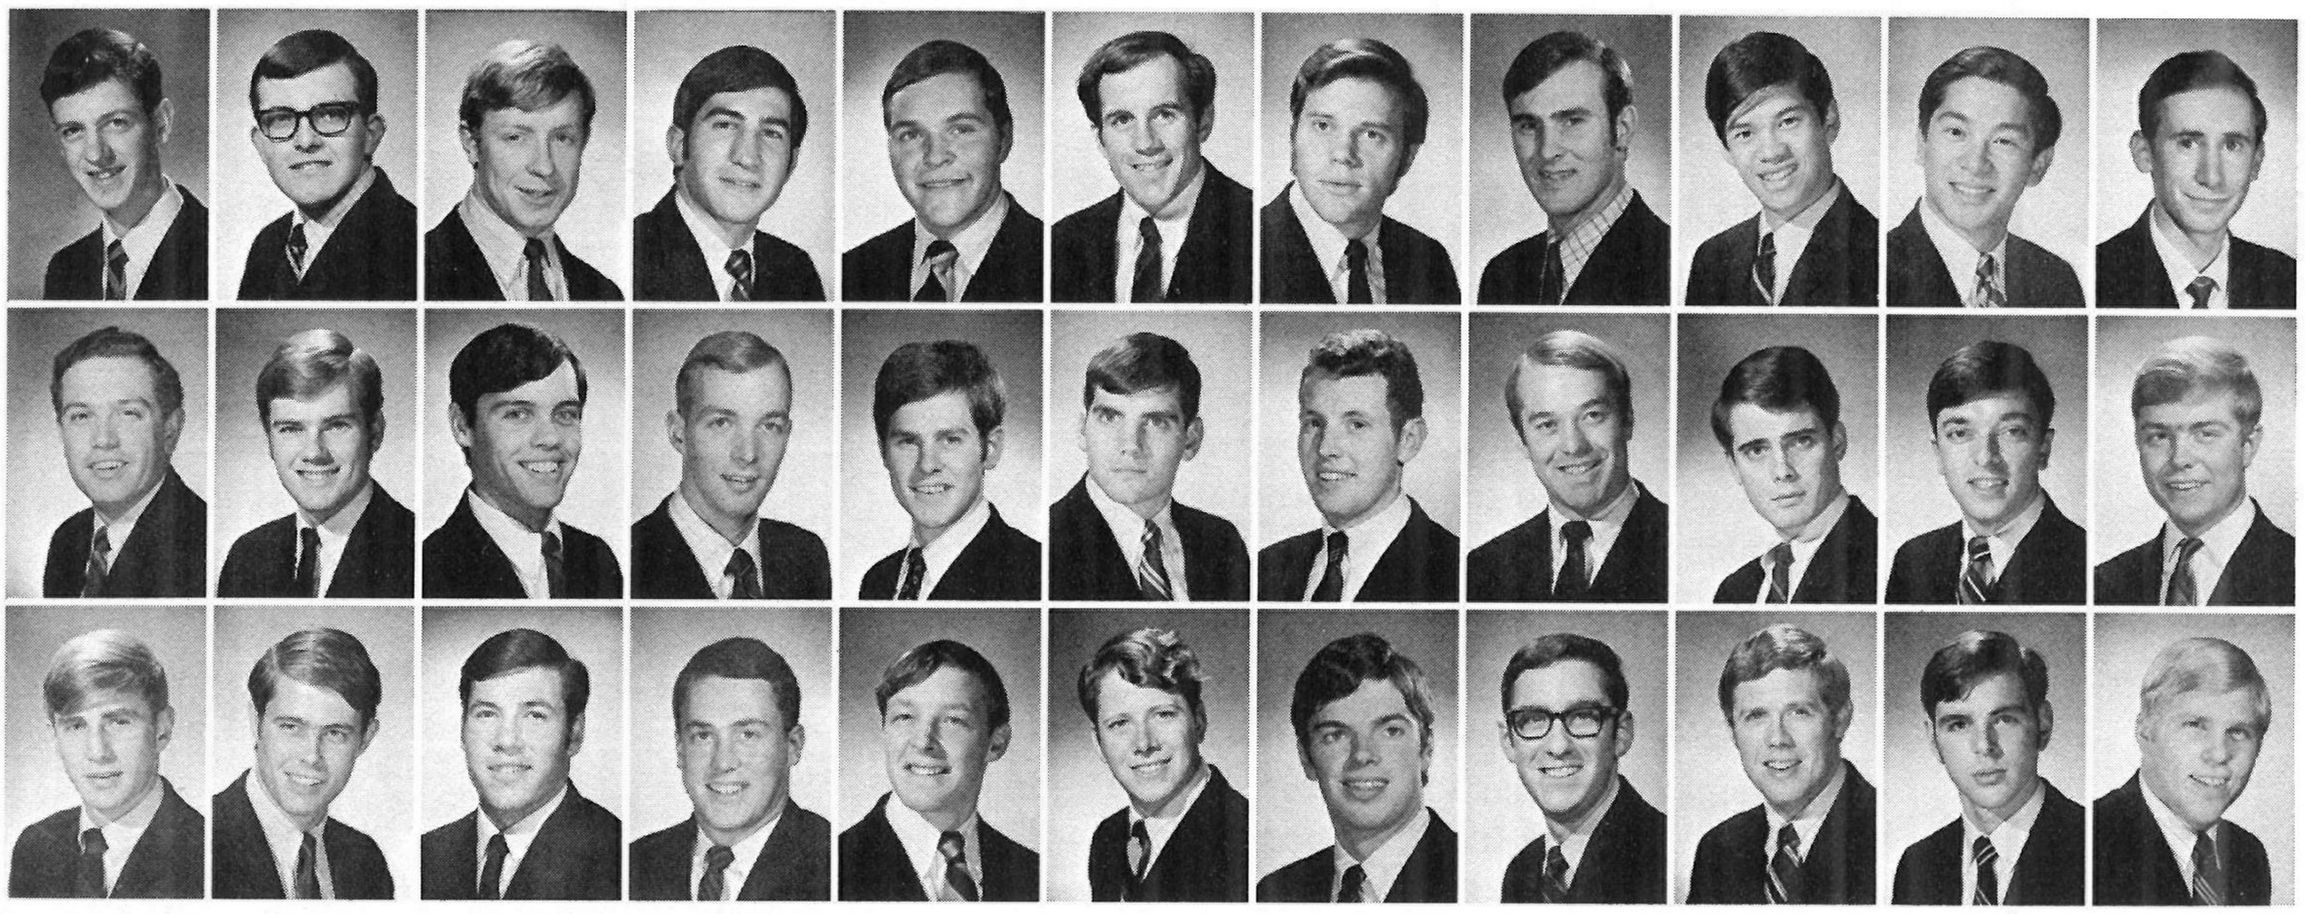

Rally Girls hostess at Quarterback Club luncheons and Songfest, and serve as score posters at gymnastic events. Spirit is strengthened by providing information, publicity and attendance at various social, athletic and academic events throughout the year.

Sigma Theta Tau Promotes Nursing

Sigma Theta Tau, the national honor society of nursing, recognizes achievement of superior quality, development of leadership qualities and the fostering of high professional standards. It strengthens commitments on the part of individuals to the nursing profession. Programs of Psi Chapter are of a scientific, educational and social nature. The chapter upholds the Elizabeth Sterling Soule lecture fund, which is used to bring nursing leaders to the UW to lecture and participate in seminars.

Sundodgers Are Known to All

By Their Voices and Hats

Known to all by their straw hats and loud voices, Sundodgers work hard to stir up spirit and enthusiasm for Husky sports. Organizing rallies, leading cheers, preparing card stunts and choosing the UW Queen of Queens keep them busy the entire year. New members are chosen in February on the basis of interviews.

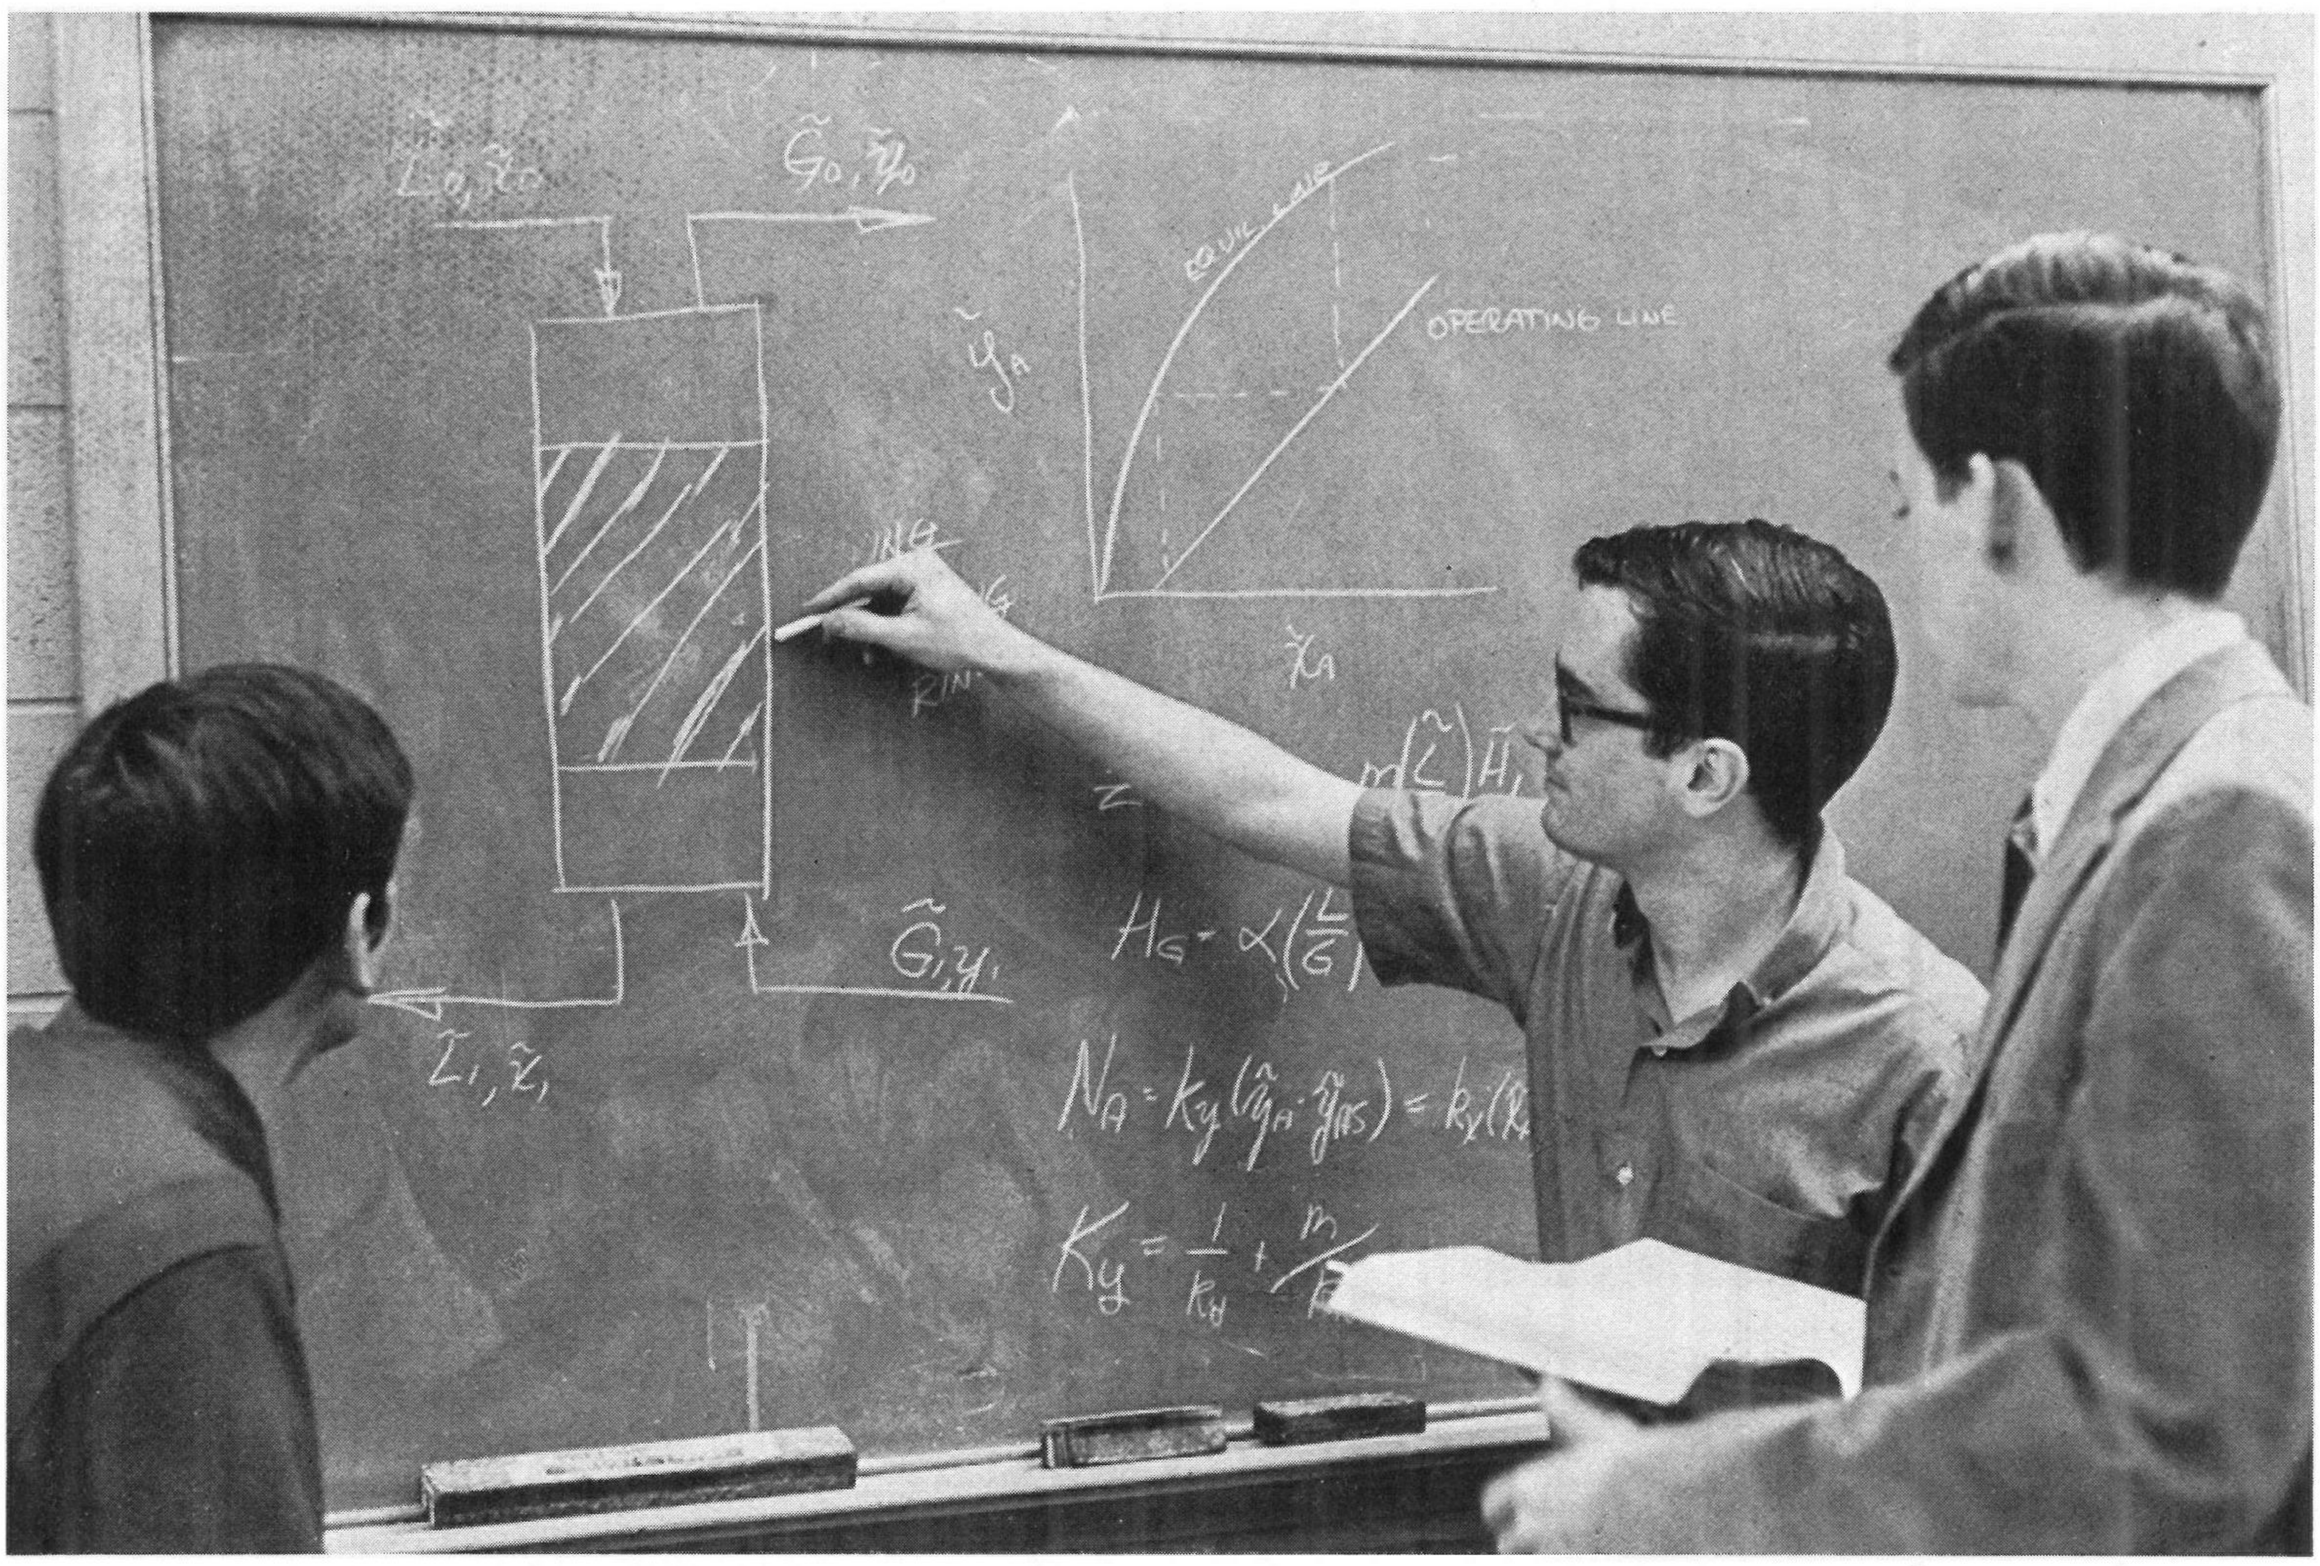

Tau Beta Pi Seeks Top Engineers

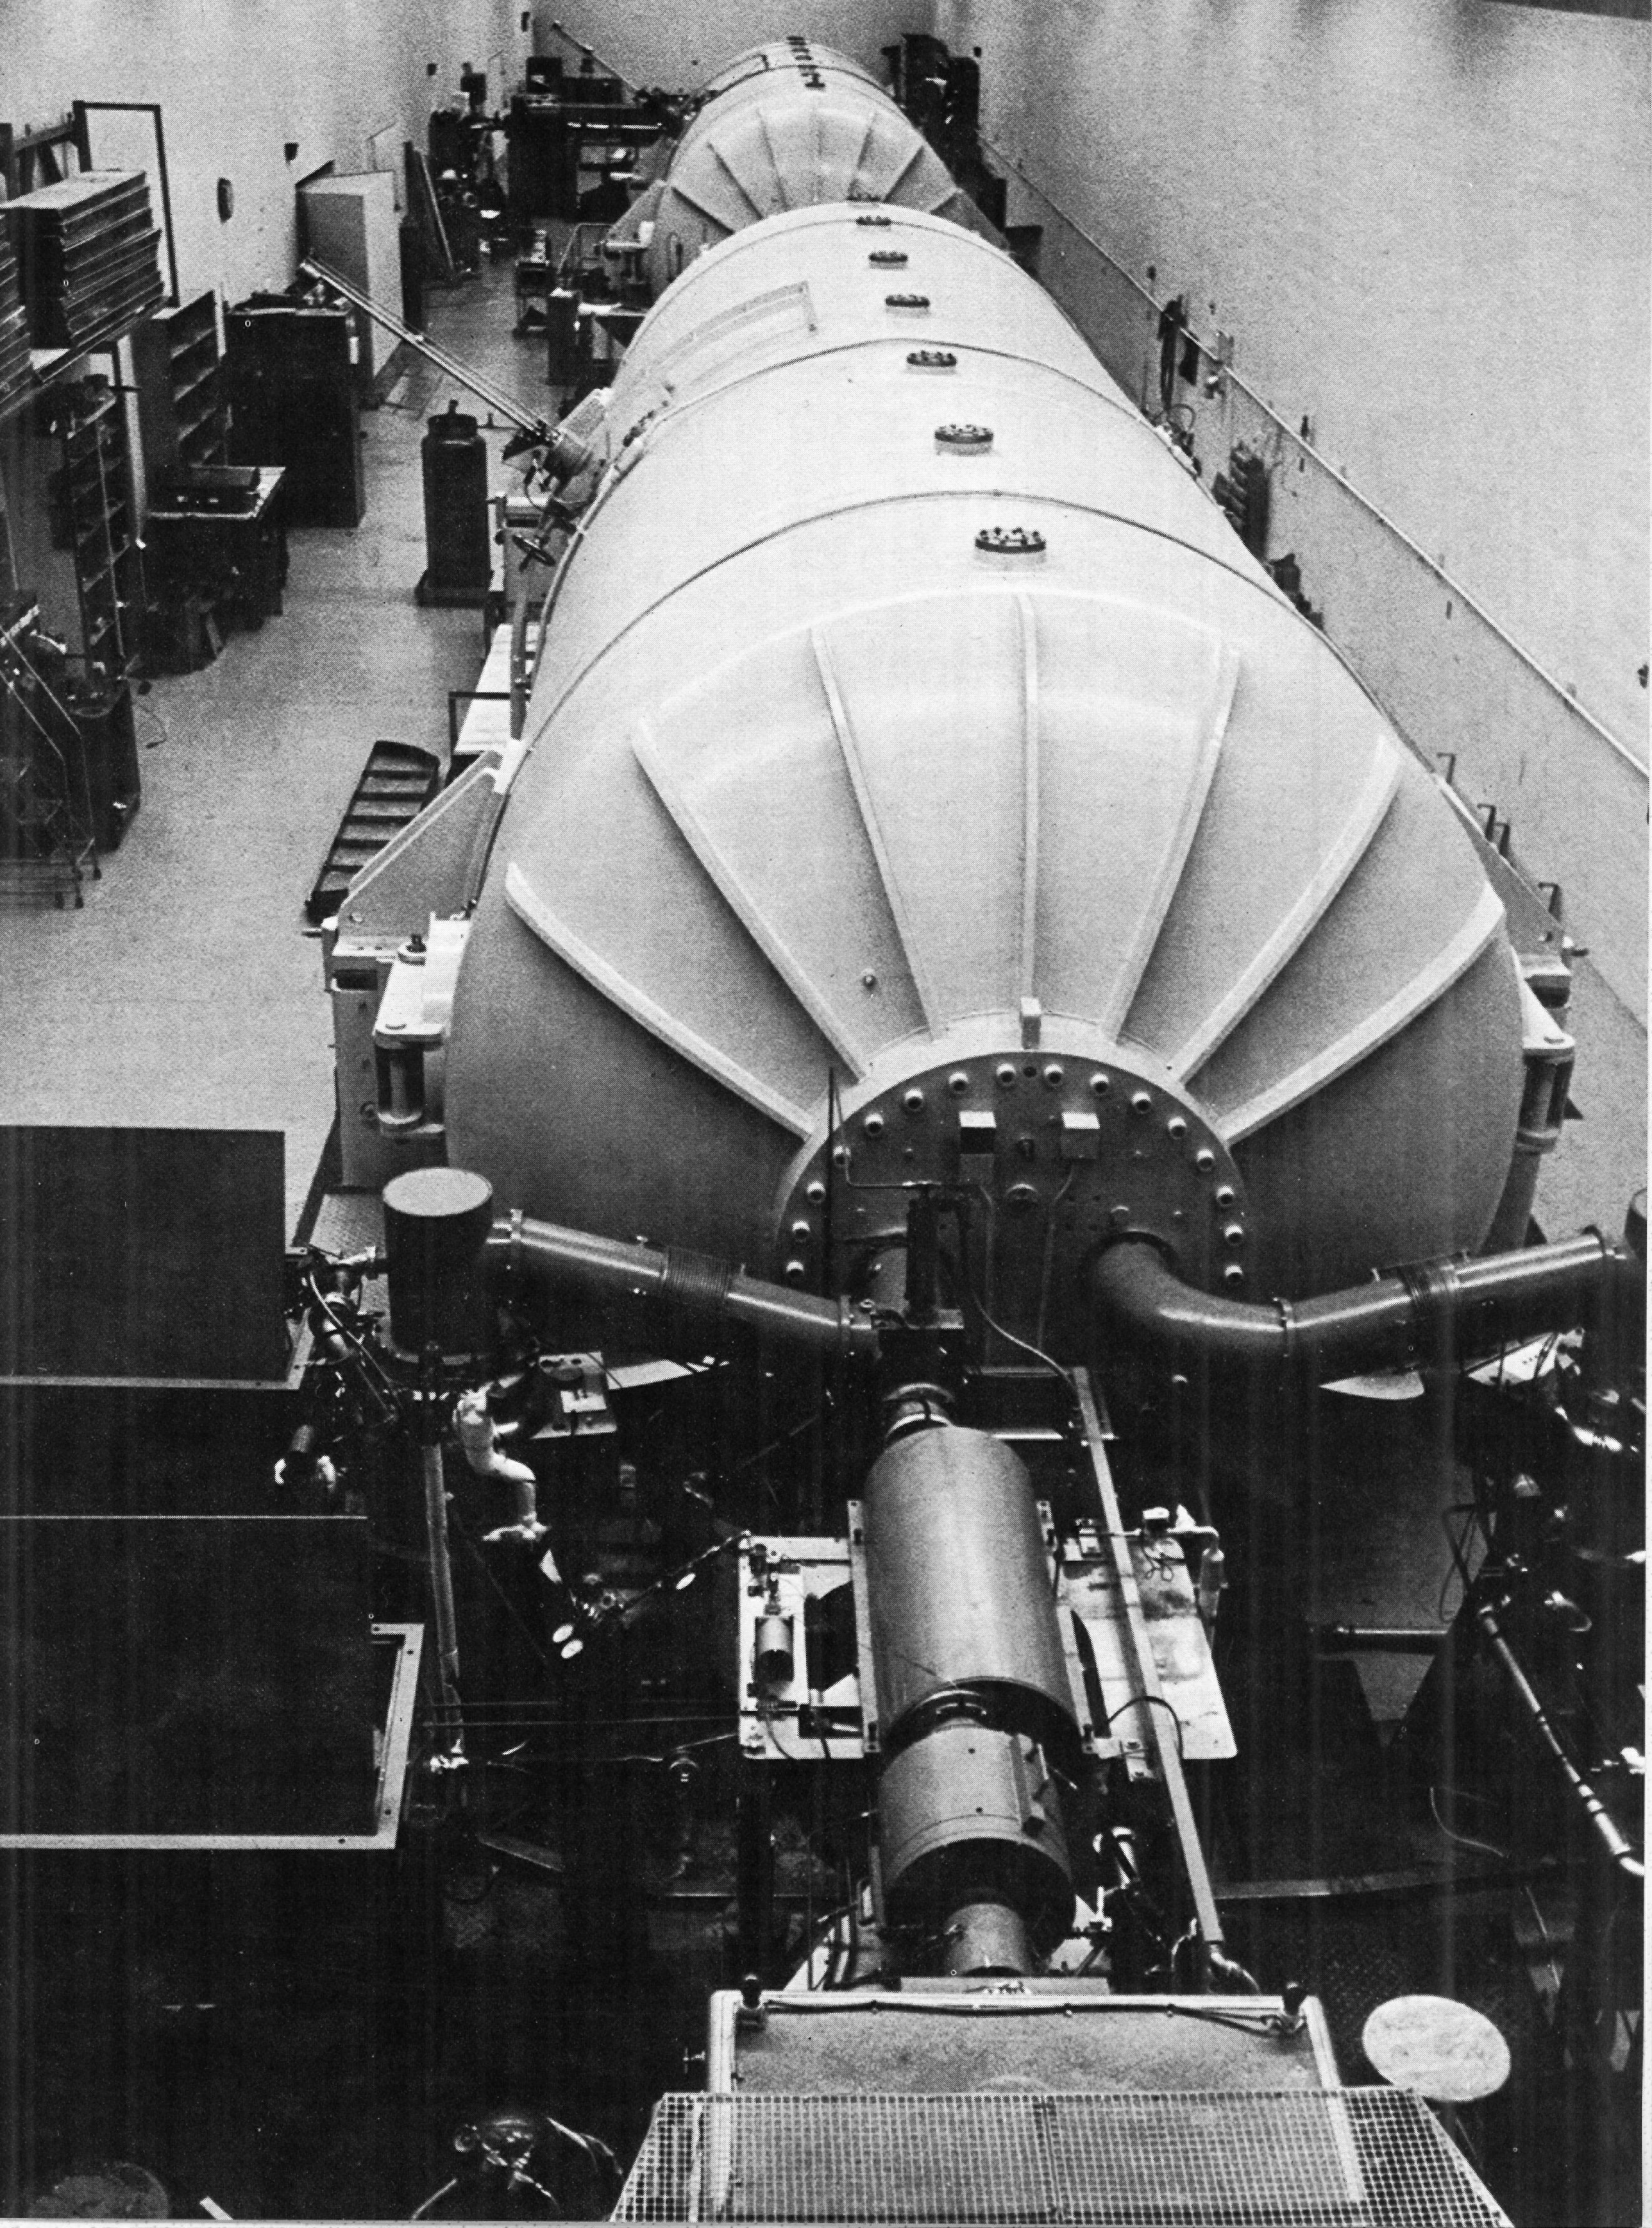

Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society, was founded in 1885 "to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their alma mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America." Undergraduate students in the top one-eighth scholastic quartile in their junior year or top one-fifth in their senior year are eligible for membership consideration.

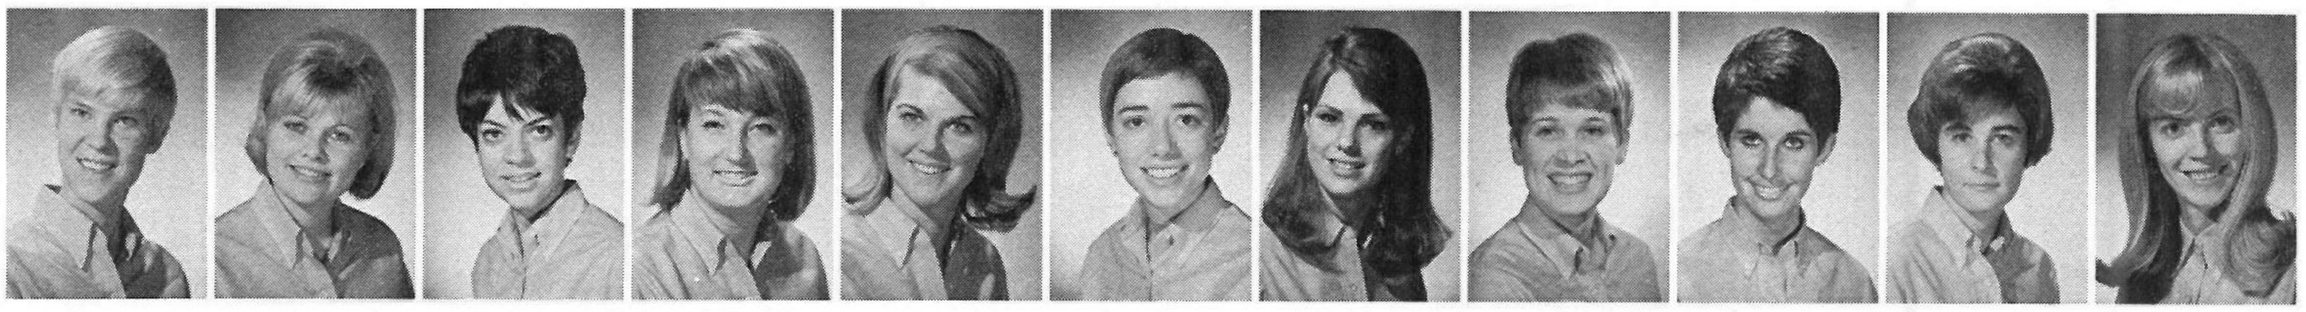

The scholastically eligible students are further considered on the basis of personal integrity, adaptability and unselfish actions. The honorary provides a tutoring service for freshmen engineering students, attends local high schools each spring and gives an engineering orientation to interested students.

Theta Sigma Phi Seeks Better Communication

Theta Sigma Phi activities include guest speakers, career conferences, workshops and retreats with the downtown professional chapter. In room 251 Communications, the members keep the coffee shop stocked with hot coffee and donuts. Service is the word for Totem Club. The girls don't have many internal activities as such because their time is spent servicing the campus. The main purpose of the organization is to recognize women who have given service to the community, the university and their living groups.

Membership is open to junior and senior women with a 2.5 gpa who receive recommendations from campus or other activity chairmen, faculty or advisors.

Special projects include distributing the Tyee Magazine and selling Campus Appeal buttons.

When It's Tough, Varsity Boat Club Goes Strong

Hidden by the newly constructed Intramural Building lies the Conibear Shellhouse. Within the modern walls of the shellhouse are the oldest of traditions and spirit. The Varsity Boat Club (VBC) was organized to promote and instill the traditions that grew with Husky Crew back in its beginning. Organized in 1910, the Varsity Boat Club is a rowing fraternity composed of oarsmen, coxswains and managers who have fulfilled the basic five quarter initiation requirements. The VBC is a self governing living group.

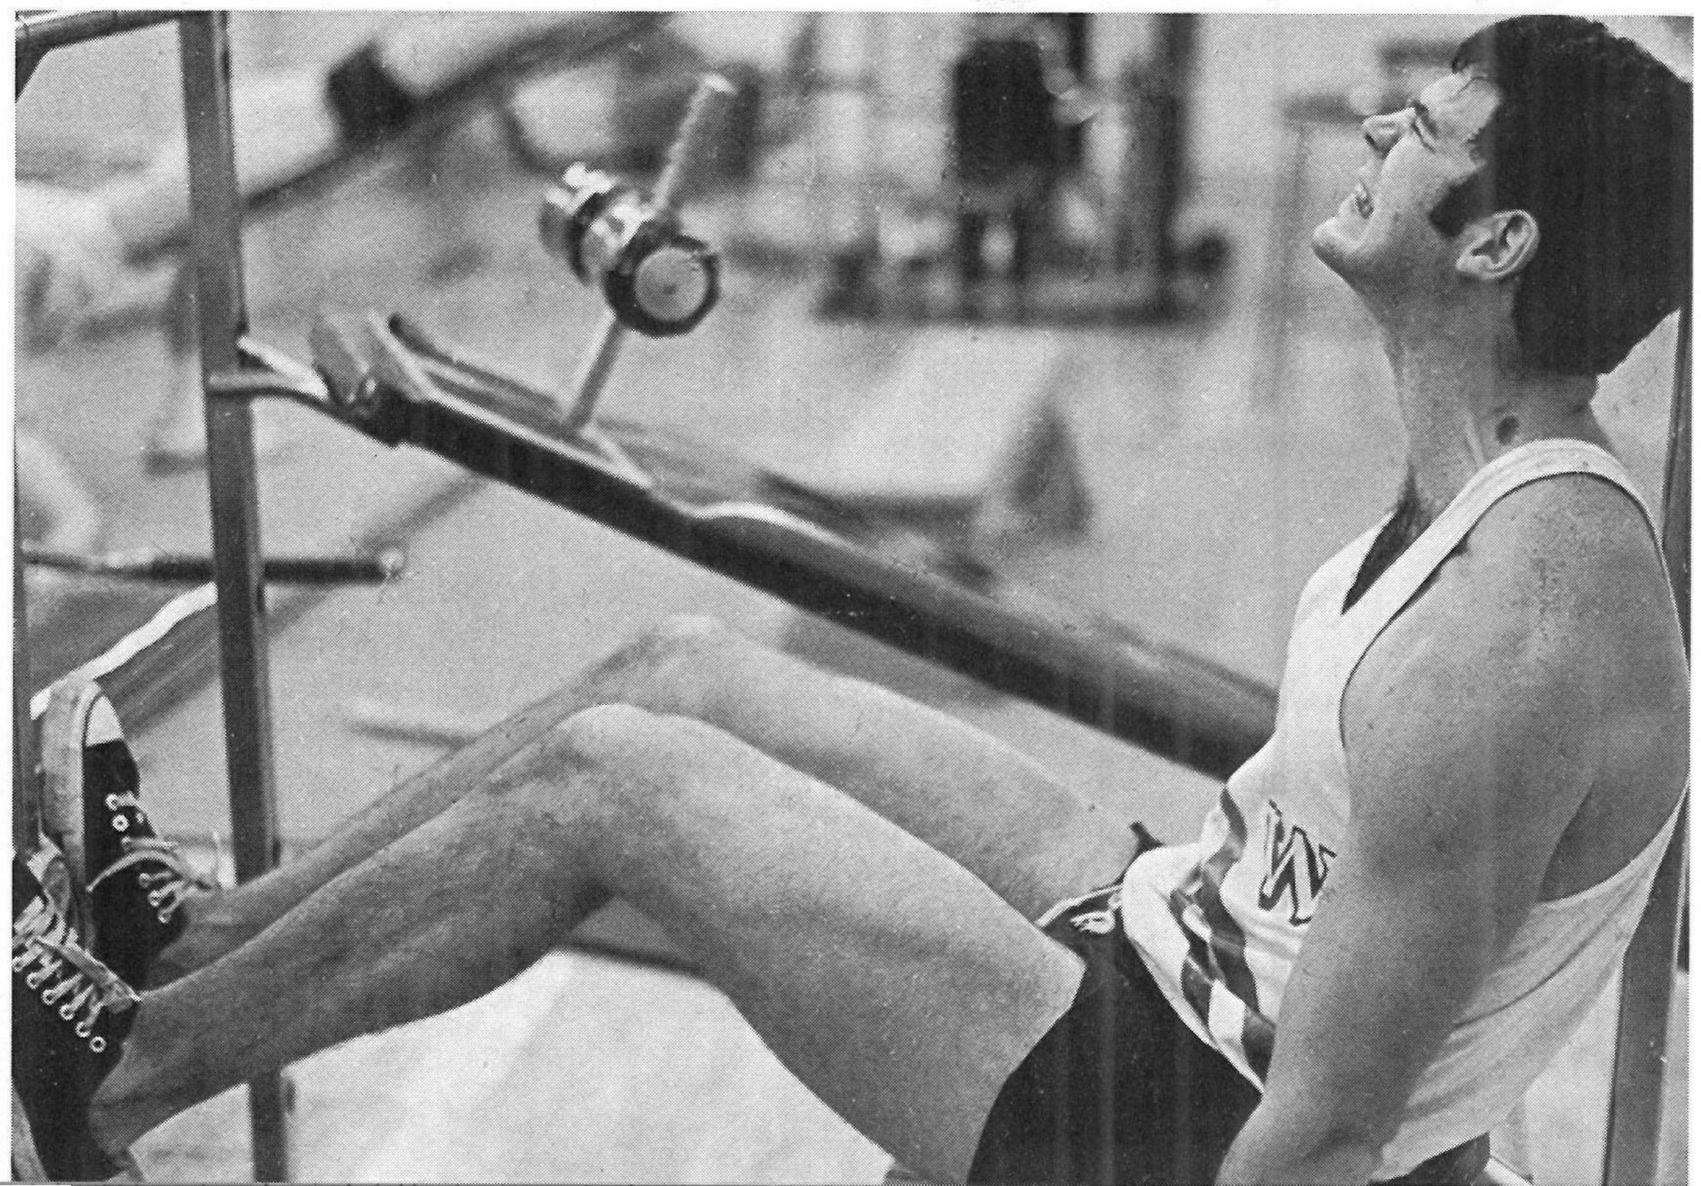

Varsity Boat Club members are leaders. These men crowd the membership lists of such honoraries as Purple Shield, Oval Club, Fir Tree and the 101 Club. Their leadership qualities are developed with a basic formula, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." Last year the men of the VBC, representing UW, placed first in the PAC-8 Championships, second in the nationals and fourth in the Olympic Trials.

The VBC is Husky Crew. It is under the leadership of Richard Erickson, varsity coach; Louis Gellerman, freshman coach; Doug Neil, lightweight coach; and officers through which the VBC accomplishes its most important tasks. Every oarsman, coxswain and manager since 1910 is a member. It has supplied the men who have nine times won the National Championships, who beat Hitler's supermen in the 1936 Olympic Games, who swept Russia's best off the Moscow River in 1958, and who became countless other national and Olympic champions.

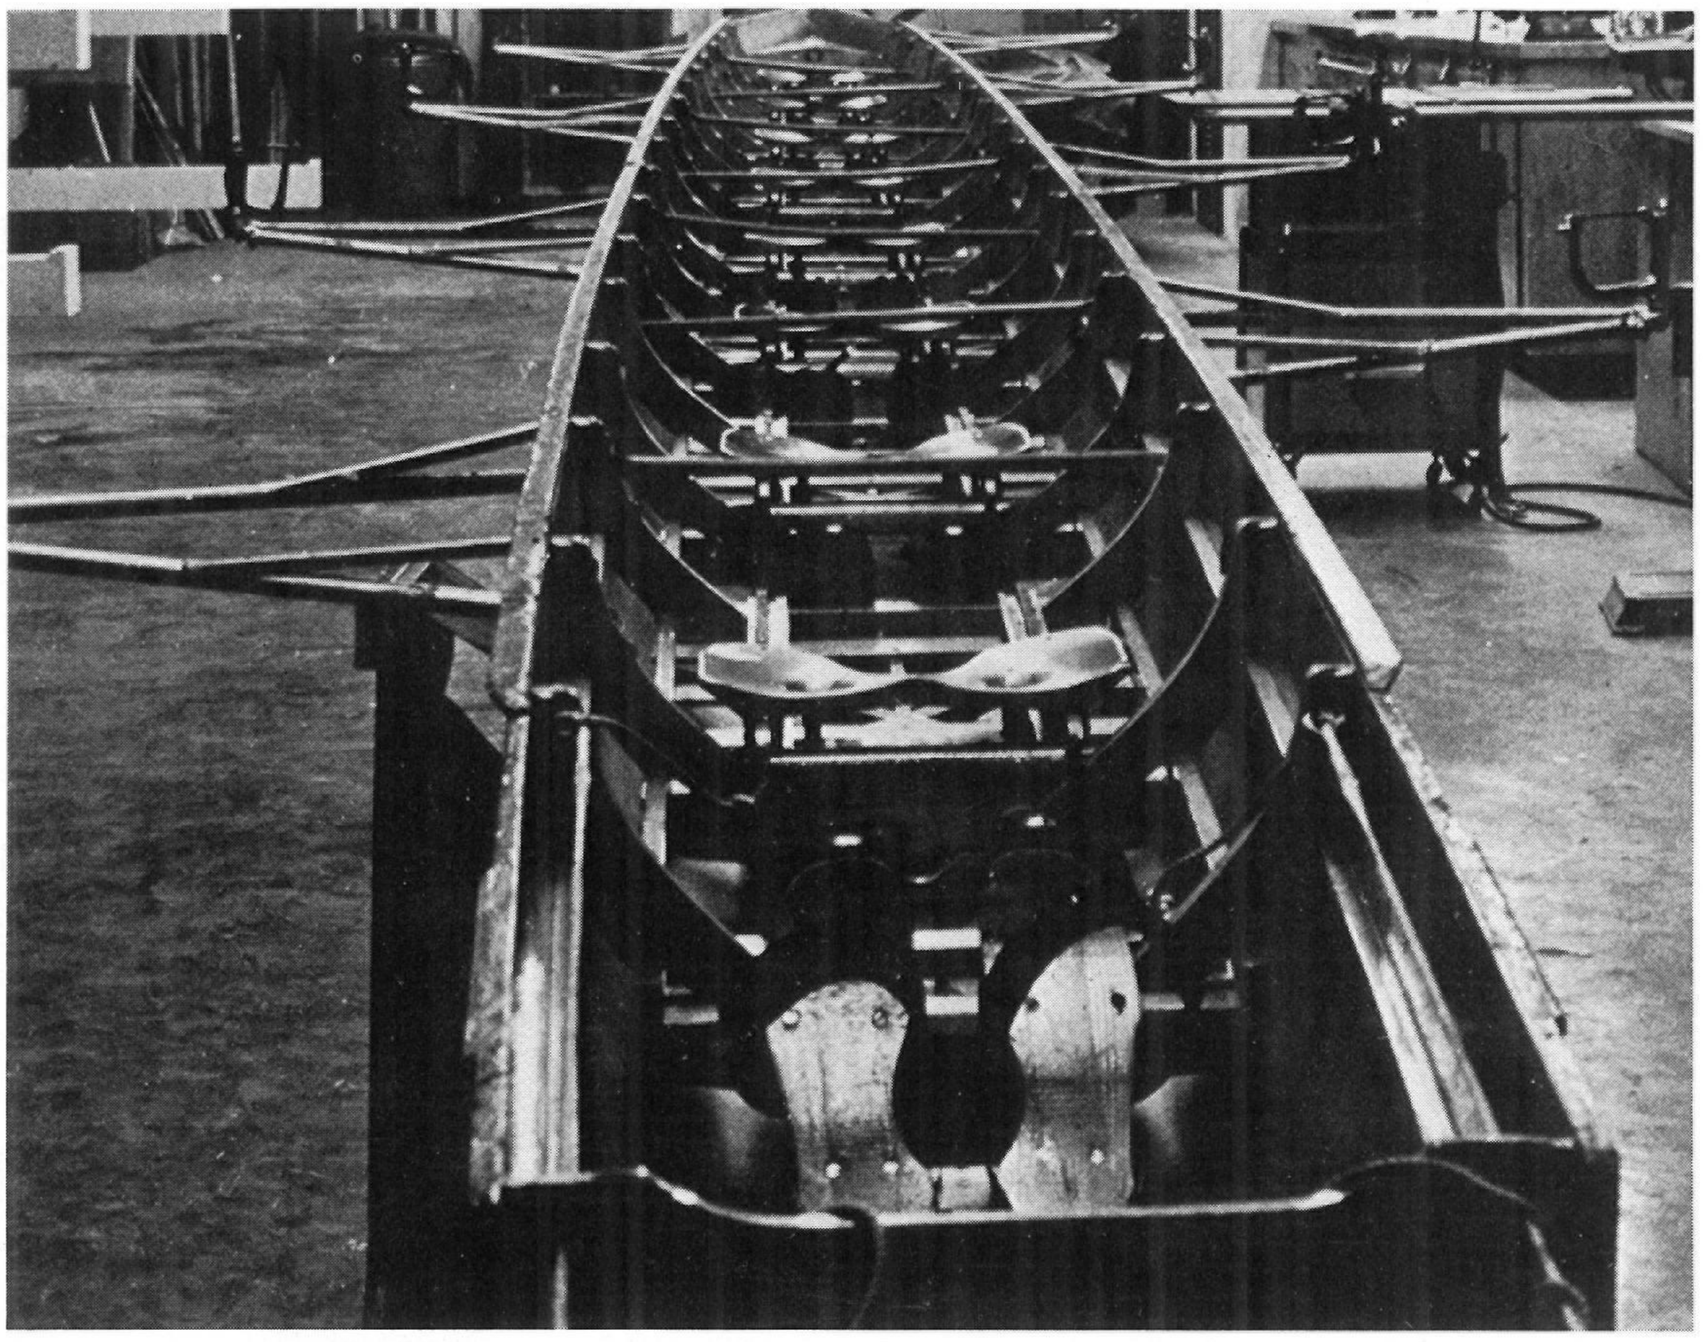

Secondary to rowing endeavors, the VBC also has an active social calendar. Included on the list are dinner exchanges, pajama dances, firesides honoring other Husky athletes and the VBC Winter Semi-Formal. The VBC Rowing Banquet, held toward the end of the season, brings together alums from all parts of the country to enjoy the traditions of the VBC that have been kept for over six decades.

Officers include Rick Cole, Glen Bowser, Brad Thomas, Larry Johnson and Mike Buse.

Sororities

Panhellenic Smooths Bumps Of Greek Life

Today's co-ed is faced with many complexities of campus life. In group living girls try to meet these challenges and to search for their own identity. The modern sorority has updated its ethics and mode of living to satisfy the needs of the modern co-ed. Together in a spirit of giving, girls merge to live, work and laugh as one, yet also as an individual.

Panhellenic, serving as the organizational headquarters for the sorority system, aids in the placement of all interested girls who are seeking a home among its living groups. It functions as a head advisory board, a concerned counselor and a promoter of sorority stability.

Will They Come Again to Alpha Chi Omega?

Alpha Chi Omega will always remember the intellectual and non-intellectual occurrences of this year. "Scholarship first" was Susie cracking the whip, while Barb, from the Henry Art Gallery, revived interest in the finer things. Rules were revised to update the old system. Hawaiian alums brought aloha spirit, and the dinner-speaker exchange with Kappa Kappa Gamma concluded Friendship Week.

Valentine's Day marked the Sweetheart Dinner and rooting for the Sonics. Homecoming with the Betas was fantastic, as was the Pine Lake mud bath. The Derby Day trophy was held high by Barb and Sigma Chi cheerleader, Ron. The class of '72 drew members from Reno to Syracuse. Memories like these are an assurance that the Alpha Chi women will come again.

Alpha Delta Pi Is Having a Roaring Good Time

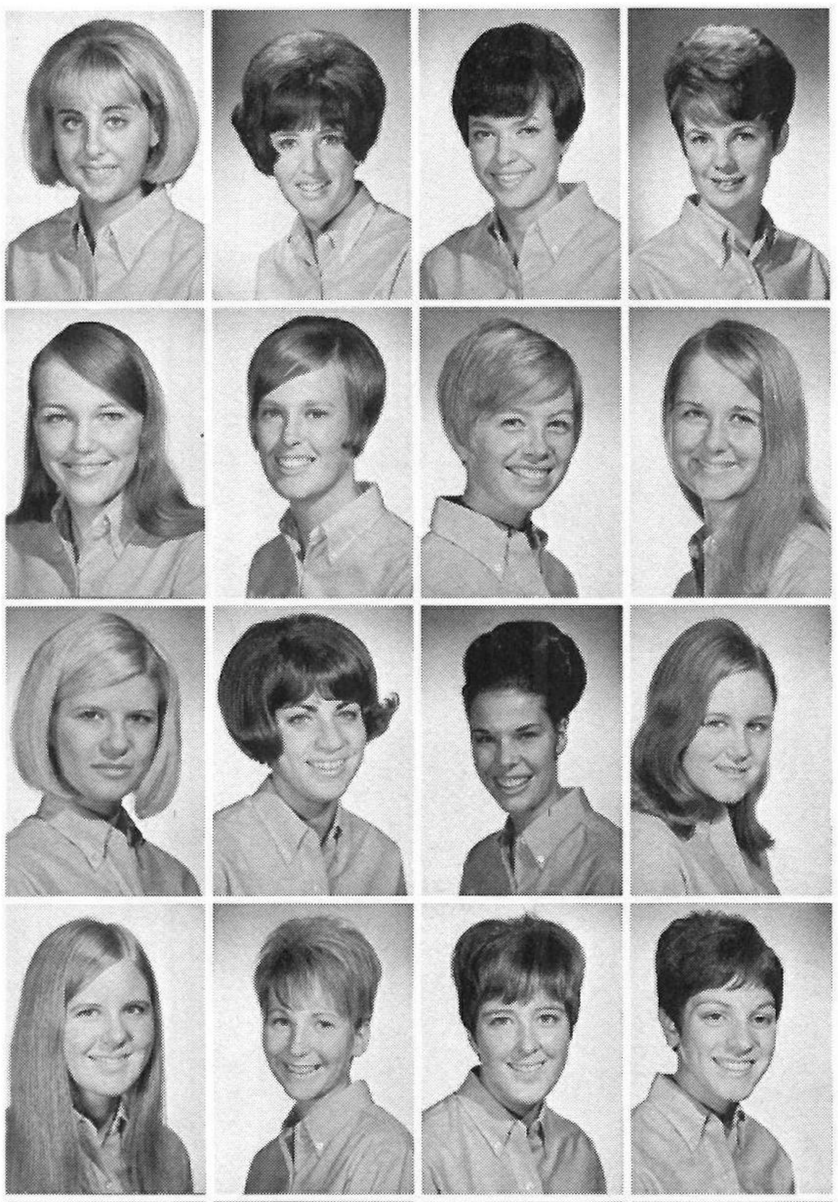

What makes Alpha Delta Pis so happy with each other and their house? Sharing brings contentment—singdowns for successful queen candidates, the first place trophy display for Song Fest and winning the Grand Sweepstakes with neighboring Delta Chis for their Homecoming sign. The girls also shared a pledge dance for 30 "lovelies" at the Seattle Center, a visit to a retirement home for Pumpkin Carols and the everyday living and loving of campus life.

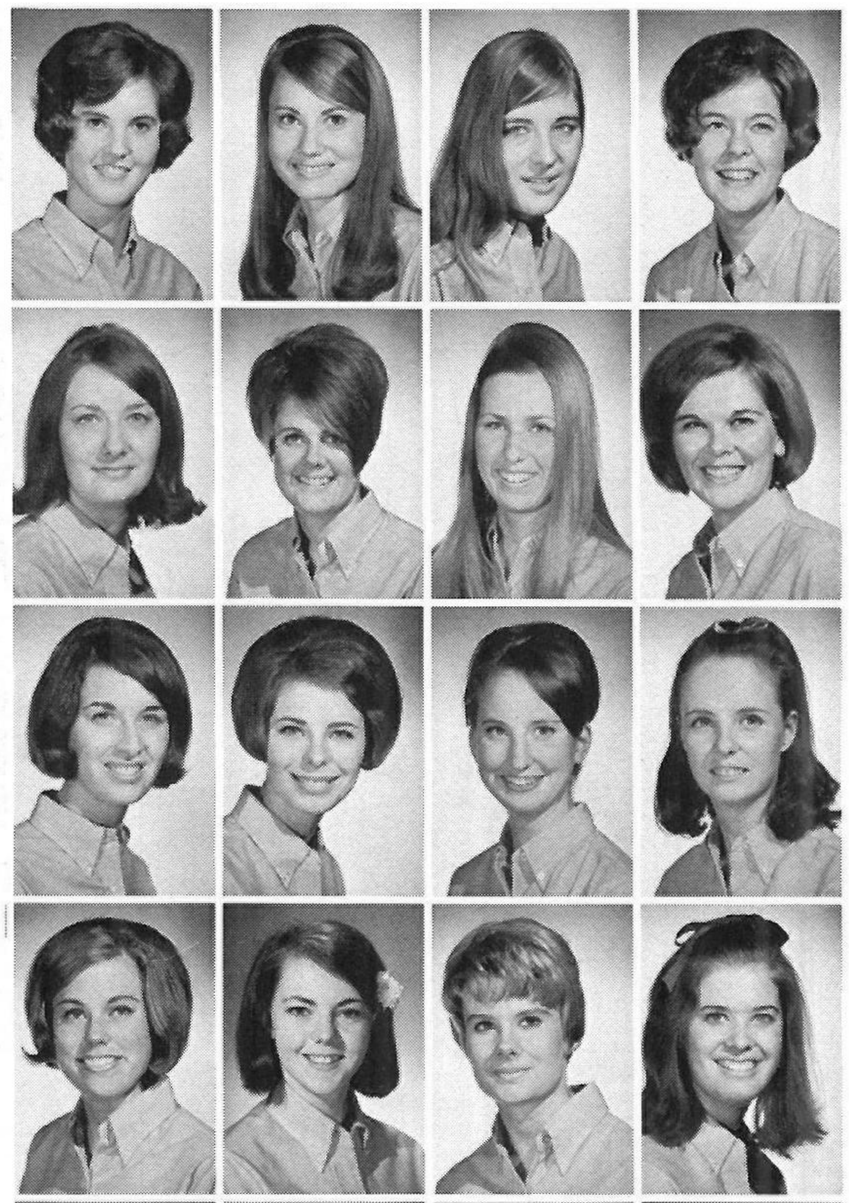

After the next number, dancers get back to that term paper.

For Alpha Epsilon Phi, it was a year of changing attitudes within a longstanding tradition of inspiration, sharing and sisterhood. A pledge class of 20 individuals planned an unconventional Hippie Halloween extravaganza. Further diversity appeared in group activities—a Founder's Day open house and dessert, a father-daughter brunch, a pledge formal, a mother-daughter tea and competition in Homecoming with "Bye Bye Bruins."

To implement the change, there was increased awareness through widespread participation in Black and White Concern, the Experimental College and STAY tutoring.

It is a great place to live, they say. One sister tutors math, another chauffeurs all over town, pledges plug in electric rollers as Mrs. Allen's steak dinners save the weekend.

Living at Alpha Gamma Delta is not a matter of just surviving. It is sharing life with 90 best friends—and having fun.

Through the newly carved door at Alpha Omicron Pi, there is always action. Be it skit practice for Homecoming, midnight popcorn parties, Halloween decorating or mind-bending in the study room, it's there. Helpful tutors, willing guidance and sisterly sympathy bind co-eds together in sisterly companionship.

The girls gained third win of the All-Sports Trophy, a final placing in Song Fest and individual recognition in various campus organizations. The sorority staged a dinner dance at the Hyatt House and a successful, but very wet, pledge sneak. But the most rewarding experience of all is the friendship found at AOPi.

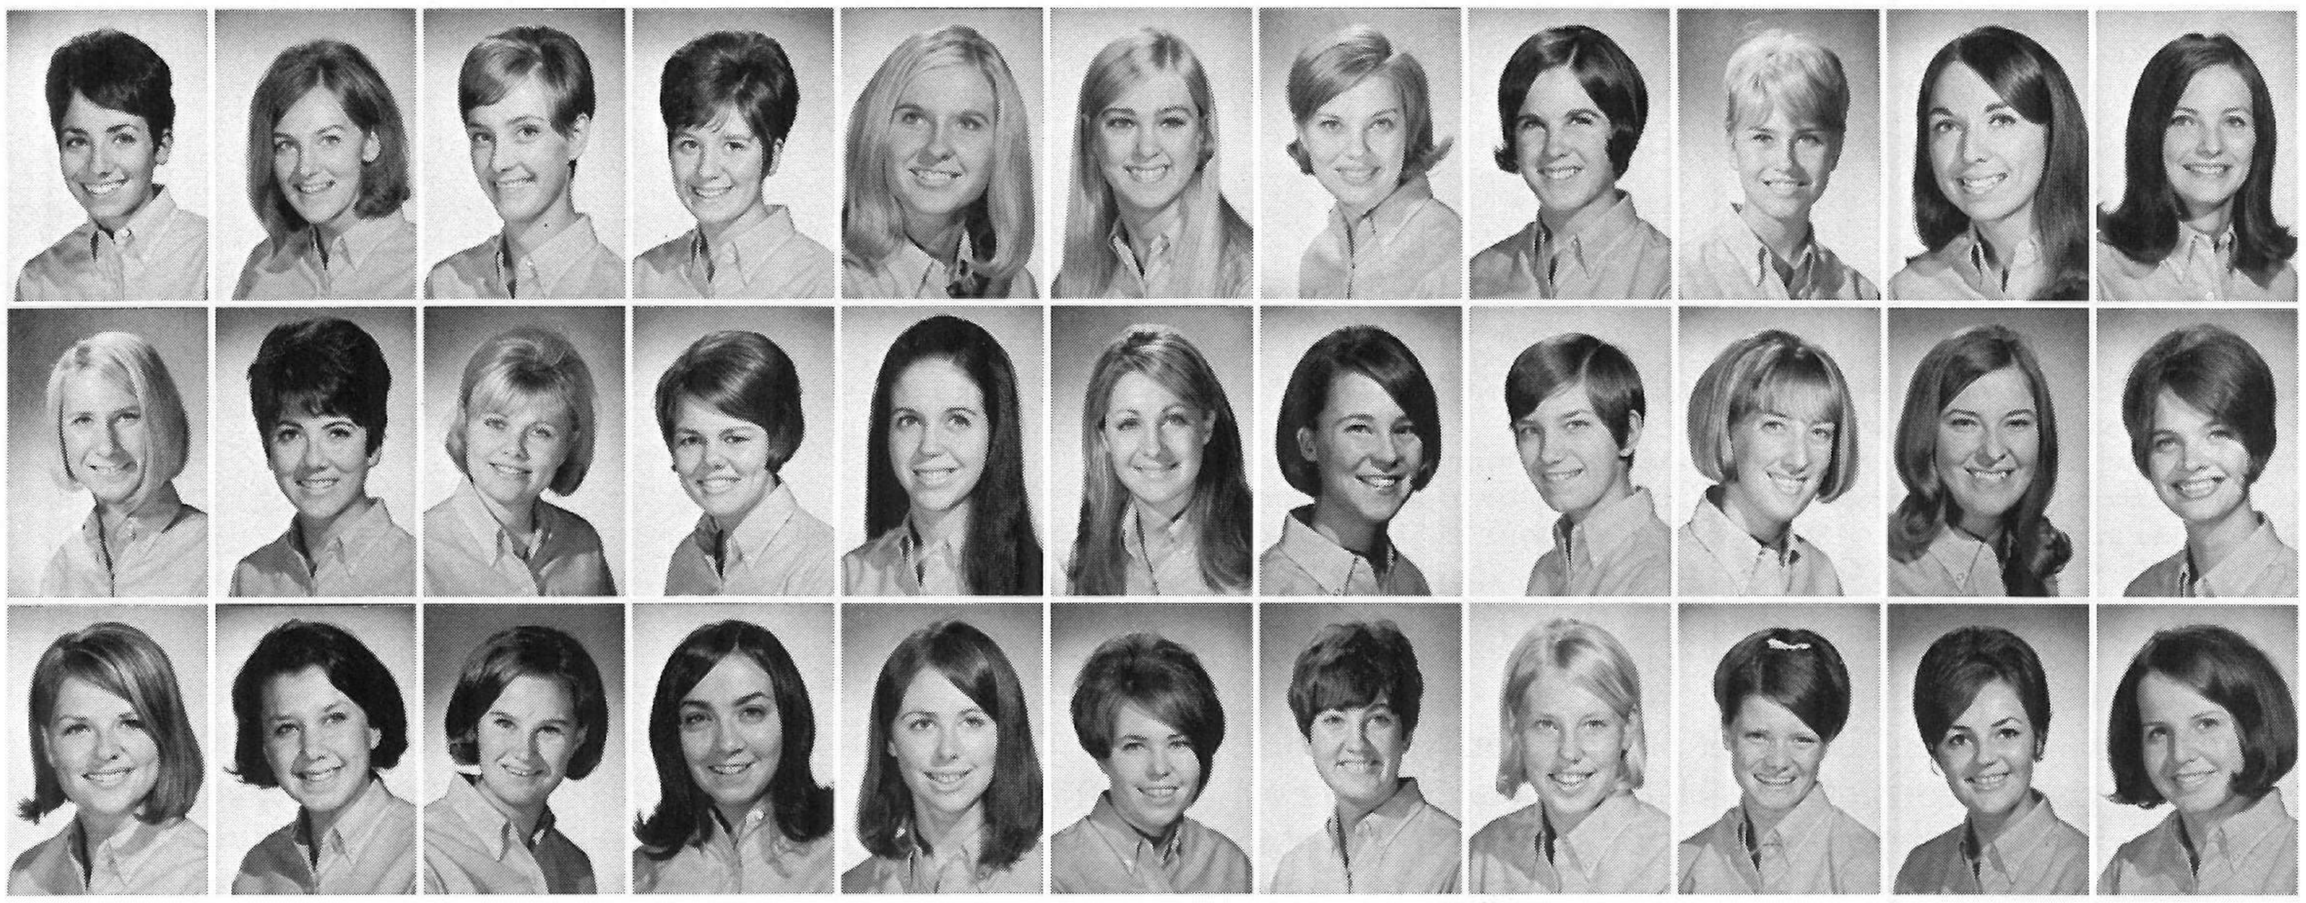

Special projects not only accomplish materialistic good, but help fuse sisterhood.

Alpha Phi Is a Place Where

What makes a house a home? It's the people who live there. Everyone must want to make her own life, yet be willing to give part of herself to other individuals. A home is eagerness to listen, to advise, to work, to share, to laugh and, most of all, to learn.

Alpha Phi is a home. Every girl is becoming what she wants to become. Every day brings new discoveries and a little bit of wisdom. They've learned a lot about life—not always the kind gathered from textbooks, but education gained by knowing someone besides oneself.

Chi Omega Has Versatility Plus

The Chi Omega house is where versatility is alive and not sacrificed for the cookie-cutter image. Outstanding talents and wholesome spirit is evident in the Song Fest and Muscular Dystrophy projects.

The PLUS comes from tying Chi O friendship with memories. Arrival of pledges, songs, Herfy runs and snowing their dates add to these memories. This PLUS is what makes their house a home.

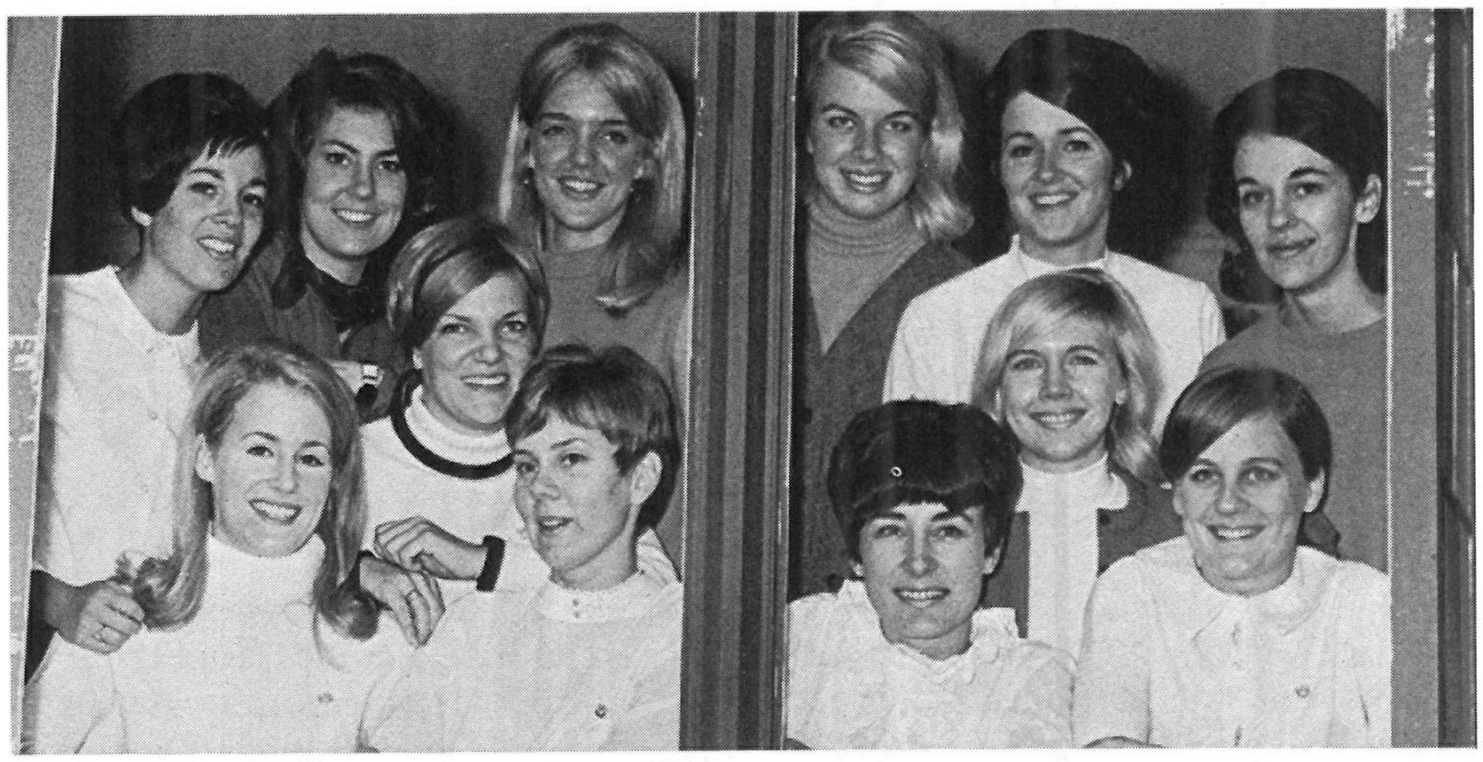

Tri Delta is a minute part of a large university, but a unified whole as a way of life. Each member finds her place in the house and the house finds its place with each member. Through give and take individuals develop and contribute to their home.

One Unforgettable Year Made For and By Tri Deltas

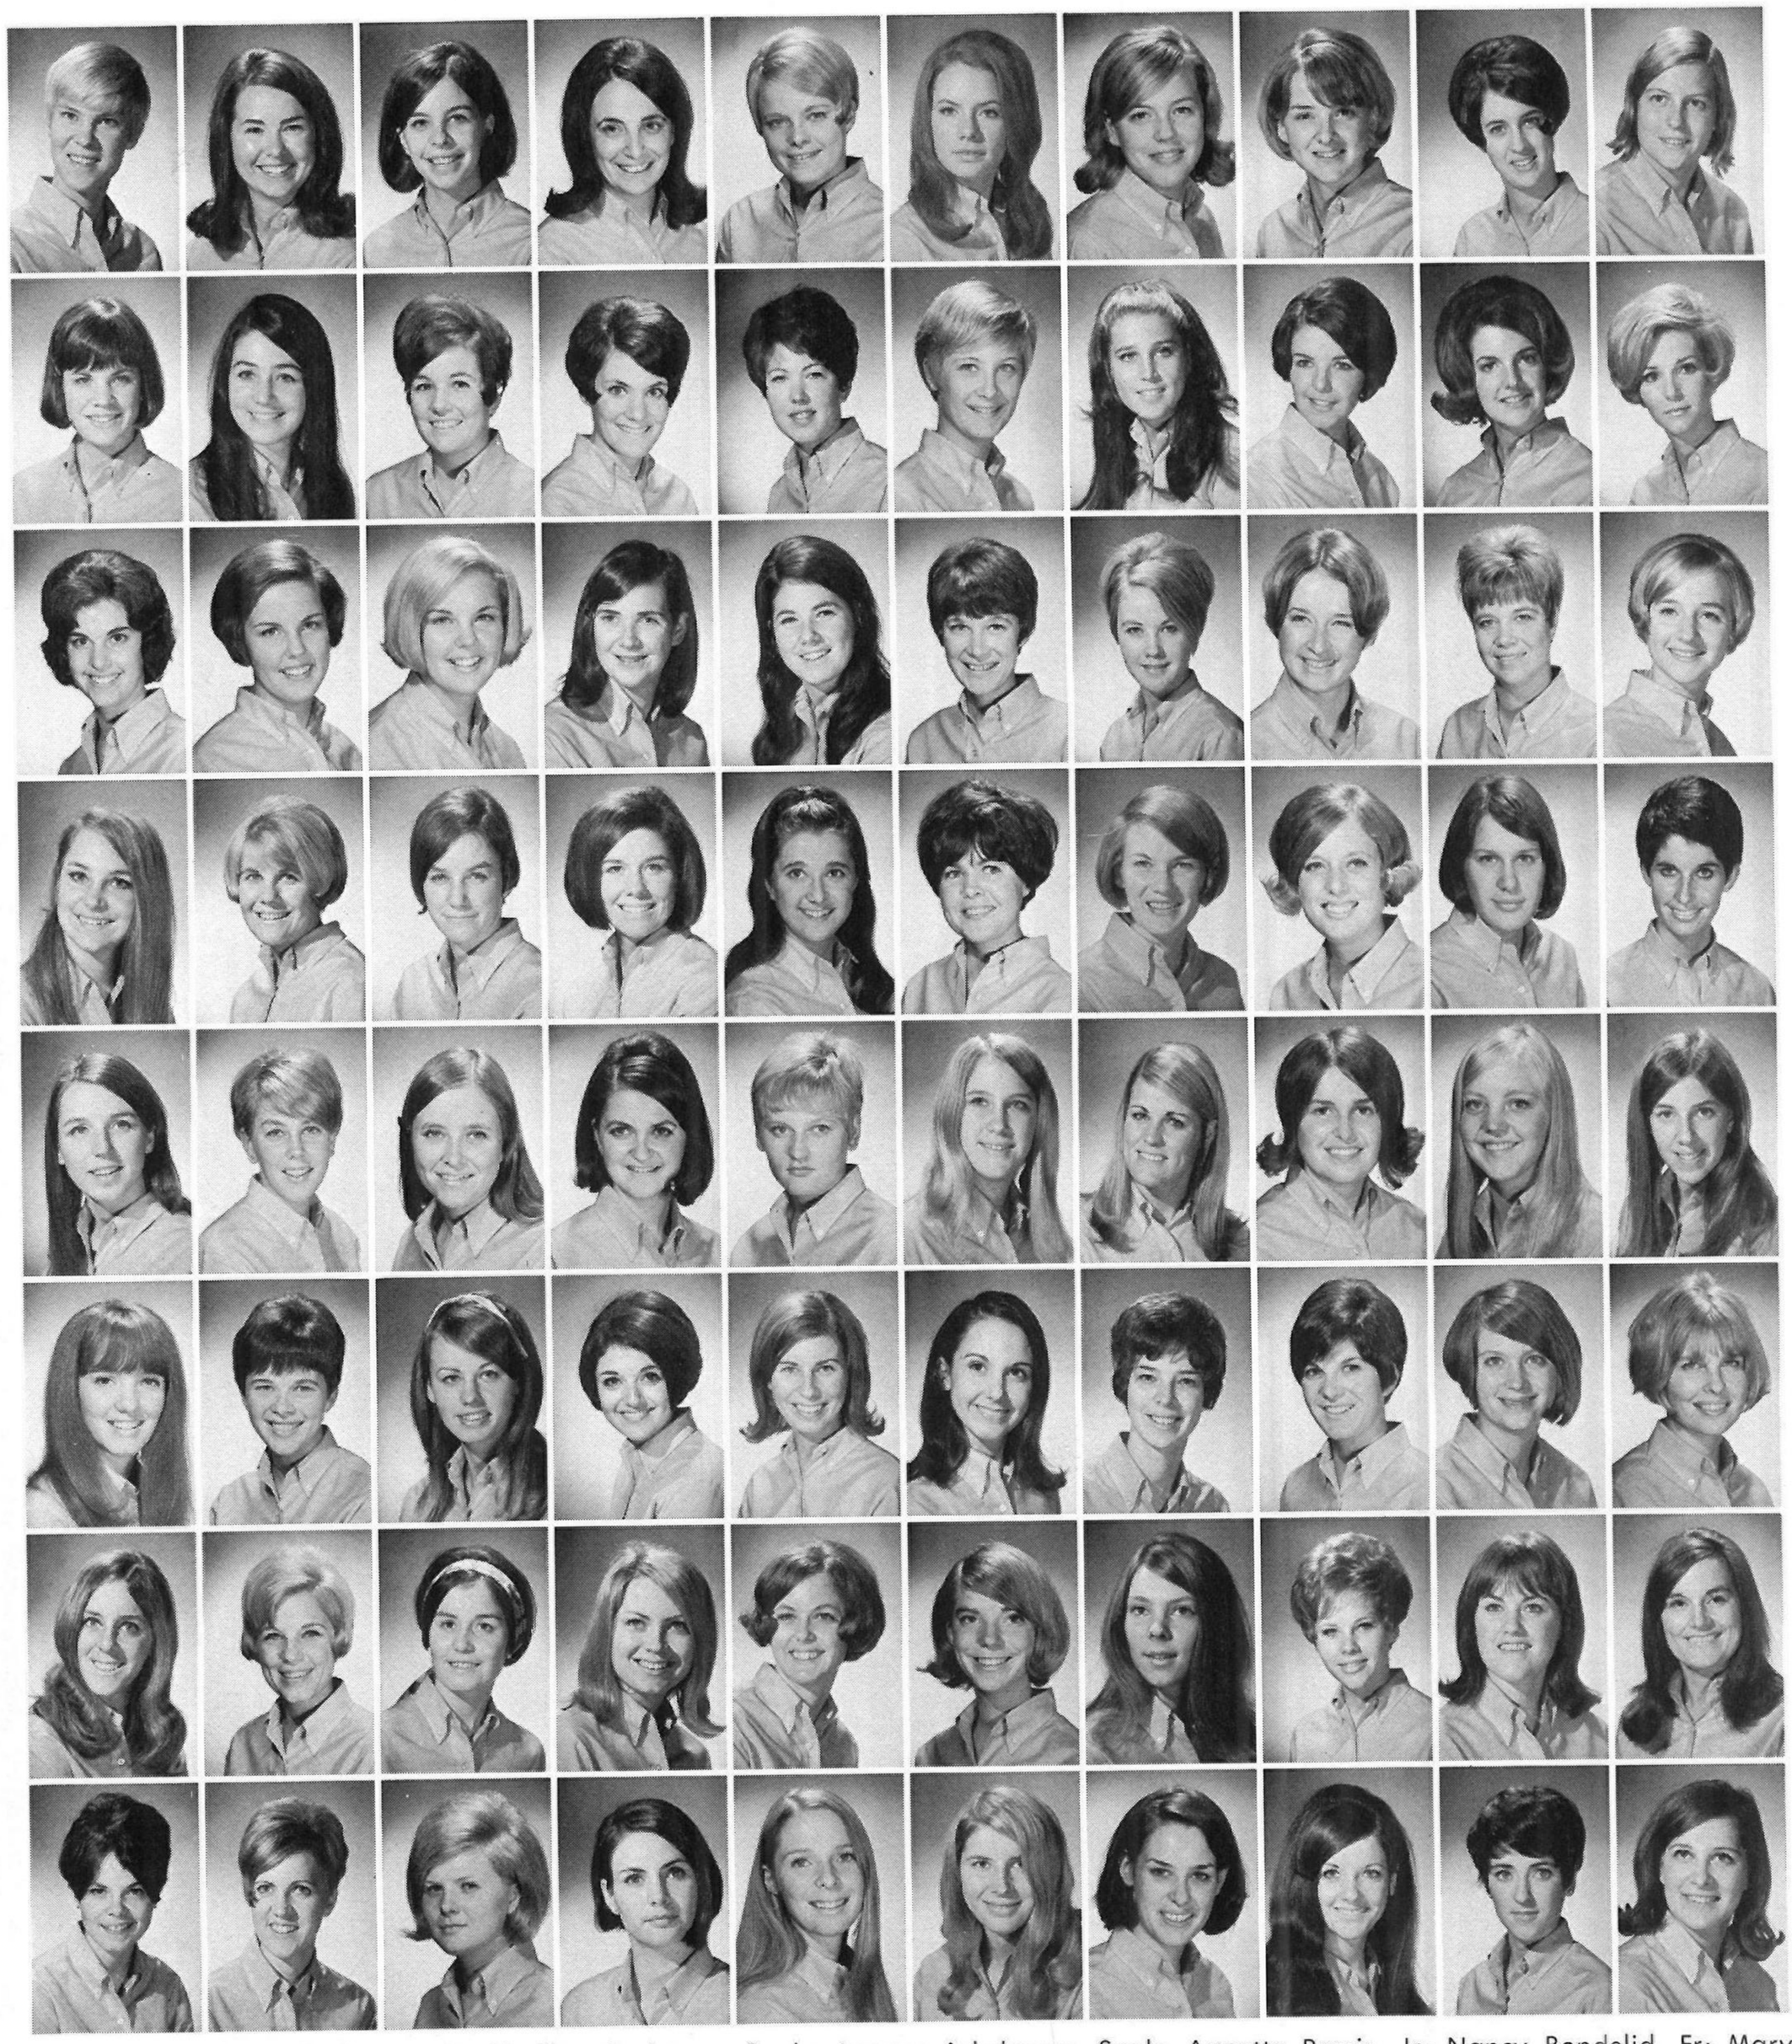

Through diversified talent, interest and motivation, Tri Deltas achieve personal and group honors—Miss Seattle, the Songfest trophy and Mortar Board leaders. Successful class sneaks, Founder's Day and house dances strengthen the bonds of Tri Delta tradition. All of these make a year that will not be easily forgotten. Most importantly, though, one cannot remember only the fun and laughs, nor only the hard times and misunderstandings, but the culmination of an educational and inspirational year —one unforgettable year within a lifetime of each member of Tri Delta.

It's not that hard to find a friend at Delta Gamma. Mrs. Thayer, foreign student Nina, happy homemaker Molly and even Seville will always lend an ear.

It's not that hard to have pride in Delta Gamma. Tammy was on TV running for National College Football Queen. Scholastic standing was in the first quartile of grades for campus living groups.

It's not that hard to groove at Delta Gamma. Lady Soul rocked out in Holdie's room. Poinsettia and the fellas serenaded at 3 a.m.

No, it's not that hard to be a D.G.

It's Not That Hard at Delta Gamma

A Year Filled with Fond

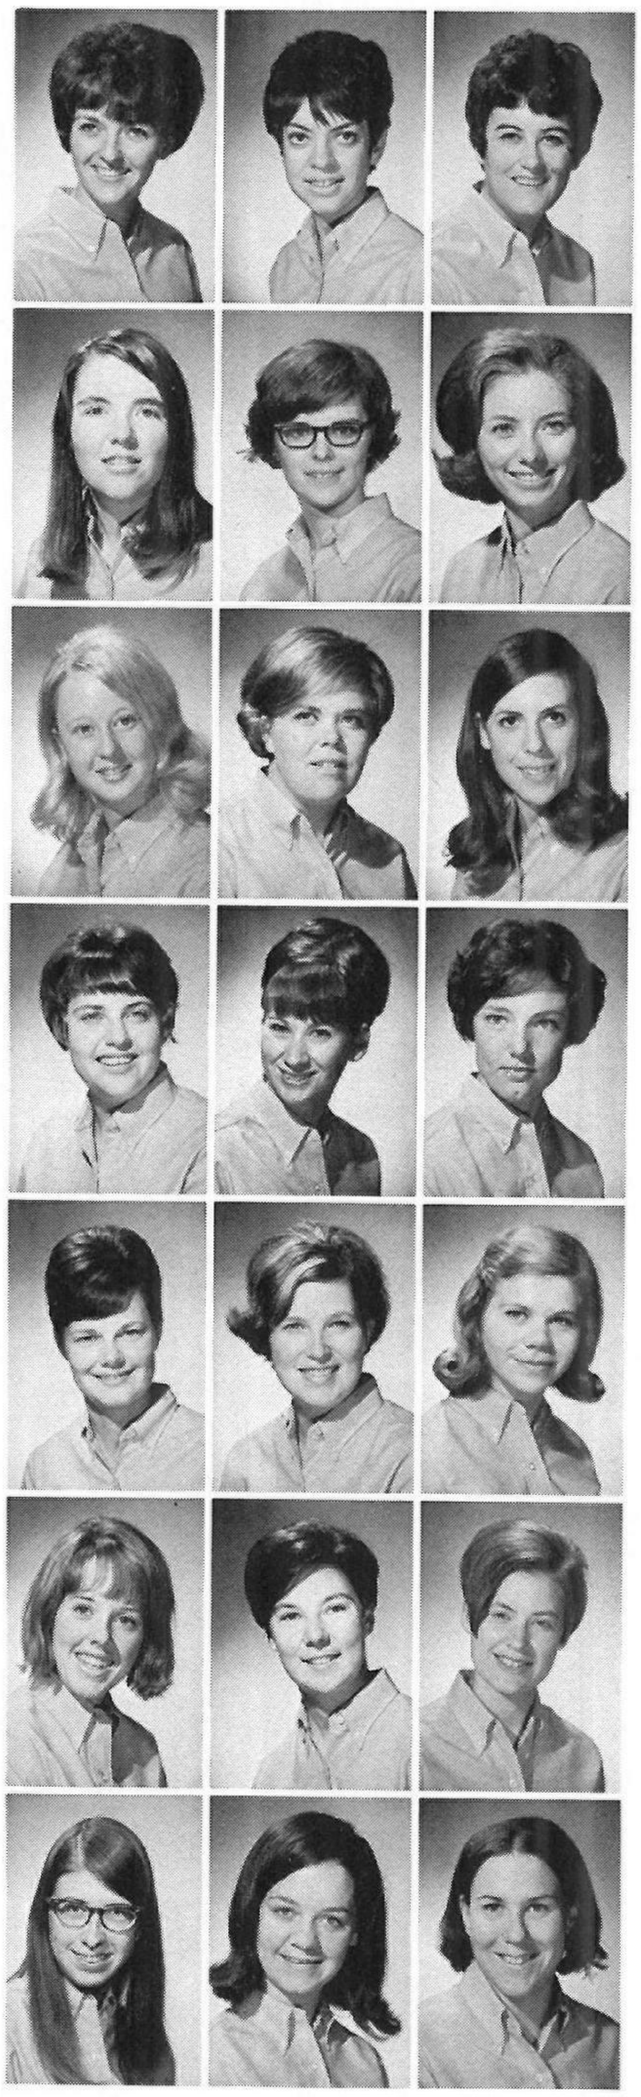

Memories of Delta Zeta

Scholarship and spirit filled the memories for Delta Zeta. Not simply the dances, parties and exchanges will be remembered. Involvement and cooperation grew here.

Sue got her Phi Beta Kappa key—and law school got Nancy. Delta Zeta earned the Most Improved Scholarship Award. Each girl was involved in politics, communication and the meaning of Delta Zeta.

Cooperation meant quiet hours, organization and always staying for just one more song.

Gamma Phi Has A Special Gift

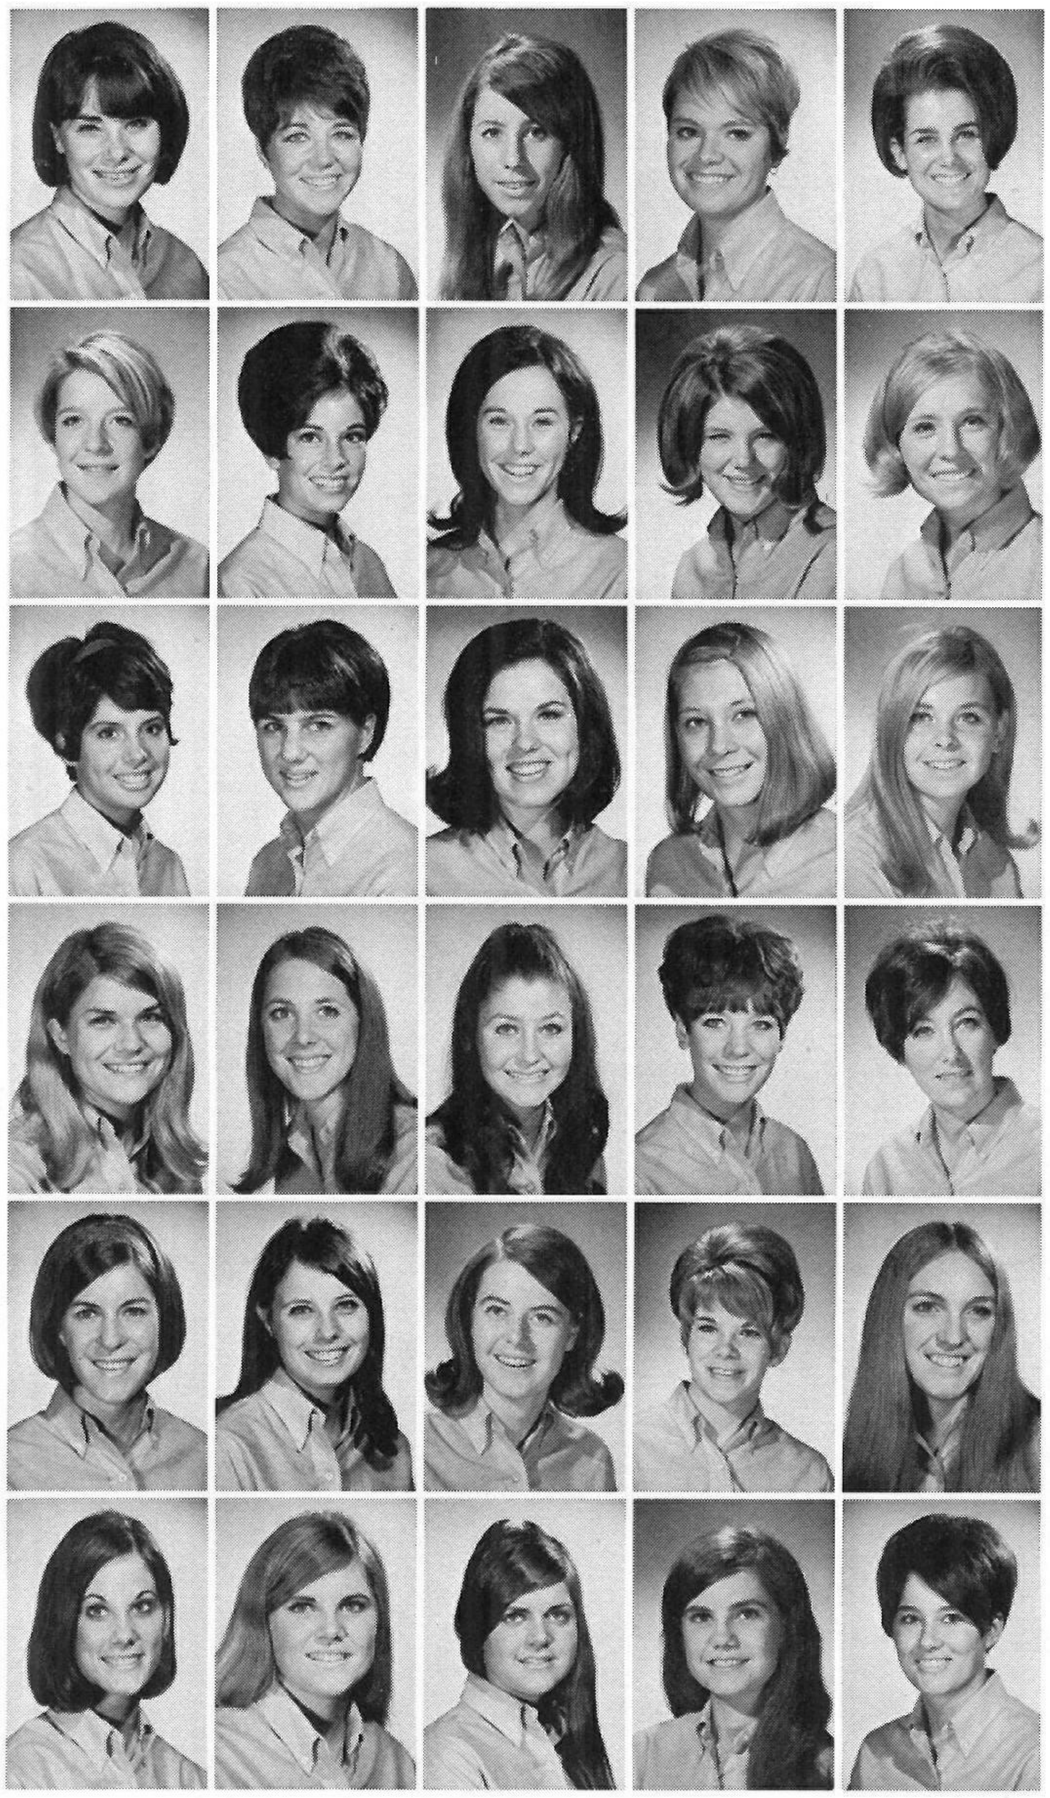

Gamma Phi Beta is the cohesive effort of 117 individuals, each possessing a special, unique gift to share with others. This voluntary giving of talents creates a united, enthusiastic community. The girls endeavor to know themselves thoroughly.

Gamma Phi is the vital interaction, the small conflicts and cooperations, between girls living together. Knowing when a friend needs consolation, or when she needs solitude, is part of knowing oneself.

Pillows are made for the underprivileged children that attend the Gamma Phi Beta camps.

A black and gold kite, a new home full of old friends, wild Friday night dinners and crazy firesides . . . these are all a challenge for 40 pledges and a new way to live.

Thoughtful and creative members learn the tradition to appreciate, maintain and work to enhance and enlarge a tested and successful foundation for living. It is a place where borrowing and lending is commonplace; where activity is high and where giving is something one wants to do. It is a place to grow, to learn, to share.

It's amazing how harmonic 120 voices can be when they're friendly. It's wonderful to know that there is someone who wants to listen. 4521 17th Ave. is a warm place to live . . . a good home.

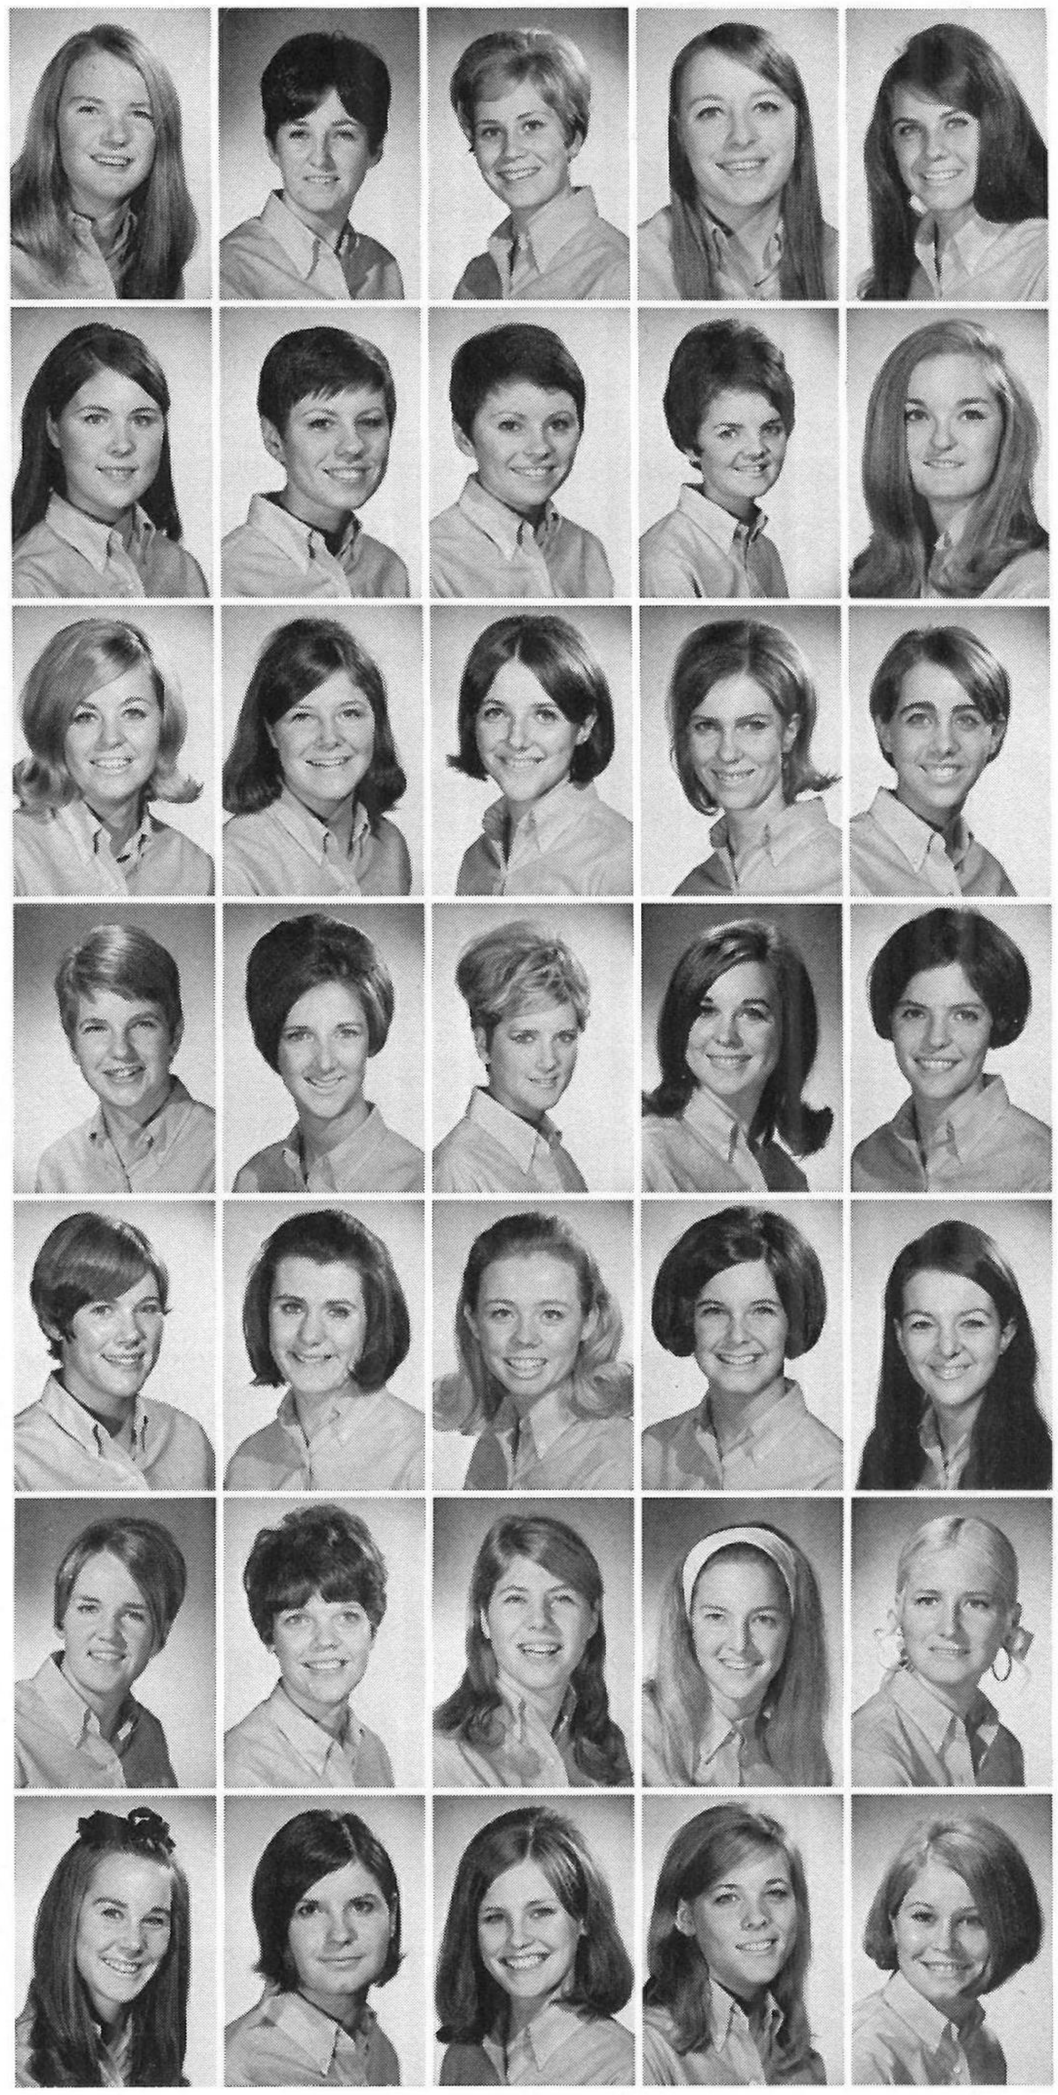

Kappa Alpha Theta girls relax and get to know each other.

Kappa Delta Spirit

Is Sparked by

Forty-Four Pledges

Socially, Kappa Delta rated high on campus, adding more Corvette, Angel Flight and Brigadear members to the ranks. Little Sisters of Minerva also tapped from KD this year, and Kappa Delts were among the front runners in many sweetheart and queen contests.

Kappa Delta scholarship did not falter, despite the thrill of the social whirl. The new library addition seemed to stimulate concentration and good grades. Totem Club, Zeta Phi Eta and many more honoraries have extended their membership into KD. As a special honor, Rotary International has sent Sandy Hullinger abroad to study music in Austria.

Yes, the year has been a great one—a year of fun and happiness, a year of close ties between Kappa Delta sisters.

Fun and Laughter

Fill Kappa House

Individually and as a group, Kappas enjoy and exploit the numerous aspects of college life. Taking an active part in the local, state and national political campaigns was an enriched learning experience for many. Homecoming and the return to Happy Valley brought out unity as the Kappas worked together on their prize winning sign and shared the fun and laughter at the Kappa pledge dance.

Phi Mu Shares Joy

Exciting things happen when the place is Phi Mu. Fall rush brought in 31 spirited pledges that started the year with a successful pledge sneak and midnight pledge porch warfare. The 'actives' were suited to their title, though pinnings forced many a poor girl under the table to eat her dessert. The Christmas party held with a Seattle orphanage brought the sisters closer together through the joy of sharing.

Phi Sigma Sigma Hosts Space Captain Kirk

After starting the year with an all-campus reception for William Shatner of "Star Trek," Phi Sigs infiltrated all forms of campus life. Individually, members were active in university organizations. As a group, Phi Sigs enjoyed many social events with dates, fathers or just friends. Philanthropic projects included a Happy Turkey Party for the Orthopedic Hospital, a shoeshine for Campus Appeal, balloons for several hospitals and active support of the canned food drive.

Co-eds Create a Home

Individually and collectively Pi Phi's had an all-time year. One hundred and four girls joined together to make the "house" their home.

In this home there were unforgetable moments: Carousel party, the homecoming sign with the Sammies, the cooks' sneak, Halloween night, Dr. Bone for dinner, the Tri-Ad and skits. Besides midnight seminars in the solarium, the girls enjoyed Sunday snacks with Mrs. M., jogging and Herfy runs.

It was a good year for scholarship and campus activities. It was a good year for friends—a houseful of good friends at Pi Beta Phi.

A Variety of People Comprises Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa is populated with many people. There are some charming people (Homecoming Queen finalist), some smart and busy people (Sophomore Woman of the Year; AWS officer and cabinet members), some beautiful people (Miss Seattle runner-up), some talented people (Seattle Youth Symphony members and assorted pianists and vocalists), some new people (33 pledges).

Sigma Kappa even has old people (remaining actives, two funny cooks and a housekeeper). The castle tower, unique in its commanding view of the surrounding fields, is kept locked to protect the innocent people from roaming outside. It is opened only once a year, for a week and a half in September to capture a pledge class. Then there are even more people.

Spirit Runs High at Zeta Tau Alpha

Zetas are pulling together for scholarship, fun and friendship. The year started by pulling two trophies in the intramural tug-o-war, and continued with a very successful pledge sneak, exchanges and the Winter White Violet Ball. Enthusiasm was never higher!

After entertaining guests at a tea honoring the new house mother, Zeta Tau Alpha was privileged with a visit from the national president from South Carolina. She summed up the feelings of all the girls when she said, "I'm proud to be a Zeta Tau Alpha."

Fraternities

IFC Centralizes

33 Fraternities

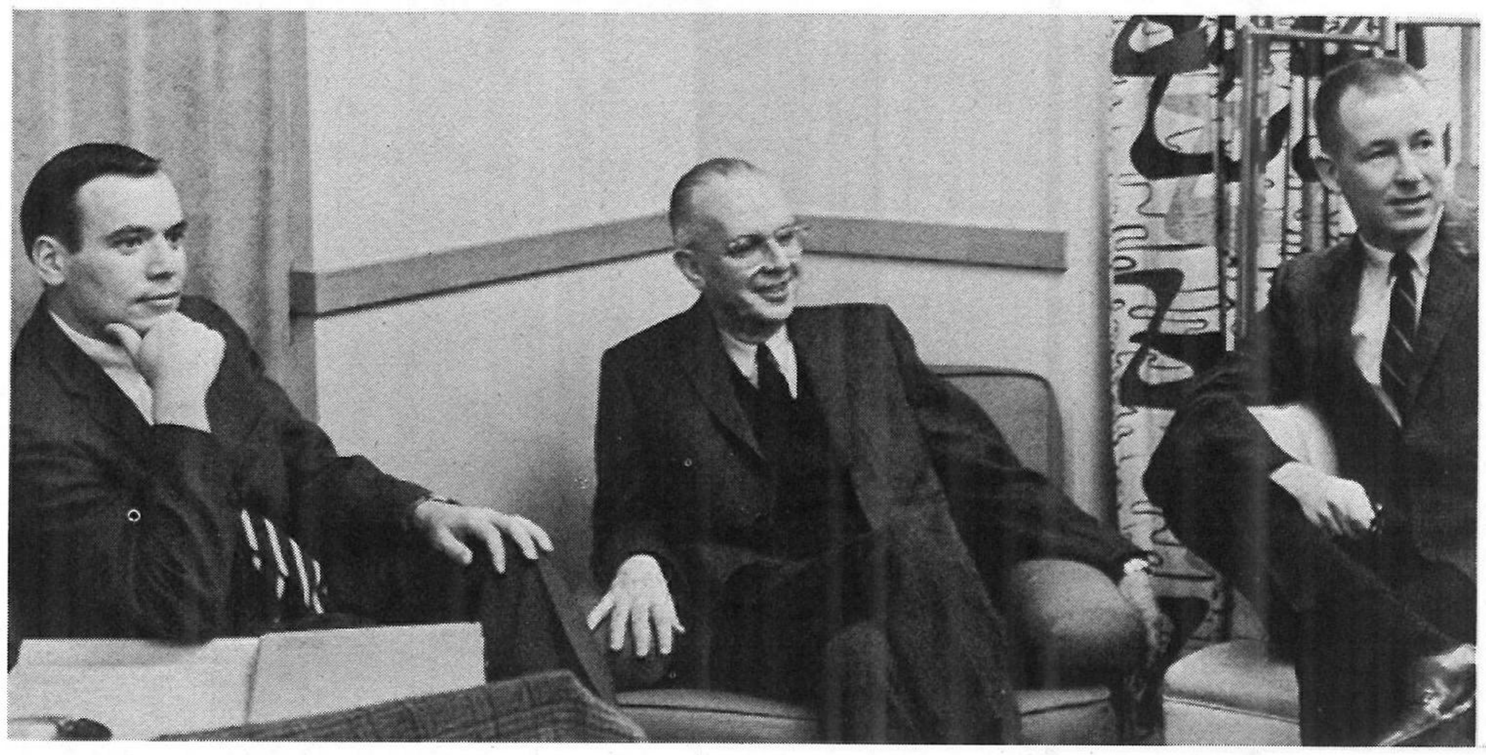

In Improvement

The University Inter-Fraternity Council concentrated on revamping rush this year. The 33 presidents worked on improving the grade point average of their houses and increasing solidarity within the system.

Also during the year a combined IFC-Panhellenic leadership retreat was held. The efforts of these officers and chairmen helped achieve a more vital and progressive Greek system.

The Men of Acacia Know The Value of Time

The men of Acacia have learned to make good use of their time. Some spend their time devising get-rich-quick schemes. Another spends his time trying to decide between a 'Vette, GTX or a boat, with a bank account of $11. The homecoming chairman took his Rose Bowl frustrations out on J.O., while the stone-faced hustler had girls quitting school right and left. Jock brothers claim they were rewarded for their hard work. And it has been rumored that these men even find time for studying.

Alpha Delta Phi Is on Top of the World

A pledge class of 38, assembled from Manila to Calgary, started things off for the Alpha Delts this year. They started things off for themselves also, entering a mature pledge program that produces individuals by spring quarter.

Spirits were high in the fall as the brothers moved into their new addition and sailed through intramural victories in swimming and wrestling. This spirit, however, doesn't stop. Alpha Delts find something here that they'll always take with them.

Alpha Sigma Phi: A Synonym for Action

The motto of Alpha Sigma Phi is action. Alpha Sig shapes leaders and scholars. It is a tradition of the Mystic Circle of Alpha Sig to have brothers in Sundodgers, on BOC, leading and participating in HUB committees and activities. They also stress representation in the various campus scholarship honoraries, Oval Club and Purple Shield.

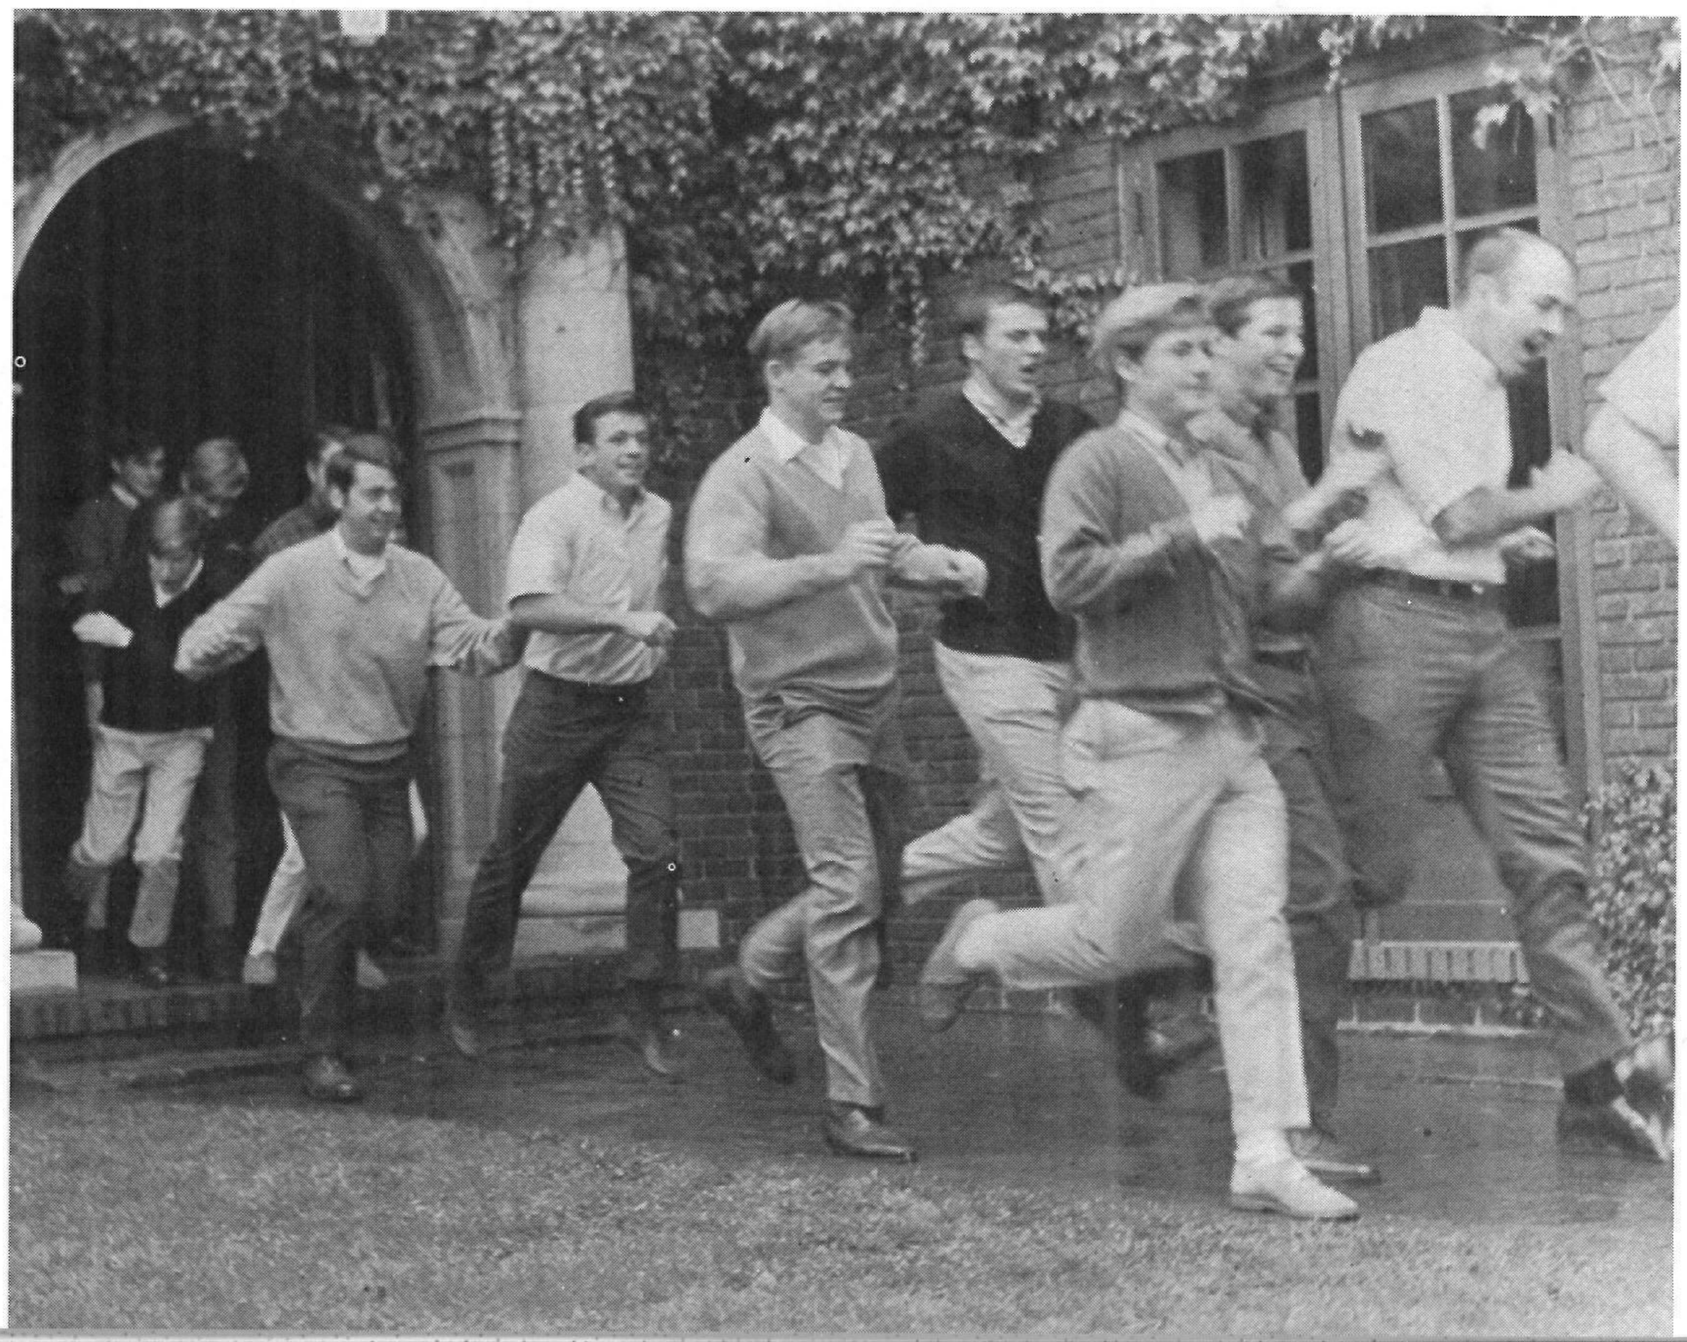

Brotherhood is strong and vigorous at Alpha Sigma Phi. Their Talisman Rose Queen contest was the biggest on campus. Their alumni association promised a new chapter house within two years. They push each other to keep up the good work that goes into a truly successful fraternity. That's why the men consider Alpha Sig a synonym for "action."

Spirit, integrity and pride were the pilots by which Alpha Tau Omega fused change with tradition. A sophomore-junior sneak, midnight pledge serenades and an Ocean Shores weekend marked the quiet flow of participation. Crew membership and campus involvement added to the echo of another year of educational and social growth.

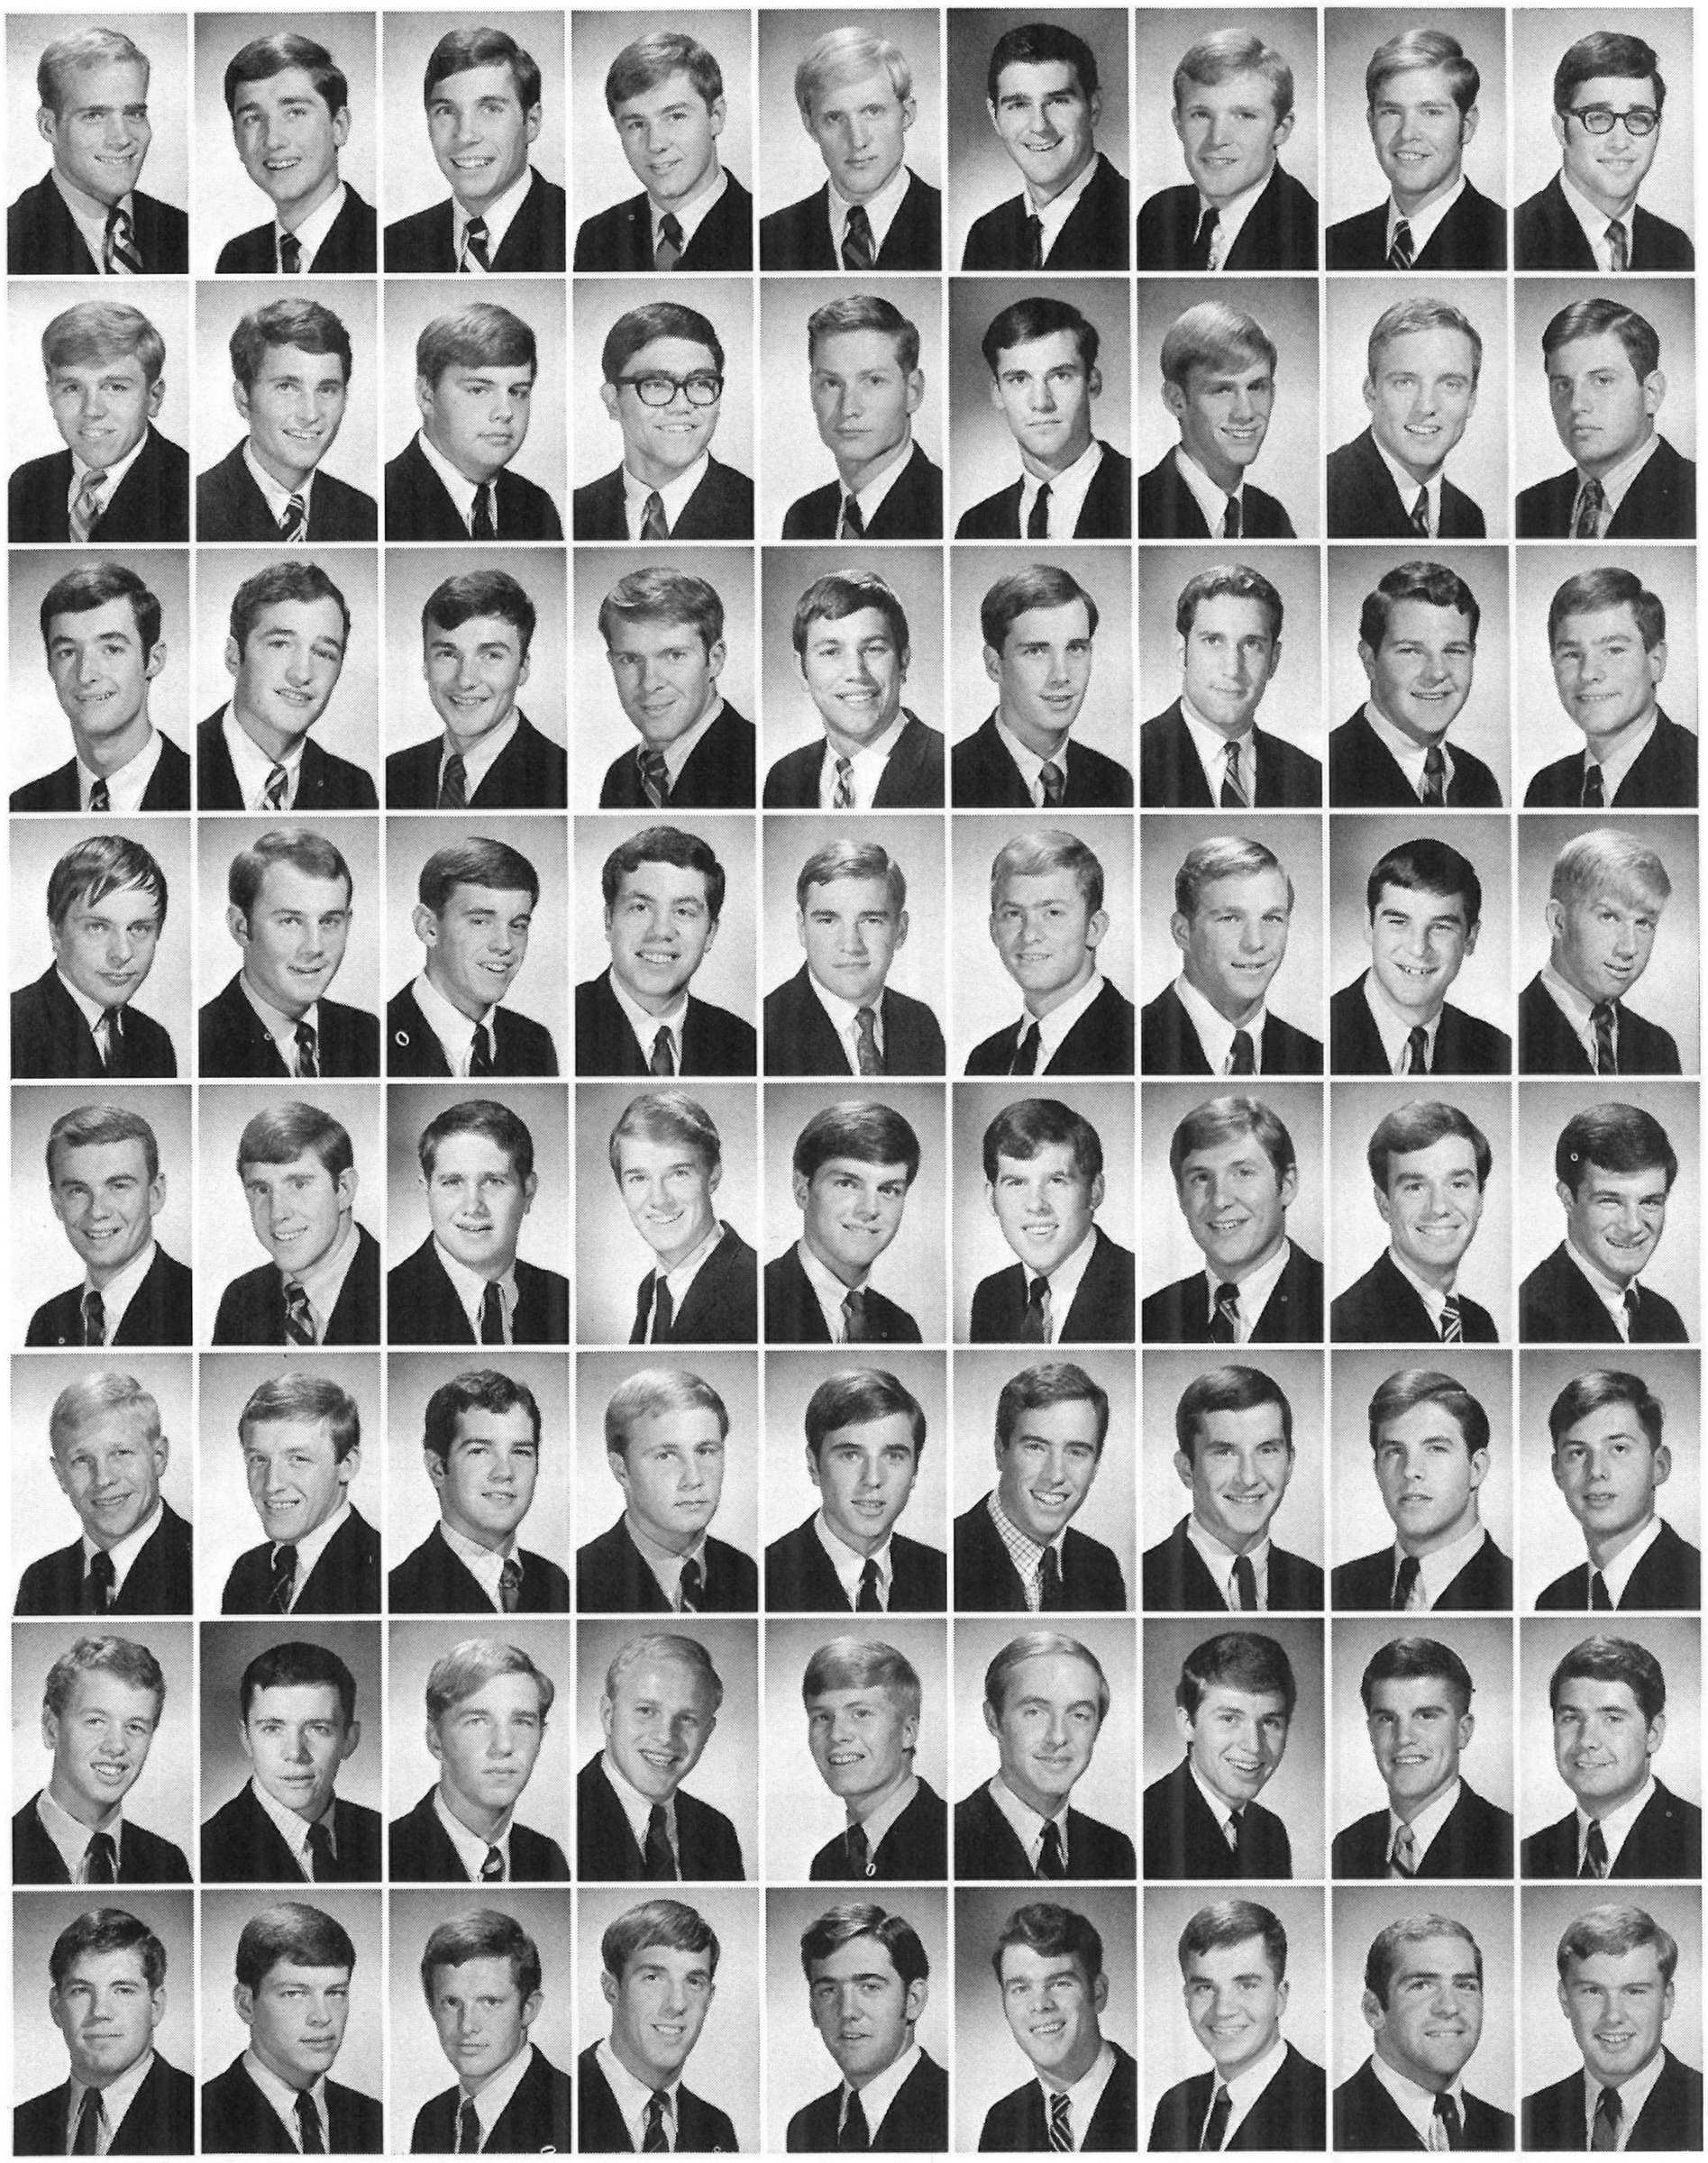

The men of Alpha Tau Omega united to confront the responsibilities of university life. Their mature pledge class represented the spectrum of the nation. They created ideals which cumulated in the biennial White Tie and Tails Cotillion.

Big Things Happen At Beta Theta Pi

Big things happened at Beta Theta Pi this year. Goodyear got a new jacket, Lobo decided to stay home, Gingo is back bending arms and elbows AND the furnace was fixed. Meanwhile, the brothers found time to rank third scholastically, place a few more people in honoraries, run little slick for BOC, win the IM football championship, manage finances at IFC and put up a Homecoming sign that should have won. Most important, they kept the attitude of trying always to succeed.

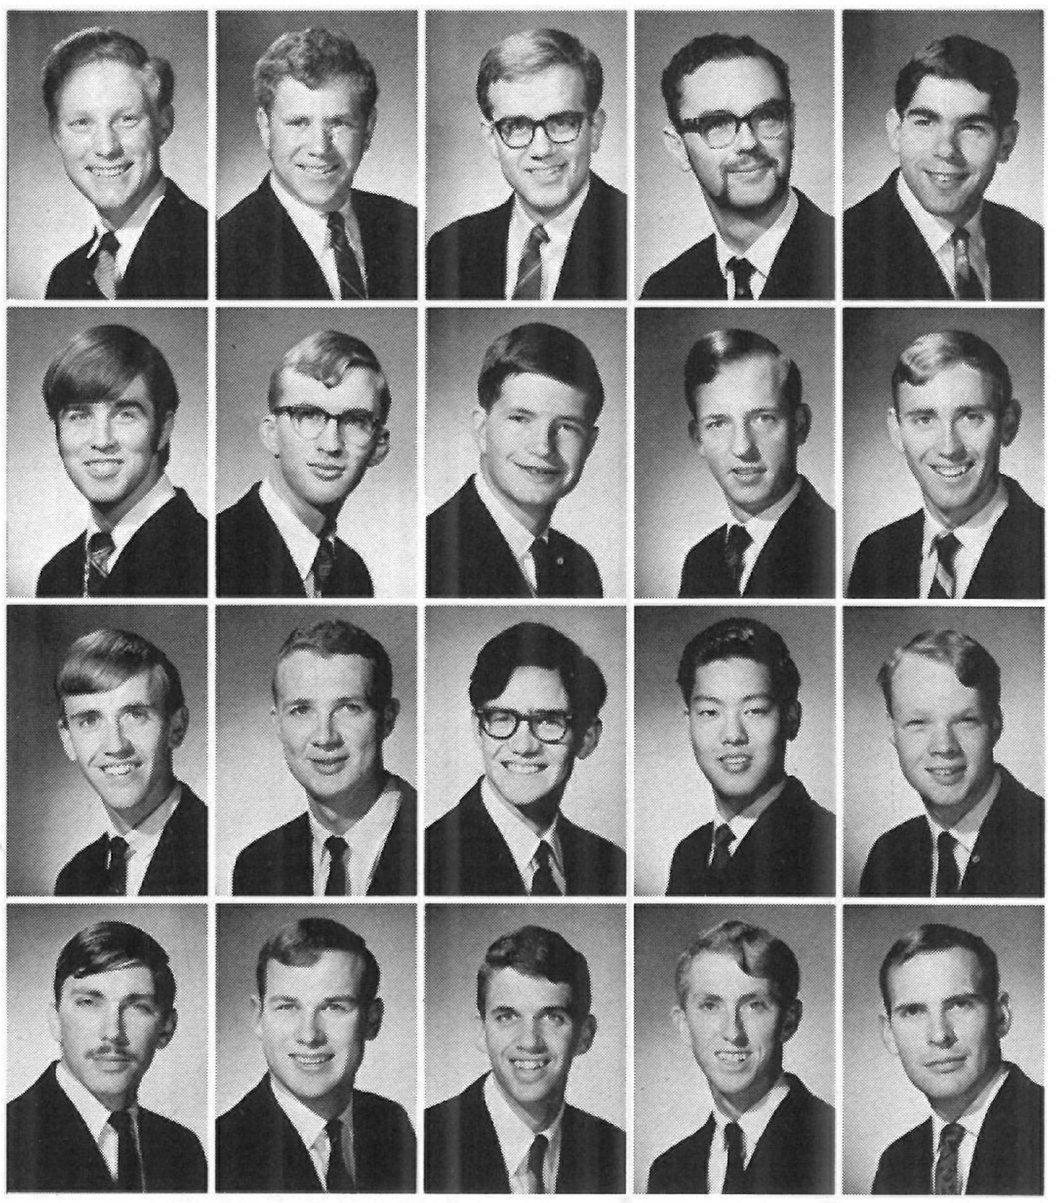

"Gee, I'd love to be a Beta when I grow up!"

No, the ancient walls aren't ivy-covered, but Chi Psi does have a vicious knaba-knaba bush lurking out front swallowing the unwary with an intense pride of gourmet. Not violent (a Chi Psi is a gentleman, after all); in fact, four "semi-professional UW sports career men"joined because this isn't a jock house.

The pledges have had their ups and downs—like Deacon crawling up a drainpipe and falling down. But the house manager was too busy working on a pinball machine to notice broken pipes.

Delta Chi Is a Thing of Action and Change

Delta Chi is a real thing, a thing of action, a thing of change. It was Homecoming with the pretties next door, a foiled sneak, a pool full of girls, Henri and Heinz adding a cosmopolitan atmosphere and the always present dollar parties.

Diversity and excellence marked Delta Chi. Thirty-six pledges had a 3.5 gpa and the house was top ten scholastically. "Jocks," both on and off campus, intramural champions and a busy social life led all others. These are the memories; brotherhood the theme, quality the result.

Delta Tau Delta Is More Than a Social Club

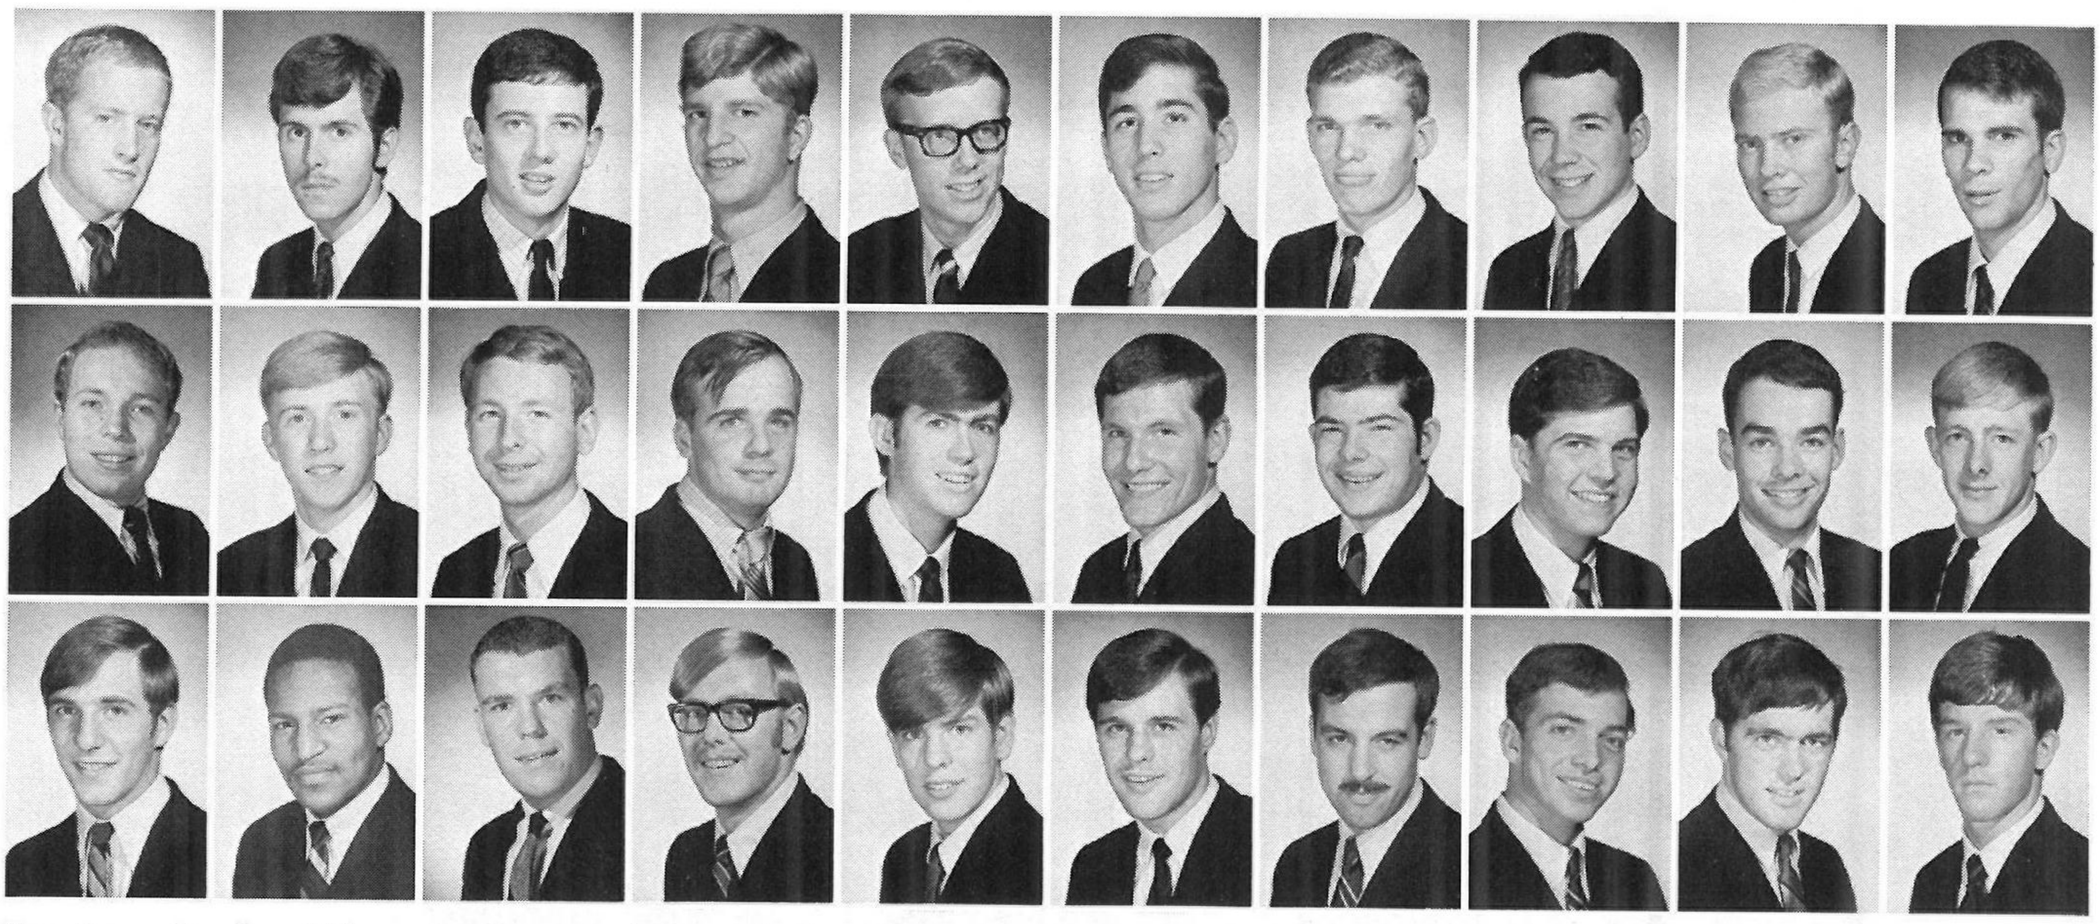

A year of development conveyed to 30 pledges that the Delta Tau Delta house was something more than a social club. Watching the heavy front door shatter during rush, they realized that inside was a unique spirit, a spirit pervading every endeavor. Beyond the door was found individual respect, mutual acceptance and the responsibility of brotherhood.

The scholarship program boasted five 4.0's. Evenings were spent in informal discussion with Mrs. McCullock, Dean Root and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark. Study habits were acquired, athletics and functions followed. Offered opportunity, the men accepted it as a challenge. No longer solitary men, the Delts moved together to face the newer world, the larger purpose.

Kappa Sigma Triples House Membership

Backed by strong national and alumni organizations, Kappa Sigma pledged 20 men during spring and formal fall rush. Emphasis was placed upon scholarship, pledge training and the motto "a better man in every way."

To complement the feat of retaining their scholastic position within the top ten fraternities, Kappa Sigma energized an active social year. Midway through the year of exchanges and house functions, the Washington chapter hosted the District 24 Conclave.

With more men and lots of ambition, Kappa Sigma is becoming better in every way.

Lambda Chi Alpha Is Spirit and Friendship

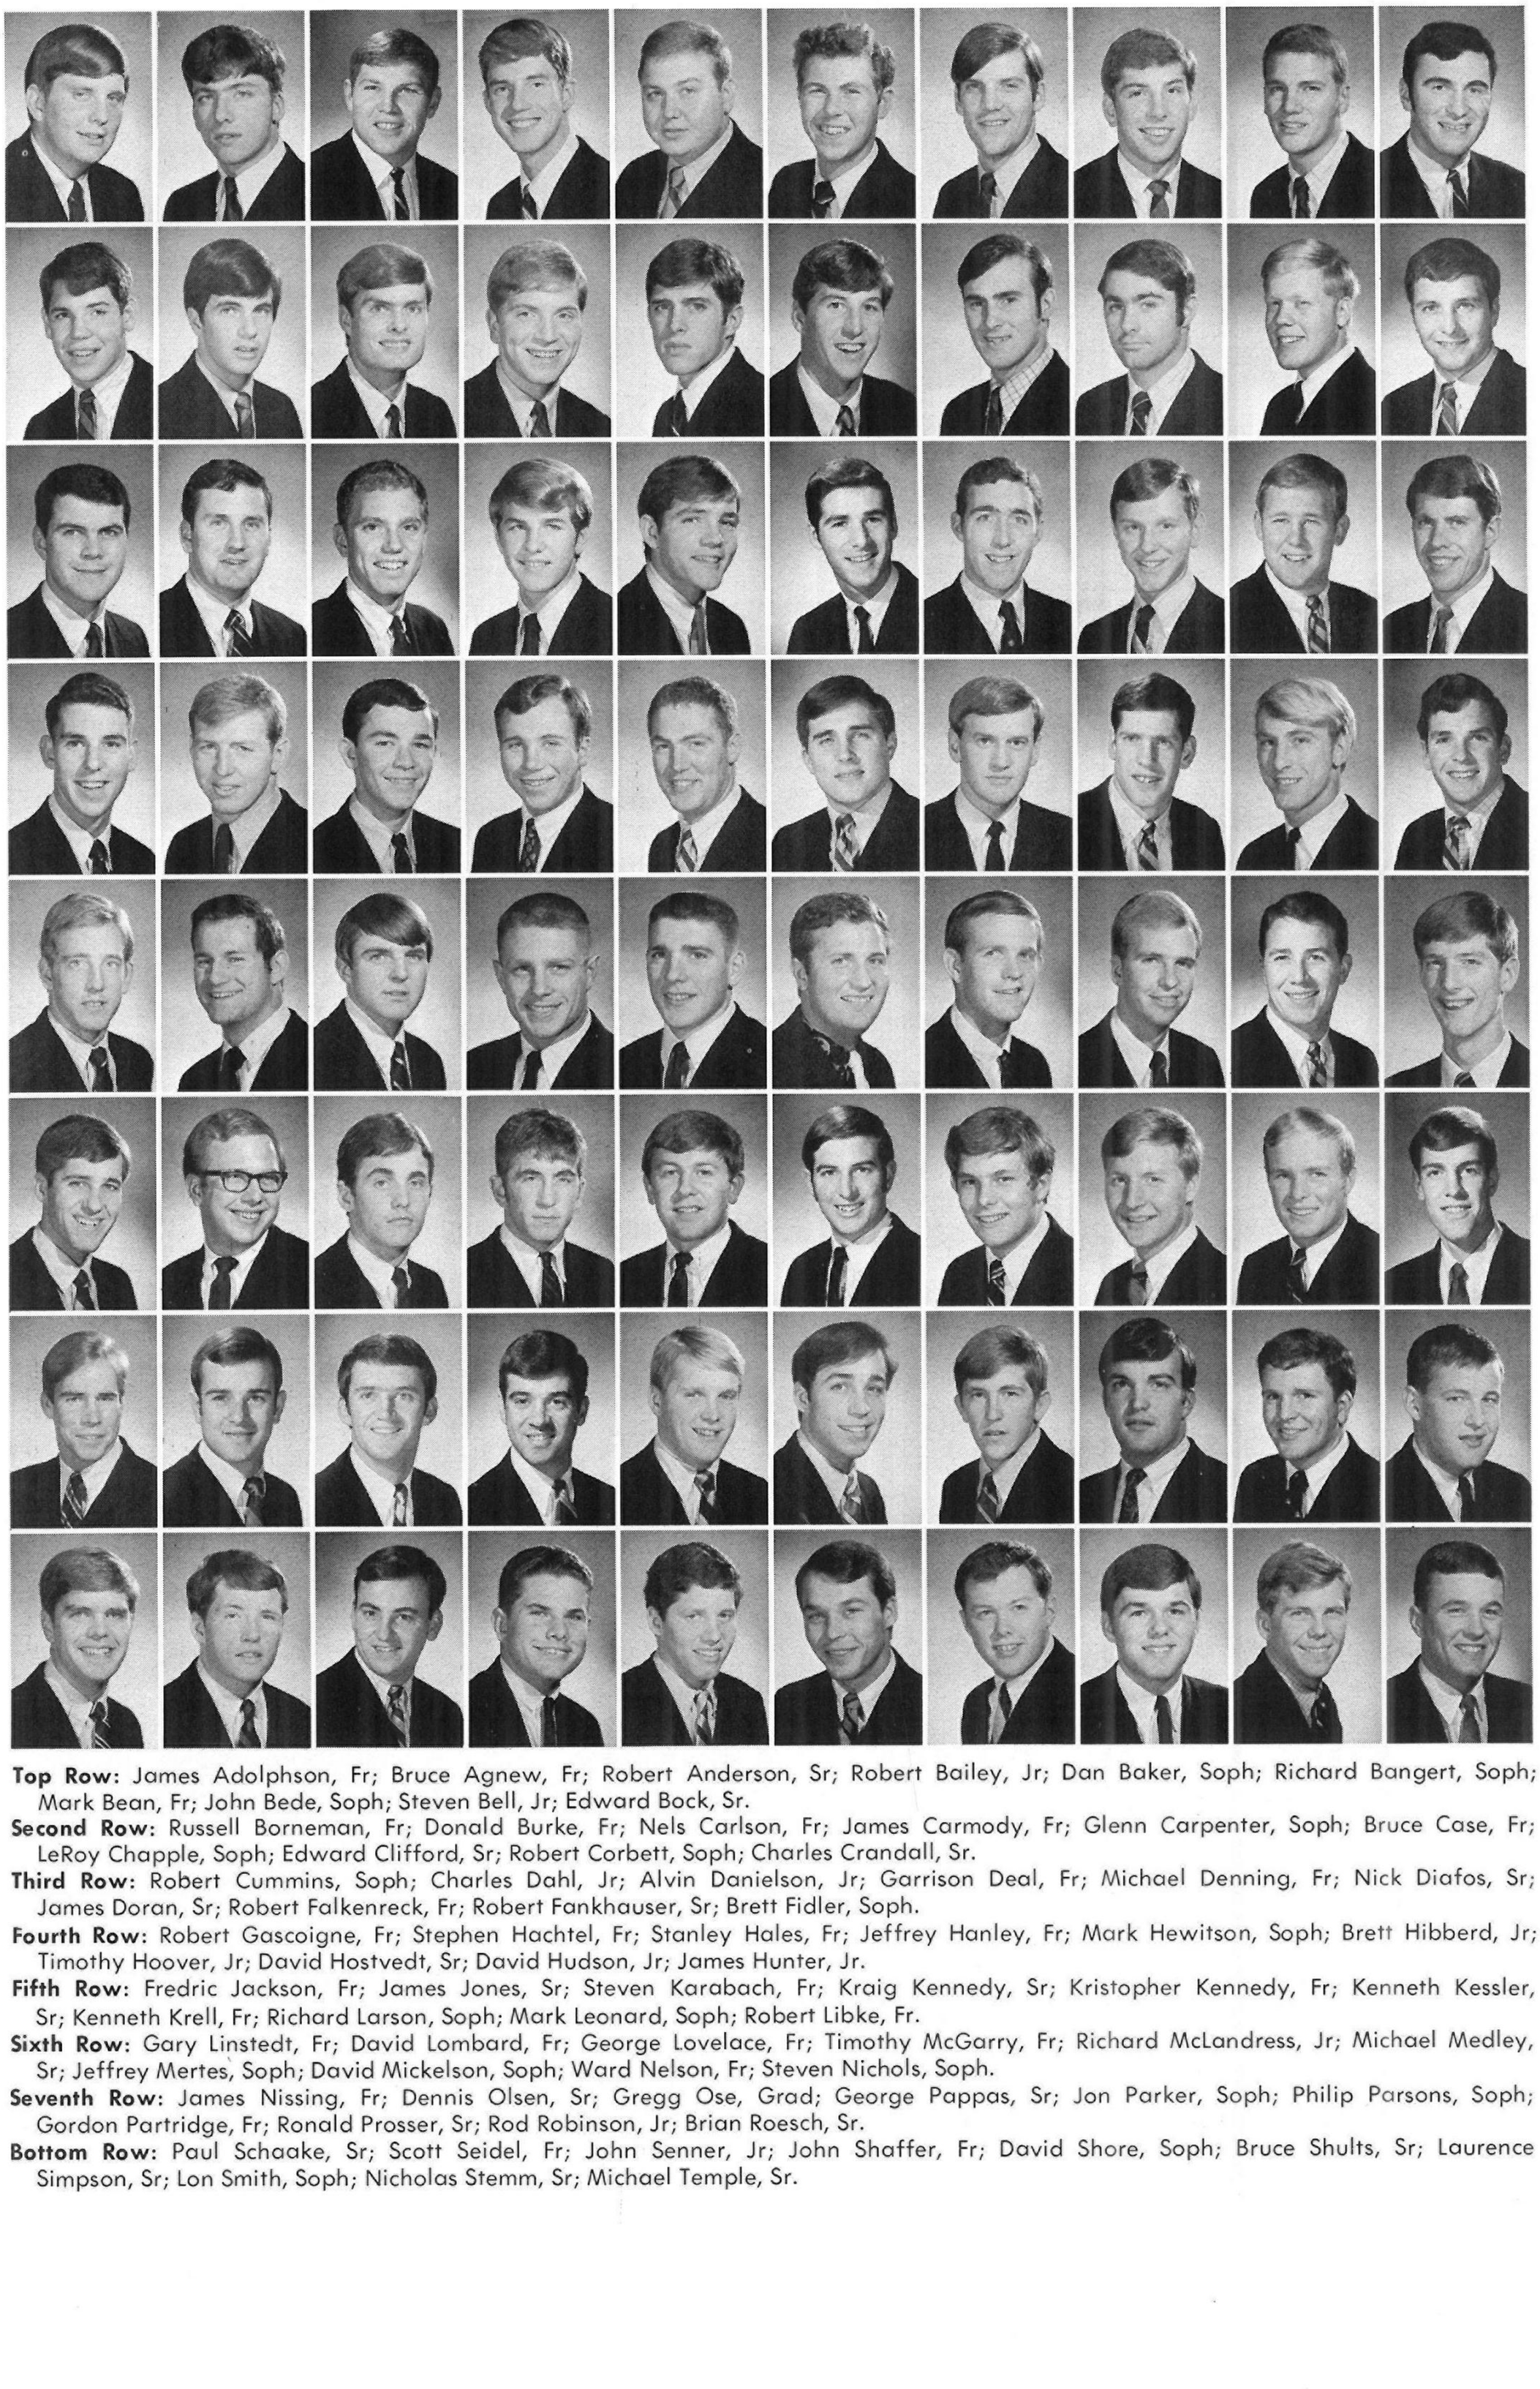

Lambda Chi Alpha is based on a tradition of spirit and friendship which encourages the change and diversity essential to brotherhood. Eighty brothers, including the entire sophomore class, returned for rush this fall; thus stands out their faith.

Ten members of Phi Eta Sigma led the Sunday night TV regulars to a top ten scholastic ranking. Chubby Chicken and five other varsity glovemen inspired the numerous Lambda Chi athletes to compete on an intercollegiate level. Fatboy modernized summer rush using a memory bank, while Rock's balloon gun threw hapless civilians and rushees across the state.

The 33 pledges, united with a 3.46 gpa, are certain to maintain the prestigious Lambda Chi tradition of strong brotherhood.

Phi Gamma Delta Forms a Strong Triangle

The Fiji Triangle which symbolizes the goals of Phi Gamma Delta was strengthened on all three sides again this year. In academics, Fijis captured the scholarship trophy for the fourteenth consecutive year. In athletics and activities, the brothers captured the Big W Club's "Big Stick" award, becoming the first fraternity to couple this award with the scholarship trophy. Fijis were also found in positions of leadership in campus activities.

The most important part of the triangle is its center, the men who comprise the brotherhood of Phi Gamma Delta. The spirit, unity and fun which have characterized the fraternity in the past have moved to new heights this year and the future looks even brighter. The mysterious bond experienced by the brothers during their association in Phi Gamma Delta is the impetus for achievement in all fields of endeavor.

Phi Kappa Sigma Is Different

What makes Phi Kappa Sigma different? The members are not all jocks, studs, or scholars. Each Phi Kap is an individual. What's the other difference? Is it the Go to Hell Dance, the House Party, or the Pledge Dance? Could it be the spirit of the pledge class who sent the rush chairman, dressed in a Boy Scout uniform, to Hawaii with a one-way ticket? Perhaps it's the concern each one has for the other guy.

The real difference is all of these and more. Each aspect of the house makes it different, and each individual gives the house a little more depth, a little more fun, and most of all, a lot more meaning.

The men of Phi Sigma Kappa strove to become well-rounded individuals through a blending of all forms of campus life. The brothers participated in ASUW committees, intramurals and Greek Letter, while not forgetting a full social calendar. The Phi Sigs aired their own inter-campus radio station, PSK, to announce events to living groups around the campus.

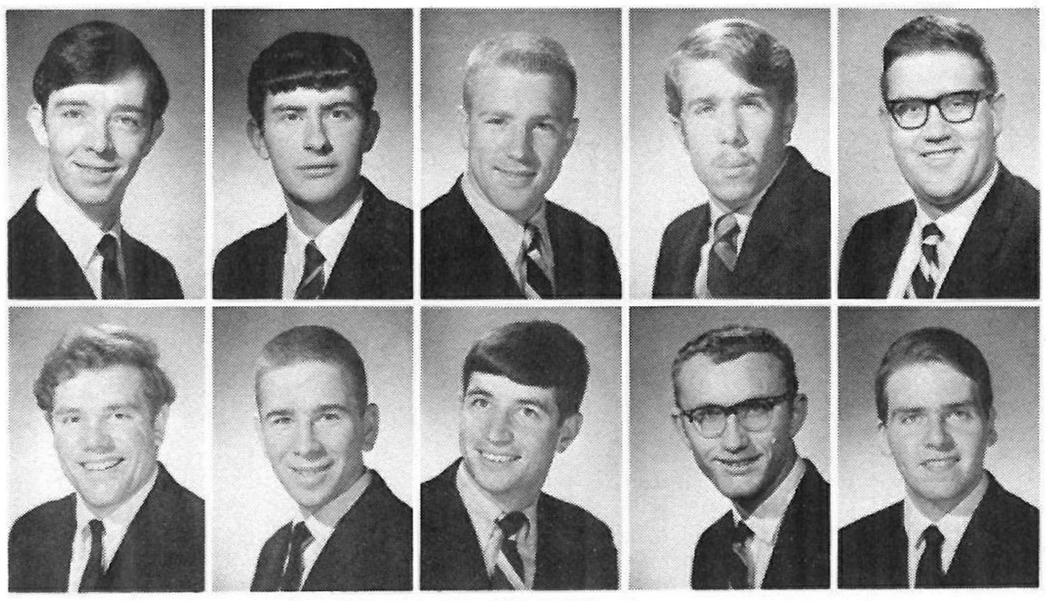

Phi Sigma Kappa Boasts Well-Rounded Men

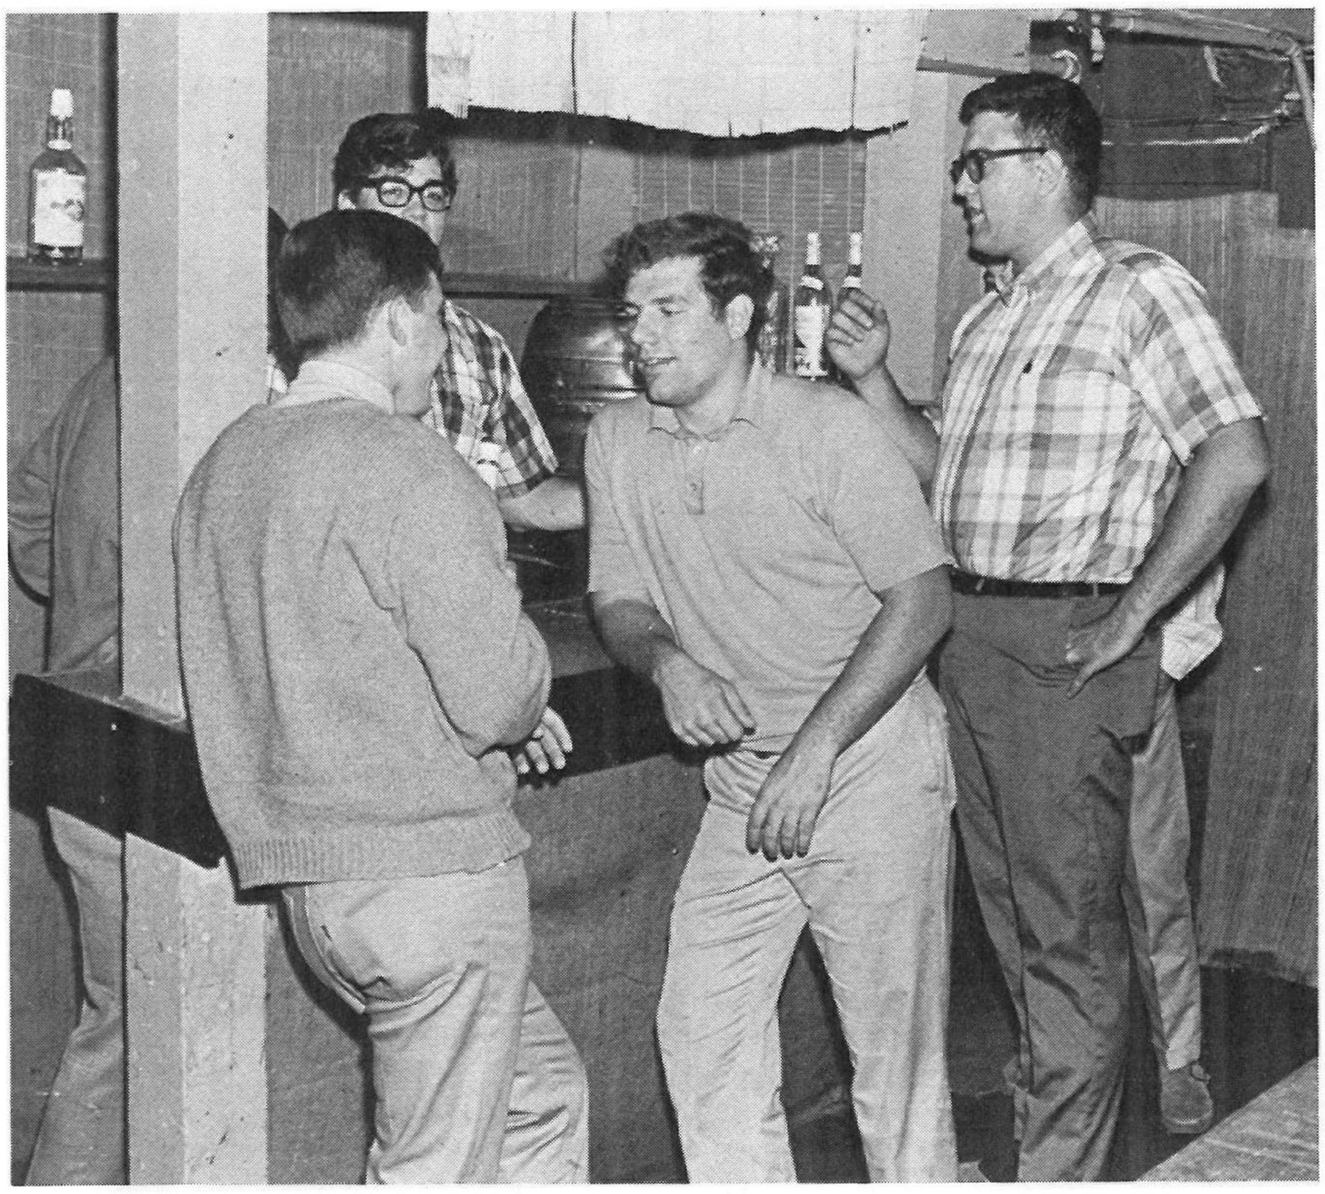

Pi Kappa Phi Builds Inward and Outward

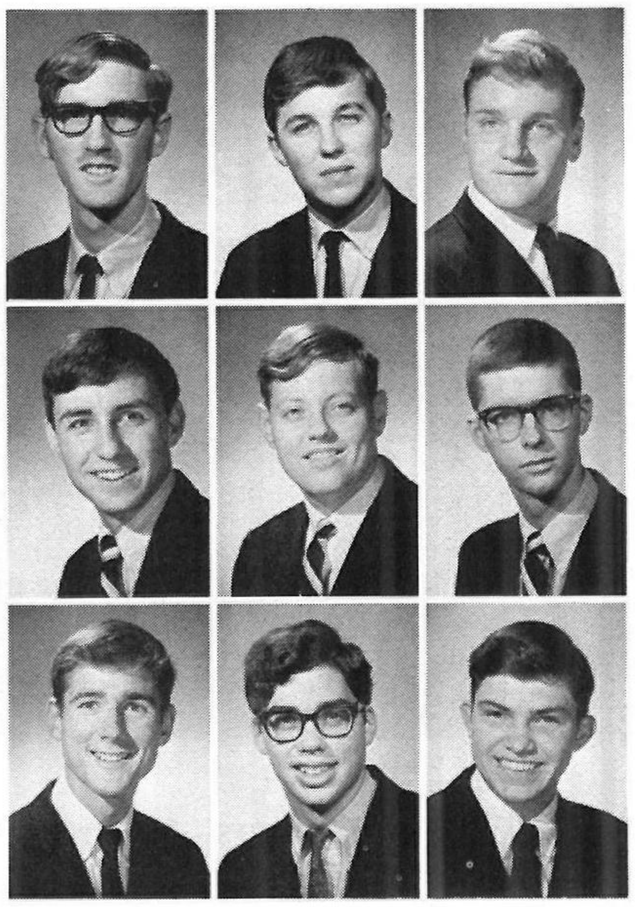

Pi Kappa Phi, even though still working toward a charter, hosted the West Coast Conclave. Through such activity the men became aware of the workings of fraternity life. The men built internally and externally, as they remodeled the fraternity house between social events. Working from the very beginning to gain its charter, Pi Kappa Phi is looking forward to a long future at the UW.

The Spirit of Pi Kappa Alpha Still Burns

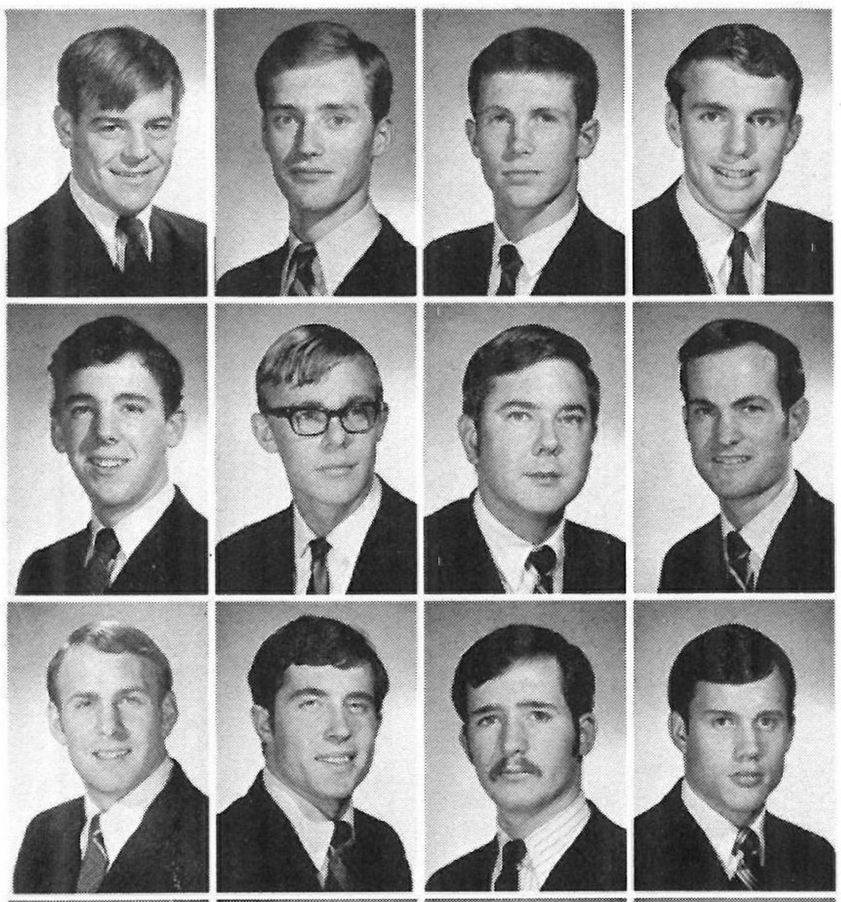

Pi Kappa Alpha lives in its members. As they change—their faces, their manners, their minds—Pi Kappa Alpha changes. Yet a spirit is there, a constant burning which has been alive for over 100 years. At UW the Pikes have been active for more than 50 years, years during which the chapter grew into what it is today. That same burning is still very much evident in everything they do. Pi Kappa Alpha is strong and proud, proud of its heritage and of what others may inherit from it.

Psi U—A Proud Name

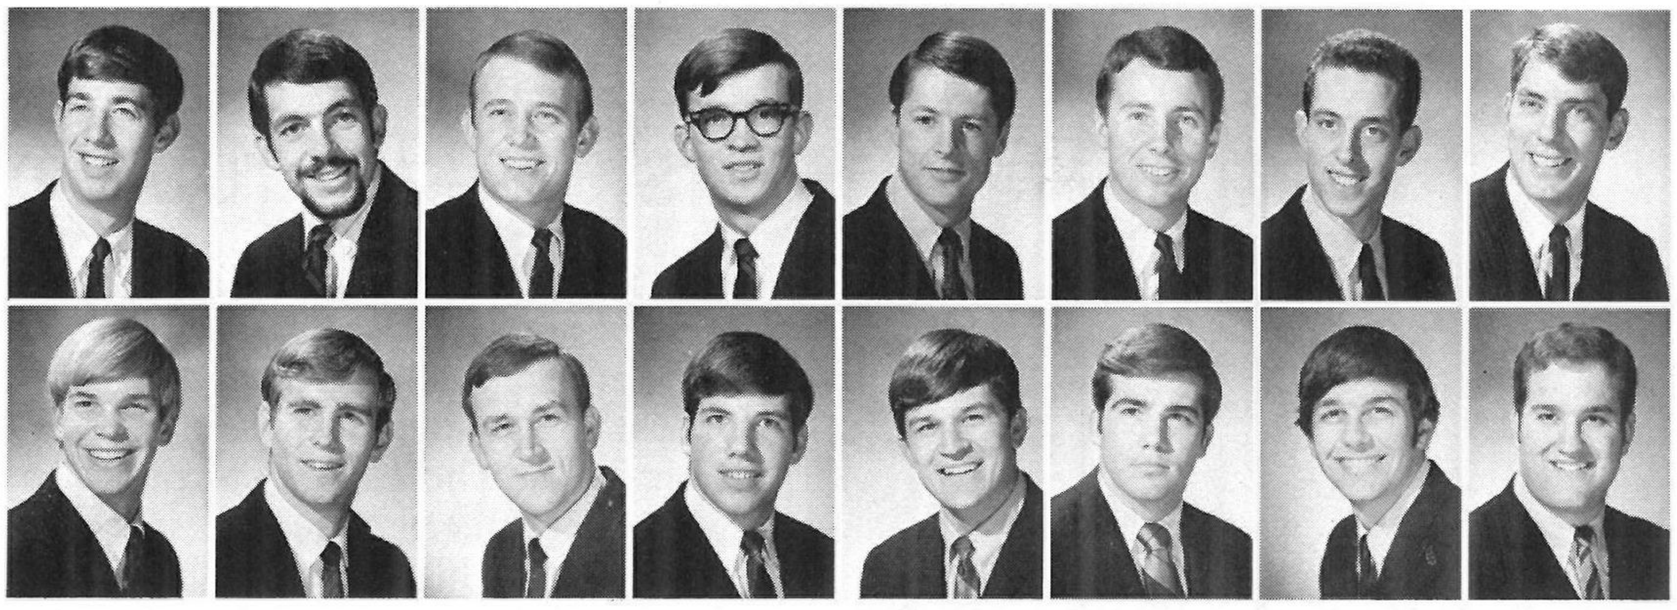

The brothers of Psi Upsilon have maintained high standards in every field through another year. They are proud that they have again set a truly hard-to-top pace in scholastic success. The Psi Us are proud to have cheered many of their brothers to success in every variety of athletics, proud that a high degree of participation and victory has been maintained in intramural activities of all kinds, and proud that many Psi Us serve important posts in the functioning of IFC and ASUW. Above all, the Psi Us are proud of the men they call brothers, and proud in the knowledge that their dedication to one another will perpetuate the pace-setting traditions of Psi Upsilon.

Psi Upsilon takes the cake.

Now a little song before eating.

Individualism Plays Key Role in Growth Of Sigma Alpha Epsilon

During the past ten years Sigma Alpha Epsilon has become larger and more diverse, making it the largest fraternity on campus with 117 active members. The brothers have pledged over 375 men and initiated more than 200 Little Sisters of Minerva.

In this short time, SAEs have been awarded 108 varsity letters in intercollegiate athletics and have won numerous intramural championships. They have held virtually every office on campus, including ASUW president, IFC president and vice president, AMS president, vice president and secretary and over six BOC positions.

It was just an average year for the Sammie House. Scholastically, they placed first during spring quarter and second for the year, again. As expected, house members were active in campus politics, athletics and honoraries. For the second straight year, Bounce for Beats greatly aided the Heart Fund. Twelve co-eds posed on the Teddy Bear Calendar, as usual.

Sigma Chi Begins Its 65th Year at UW

Where does one find a Sigma Chi? He is rowing on varsity crew, participating in Hub decisions, supporting the Huskies in Sun-dodgers, playing golf, in the Library, on the Ave; in short, anywhere the action is. From Derby Day to academics, Sigma Chi places emphasis on diversity in both activities and members. Sigs claim that their success is a result of unmatched unity among diverse members.

Sigma Nus Are Not Resting on Their Past

Since 1896 a lot of men have called Sigma Nu home. Today about 100 men still call it home. They are not resting on the past, but pushing toward the future—keeping Sigma Nu among the leaders.

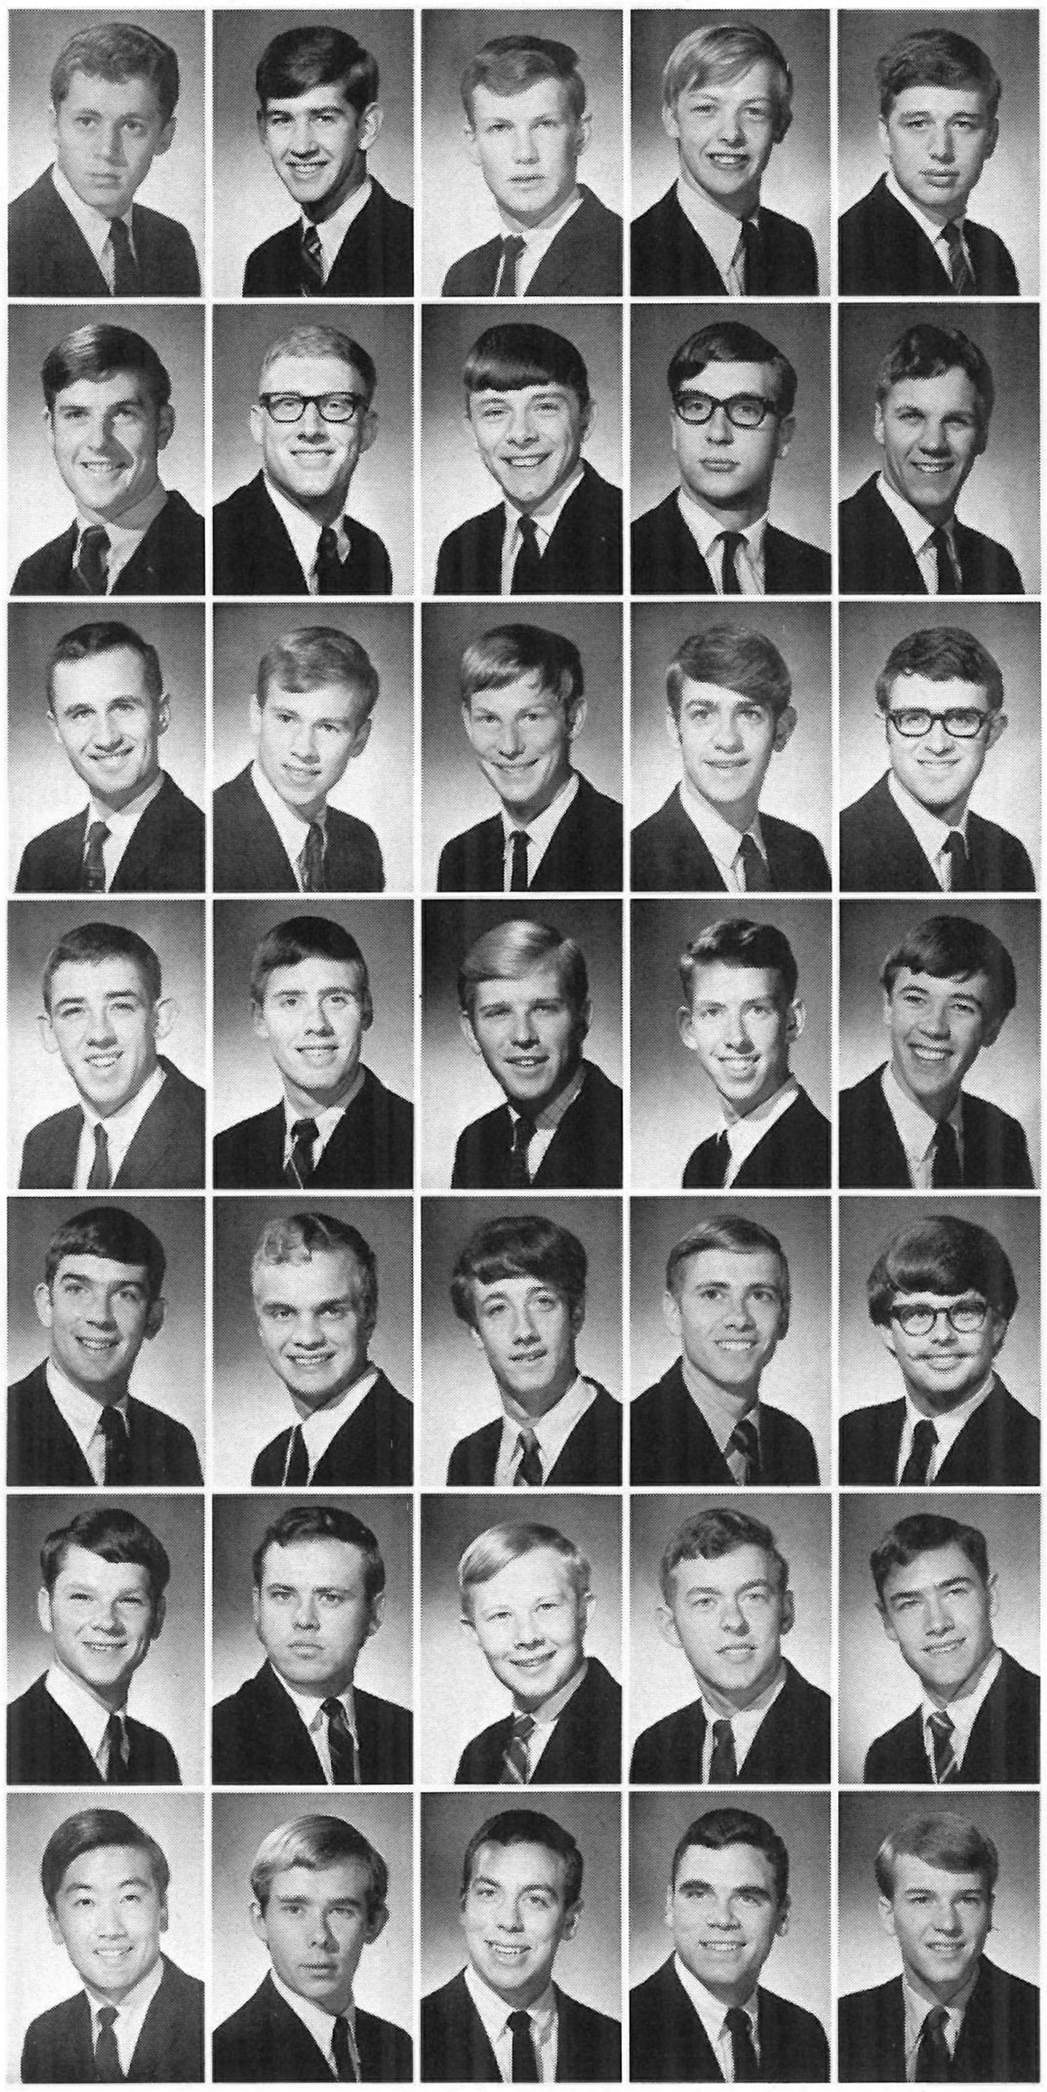

This year Sigma Nu has earned over 30 varsity letters in athletics, boasted eight men in Oval Club and taken part in a great many of the committees and panels offered by ASUW, AMS and IFC.

Sigma Nu offers a well rounded program for its members. Functions including the Pig Dinner, Spring House Party, a closely co-ordinated study program, a complete intramural athletic program and cultural advancement in the opera and repertory contribute to individual growth.

At Sigma Nu brotherhood is the most important product. That means helping with a tough test or lending a car; brotherhood that joins Sigma Nus for life.

Sigma Phi Epsilon is much more than just a place to go—it is a home away from home where brotherhood is not only an ideal, but a practiced way of living. Formal rush introduced 42 pledges to this way of life. They adjusted quickly, learning that academics come first, but that weekend functions, tav-rule pool games and just general bull sessions are also an integral part of the mode. The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon are diversified, but the brotherhood they form is unified. It is this that promises to promote a highly spirited home away from home in the future for those in the vast university community who are Sig Eps.

Amid the rubble of summer reconstruction, Tau Phi Delta emerged beautifully redecorated to shelter old actives and welcome new pledges. Its spirit flowed along numerous channels and travelled by different names. Scholastically, it was called Stan; socially, it was called Dave; athletically, there was an assortment of names. Sky and Clutch helped form a winning volleyball team while Dick and Ross kept the university's basketball team supplied with California oranges. Altogether the names spelled "brotherly spirit."

The Men of Theta Chi

Tell It As It Is

These cherubic faces are the visages of the members of Theta Chi—affectionately known to the other fraternities on campus as "those drunken slobs." They relocate to the Crew House every fall. The kitchen puts out the best facsimile of food; the housebills are kept low by peddling race track tips. The men go for wild parties, dirty songs and their own Monday Night Face Life Club.

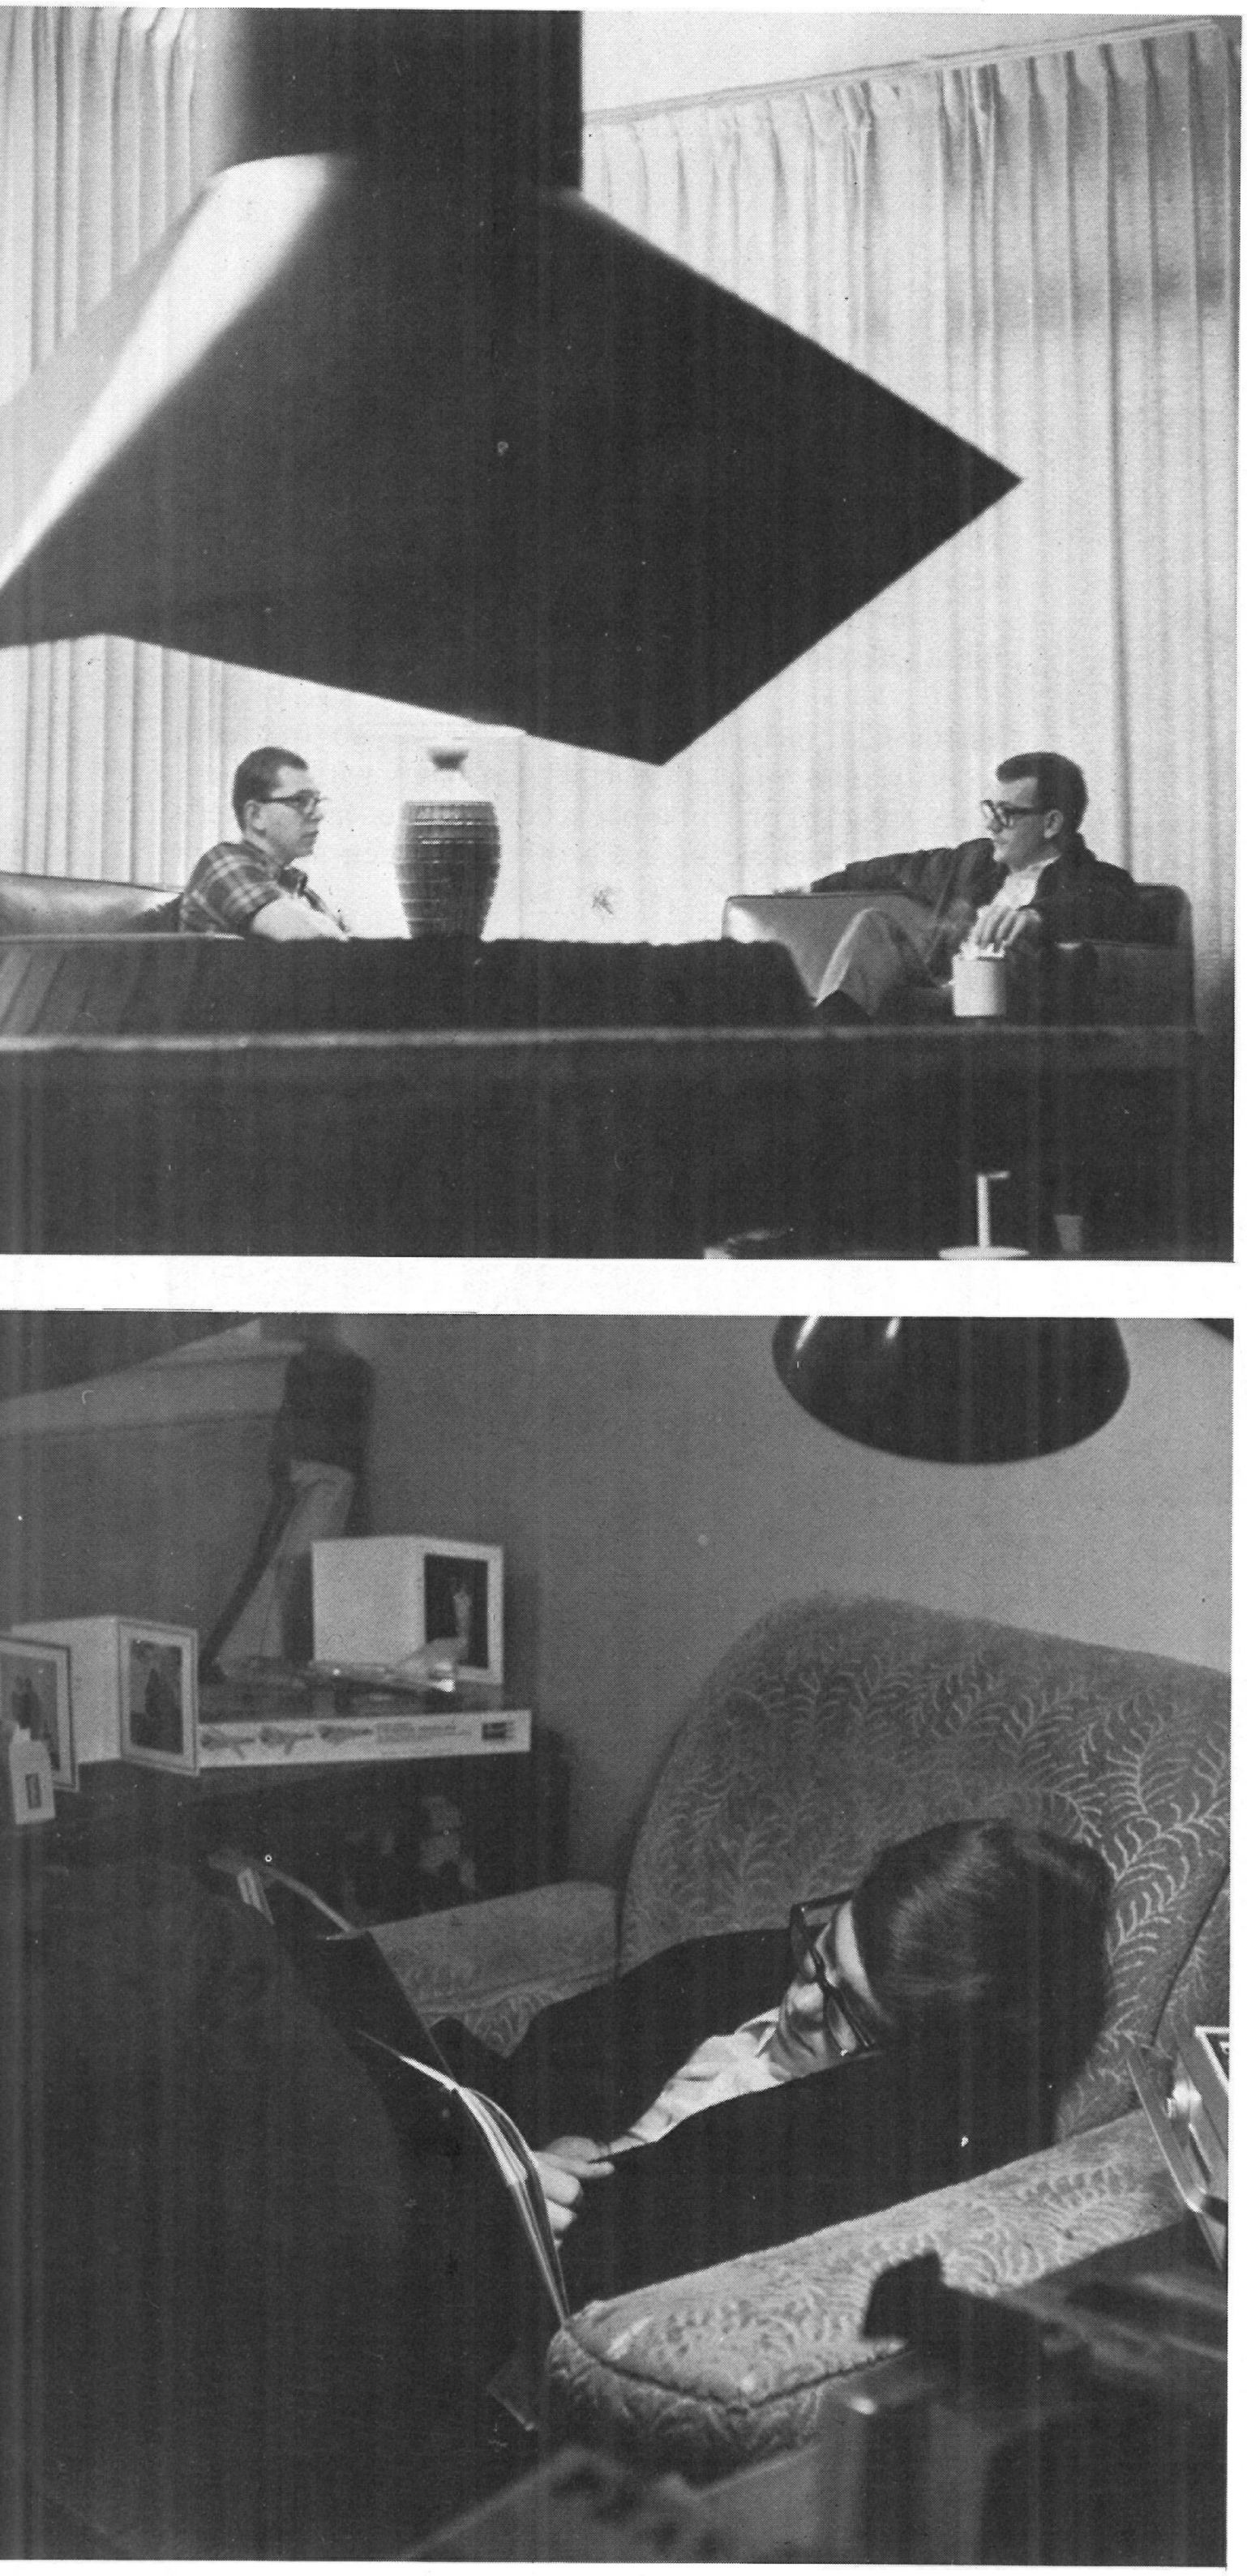

Theta Chi men have been known to go out with sorority girls when they can't get dates with women. They borrow one another's ties, smoke each other's cigarettes, gamble for each other's women and claim to get the best grades on campus.

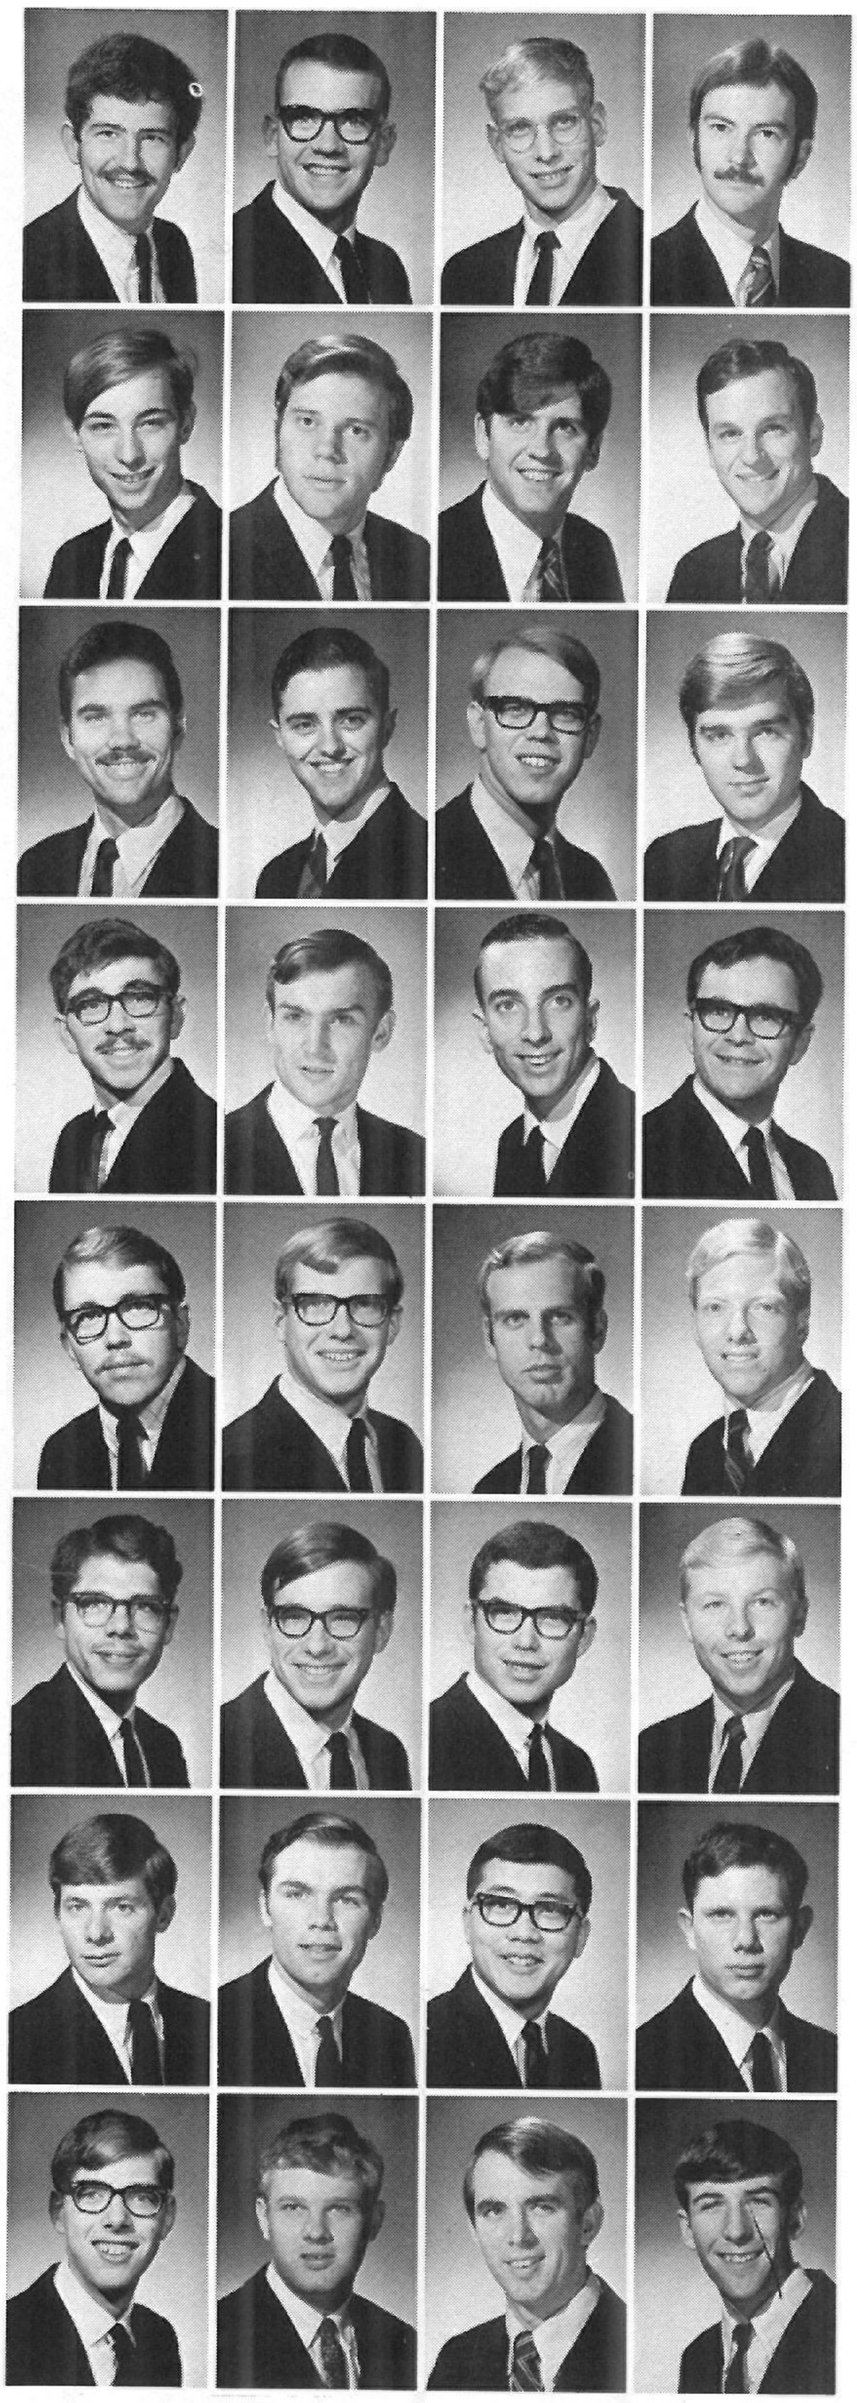

Theta Chi—the epitome of fraternity living.

Boys Become Men,

Men Become Leaders

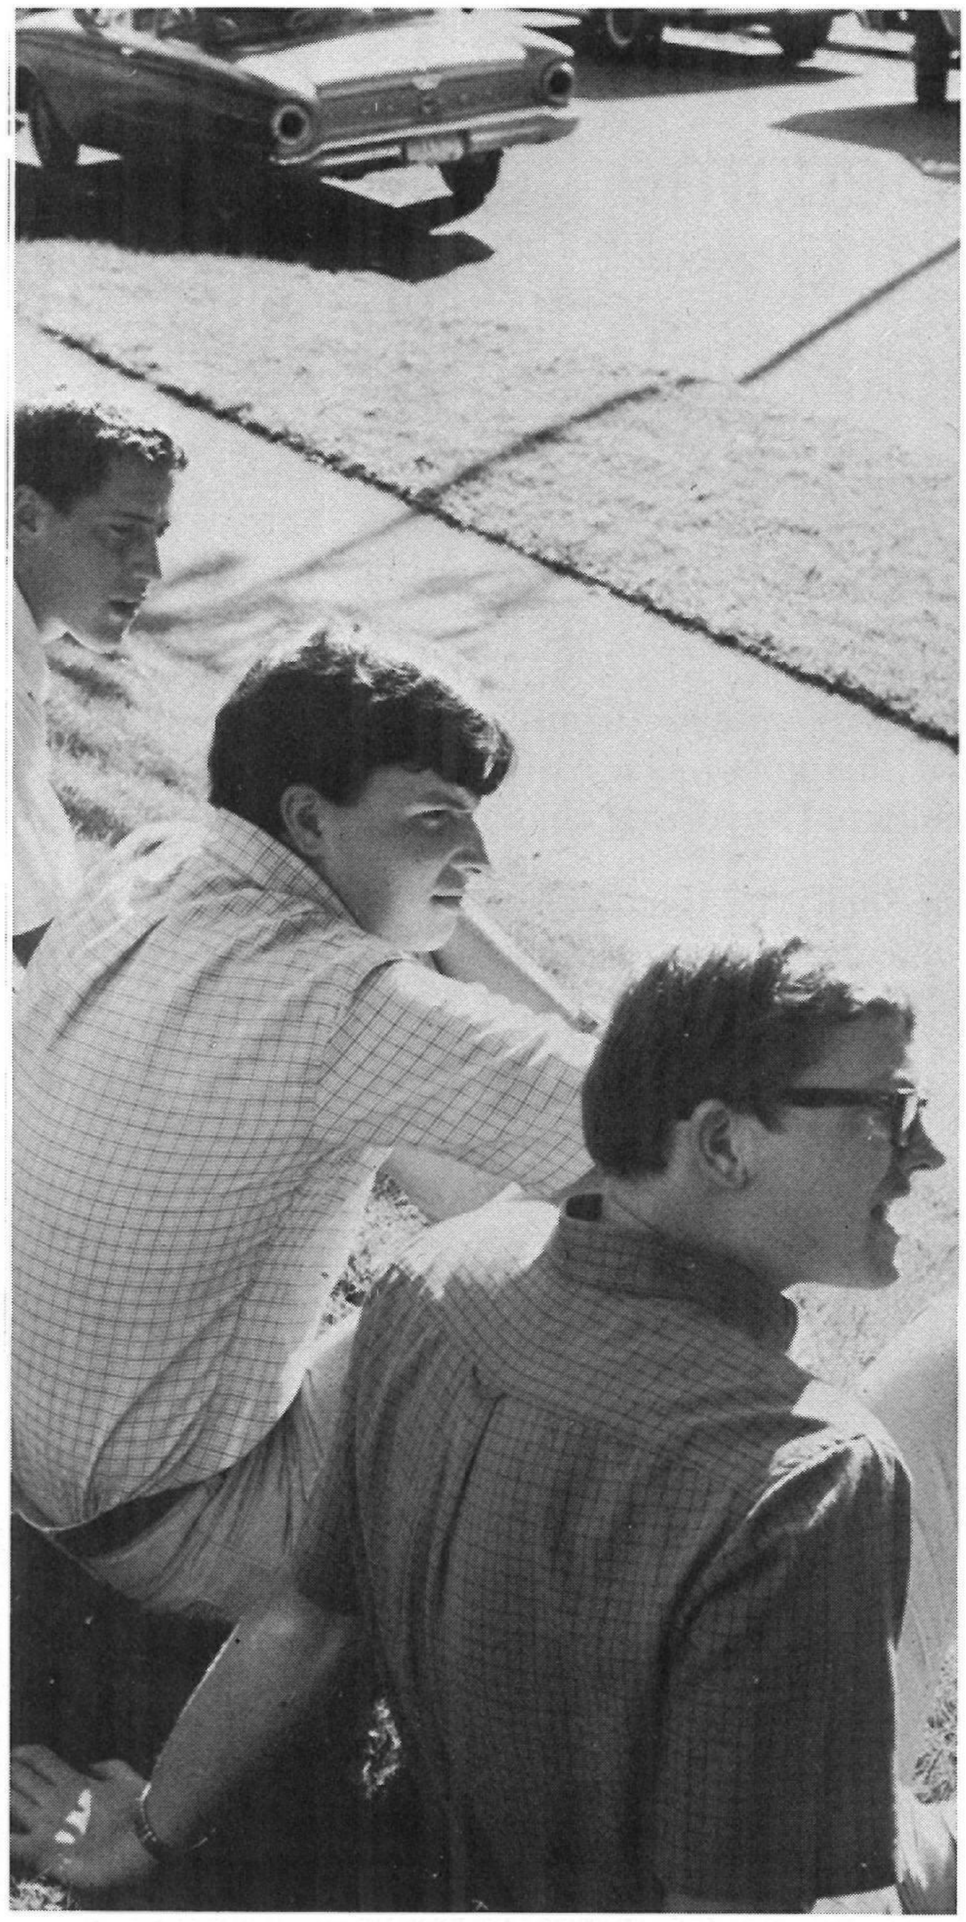

At Theta Delta Chi

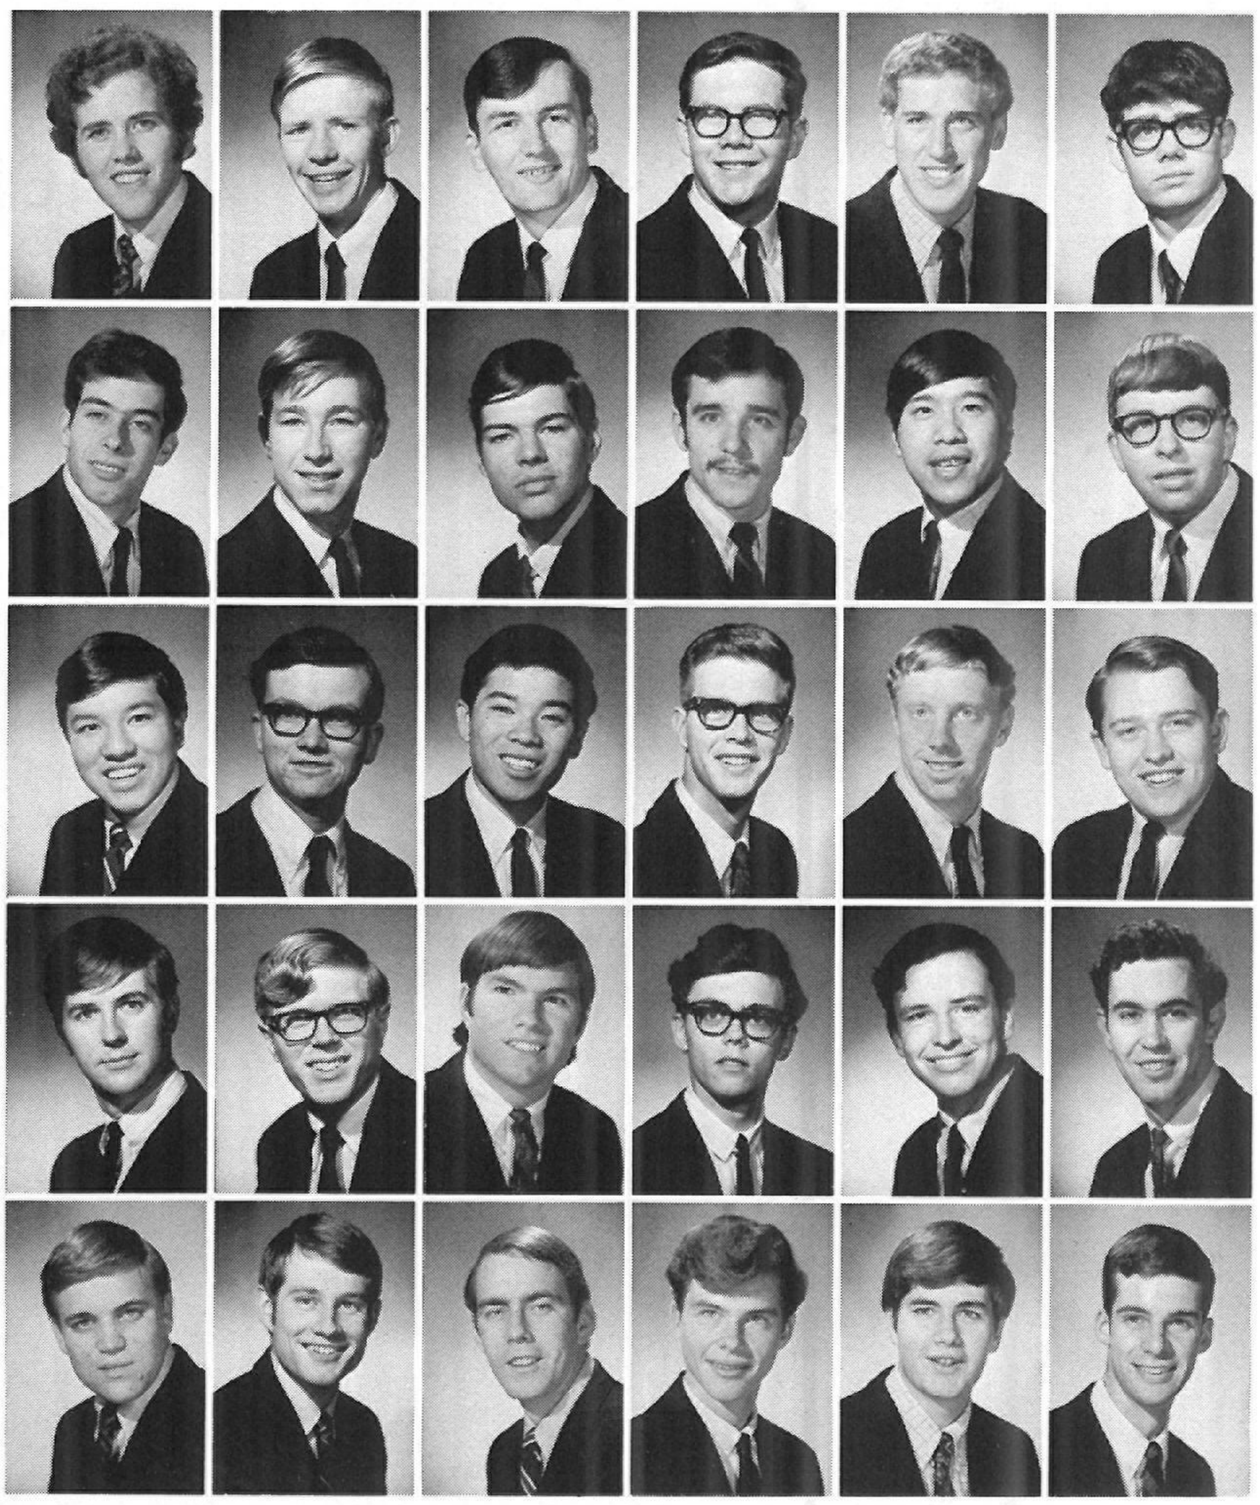

Theta Delta Chi brotherhood is a fellowship where boys become men and men become leaders. Thirty pledges with two brewmasters were initiated into TDX tradition.

Theta Delts distinguished themselves in campus activities and in sports—Gary won a gold medal in the International Skydiving championships.

Highlights of their year included the crowning of the playmate and her court of bunnies, ponding of Thom Gunn, the Four Point Club, the ski party and an unforgettable weekend in Chelan.

House Addition Marks Theta Xi's 53rd Year

Outstanding individual achievements athletically, scholastically and socially defined the dimensions of Theta Xi. Famous and infamous deeds were recognized by Monday Night Awards. WWII began again when Tojo joined the 21 Club, R.G. set a weekend record for proposals, the Logger's Brawl once again lived up to its name, and then there was the time . . . . .

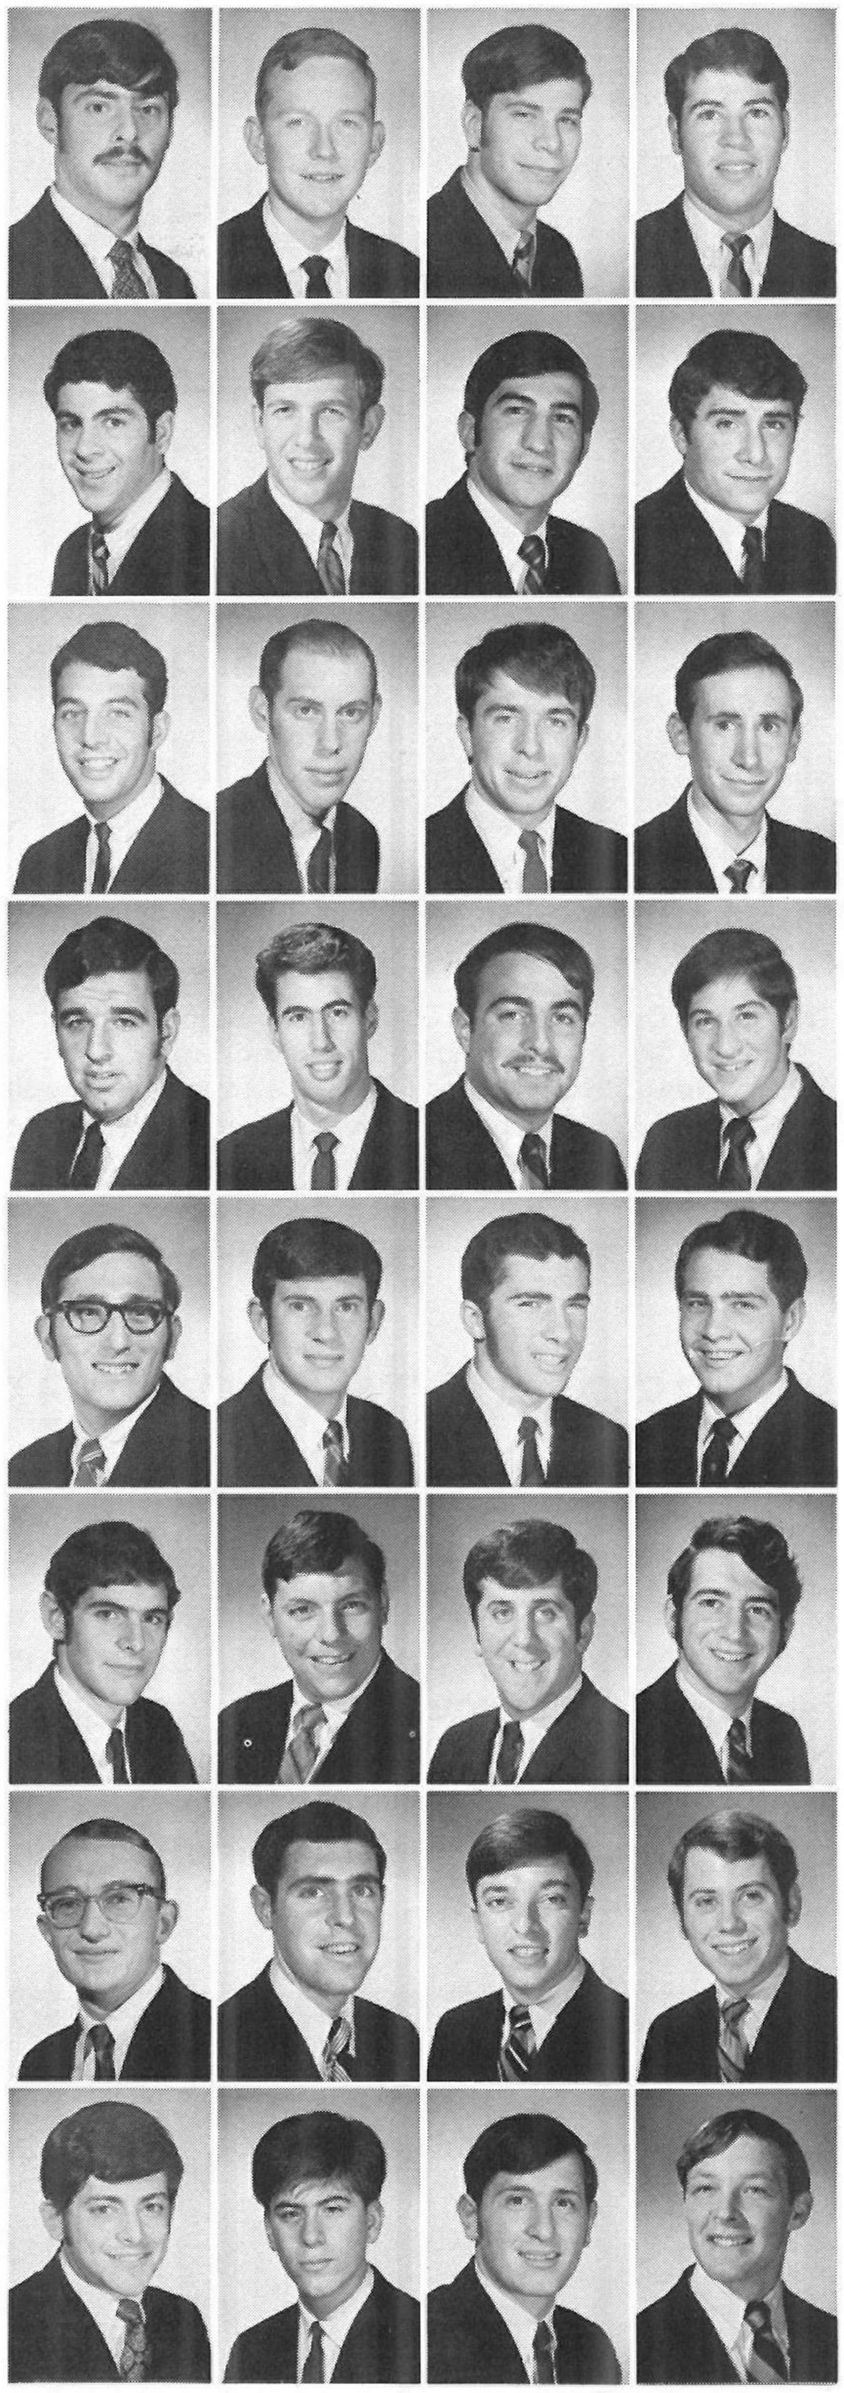

Brotherhood is not a cliche at Theta Xi. Their coordinated effort won first place in the Homecoming sign contest; intramural sports activity reached a new high. Fall quarter opened with a successful rush, bringing in an enthusiastic new pledge class to carry on a proud fraternity name. The house swelled to capacity and the plans for a new addition became a reality.

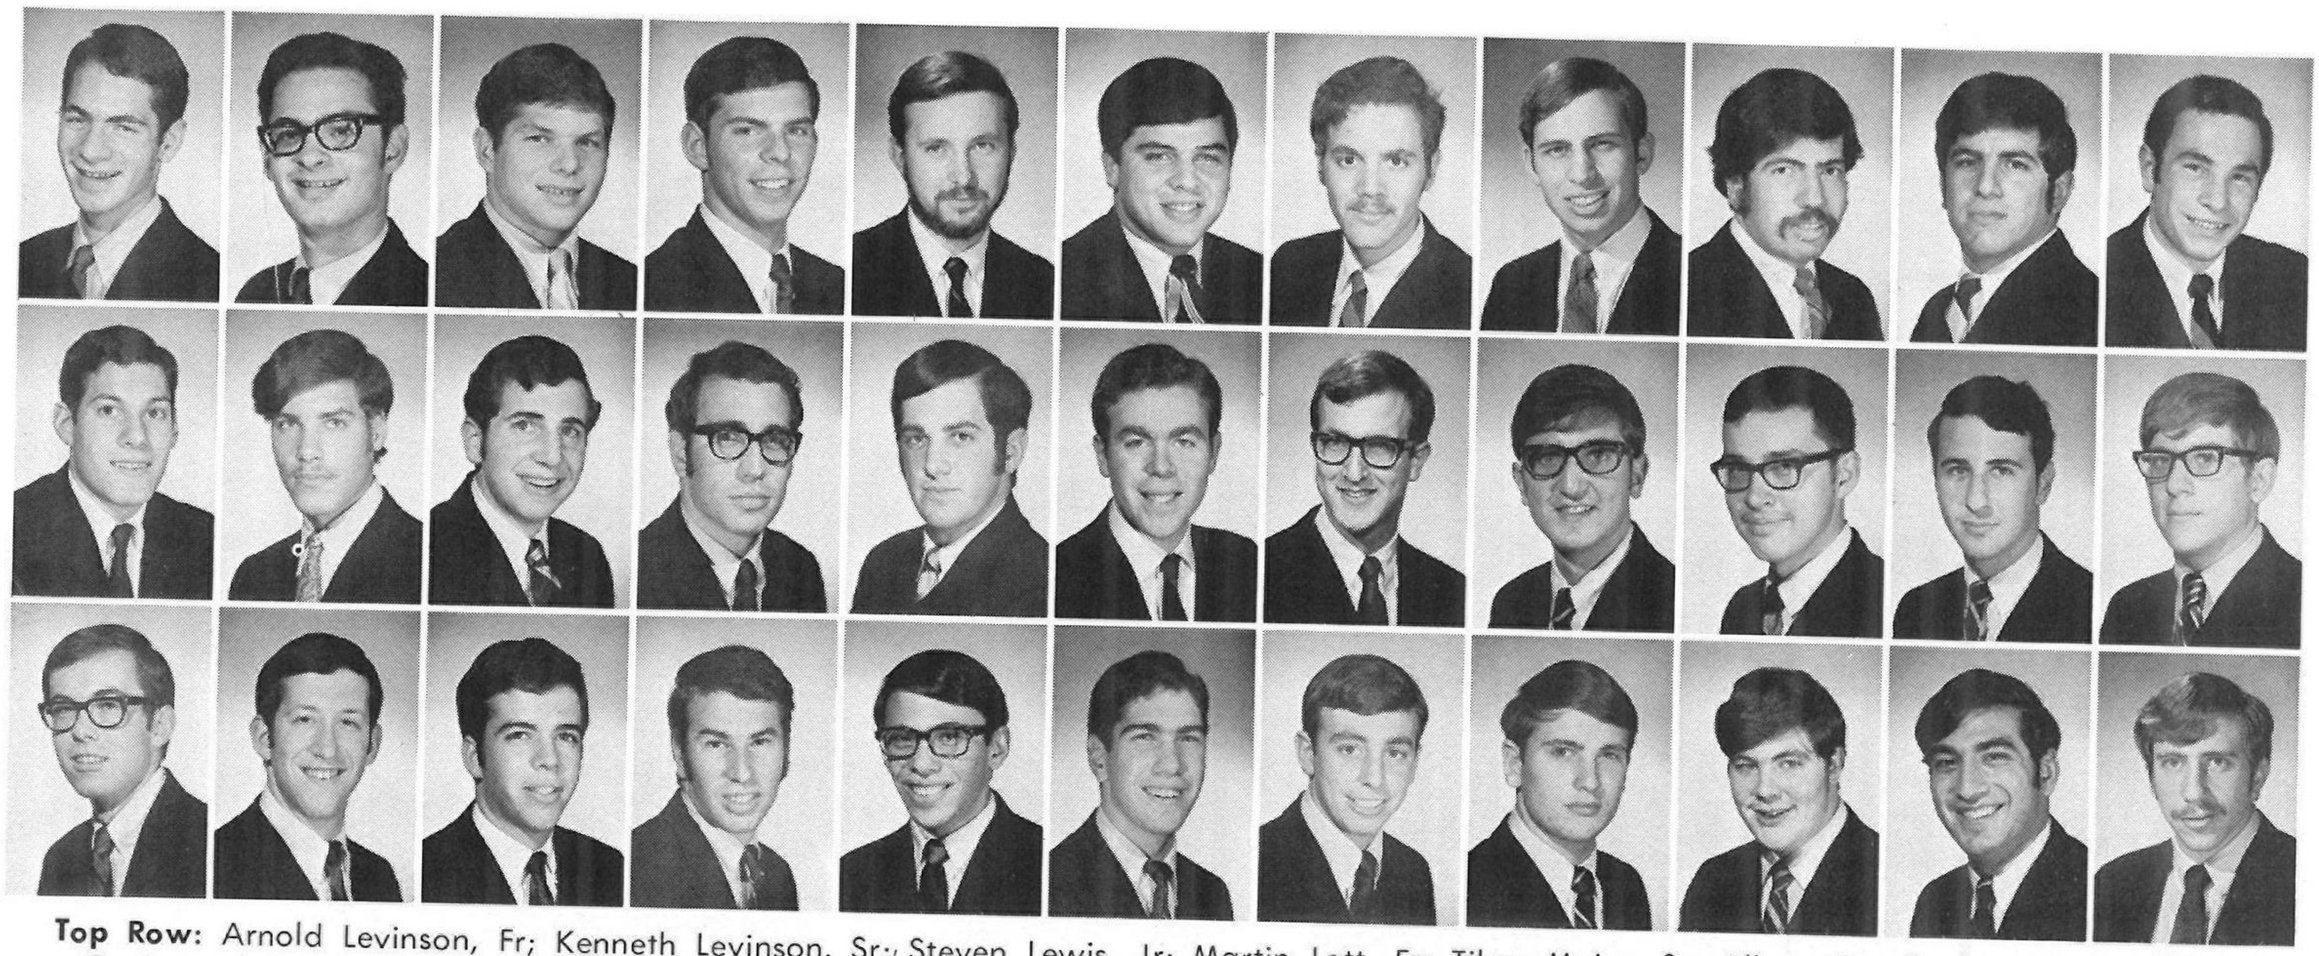

The initiation of 30 new members started another spirited year for Zeta Beta Tau. As in previous years, the pledges were off to a great start in pulling off countless agitations, including the kidnapping of the travelling secretary of ZBT National. They also sponsored the UW gymnastics team at South Center to raise money for the March of Dimes.

No one can forget how the brothers rated scholastically. The pledge class was number two among other classes, while the house was third overall. Other highlights during the year included an alumni semi-formal dance honoring ZBT's 70th anniversary. The year was climaxed by Orchid, the annual spring weekend, held at Gearhart, Oregon.

Fanny the St. Bernard Is Hairy Hound Mascot For Zeta Psi Men

The pledge class took little time in finding the spirit which holds the brothers of Zeta Psi so close, and they became Zetas themselves.

Highlights of the year were Fanny, the St. Bernard mascot; rolling in 20 bales of hay and stuffing them into the rec room for the Harem Scarem; the Ski Party; the Winter Formal at the Olympic; and Huskies Outstrip the Bruins with the Kappa Deltas.

Residence Hall Council Gives Dormies a Voice

The Residence Hall Council is a formal body which represents the dormitory students' opinions on campus and in the administration.

Each hall has its own council which works toward formulating effective policies within the respective dormitories.

This year, under the active leadership of RHC, the dormitory residences spoke out on many opinions. The open room issue was the most controversial. Stands were taken on the grape boycott as well as the issue concerning higher dorm rates.

Hansee Council: Jackie Randall, Cheryl Johnson, Linda Hiblar, Cindy Simpson, Patty Morris, Martha Patton, Mary Myers.

Allison Is a Crazy Dormie Hangout

What is Allison House? Well, it's bridge, "Dark Shadows," "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," bridge, "Laugh-In" on Monday nights, the Sunday night movies and bridge. It's spiced with Pixie Week, peanut butter, engagements, popcorn and open rooms. Actually, the girls at Allison House are just normal, somewhat crazy dormies who love to throw people in the shower on their birthday.

It's so much fun to redecorate a dorm room!

A group congregates for many reasons at DeVoe: to sing with the guitarist, for popcorn and birthday parties, to study until 3 a.m., or just to sit and talk in bathrobes and rollers. DeVoe girls are marked by sleepy good mornings over soapy faces, Saturday night perfume and quiet rooms after hard days.

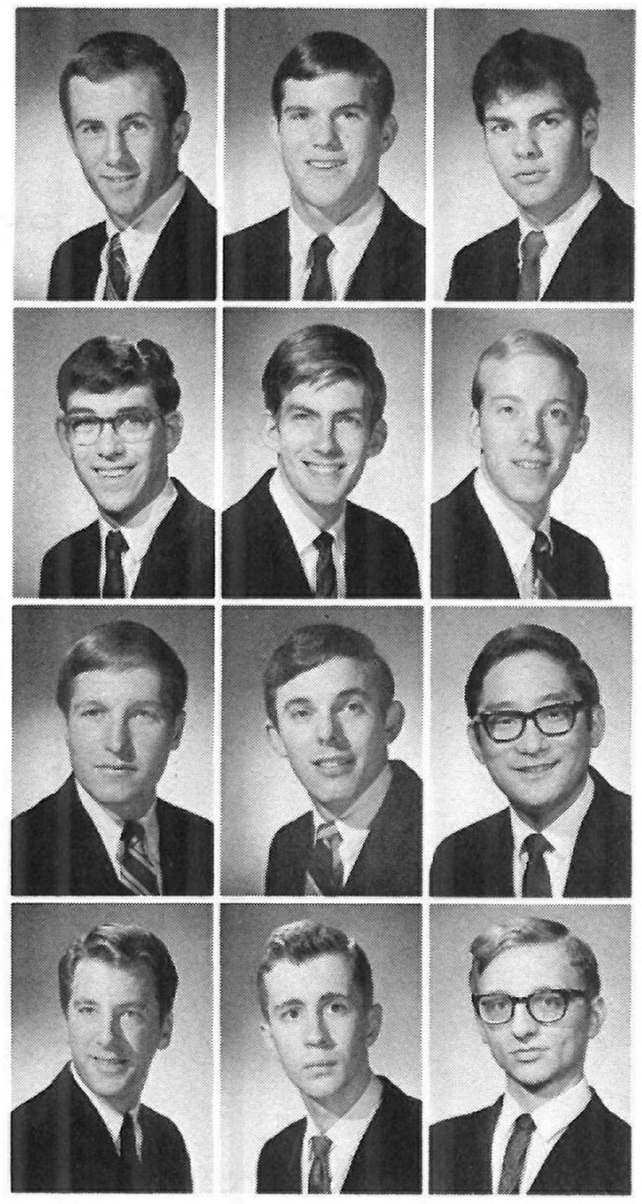

DeVoe is "home" to 100 girls—a place where things happen. A year of life in DeVoe has resulted in close friendships and warm memories.

King Solves Life's Problems

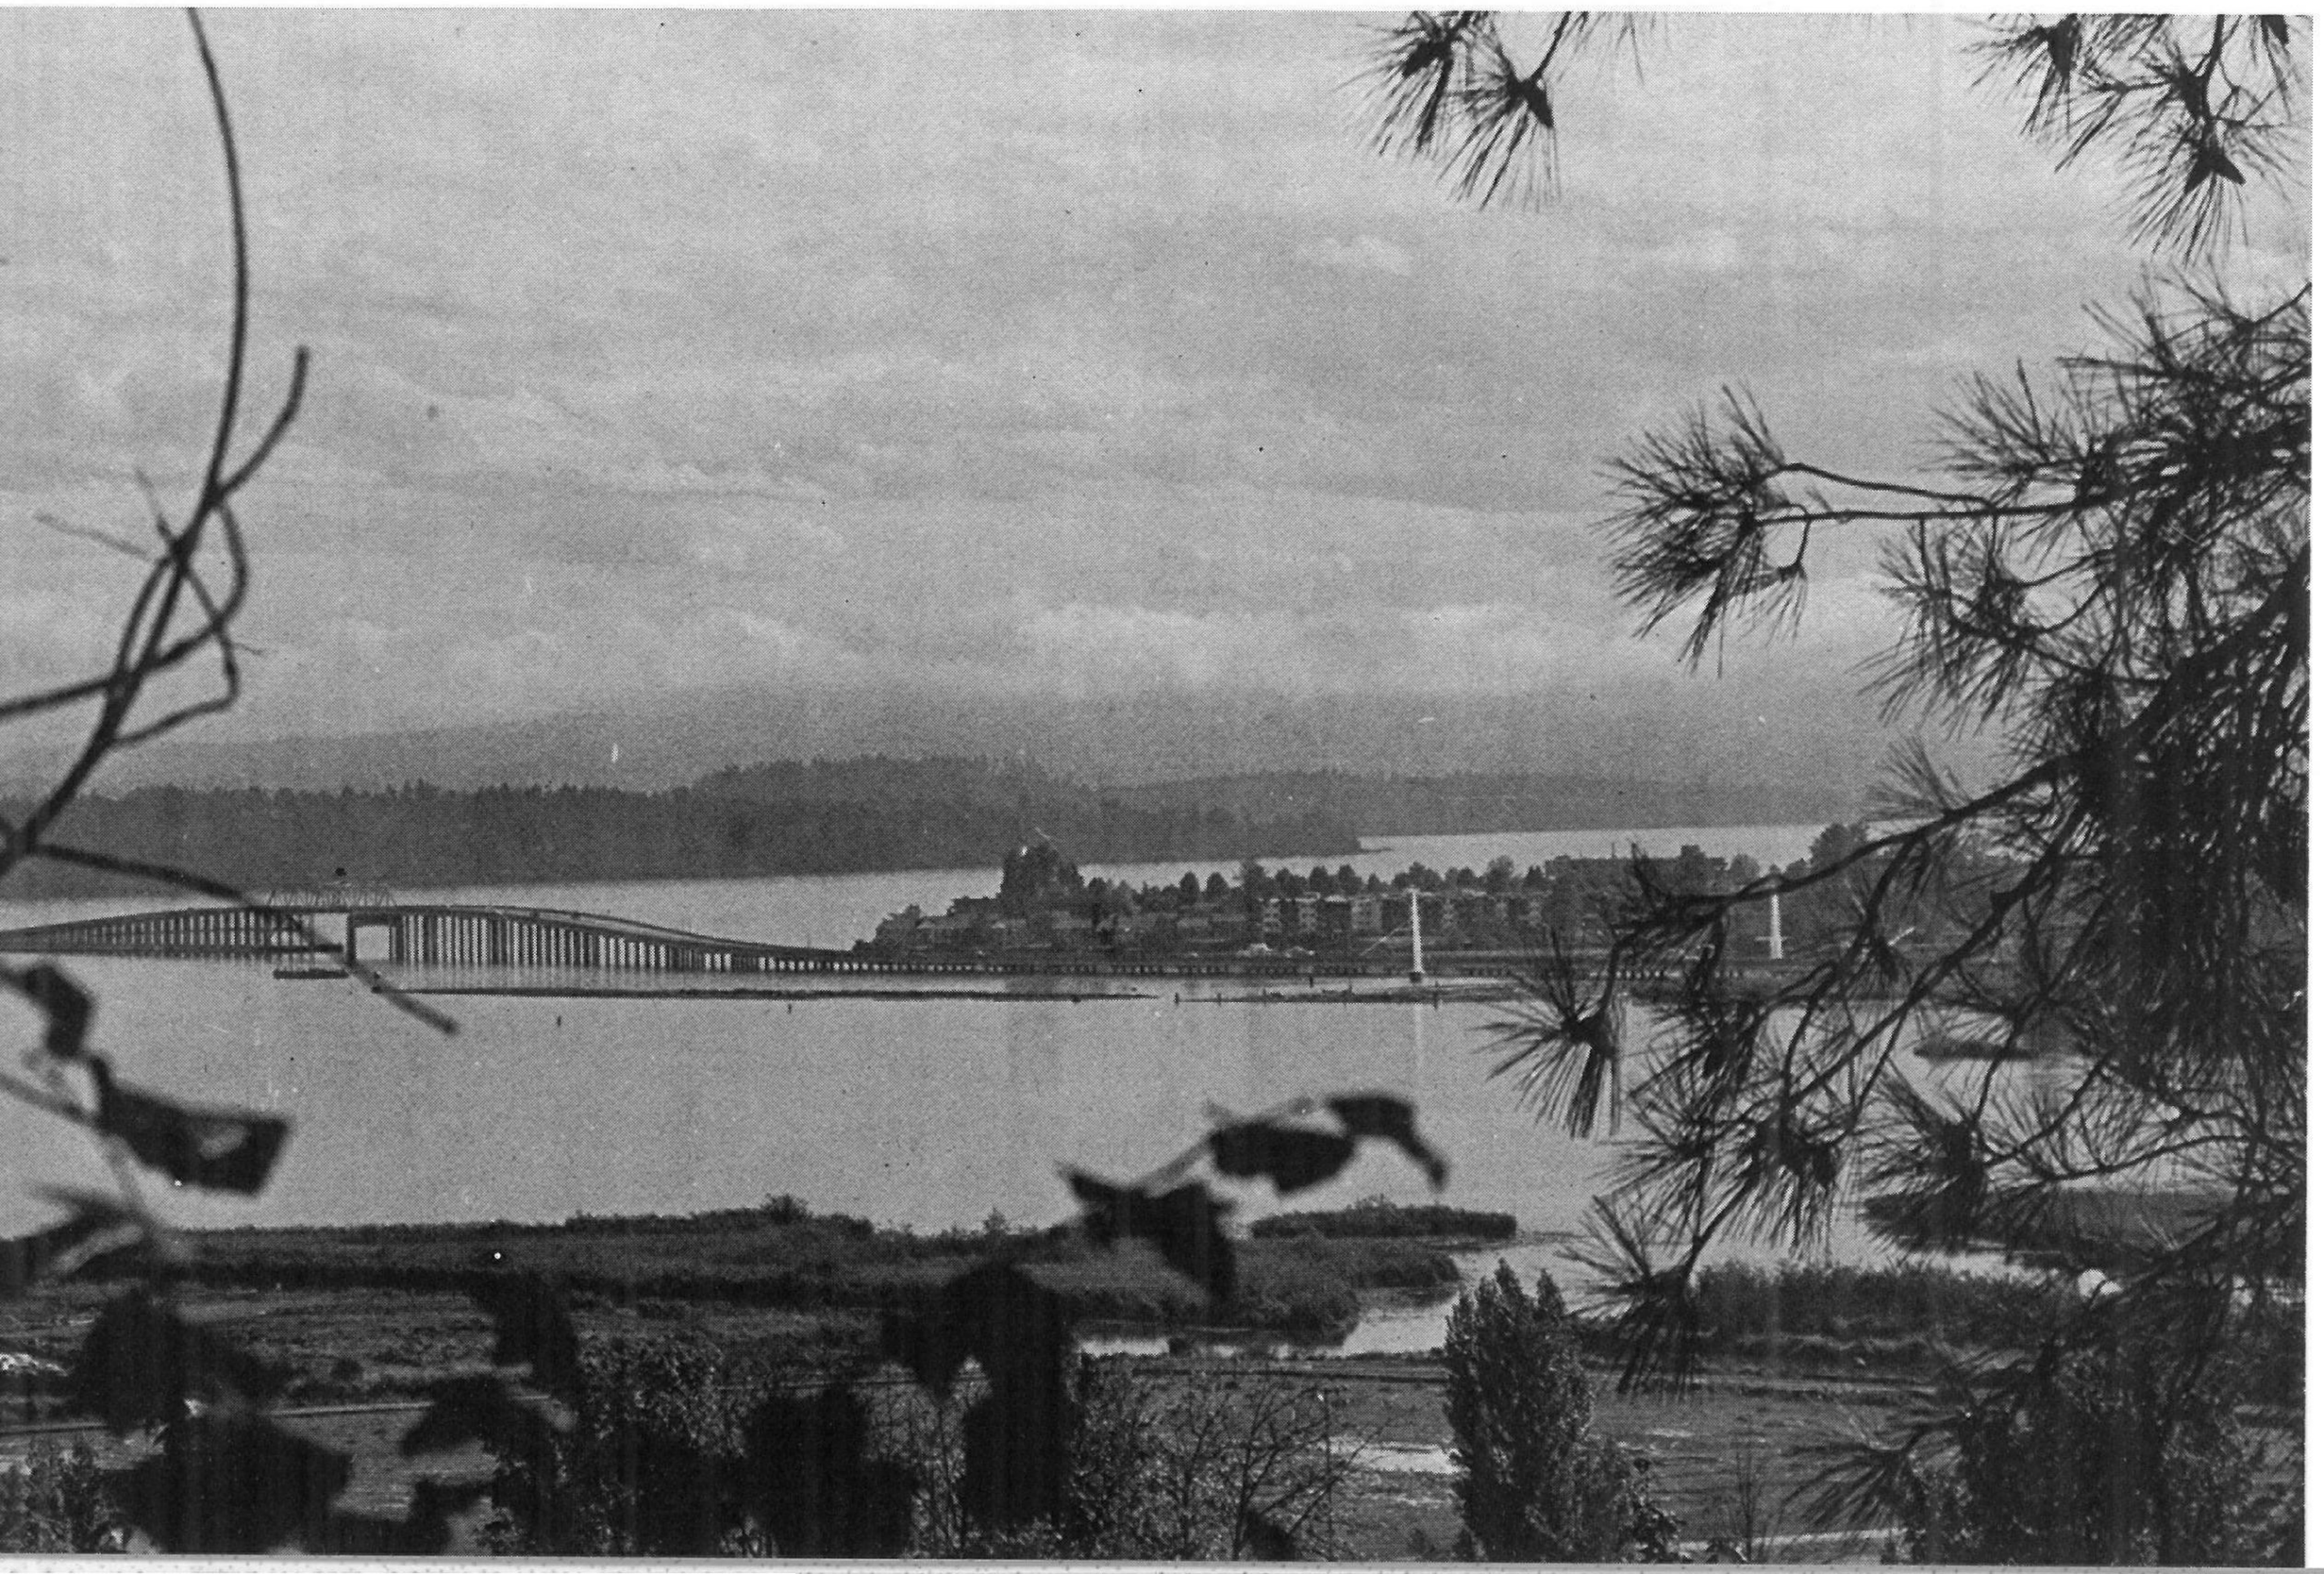

Men of King House came not to praise the university, but to bury it. In their own manner, success is evident.

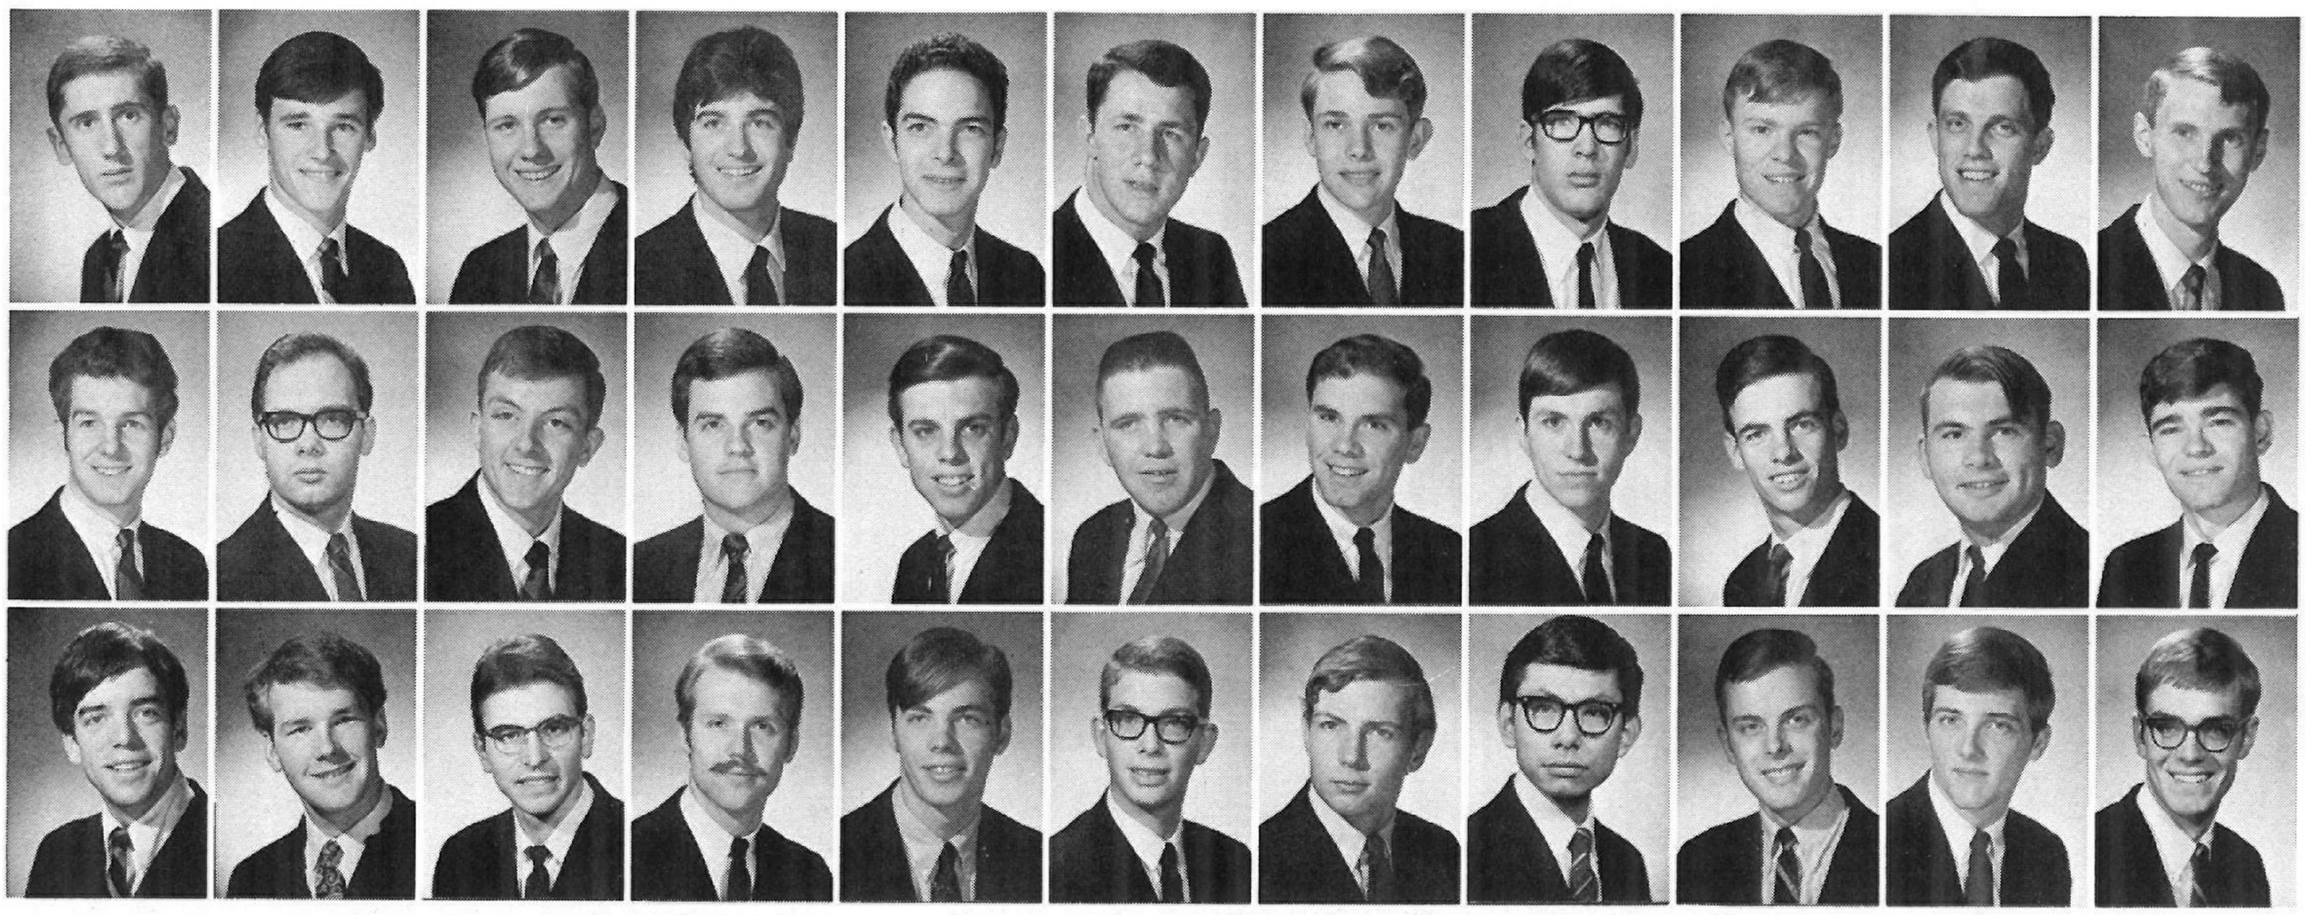

They advocate free love, drugs, booze and anything that's a real groove. To the men of King, no problem is too big.

Shannon men discovered the totality of dormitory living where EVERYONE participates. Shannon combined both its important qualities of leadership and new ideas to provide many avenues for the stimulation of varied interests. Athletics, exchanges and steak-fries were added to service projects and Purple and Gold Review.

With the goal of residence hall leadership constantly driving them forward, Shannon men cultivated both the freedom and desire to associate with others. By contributing support and leadership, they have developed genuine friendships which laid the foundations for a well-rounded house philosophy.

Shannon Toads Find Brotherhood

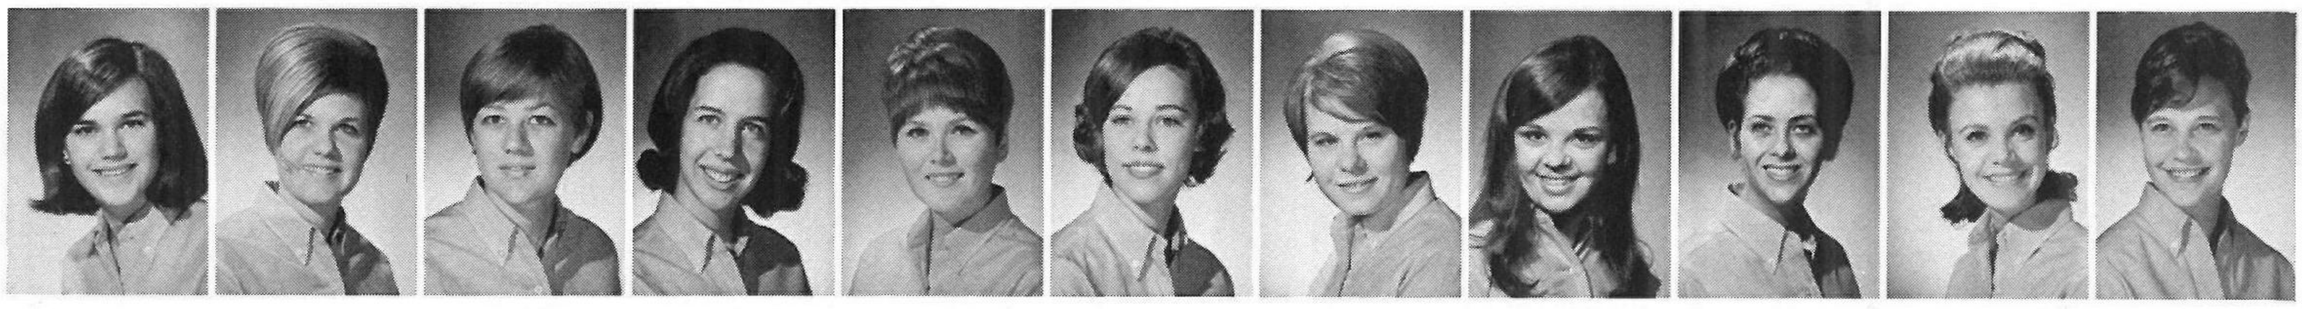

Town House Is Active And Well Informed

Town House has upheld the tradition of keeping its girls informed of the activities concerning them. Town House activities reflect the interests of its residents. Such events as the Snowman Contest, which promotes an air of congeniality with the men's towers, open rooms policy and the increase in rent payments ignited a spark of enthusiasm within the girls. They have an active interest in college life and take advantage of the opportunities in such a multiversity.

Stanton Fights Winter's Evils

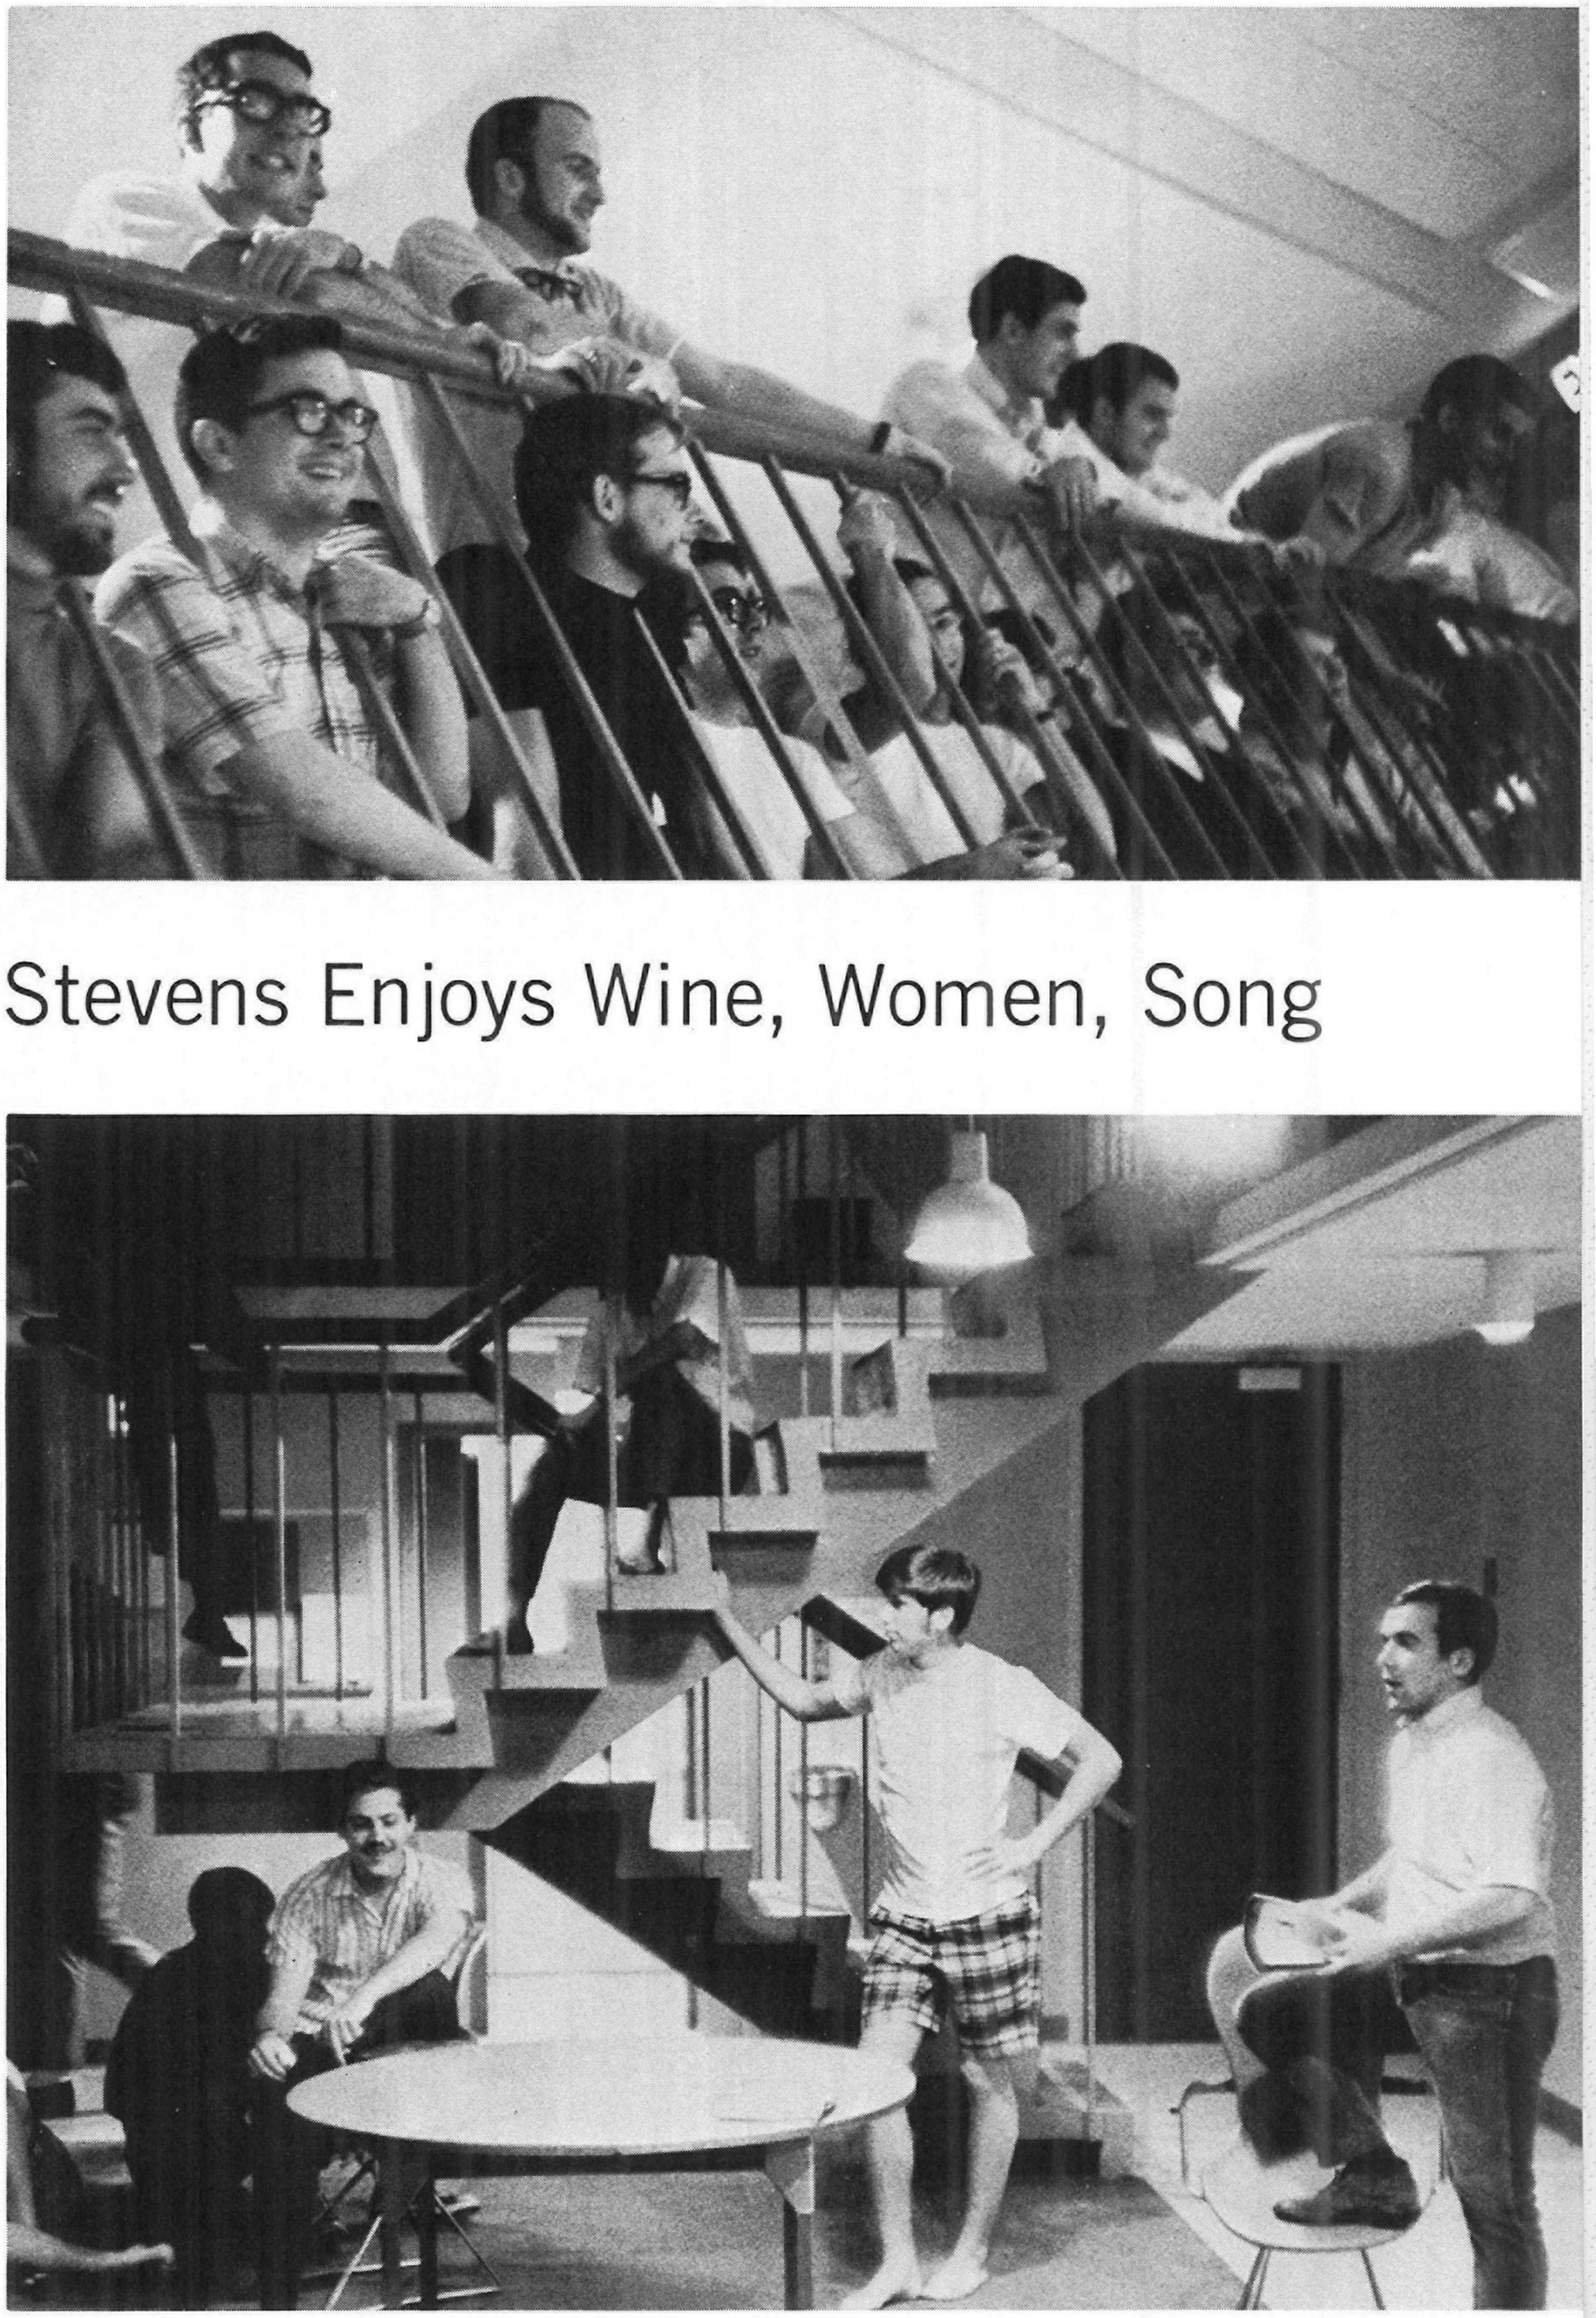

Stanton girls, known to their friends as the penthouse bunnies, recall an active year. Beginning fall quarter with a record turnout Husky Guide weekend, the house was charged with new enthusiasm from an almost 50% freshman membership.

Winter distinguished itself with the advent of open rooms. Enduring frostbite, more Hong Kong flu, the weather and continuation of fall's activities (in spite of those New Year's resolutions), most of the membership survived and studied in anticipation of seeing the sun again.

Stevens Enjoys Wine, Women, Song

Stevens House was the first to officially (?) practice open rooms. There were corridor parties and the Lush of the Year Award, with many participants. The coke machine gave away 372.14 gallons of lemonade before being rudely interrupted by the Safety Division.

The men of Stevens House do not claim the title of most-athletic, most-handsome or most-scholastic. They do feel they are "the most" in fun and uniqueness.

Craig, Bill and Paul controlled Homecoming weekend with signs and serpentines. Gary was repeatedly impeached to the tune of Ken's stereo demonstrations. Phil had to leave when his over-zealous study habits began to wear off on the other fellows. The traditional house parties, without dates, seemed quite popular until open rooms invaded dorm life. The self-appointed lushes all of a sudden realized there were lots more exciting things in university life. After girls, then what?

Austin House Motto: Live and Let Live

Disorganization and chaos were the words sued, but fun and friendship was the spirit. Starting the year under the leadership of the disoriented, but sincere, Husky Guides, the freshmen lost whatever sanity they had. They fit beautifully into Austin life.

After the trauma of the first beach party exchange (we couldn't help the rain, but someone should have remembered the hot dogs), girls learned to cope with almost anything. Problems ranged in magnitude from roommates being locked in closets to ghosts in the hall.

It's a Busy Bunch

At Blaine House

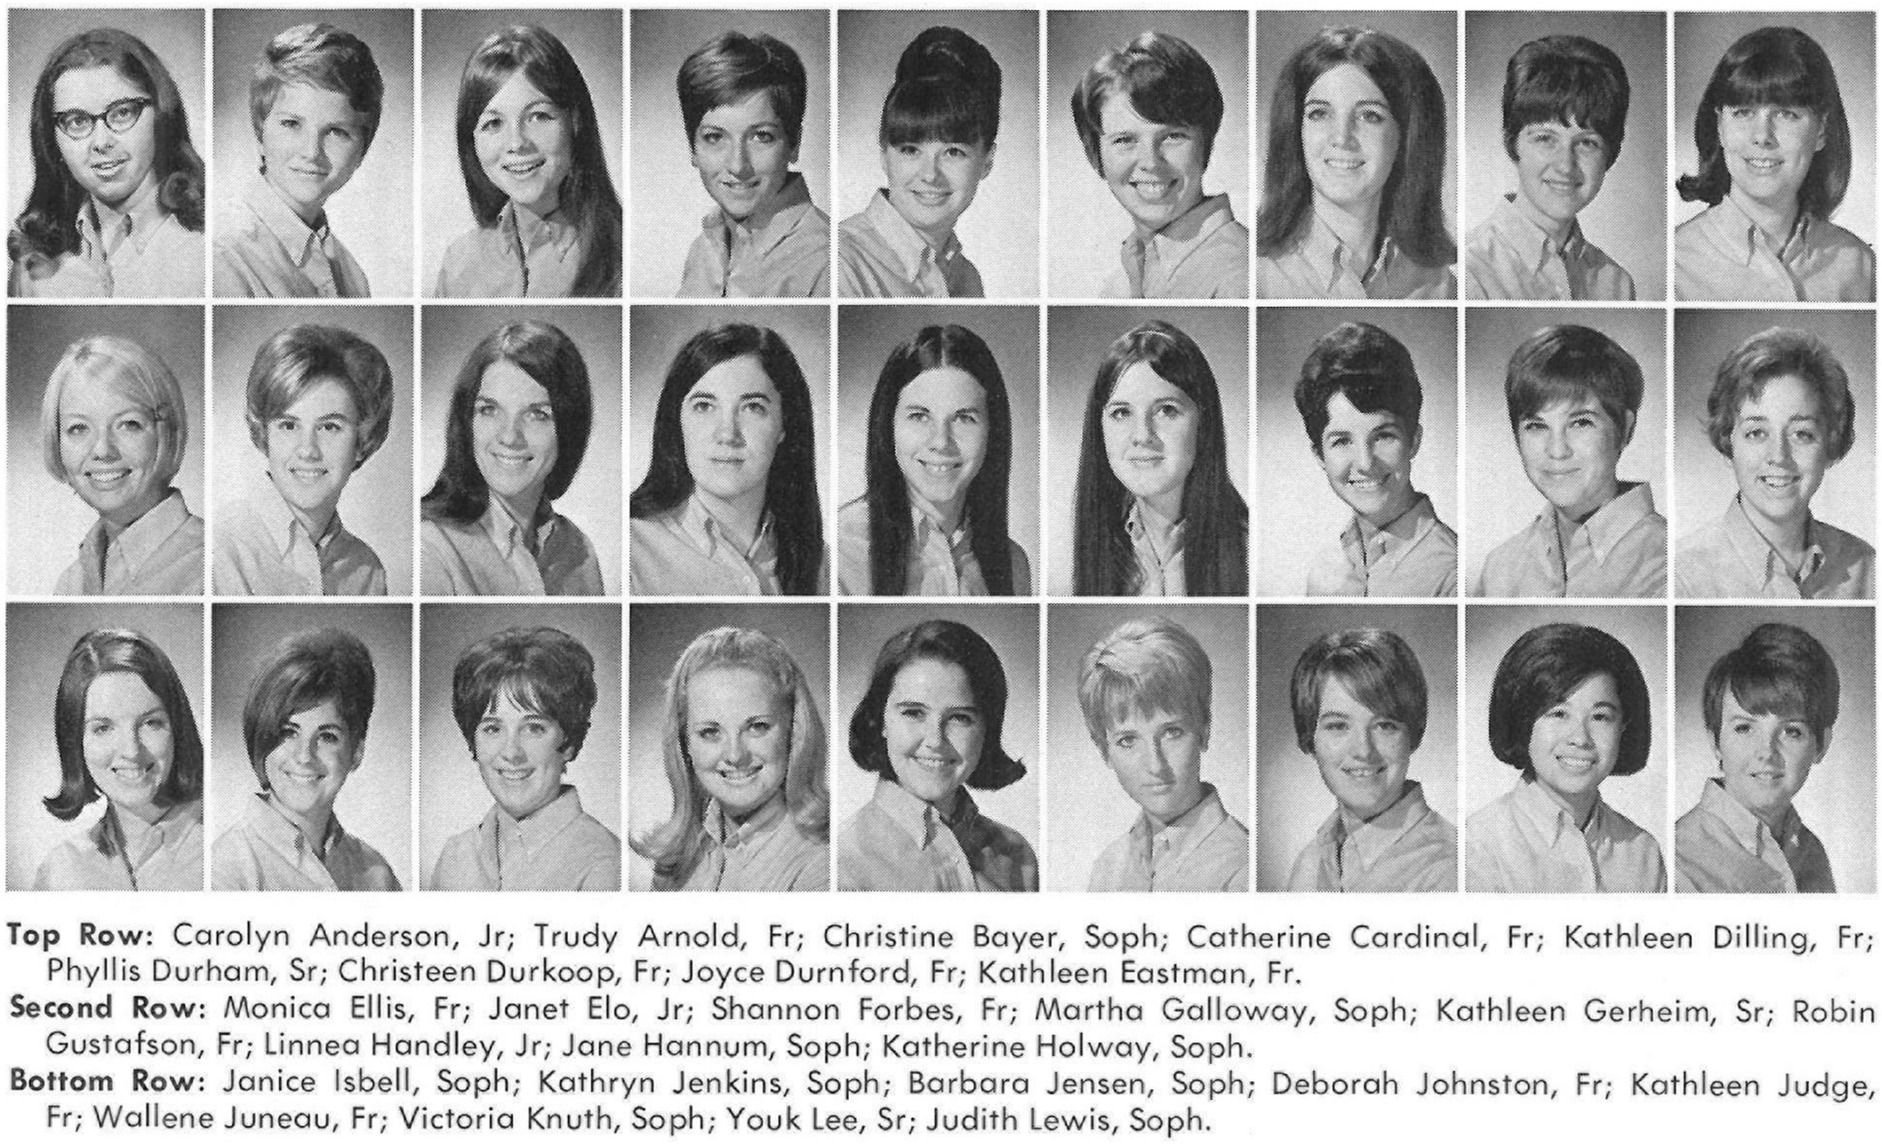

Indian students perform for Blainites at "Go International."

If the many sizes, shapes and personalities of Blaine could be depicted in one word, that word would be involvement. As the girls become aware of the changing world, they are changing with it.

House members had the opportunity to become involved on many levels: as students, as Americans, as world citizens. One of the biggest activities occurred every Thursday night when programs were presented by foreign students from Biafra, India, Latin America, Nigeria, Norway, Vietnam and many others.

House members were active in the Fall Issues Conferences; in athletic activities; in ASUW activities; and in community projects such as STAY and Neighborhood House.

Camano Is for Fantasy Chicks

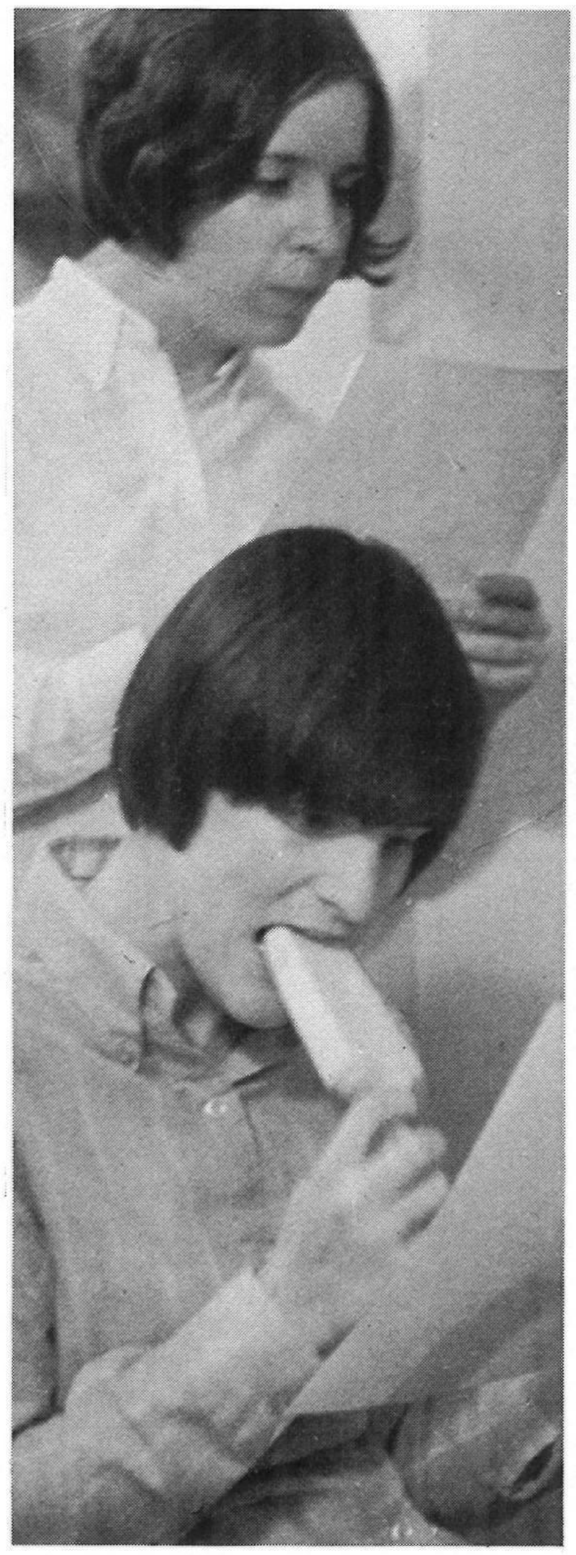

There was once a tree that stood apart from all the others in the Land of Hot Air. A hundred chicks settled there, calling it Camano. The chicks grew strong enough to battle their adversaries. They encountered Greke, whom they soaked in the bathtub. They fought off the men of Rainier, who were searching for their lost banner, which curiously appeared on the top branches of the Camano tree. After developing four years, the chicks were strong enough to leave the tree and live in the Land of Hot Air.

House meetings and pixie pranks are an important part of Cypress life.

The "Red Garter" girls of Cypress really stretched their imaginations to keep the house in the midst of activities. They started with a sign painting party. Pixie pranks, serenades, panti-raids and poster painting rounded out the year. Cypress proved that the Great Pumpkin lives! He sat in their lounge for a week before Halloween, only to steal away after the Halloween party.

Lively, Liberated Girls

Assert That McKee Lives

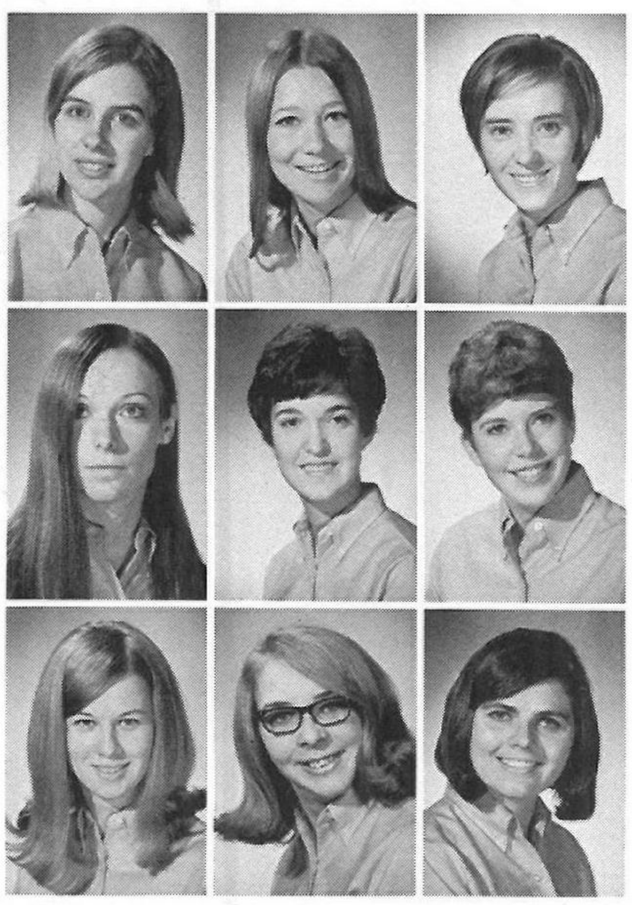

Ruth McKee's namesake house was again alive. President Johnson led the way for "Ruth's Babes." Were they to stray, Miss Merry and Miss Sharon (the warden) were there to guide.

The ghost remained, but was outdone in RF's by the many others. The annex raised the question, "Who said it's all happening at the zoo?"

Be it ever so humble, the girls all agree—they'd walk a million miles to get to McKee.

Maury House Girls

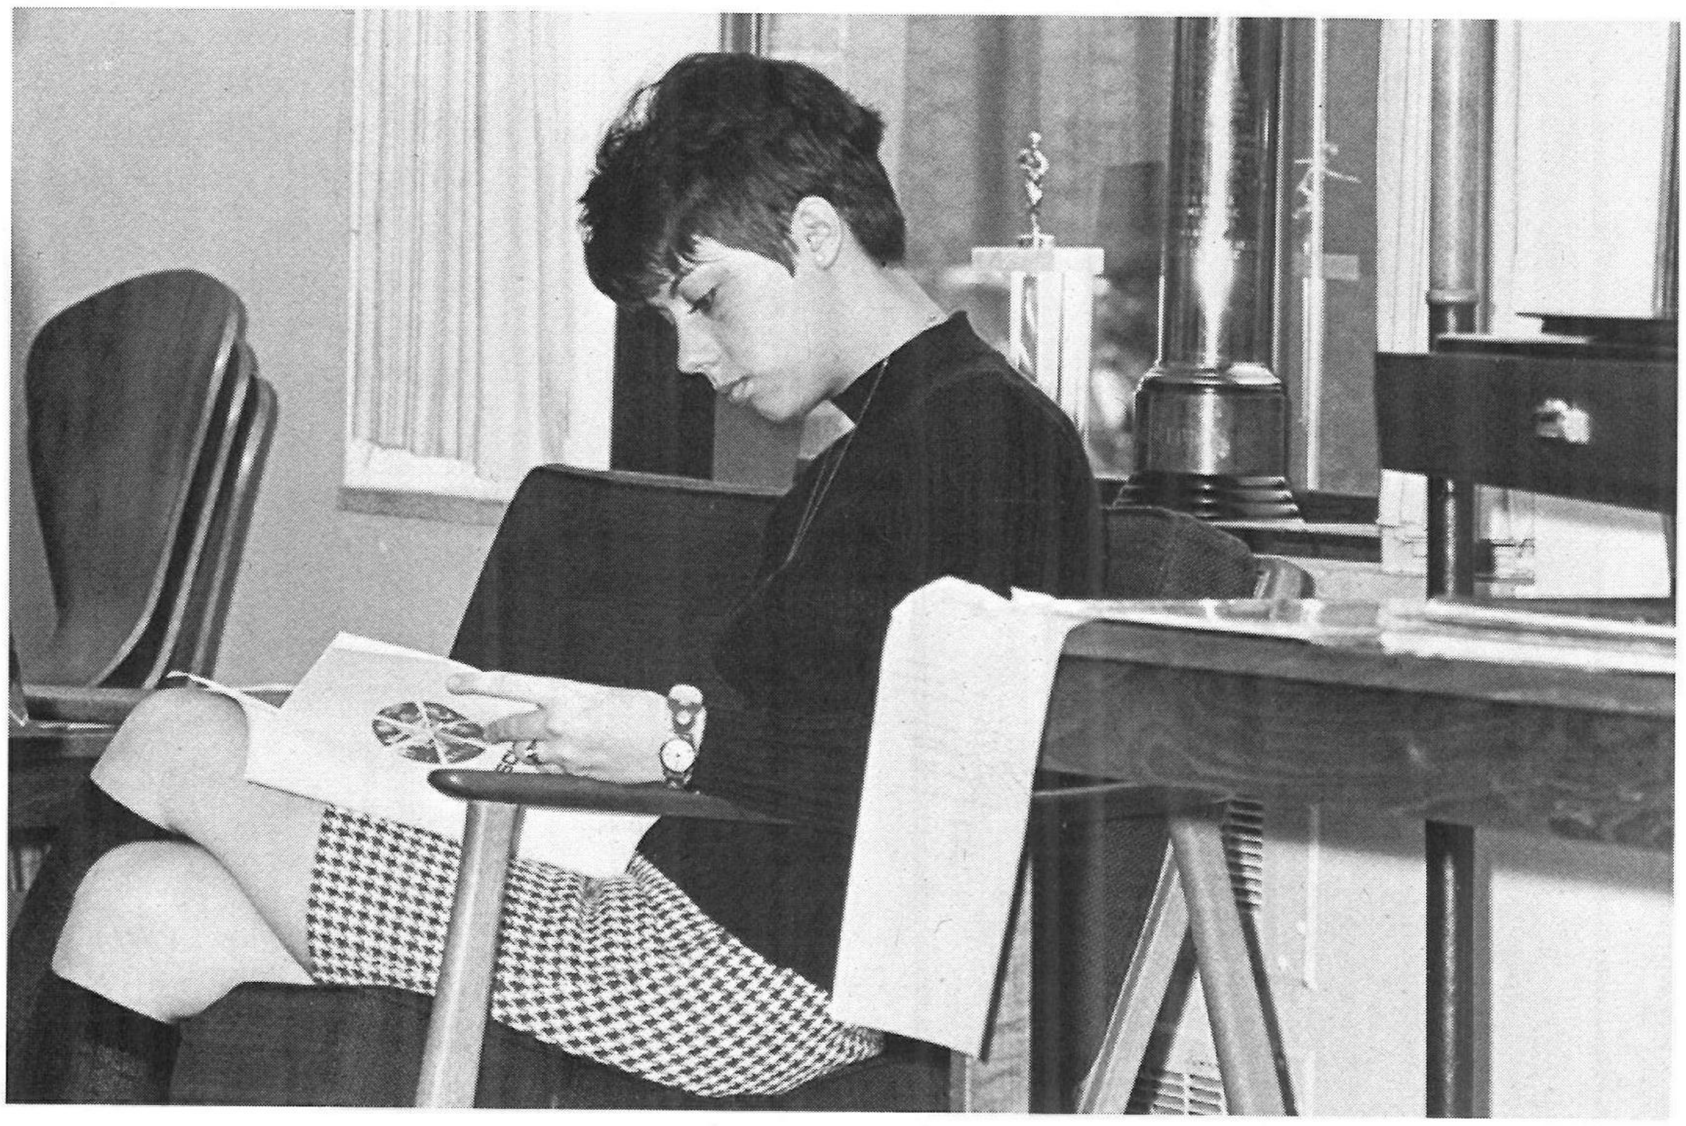

Are Always on the Go

Maury House is not only the place for action, but is where the up keep is! Approximately 100 dynamic females make up the lively Maury House, always on the go either running to a class, getting ready for a date or just taking an enjoyable walk to the library. Not only do the girls themselves look great, but on all three floors of Maury House there is an array of decorative rooms in bright flowers and cheery colors. However, it is not just the up keep that makes Maury House, but the unity involved—the uniqueness of each individual girl.

'Mercer on the Move' Was This Year's Theme

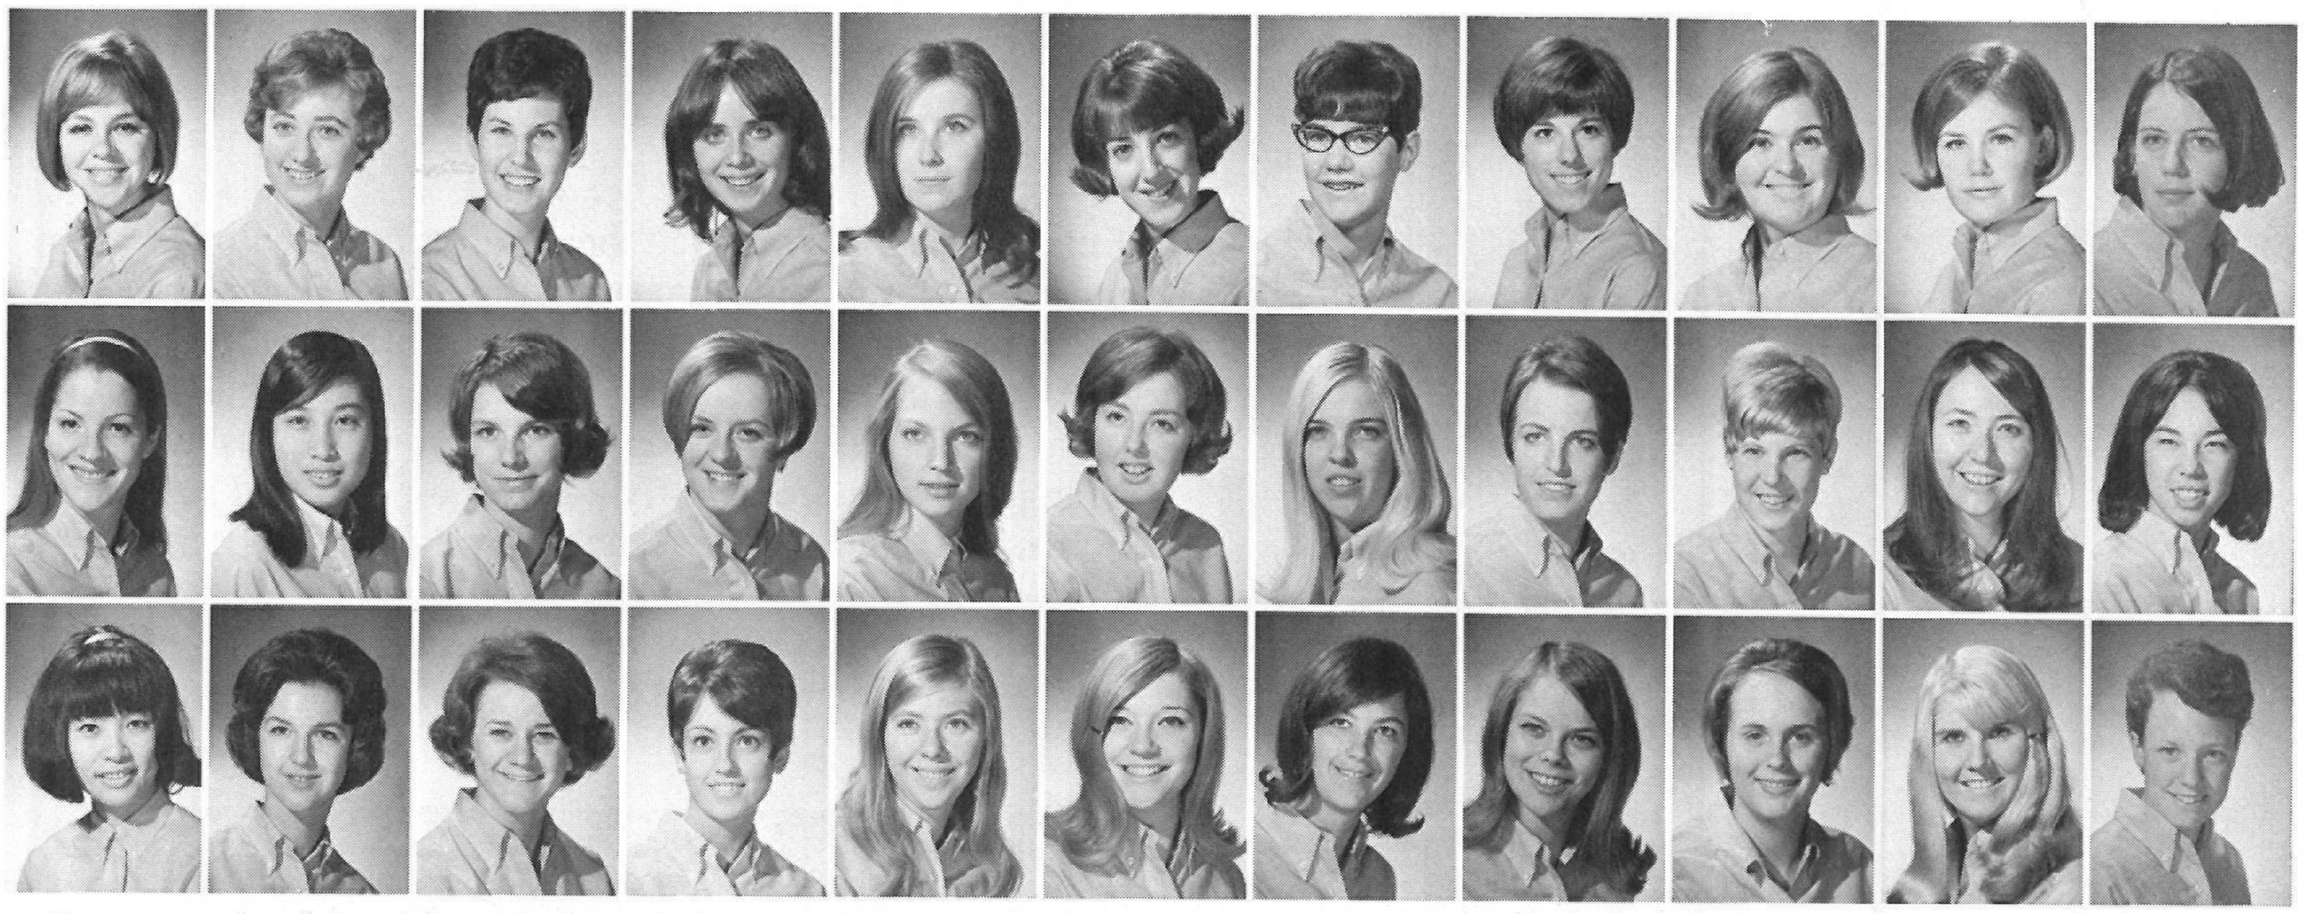

Visiting in the lounge is a relaxing and social event.

Entering freshmen proved their enthusiasm and spirit when they joined returning upper classmen of Mercer House at the Dorm Rally. The challenge of athletic competition was met with teams entered in bowling, volleyball and the swim marathon. Social events were numerous with exchanges varying from taffy-pulls to dinners and scavenger hunts. Of course, the usual popcorn parties, midnight phone calls and "QUIET" echoing down the hall were all a part of a unique year at the university.

Stuart Has Active Minds and Bodies

With enthusiasm and a lot of energy, Stuart girls initiated several money-making events to financially support their Argentine resident, Alice "Lecha" Pappalardo.

The girls displayed their interest in controversial issues and people by inviting Walt Crowley, Peace and Freedom Party candidate for the legislature, to speak at a special dinner.

Through participation on and off campus, Stuart girls felt this was a year worth remembering.

A Microcosm of Girls Comprise Vashon House

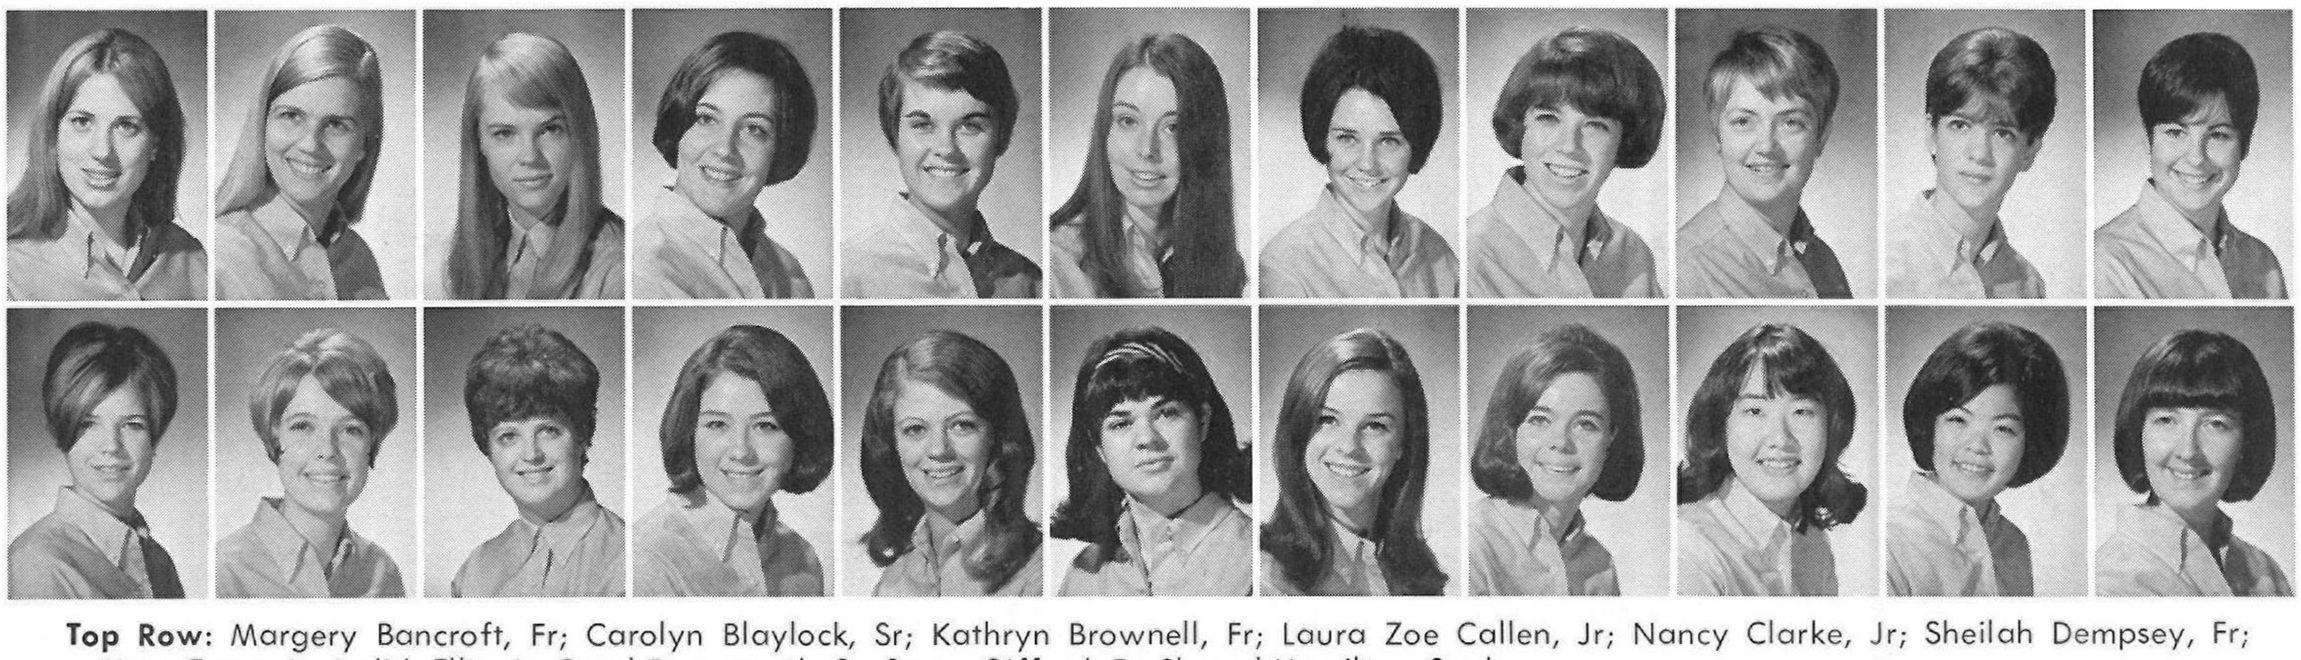

Upon arrival of the new year, all the doors at Vashon House are alike. Now, however, each one protects a separate, individual being; one who is interacting in a world of work, of happiness, of understanding or of unknowingness. Anacortes, Colorado, India and the world live within the two floors which comprise Vashon.

In this microcosm the girls cope with volleyball, linen day, regaining control of rebate, the gross pumpkin, seagulls, lowered house dues, the "special dinner" lie, the grape boycott, secret santas and spring fever. The tools are laughter, apathy, enthusiasm, persuasion, indignation and group cohesion.

A Home Full of Smiles Is Found at Dotson House

Have you ever stared at the unbelievably ugly girl with the plain expressionless face, only to realize it's the girl nominated to represent the floor for Homecoming queen—minus her make-up? Have you ever decided to spend a quiet evening curled up with a book while munching popcorn only to find everyone else had that same idea—with your popcorn?

If you haven't experienced any of these things you haven't stayed in domestic, docile Dotson. Located on the eighth floor of Lander, the house presents a good opportunity to exchange views and communicate with girls of various ethnic and racial backgrounds. Besides a conglomeration of hair rollers, tooth brushes and raggedy houseshoes, one will find smiles, smiles and more smiles.

Honderich House Has a King

Honderich House has the distinction of being the only girls' living group at the university with a king. This year the crown was again passed in February at the annual Abneristic Party, a big success because every girl invited two men. The girls also spent a lot of time giving, as well as receiving, creative RF's.

Like most of the other floors in Lander Hall, Honderich became home for many black students. Both whites and blacks learned from each other in immeasurable ways. By sharing mirrors and the common problems of studenthood, the girls became united in searching for the real meaning of this world.

Athletics and Social Activities Unite In Macgregor Supremacy

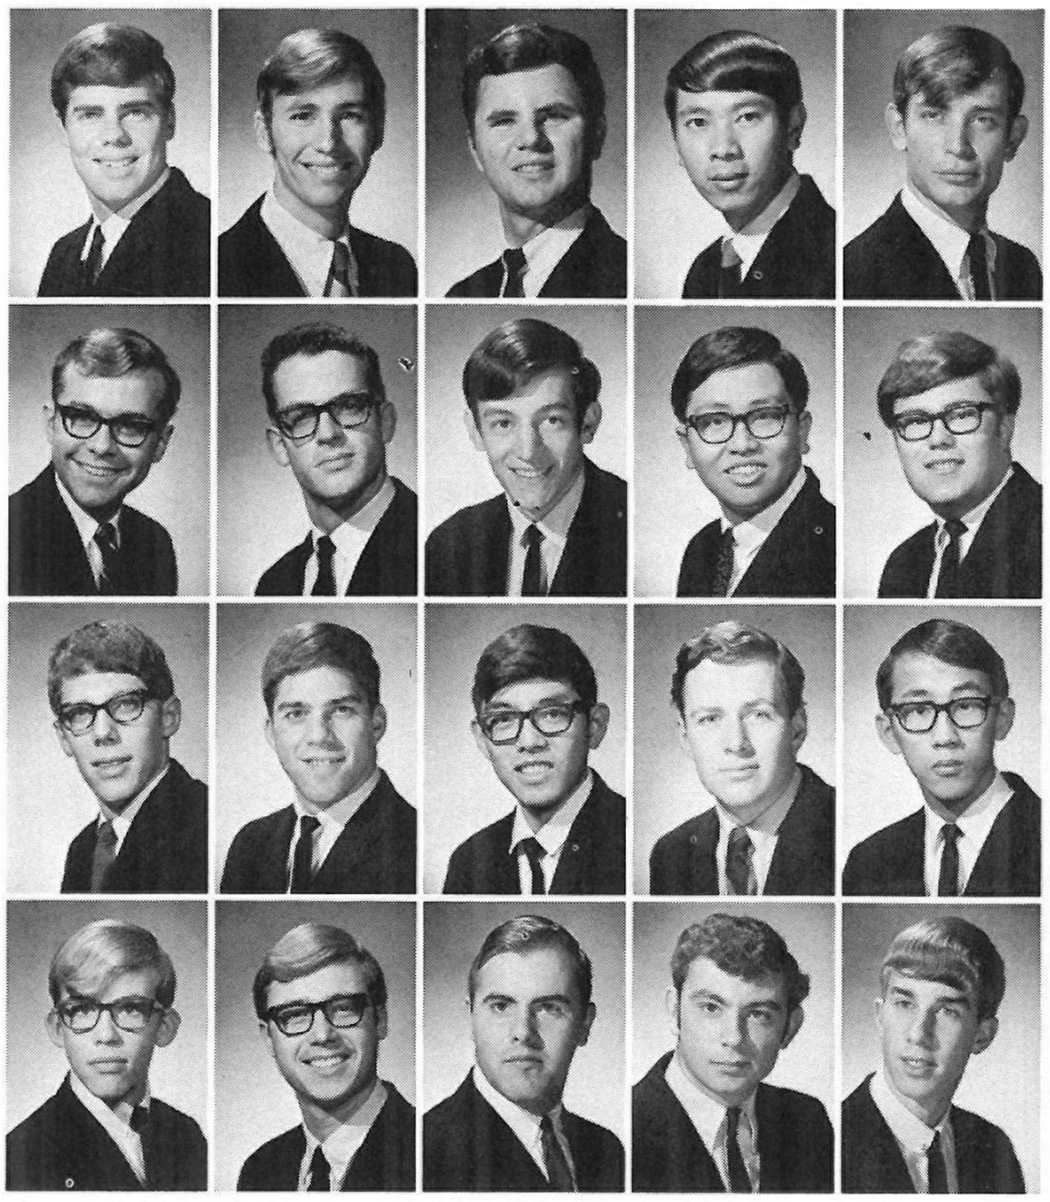

Another outstanding year of athletic competition highlighted the activities of Macgregor House. The men consistently placed high in such intramural competition as football, basketball, softball, swimming, track, soccer and cross country. Several individual and dorm championships were annexed in the process. Heading the list of outstanding Macgregor social events was the midnight "surprise" cruise that stranded several members in Bremerton. Other enjoyable occasions were the exchanges, the winter formal, queen contest, informal HJ parties and flag-poling various Lander residents.

Numerous raids against the girls of Honderick House became an essential part of Maverick's extracurricular activities this year. A limburger cheese retaliation resulted in a midnight climbing school to hang signs outside of the sixth floor lounge windows.

Flag-poling replaced the traditional pondings in Frosh Pond. To heighten the excitement warm and cold water was tried, but proved to take second place to molasses and confetti.

Patterson Hall is that red brick tenement building across the street from Lander and Terry. It has been affiliated with the university for three years.

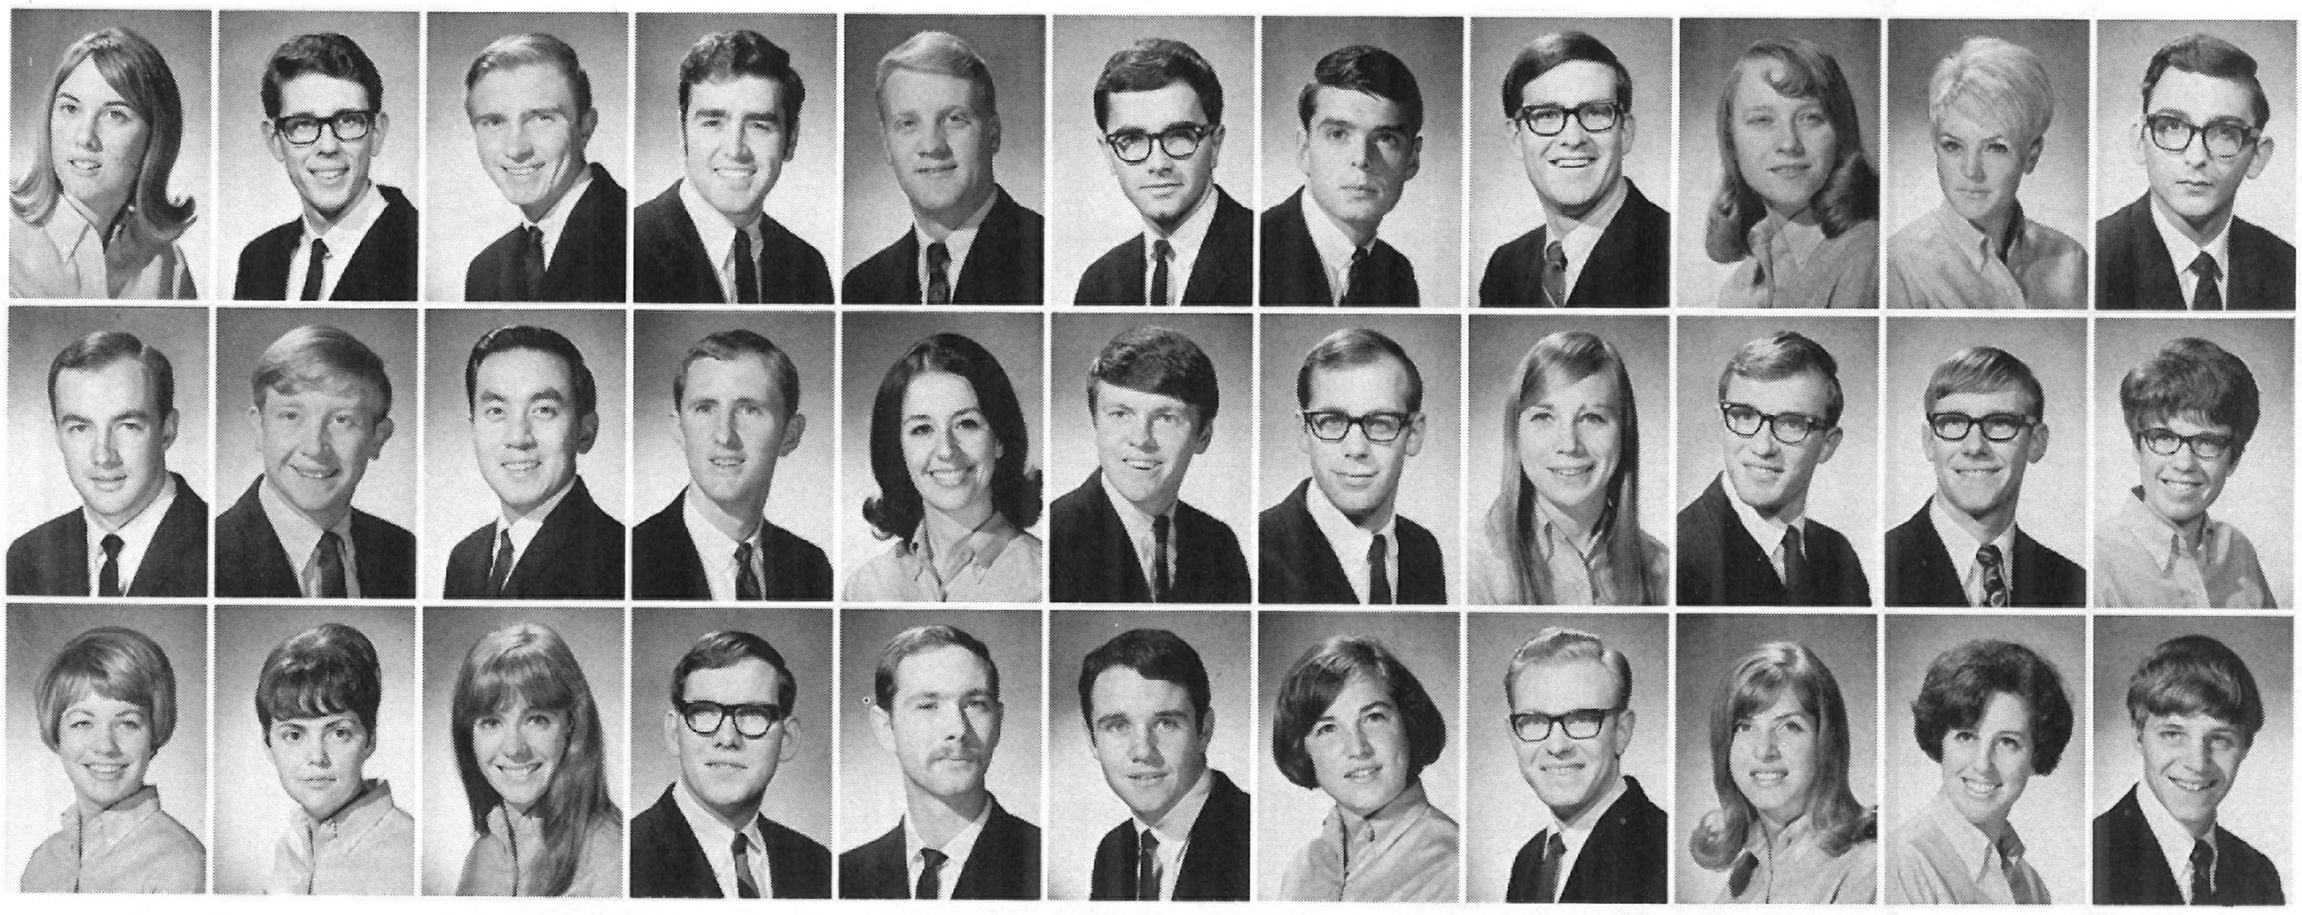

The first year was bad, with irregular heating and a lack of desks and mirrors. Now, however, the girls are blessed with the necessities plus sinks, clean rugs and lots of space. Patterson is small and secluded, but proud.

This year, from amidst the grovelling conglomeration of mediocrity and inadequacy known as the UW residence hall house system, there has again emerged Baker House. Led by King Glenn, their proverbial white knight in shining armour, spirit was strengthened and emboldened by the omnipotent theological advisor, Ben Dover. The Bakerites again proved their natural-born superiority in all areas of competition.

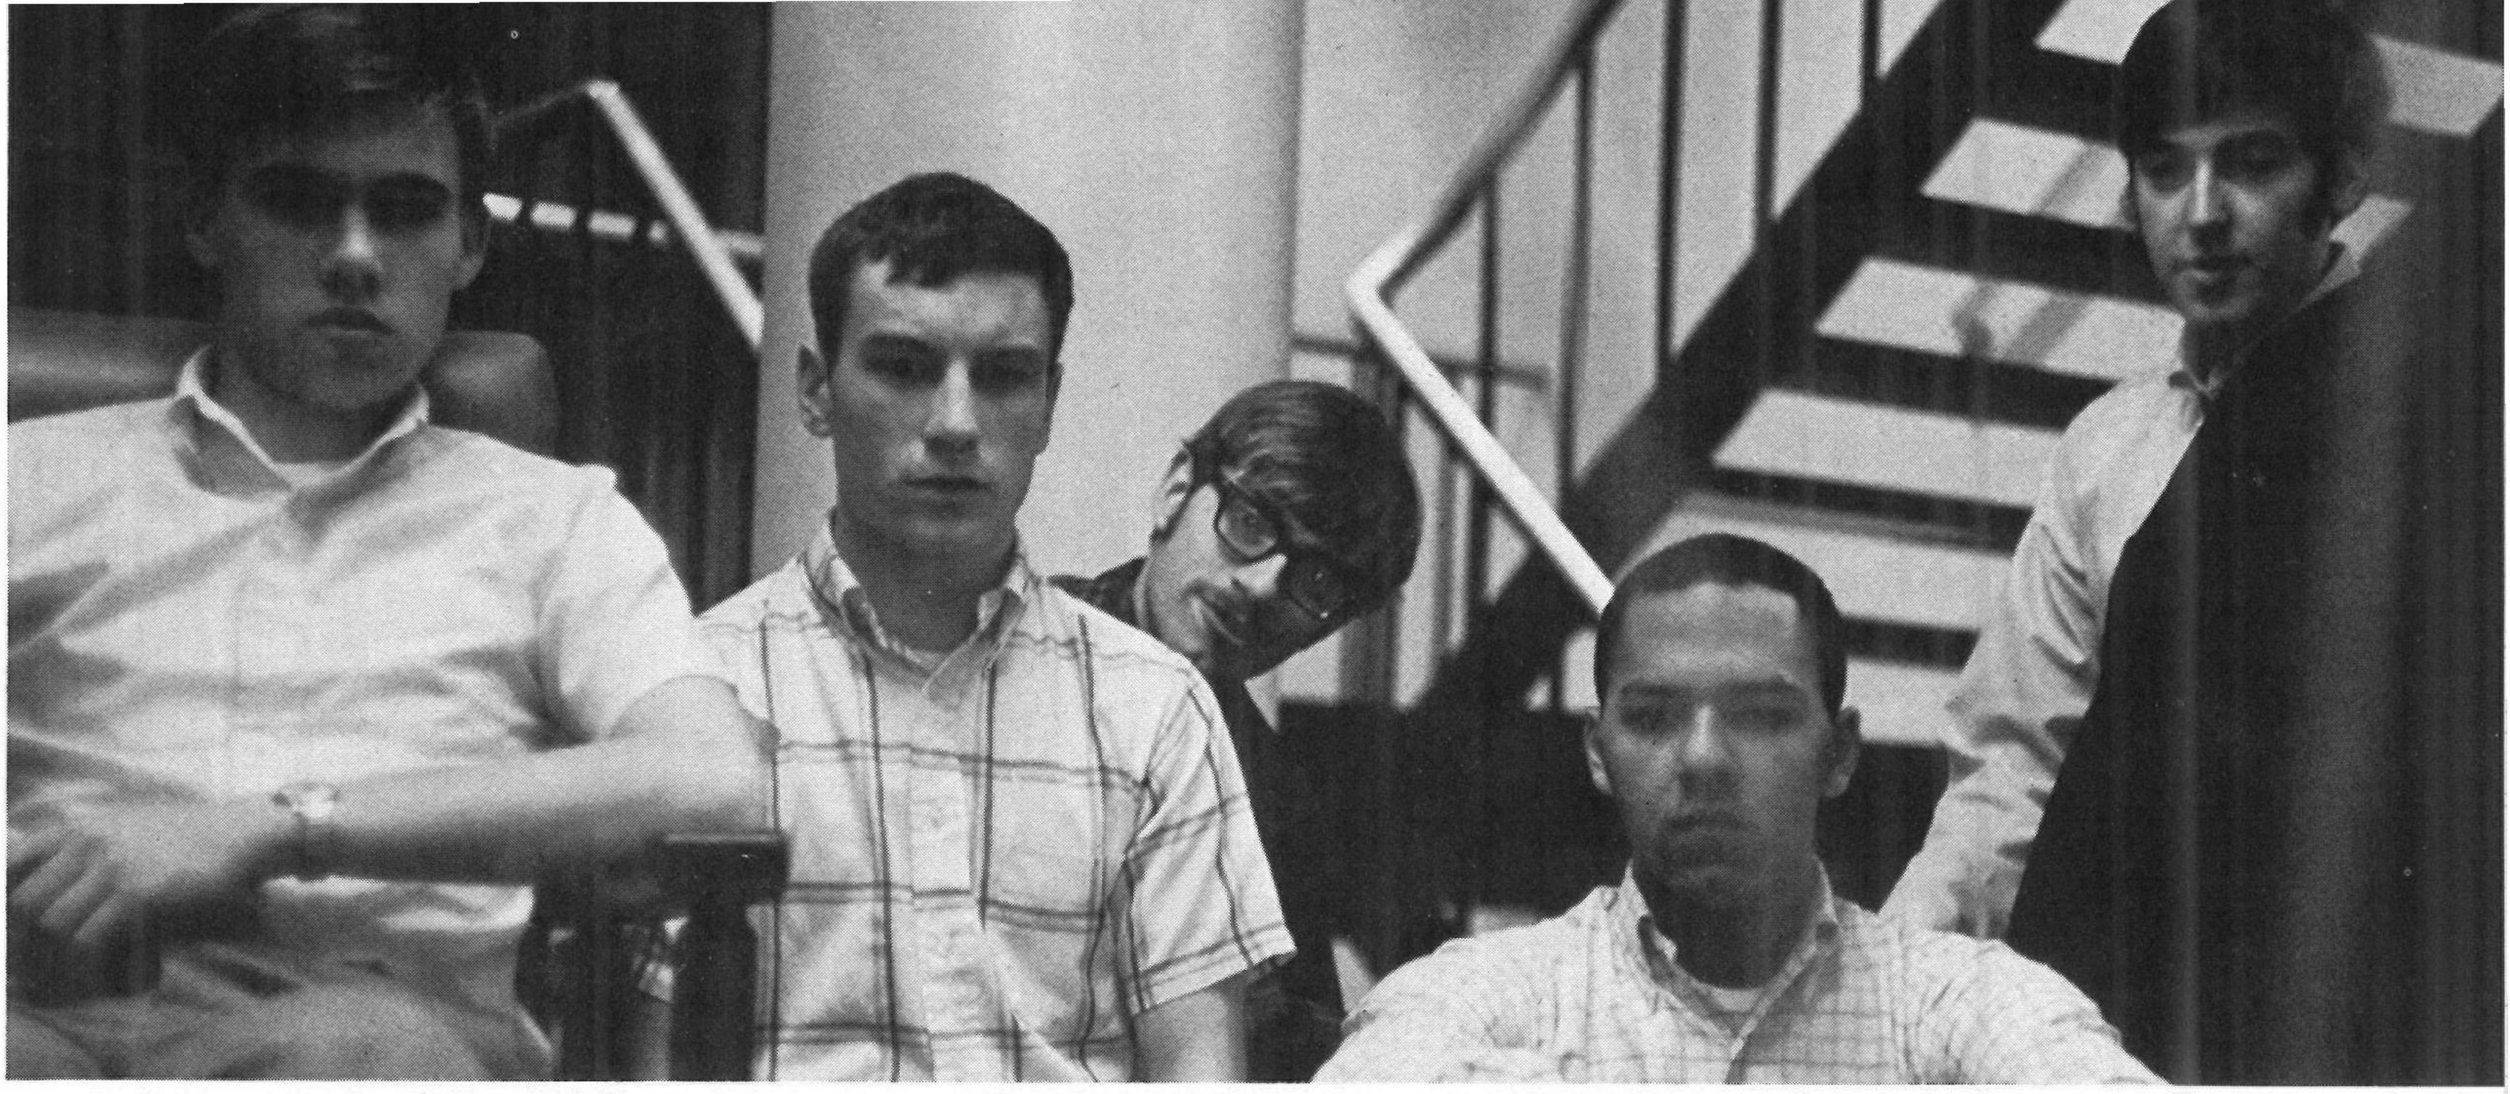

"In your hearts, you know we're great. We must be; after all, we bought two pages in the TYEE."

Olympus, Home of the Gods, Is Largest on Campus

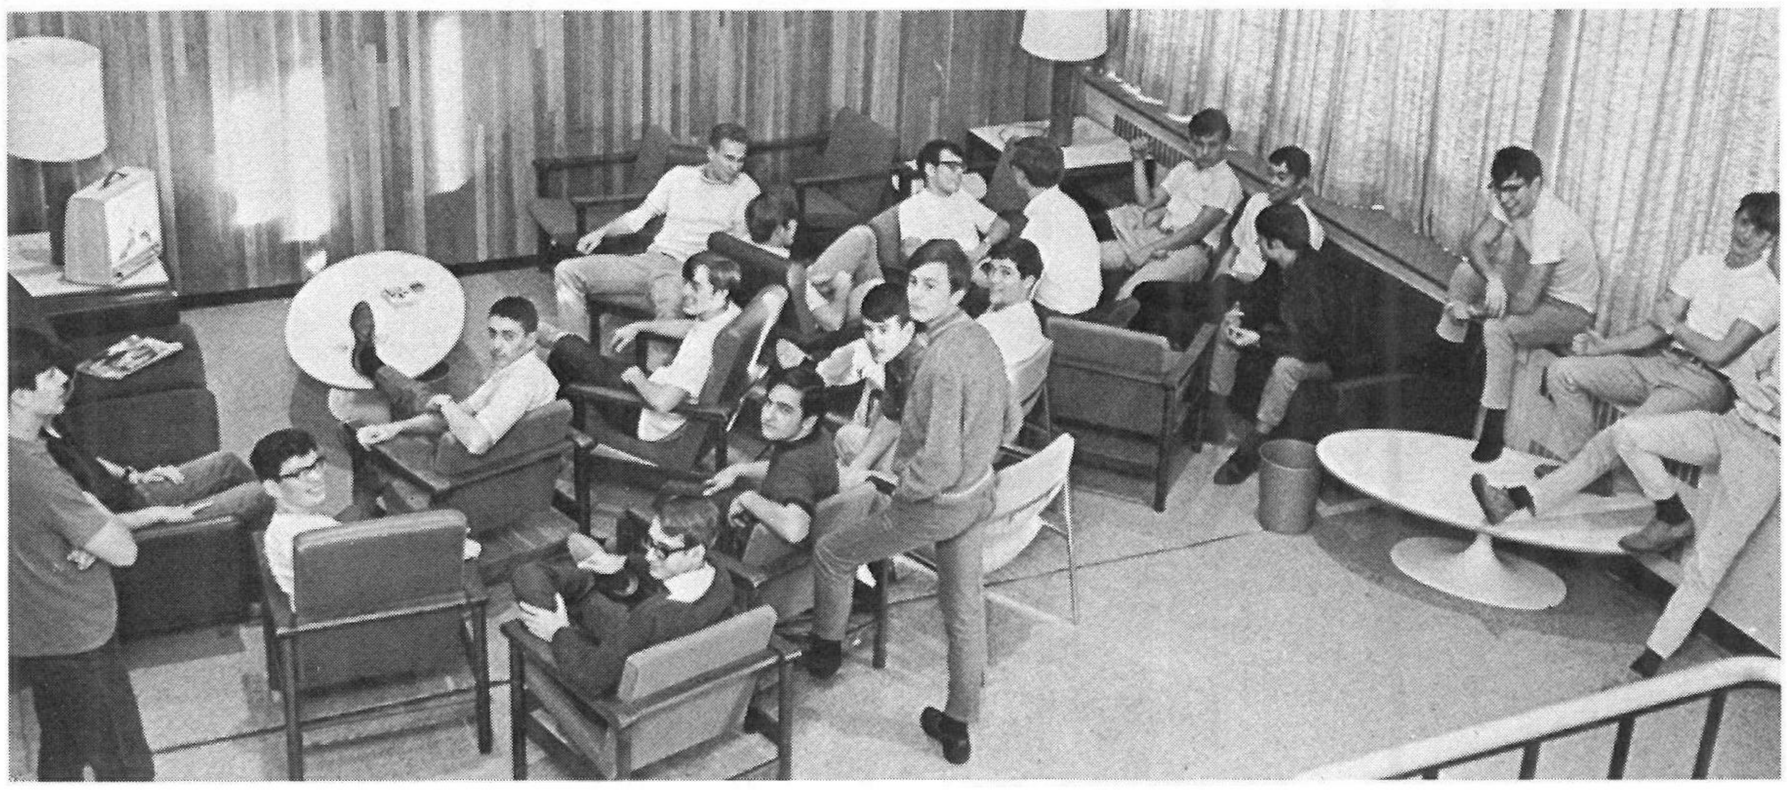

Oly, 150 men strong, reigns supreme in Terry Hall. Athletically, they cleaned up. Trophies poured in as Oly walked away with the mens' intramural tug-o-war championship and whipped Baker for top spot in softball.

The lounge never changes. The stereo blares and the boob-tube glares. From the silence of a tomb a cry fills the room: "pinocle, poker, hearts or gin; if you're never in you'll never win." Lounge programs worked well and provided members with various topics—contraceptives, grass and skiing.

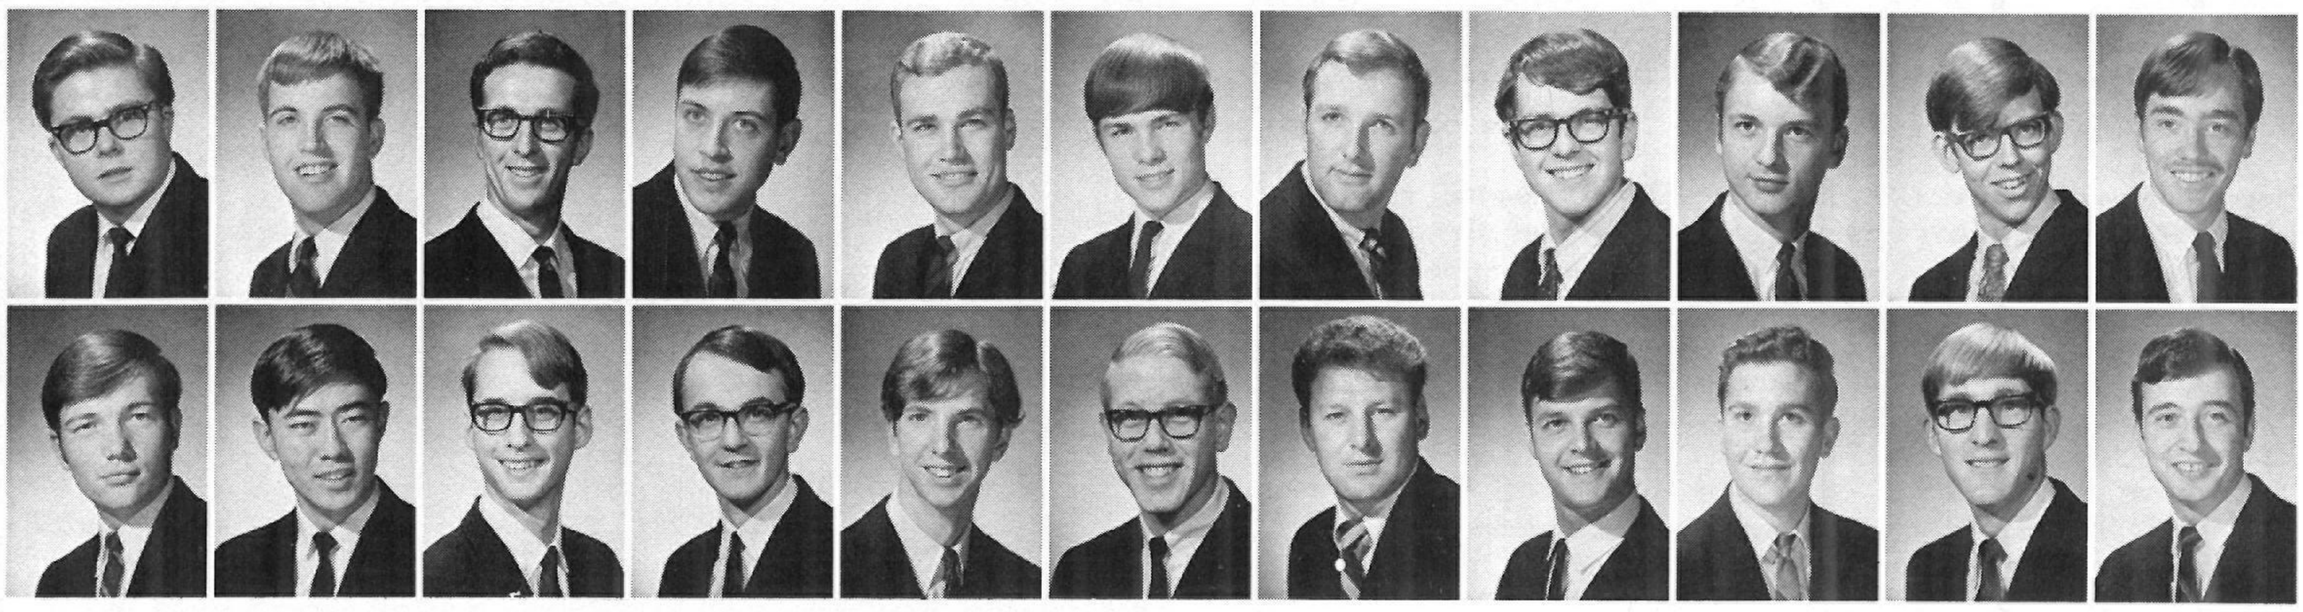

Early in the fall an exchange started it all. The cops arrived late and ruined the date. As spring came around the grades went on down. And as summer drew near, all agreed it had been one heck of a year.

"Hold 'em, Tiger!"

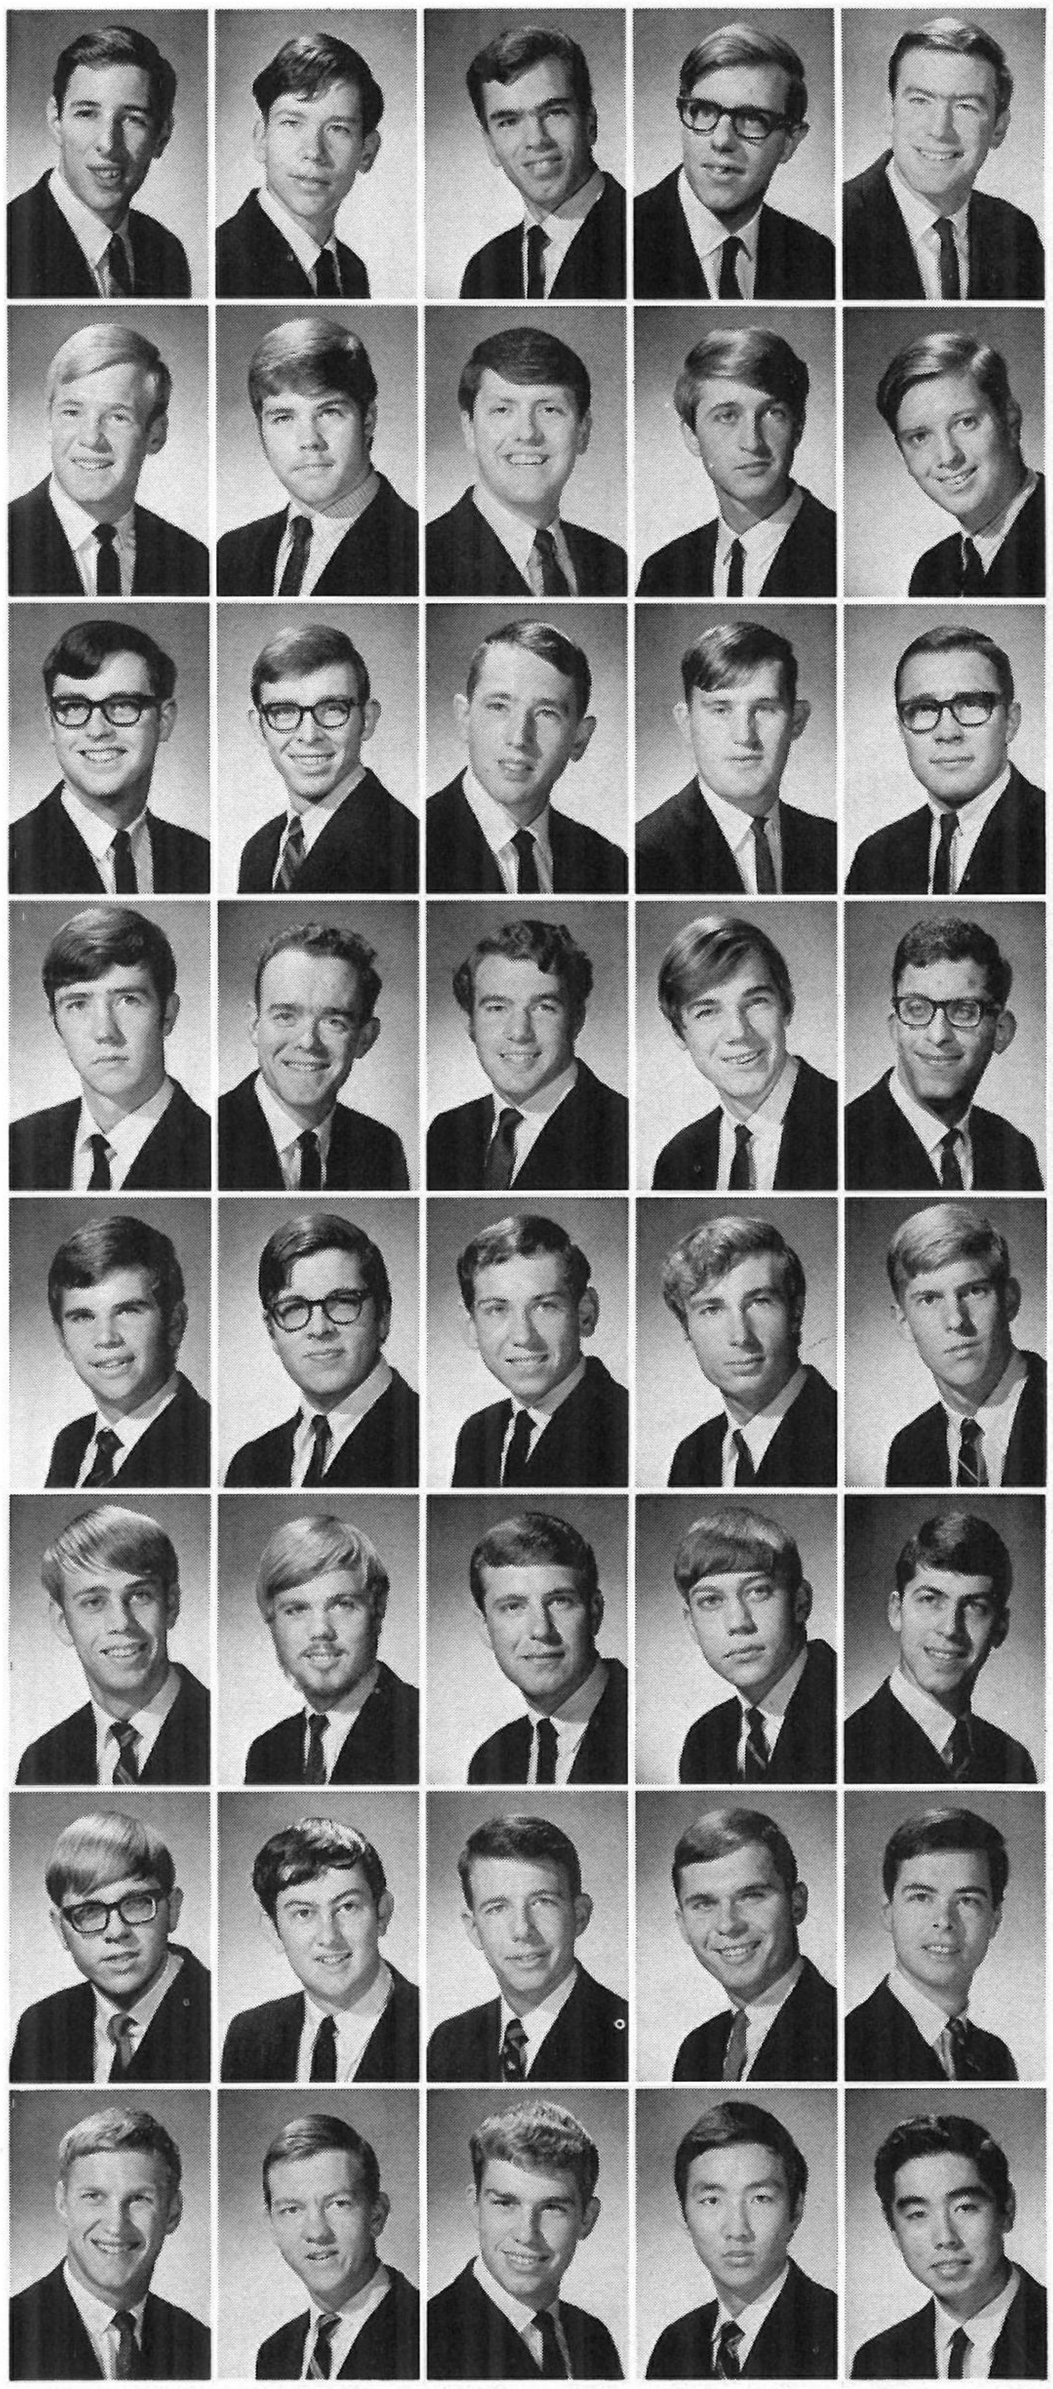

When times are really tough and all looks rough it's only right to take a study break.

Rainier Is Light, Light-Light and Not-So-Light

The men of Rainier participated in a riotous year of fun, sports and even academics. The social calendar was filled. Even a 300-foot cliff wasn't enough to stop the men of Rainier from descending upon the beach at Maury Island for the annual beach party.

Since Rainierites come in all forms and sizes, the entertainment ranged from playing hide-and-seek with the Safety Division to playing traffic engineers on the bridge. It was the little things that kept everything lively.

A Year of Spiritual Growth at Men's UCU

The goal of University Christian Union this year was to provide a spiritual atmosphere in which its men could make the best of their year at school. Each man grew spiritually through Bible studies and prayer meetings which helped affirm each one's faith in Jesus Christ.

UCU proved that Christians can have fun with a social program featuring an initiation banquet, a weekend at Mt. Baker and several parties. Not to be intimidated by the larger living groups, the UCU men fielded intramural teams in football, basketball and softball.

What's it like to be a UCU-er?

Try this: a snowy weekend at Mt. Baker with 17 missing sleeping bags, splashing and gurgling in those horrid swimsuits at the Marathon, smashing pumpkins for Halloween, a roller skating party, a weird week of pranks and presents, a formal Valentine's Day tolo banquet and, of course, showers through our broken window.

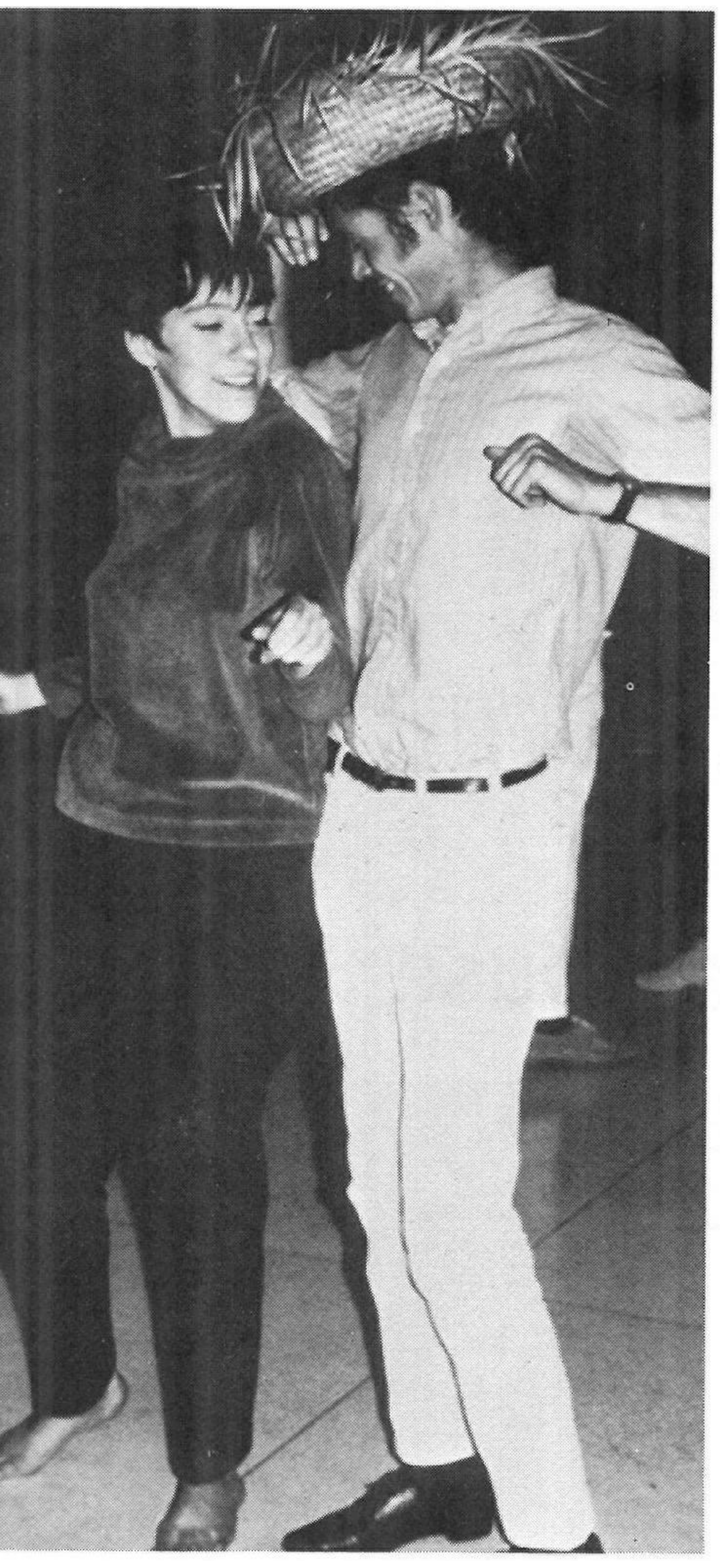

It all adds up to 17 girls, each with a deep faith, a smile on her face and a happiness and zest for life.

Spanish House Does More Than Just Talk Spanish

All are welcome to Spanish House—all those who wish to speak Spanish, learn the culture and meet the people. A larger than ever Spanish House provided a cultural and social program for nearly 50 residents. The informality made it a pleasure to practice the language.

The long range purpose of this group is to develop a more cosmopolitan, less ethnocentric view of our own culture. BUT they also have a great time! Whether ice skating, singing with the "bota" or playing soccer, the members of Spanish House know the Latin form of "alegria."

Baptist Students Are Active on Campus

More than just a place to live, Baptist Student Center provided friendship and brotherhood for 35 men, each with a diversified background. Students from Libya, Korea and Tiawan provided a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

It was a year of increased interest in campus affairs and social activities, with the accent on becoming well rounded students. Varsity sports, intramural activities, Husky Marching Band, Purple Shield and Daily staff drew house participants as members began to make their presence known.

Thanks for the Memories . . .

Looking back over the past year, it seems impossible that it ever really happened. Summer flowed into autumn, autumn into winter; all the days of doing have blurred into a huge mass of deadlines, deadlines and more deadlines. Yet in spite of the usual problems, and a few that weren't so usual, the book went to bed with "hours" to spare. From quiet calm to sheer havoc, eleven people-plus worked on and on; no one, I'm sure, will ever forget the days of knee-high snow when no one could get to work, the late Sunday night-before-Monday-morning when we cut up stationery for copy paper, the Friday afternoon slide shows and the essay written on a cocktail napkin, the periodic temper tantrums or the tired, silly jokes. Starting out more idealistic than realistic, it took a few small jolts and disappointments to face the cold, hard world of facts and figures; in many cases, it took a lot more work. But with the help of the most wonderful group of people in the world, the ideas were translated into realities, the ever present deadlines were met and the year as a whole probably went more smoothly than ever before in the history of Tyee publishing. Because I think so highly of these people, then, I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge their work.

Leading the pack as managing editor was JUDY STEELE. Confronted with the flu, an exciting engagement, more flu and a ream of term papers, Judy still managed to come up with a fantastic portfolio of pictures for the lead essay in addition to writing and shooting an excellent end essay and taking care of the endless reams of filing and cataloguing that went into the main index. CATHY ROBINSON, our copy editor, wasn't quite sure what a copy editor on a college yearbook was supposed to do when she first came on the job, but she learned fast . . . didn't you, Cath? Running between Hub meetings and classes (which she usually managed to miss anyway), Cathy was always here when I needed her and did a very excellent job with a very big responsibility. SUE SINGLETON, my friend, mentor, and cohort in crime, served as layout editor fall quarter; whenever things got particularly discouraging, she always seemed to pop up to save the day with her good temperament and fantastic talent. In addition to laying out a massive part of the book, Susie designed the division pages, helped execute the cover and came up with some truly exciting spreads. Taking over as layout editor winter quarter, JOAN NAMKOONG didn't need much experience to quickly get into the swing of things and her constant and diligent effort will always be appreciated. To these four people I owe a great big thank you.

Each section in this yearbook took a very individual type of mind and creative ability; I was lucky enough to have an editorial staff that fit every specification. Although many of these people had very little yearbook experience, all had the enthusiasm and the talent to rally in a very big way. Serving as activities and culture editor, BARB TILLEY put together a new opening section that will well narrate the 1969 story for many years to come in addition to compiling an excellent arts section (despite all the exhibits and shows that never seemed to happen!). With a bottomless spirit and even more bottomless candy jar, JOANNE LUKE came back this year to serve as ASUW and organizations editor. Sorting out a new governmental system that even the Hub jocks haven't seemed to quite be able to grasp, Joanne did a very thorough job with another new section while also organizing the many clubs and honoraries on campus. The Efficiency-Plus Award this year goes to PENNY SHANE, academics editor. Coercing boyfriends and roommates under her wing, Penny managed to get out the second largest section in the book in the shortest amount of time in addition to compiling the senior activity index and taking over the royalty section winter quarter. Thanks so much, Pen. MARK LIPSON, our deadline-be-damned sports editor, demanded the best and always got it, even when it meant shooting and printing his own pictures. Between taking double class loads and fighting an erroneous draft call, Mark put out the best piece of interpretive sports coverage I've seen in a long time. Filling the living groups editorship, JAN COLE managed to get half of her section together over Christmas vacation, and her quick efficiency saved many an unpromising deadline day for us during winter quarter. HEIDI SMITH, our office manager fall quarter, did an excellent job of organizing the royalty section and the general index in addition to always being around when a page needed drawing up or a nasty headline needed help.

No list of acknowledgments would be complete without mentioning a few very special people. To WILLIAM JOHNSTON, fondly known as BJ, I owe my deepest admiration and respect. Whether curbing my incessant desire to spend money or ordering me to go home and get some sleep on penalty of my life, he was always there to answer questions, solve problems and keep us from going too far astray. What more can I say but thank you. My second thank you goes to AME BERG, office assistant and secretary. Always ready to go out to lunch or lend a shoulder to cry on, Ame gave us invaluable assistance in the day to day business of getting a yearbook out; I don't know what we would have done without her. RICHARD CONRAD, our friend in the photo lab, always managed to come up with the right picture at the right time and made possible many of the special effects achieved in this year's book. This man was an unfailing asset in getting together some truly outstanding things. And finally to CHUCK CADDEY, our representative in the print shop, I'd like to give a great big thank you for all the patience, understanding and endurance he showed throughout the year—especially when I consistently managed to change my mind. But we really made it, didn't we, Chuck!

There are tons of others who will be remembered for their helpful advice and friendly service. NORRIS ADAMS, ASUW business manager, was always a welcome sight when he dropped in to say hello. And how nice to know that we could consistently depend on EMILY STADELMAN and JEAN GALLAHER to replenish our pencil supplies and get our accounts back in order.

To all the hard working photographers upstairs goes a special vote of thanks. RANDY GREENFIELD, BRIAN PAYNE, WES BALDA, HOWARD STATESMAN, JERRY WENDORF, GRANT HALLER, JAN SHAW, JEFF MYERS, TOM DRAMER and JOE KARPEN—you were fantastic. To Randy, Brian and Wes goes the credit for photographing the queens for the new royalty section. Without their conscientious efforts we never could have done it. Although I think we sometimes tried to drive them out of their minds and vice versa, we really loved them, really!

I hate to think what we would have done without a few special people with a few very special talents. A big thank you goes to JOHN PARKER for contributing the original pen and ink drawing incorporated in this year's cover design. To ROBBIE LONERGAN goes the credit for executing the final division pages. Robbie was an immense help in saving us time, money and headaches, and I'd like to thank her for rising so readily to our cause. CATHY CURTIS and DAVE CARR produced a very excellent essay for the culture section in a very short time; thank you so very, very much.

RAY MYRTLE took first prize in being the most conscientious worker a Tyee staff could ever hope to have. Ray was always here when all the tedious housekeeping jobs had to be done, and his unfailing enthusiasm never let us down. Next I'd like to thank LINDA LARSON, our typist-in-residence, who always managed to pop up when pages and pages of index were staring us in the face (especially that beautiful summer Sunday afternoon!). There were countless others who were always around to help us in a pinch and work with the section editors; in this respect, I would like to extend the most sincere of thank yous to NANCY FAULKNER, KATHY COOKE, LINDA DEVERE, VINCE MOE, NANCY JACKSON, JANN HEFFNER, CINDY HAGEN, KAREN BORCHGREVINK, JOYCE KETTELLS, ALICE RADCLIFFE, MARTI KRONENBERG, PATTI GILLESPIE, KATHY GILLESPIE, JIM MCTAGGART and STEVE FRANKS.

Finally, I'd just like to say thank you to all the wonderful people who throughout it all maintained their faith in what I was doing, encouraged me when I was down, stood by me when I was in a jam and were always there to share my frustration as well as my joy.

All in all, it was a very good year.

I can still remember when I was less than I am today.

Always there was the grey in the memories of my creation.

But now I am a form that changes color,
a shape that slips into darkness

and slips back,
turning,
moving.

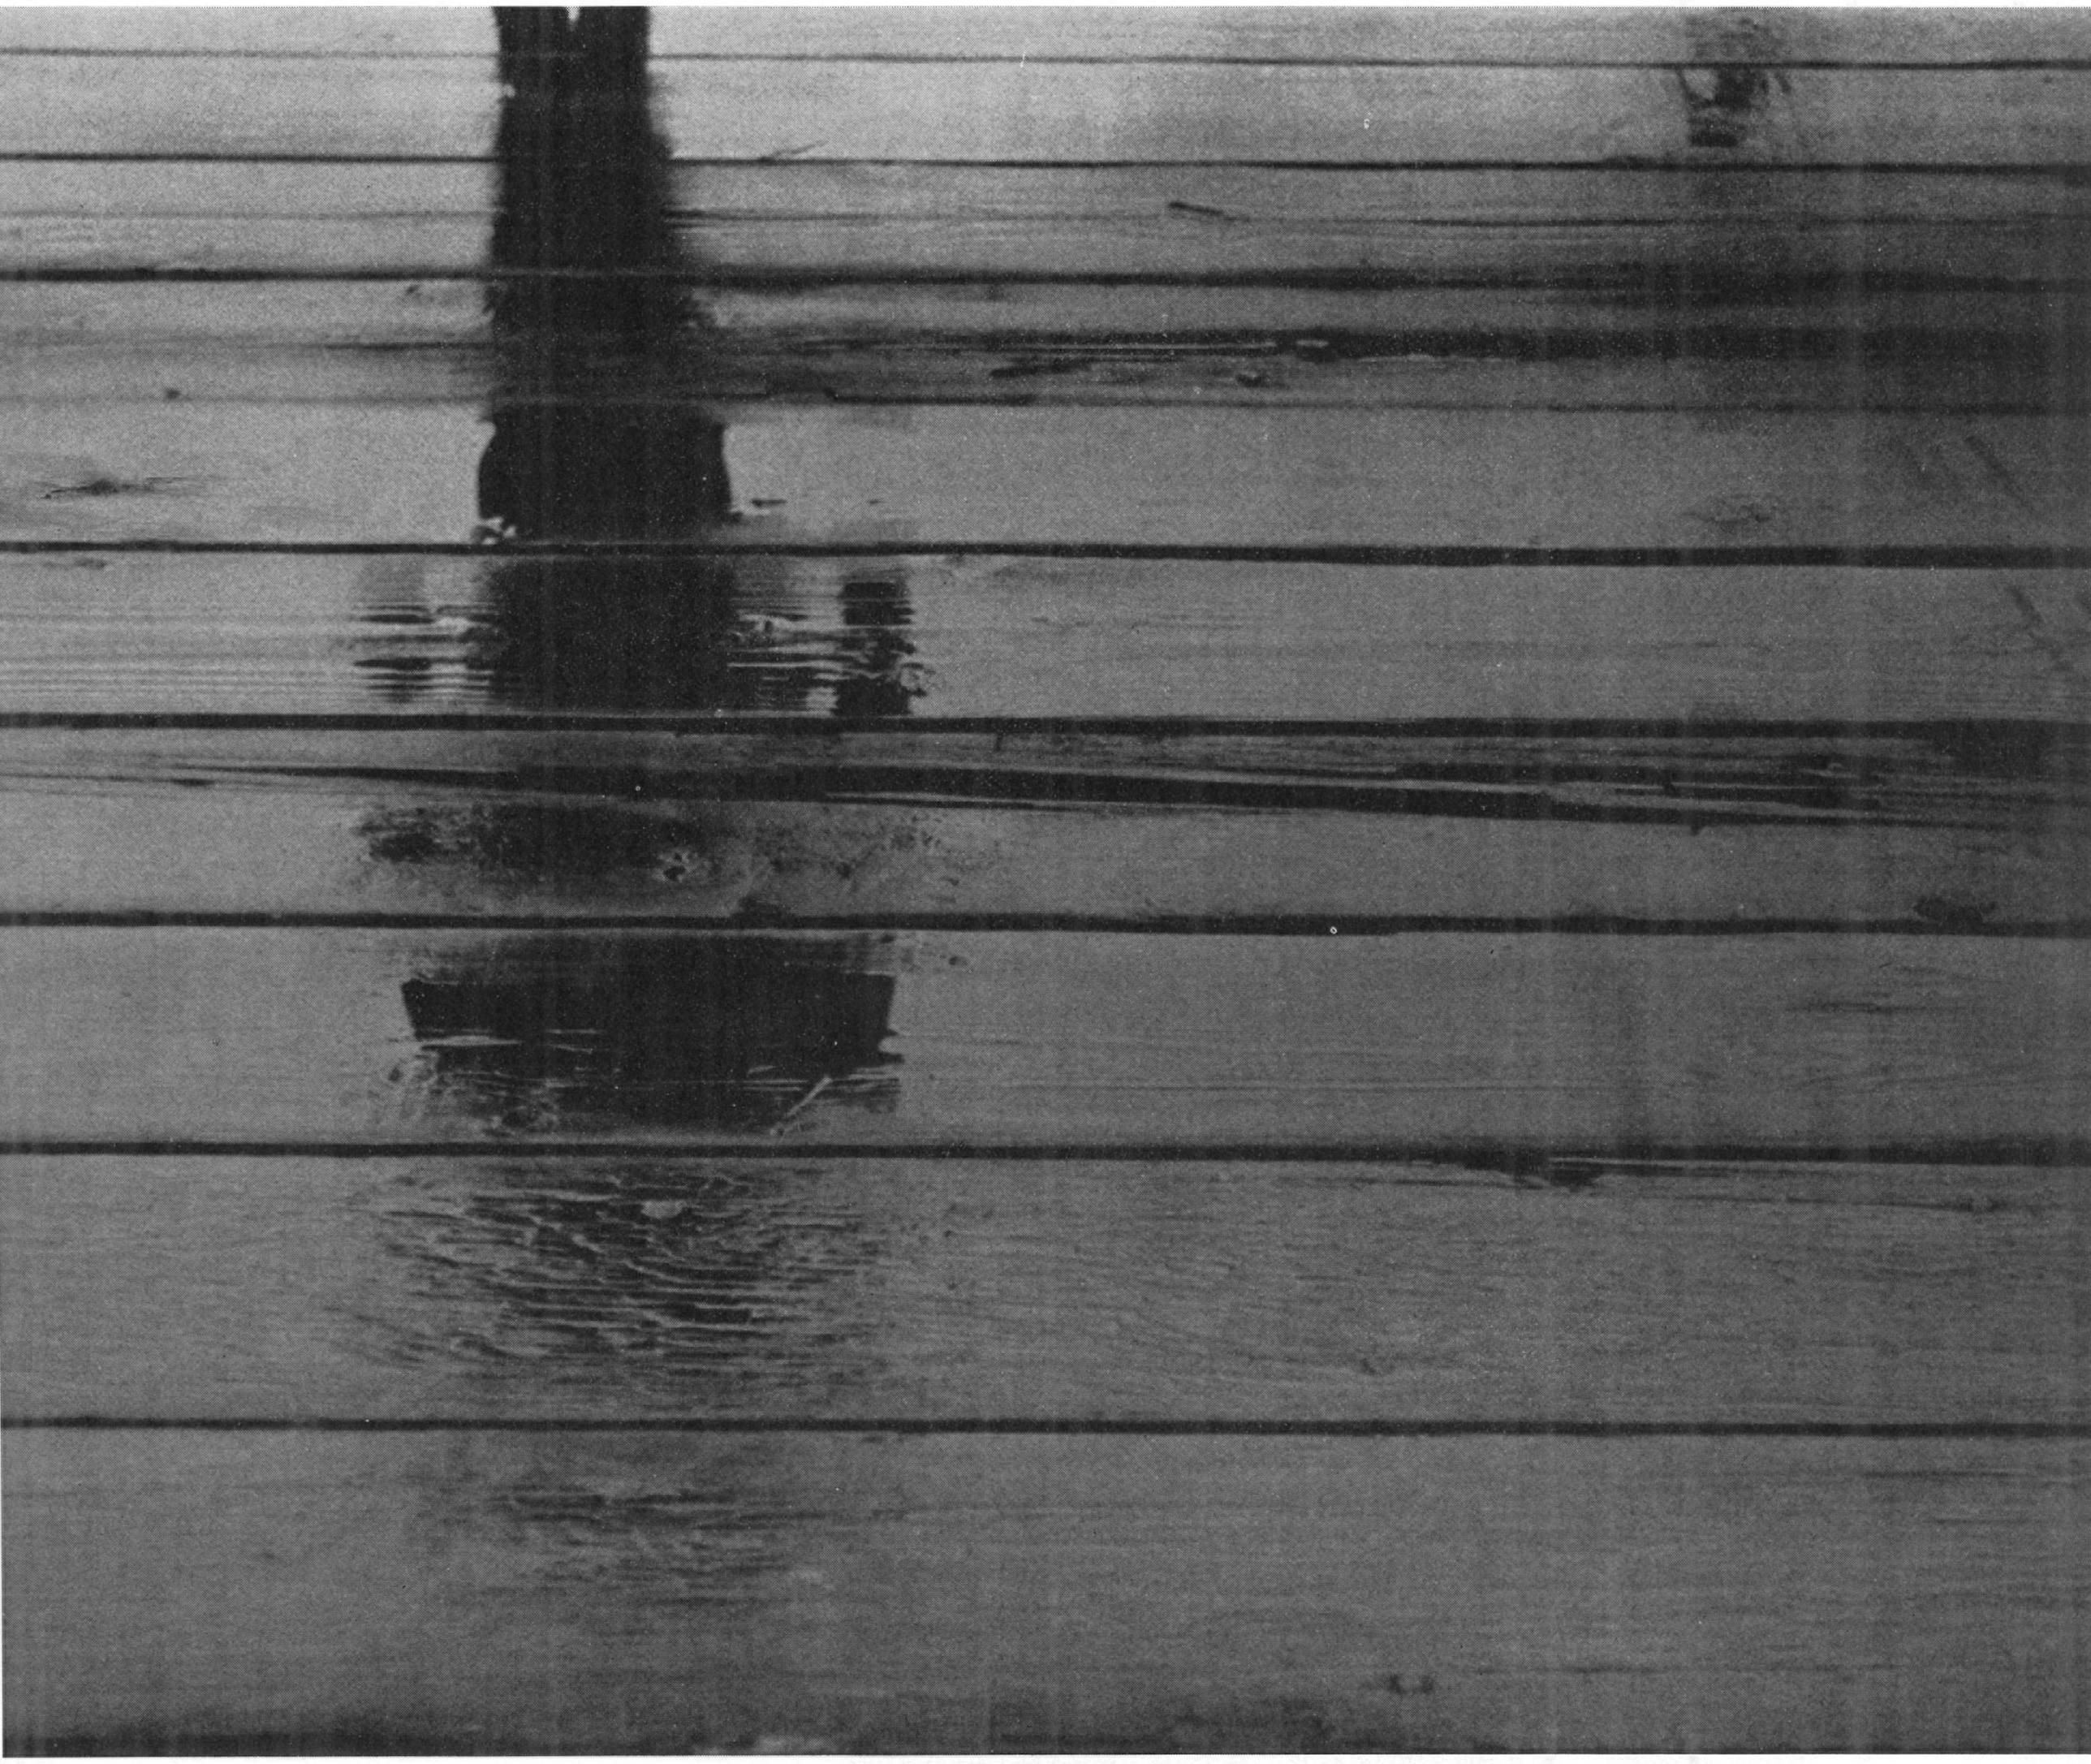

I am not wasting hours
but rambling, leaving relics far behind;

I'm tripping
over time,
whistling
to my friend.

Hollow footsteps echo, shuffling down the pier,
my mind travelling elsewhere, my body on its own.
